DEPARTMENTAL RULINGS.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

The following appeals and decisions have been handed down by the Board of Building Examiners:

APPEAL 143 of 1915, Alteration 2023 of 1915, 1262 President street, Brooklyn. A. Koeppel, Inc., appellants.

1. That such alteration is not permitted by Section V. of an Ordinance amending the Ordinance establishing fire limits in the City of New York approved August 14, 1914.

It is claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the said Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply. And that equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. Has the owner of property upon which is erected a substantial frame building within the fire limits of the City of New York, the right to remove such building to any portion of his property in the same block, also within the fire limits?

He owns the property upon which this building is erected and is desirous of removing the building to another portion of the property so that he may erect upon the present site of the building, substantial brick and stone buildings. If he is denied this right, his frame building, which cost about $16,000 to erect, will be rendered valueless. Section V. of the Ordinance approved August 14 1914, amending the fire limits, has its only proper scope in preventing an increase in fire hazards. This hazard is not increased by the proposed removal and the ordinance is invalid so far as it prevents the removal asked to be approved in this case, because it is unreasonable and without any benefit to the public, renders valueless an expensive structure. In addition, Section 142 of the Building Code provides that if in any block within the fire limits ninety per cent. of the buildings are constructed of frame, any vacant lot situated therein may have a frame building placed thereon. This block has besides the building in question, only two buildings erected upon it, both of which are frame. This case, therefore, constitutes an exception to the ordinance of August 14, 1914, as Section 2 thereof limits its application to cases except as otherwise specifically provided in any other ordinance.

Appearance: A. Koeppel and E. Newman. APPROVED.

APPEAL 145 of 1915, New Building 21 of 1915, 237-239 Broadway and 502-504 Sixth avenue, Manhattan. S. Walter Katz and I. G. Feiner, appellants.

7. Columns are overloaded. All columns must be braced laterally in both directions at the floor levels.

8. Steel work checked is weak.

9. Tie rods should be provided for floor and roof beams.

The superintendent has refused to approve the mode, manner of construction or materials proposed to be followed or used in the erection or alteration of such building or structure and it is claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the said Borough, or the provisions of law or ordinances do not apply. The amount involved by such decision exceeds the sum of one thousand dollars.

7. The superintendent has ruled that the wind pressure dead and live load stresses for designing the columns, etc. In the plans submitted, the wind pressure has been calculated at 30% and working stresses do not exceed those set forth in the Code by 50% as per Section 140 Building Code.

9. The form of floor arches proposed has been approved and tested without the rods. It is therefore requested that the rods be omitted as per plans.

The columns disapproved, even the extreme cases, are relatively stronger than the approved connections which transmit the loads to the columns. The superintendent's ruling, therefore, would involve increasing the strength of a portion of the building which is already of relatively greater strength, and therefore would be a waste of money. The superintendent does not question the safety of the structure and states this is not an engineering question. The proposed new Code is more definite than the existing Code, and the approval under the same would be unquestioned. Columns of many other buildings, designed in the same method as these, have been approved by the Department.

Appearances: S. Walter Katz, Paul Chapman and George W. Harris. After prolonged discussion, WITHDRAWN by appellant.

APPEAL 146 of 1915, New Building 2169 of 1915, 4320 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn. Thomas W. Lamb, appellant.

1. Courts to extend full length of building, and all courts open to the sky. 12' clear required for this capacity.

2. Exits to courts, two on each side in balcony.

3. Outside balconies 6' wider with covered staircase to ground.

5. Balcony shall have two separate lines of interior stairs located on opposite sides.

6. Clear space back row of seats in balcony to comply with law.

1. An equally good arrangement is provided.

2. Balcony exits are sufficient for capacity to be accommodated.

5. Section 109 does not specifically apply to this case.

6. Owing to the small seating capacity of the balcony, two interior staircases are not necessary.

3. Balcony exits are sufficient for capacity to be accommodated.

1. An equally good arrangement is provided.

2. Balcony exits are sufficient for capacity to be accommodated.

1. An equally good arrangement is provided.

2. Exits to court, two on each side in balcony.

3. Outside balconies 6' wider with covered staircase to ground.

5. Balcony shall have two separate lines of interior stairs located on opposite sides.

6. Clear space back row of seats in balcony to comply with law.

1. An equally good arrangement is provided.

2. Balcony exits are sufficient for capacity to be accommodated.

5. Section 109 does not specifically apply to this case.

6. Owing to the small seating capacity of the balcony, two interior staircases are not necessary.

3. Balcony exits are sufficient for capacity to be accommodated.

Appearance: Eugene De Rosa. APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That there shall be an additional exit through a fireproof passage leading to Fifth avenue, as shown on the addendum blue print marked "A," and that the main exit to Fifth avenue shall have a lobby not less than 23' 4" wide, as shown on the same sheet.

2d. That there shall be three (3) exits on the court side, opposite Fifth avenue, as shown by addendum blue print marked "B."

3d. That exterior exposed staircases shall be covered, in accordance with the requirements of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 147 of 1915, New Building 135 of 1915, west side Webster avenue, east side Decatur avenue, 154.86', 169.02' north of Fordham road, The Bronx. Andrew J. Thomas, appellant.

1. Plans do not conform to Section 109 of the Building Code as relates to courts and exits.

On the ground that Section 109 does not apply on account of the irregular shape of the lot and the extremes of the various grades.

The questions of adequate exits and location of courts. The extremes of the various grades on account of the building running through from street to street do not permit the laying out of the courts and exits as construed in Section 109, but the plans as laid out and filed, provide better facilities for exit, also a greater number of exits than what are ordinarily required for a theatre of this capacity. As to the courts, shallowness of the property prevents running a court parallel with the auditorium as required, inasmuch as the width of said court, should same be provided, would be detrimental to the store and office portion of the building on Webster avenue. In lieu of said longitudinal court, a court at right angles to the auditorium is provided, with ample exits and provides a shorter and more direct means of egress to the street, than would be the case should the regulation court be provided. The various questions referred to above are better explained on the accompanying plan, which also shows certain steps, which conditions were approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention, as being reasonably safe.

Appearance: Andrew J. Thomas.

APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That the exit from stage to the street at the point marked "A" be at least five feet wide.

2d. That the side exit to Webster avenue be moved to position marked "B" on the plan of main floor.

3d. That the opening at point marked "C" on the plan of the mezzanine floor be bricked up, full thickness of the wall.

APPEAL 148 of 1915, New Building 42 of 1915, 3-9 West 67th street, Manhattan. George Mort Pollard, appellant.

1. Building being more than 12 stories and 150 ft. in height, should conform to Section 105 as regards fireproof floor surfaces, trim, etc.

2. Building covers an excessive percentage of lot area.

1. It being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of said Borough or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

2. It being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the said Borough or the Provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

1. To allow the use of wood floors at places other than public and service hall and stairs and the use of wood trim, sash and doors for all interior openings except at hall, stairs and fire exits.

2. To approve the present arrangement of uncovered area.

1. The building is not over 150 ft. to roof from curb and it is only nine (9) stories high, in that, the mezzanine portions do not cover more than about 50% of the floor area. The private stairs in each suite is of metal with wood treads. The sleepers and underflooring is omitted and nailing concrete used instead.

2. The building being only nine (9) stories high the uncovered area of the upper stories is within the law. Permission to cover 90% of lot at 2d story, as the portion of courts covered is used only for public utilities, no sleeping portions, and to cover 74% at 3d story. Portion uncovered above this is 4,368 sq. ft. or 29% uncovered, 71% covered. As required by the Code, the uncovered portion is 10% at the 2d story floor level and 1½% additional for each story above, 12%, total 22%, or 3,313.6 sq. ft.

Appearance: Geo. M. Pollard. APPROVED.

APPEAL 149 of 1915, New Building 95 of 1915, 58-66 West 135th street, Manhattan. Jardine, Hill & Murdock, appellants.

1. Provide a rear court 10 feet wide in the clear and extending full width of lot.

2. The two side courts must extend the full depth of the lot, from 20 feet.

3. The clear space back of last row of seats in auditorium must be 16' at all points.

4. The clear space back of last row of seats in balcony must be 12' at all points.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

1. Omission of rear court 10 feet wide.

2. Omission of a portion of the side court on either side, viz., 51' 10" on the dressing room side and 22' 4" on the property room side.

3. Having less than 16' clear space on the auditorium at the rear of the side banks of seats.

4. Having less than 12' clear space on the balcony at the rear of the side bank of seats.

1. The omission of the rear court permits keeping the dressing rooms and property room entirely outside the main building thereby giving the unpunctured rear brick wall which will be laid up in cement mortar, which will be a thoroughly fireproof protection from any fire hazard from building located in the rear.

2. By using the rear portion of the side courts for dressing rooms on one side and the property room on the other, the fire hazard is materially decreased inasmuch as these are kept entirely outside the main theatre building shut off by brick walls and by double Underwriters' fire doors. Further a direct ahead exit from the stage is provided and the stage is protected from fire hazard in that no openings from the stage face abutting property.

3. The legal requirement of 16' is maintained in the auditorium behind the central bank of seats and at the two central aisles and at the sides, the exits are so placed as to give the safest possible exits.

4. The legal requirement of 12' is maintained behind the central bank of seats and at the two central aisles. We respectfully call your attention to the additonal means of escape from the gallery front to each front staircase through the side passages at the mezzaning level. These plans have been approved by the Fire Department, their file number 380 of 1915.

Appearance: H. H. Murdock. APPROVED on CONDITION that the proscenium opening be equipped with a rigid steel and asbestos curtain, made in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 150 of 1915, New Building 2294 of 1915, 572 Sterling place, Brooklyn. Shampan & Shampan, appellants.

1. Provide fore and aft brick partition walls.

1. In view of the fact that clear spans are not over 26 ft. and floor beams will be supported on steel girders and columns, ask that this condition be accepted.

1. Omit fore and aft brick partition walls and provide girders and columns in lieu of same.

1. As the clear span between bearing is not over 26 ft., and steel columns and girders will be provided to support floor beams, request that this condition be accepted.

Appearance: Gilbert I. Prowler. APPROVED on CONDITION that the vestibules forming extensions of the public stairhalls in each story be constructed of six-inch hollow tile blocks supported on steel construction, fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 151 of 1915, New Building 248 of 1915, 1063-1067 Fifth avenue, Manhattan. Charles P. H. Gilbert, appellant.

1. 22. Walls of unlawful thickness for rear extension.

The construction proposed is equally as good as that specified in the Building Law and more desirable.

Will your Board permit the walls of the rear extension to be constructed 12' thick from basement to roof, having a height of 144' above curb, these walls being carried on wall girders at each floor?

The form of construction is equally as good and as it permits more space to be given to the rooms, etc., in this part of the building, the construction proposed is more desirable.

Appearance: F. de Lancey Robinson. APPROVED on CONDITION that the walls of the rear extension are supported on steel skeleton construction at each floor level.

APPEAL 153 of 1915, Alteration 2512 of 1914, 926 Seneca avenue, Ridgewood, L. I., Queens. Charles Infanger & Son, appellants.

Contrary to Section 109 of the Code. Over 1,000 seats and courts less than 12' wide.

It is impossible to obtain space for 12' clear courts without a heavy expense to the owner. Brick building adjoining on the south side; this would have to be bought in.

To use the courts as per survey filed as exit for 1,101 seats.

The courts are more than 10' in width and there are but 1,7 seats over the amount for a 10' court. Fire Department and Building Superintendent both recommend the approval.

Appearance: Otto C. Infanger. APPROVED.

APPEAL 154 of 1915, New Building 2344 of 1915, 28-34 Snyder avenue, Brooklyn. Charles Infanger & Son, appellants.

Contrary to Section 31 of Code. Building over 26' in width and no brick fore and aft partition walls provided. Iron girders and columns are substituted in place of walls. Omit brick fore and aft partition walls and provided girders properly fireproofed as per Department rules. Brick walls would be a detriment if the owner at some future date proposed alterations.

Appearance: Otto C. Infanger. APPROVED (in view of the fact that brick cross-walls are shown) on CONDITION that columns and girders supporting floors or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 155 of 1915, New Building 2336 of 1915, 352-358 Pennsylvania avenue, Brooklyn. Charles Infanger & Son, appellants. Wording same as in Appeal 154 of 1915.

Appearance: Otto C. Infanger. APPROVED (in view of the fact that brick cross-walls are shown) on CONDITION that columns and girders supporting floors or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 156 of 1915, New Building 2131 of 1915, south side St. Mark's avenue, 300' east Nostrand avenue, Brooklyn. H. B. Moore, appellant.

Denied as being contrary to Section 31 of Code by omission of brick fore and aft partition walls, and the substitution of steel posts and girders in lieu thereof. Superintendent refuses to approve substitution of steel posts and girders in lieu of brick fore and aft partition. To permit the use of steel posts and girders in lieu of brick fore and aft partition walls. That the proposed method of construction is equally as good as said brick walls and complies with the intent of said Section 31 of the Code.

Appearance: H. B. Moore. APPROVED (in view of the fact that brick cross-walls are shown) on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That columns and girders supporting floors or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

2d. That the openings in the cellar marked "A" shall be closed up with brick walls at least eight inches thick, or with self-closing fireproof doors.

APPEAL 157 of 1915, New Building 2377 of 1915, 666 39th street, Brooklyn. Maxwell A. Cantor, appellant.

1. No brick fore and aft walls, contrary to Section 31.

The span of the floor beams is reduced to less than 26' in all cases by means of either brick walls or columns and girders.

Is the arrangement of bearing walls and girders a sufficient compliance with Section 31?

There are no floor beams more than 26' in length, all columns and girders will be fireproofed as required by the Code, and the building is divided into two by a brick wall.

Appearance: M. A. Cantor. APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1st: That columns and girders supporting floors or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

2d. That the openings in the cellar marked "A" shall be closed up with brick walls at least eight inches thick or with self-closing fireproof doors, or a fireproof window, glazed with wireglass.

APPEAL 158 of 1915, New Building 2451 of 1915, 4109-4119 Seventh avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code for brick partition walls fore and aft spans exceed 26' between bearing walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. And it being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the said Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

That the distance between the main bearing walls is not over 26' and therefore no fore and aft brick partitions walls are necessary.

See Appeal 159

APPEAL 159 of 1915, New Building 2452 of 1915, 4103 Seventh avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code in re brick partition walls. Balance of appeal worded same as Appeal 158 of 1915.

Appearance: Abraham H. Reiner. Appeals 158 and 159. APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 160 of 1915, New Building 2387 of 1915. 546-548 55th street, Brooklyn. S. Millman & Son appellants.

Construction does not comply with Section 31 of Building Code.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

To allow the floor beams to rest on cross girders with span not over 25' 6" and to omit the construction of brick partition wall.

1. Section 31 does not prevent the use of steel girders for the support of floor beams.

2. An unpierced brick wall 8" thick be provided midway of building from cellar to roof.

3. S. C. F. D. D. provided in the cellar at same place.

4. That all girders and columns supporting floor and roof beams will be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

Appearance: James J. Millman. On motion, APPROVED (in so far as it relates to Section 31 of the Building Code) on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 161 of 1915, New Building 2440 of 1915, 723 DeKalb avenue, Brooklyn. Shampan & Shampan, appellants.

1. Provide fore and aft brick partition walls.

2. Height of building contrary to Section 31 of Code.

1. In view of the fact that clear spans are not over 26 ft. and floor beams will be supported on steel columns and girders, ask that this condition be accepted.

2. Request that 12" brick walls may be used in 1st story as the 12" section of wall is not over 50' 4" in height, except at two side walls of front wings of building when 12" section of walls is 52' 7" these side walls are unpierced.

1. Omit fore and aft brick partition walls and provide girders and columns in lieu of same.

2. Walls need not be increased in 1st story.

1. As the clear span between bearing is not over 26 ft. and steel columns and girders will be provided to support floor beams and girders and columns will be fireproofed, request that this condition be accepted.

2. As the 12" section of wall will not exceed 50' 4" at all walls except at two side walls of front wings of building where 12" section of wall is 52' 7" in height, would request that this condition be accepted.

Appearance: Gilbert I. Prowler.

On motion, APPROVED (in view of the fact that cross-walls are shown) on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That self-closing fireprof door be provided at the point marked "A" on the cellar plan.

2d. That the extensions to the stairhall in each story be enclosed in partitions of six-inch hollow tile blocks supported on structural steel, fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

3d. That all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 162 of 1915, New Building 2081 of 1915, 118-122 South 3d street, Brooklyn. Sass & Springsteen, appellants.

1. Omission of fore and aft partition walls.

2. Excessive height of walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

1. To omit part of the fore and aft partition wall at rear and allow floor beams to be carried partly on girders at front and rear portions of buildings as shown on plans.

2. To permit the walls of 2d story to be 12" thick and the stair hall and stair enclosure walls to be 8" thick on 3d and upper stories.

1. The fore and aft partition walls are provided where practicable and a fire wall is provided to divide the building.

2. The total height of the building is only 3" in excess of 60' above the foundations and the height of the 12" walls does not exceed the 50' limit as provided by the Code.

Appearance: Samuel Sass.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 163 of 1915, New Building 2191 of 1915, 260-264 South 4th street, Brooklyn. Sass & Springsteen, appellants.

1. Omission of fore and aft partition walls.

2. Thickness of walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed and the requirements of the Code are complied with.

1. To permit the brick bearing walls parallel to the front and rear walls.

2. To permit the walls of the 2d story to be 12" thick and the stair enclosure walls to be 8" thick on 3d and upper stories.

1. Brick bearing walls are provided in accordance with the requirements of the Code. The term "fore and aft" has always been construed to mean across the run of the floor beams, irrespective of the direction of the said walls, relative to the front.

2. The total height of the building is only 8" in excess of 60' above the foundation, and the height of the 12" walls is only 5" in excess of 50'.

Appearance: Samuel Sass. On motion, DISAPPROVED.

APPEAL 164 of 1915, New Building 2192 of 1915, 154-156 South 3d street, Brooklyn. Sass & Springsteen, appellants.

1. Omission of fore and aft partition walls.

2. Height of walls.

3. 8" partition walls 50' high.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

1. To omit parts of the fore and aft wall at front and rear and allow the floor beams to be carried on girders over the centers of the rooms.

2. To permit the walls of 2d story to be 12" thick.

3. To permit the 8" partition walls on 2d and upper stories as indicated on plans.

1. The fore and aft partition wall is provided where possible and practically throughout the entire length of the building, and a fire wall is provided to divide the building.

2. The total height of the building is only 4" in excess of 60' above the foundations and the height of the 12" walls will not exceed the 50' limit as provided by the Code.

3. The Code permits 8" partition walls where the span between the outside bearing walls does not exceed 33'.

Appearance: Samuel Sass.

On motion, APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That the extensions of the stairhalls in the second and upper stories be built of six-inch hollow tile blocks supported on structural steel, fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

2d. That all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 165 of 1915, New Building 2094 of 1915, 1116-1124 St. John's place, Brooklyn. Walter H. Volckening, appellant.

Area of building excessive for non-fireproof as required under Section 32 of Code, limited to 8,000 sq. ft. for an interior lot.

The free use and unobstructed view of the entire floor of the garage is vitally necessary. If any partition wall was built, it would destroy the one building idea and would tend to make the enterprise a failure financially. This was given consideration when the plans were first filed with the Fire Prevention Bureau. Under the approval of March 23d the following were some of the requirements:

The covering of the entire ceiling with 24 gauge expanded metal lath and coating same with ¾" Portland cement plaster. Enclosing the toilet and office partitions in fireproof walls setting self-closing fireproof door at foot of stair. Providing an adequate means of exit both front and rear. The owner has taken all means to safeguard the construction and protect life, and will gladly adopt any further improvement recommended by this Board, but respectfully asks that the dividing of the building be waived.

Omit the construction of a brick wall through the centre of the building between columns, which would divide it into two parts.

Under Section 32 of the Building Code, non-fireproof and fireproof buildings may be increased in area considering locality and purpose, if not over three stories in height. The building in question is one story and therefore does not seem to be governed by this section. Under Section 52, a garage is not included amongst the special classification of buildings.

Appearance: Walter H. Volckening. On motion, APPROVED.

BUILDING MANAGEMENT

ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT OF THE RESIDENCE

By A. L. POWELL, Society for Electric Development

PART ONE.

THERE are two types of lamps in common use; the Gem and Mazda. The Gem lamp, which has a metalized carbon filament, is relatively low in first cost, but is inefficient, taking 2½ watts or units of electrical energy for 1 candlepower or unit of light. The Mazda lamp which has a filament of drawn tungsten wire, is much more efficient and is the light source most suitable for residence work.

The Mazda lamp is made in sizes from 10 to 1,000 watts, but the sizes ordinarily applied for the residential interior are the 10, 15, 20, 25, 40, 60, 100 and, occasionally, the 150 watt. The candlepower of these lamps, save for the three smallest sizes, is approximately equal to the wattage. In other words, a 60 watt lamp gives 60 candlepower.

Clear lamps should be used where the bulb is totally enclosed, or where the filament is not visible from ordinary points of view. Lamps with the tip roughened or bowl-frosted are necessary where open reflectors are used, but where the entire lamp is exposed it should be all-frosted. Lamps of the same voltage as that of the circuit should be used. The economy of this readily can be shown with figures, but it is sufficient to say lamps should be burned at their labeled volts, in order that they may give the proper amount of light and rated life.

Reflectors.

The reflector is almost as necessary as the lamp for proper lighting and serves three distinct purposes. Its first and most important function is to protect the eyesight. The exposed filament of an incandescent lamp is far too bright to be looked at for any length of time. If placed within the ordinary angle of vision it produces discomfort and glare. The Mazda lamp has often been criticised as being cold and harsh, when the person has intended to say that its brightness was too great. The proper reflector corrects this fault, diffusing and softening the light.

The second use of a reflector is to redirect the light into useful angles, for when consideration is made of the manner in which an incandescent lamp distributes its lights, it is seen that the maximum light is given off in a horizontal direction, and, also, that nearly half of the light goes upward, lighting the walls and ceilings to a greater degree than is desirable. The action of a reflector might be expressed as gathering in this upward and side light and sending it downward. This redirection of light is, of course, of much more importance in a factory or office where the efficiency of the lighting is more essential than in the residence; nevertheless, there are certain parts of the home, as the kitchen or cellar, where efficient reflectors are of value.

Value as an Ornament.

The third advantage of a reflector, or shade, is its ornamental value. It is self-evident that a bare lamp is not a thing of beauty and there are hundreds of styles of reflectors which are really very artistic. Reflectors can be chosen to fit in with any scheme of color treatment, any architectural period or decorative mode. The reflector manufacturers are willing to supply those interested with catalogues of their material, or one may visit the show rooms and choose equipment which just fits the case in hand. Instead of the lighting appearing as an after thought; if one uses a little discretion in choosing the equipment, the lighting units can be made to blend with the room decorations so well that it will be a most pleasant surprise to one who has been used to a haphazard arrangement of lights.

A complete discussion of the reflectors suitable for residence work would require a volume, and all that is permissible here is a glance at some typically bad shades in contrast to some of the more artistic types.

Fixtures.

It is like "carrying coals to New Castle" to tell the architect and builder that the fixtures should be in architectural harmony with the room, and experience has indicated that those designed in connection with a reputable manufacturer will fulfill this requirement. Some parts of the home require ornamental fixtures; other rooms, such as kitchens, closets, servants' quarters, cellar, and the like, have a purely utilitarian demand for lighting, and a simple pipe or chain drop fixture, or wall bracket, will suffice in these instances.

In designing and locating fixtures every precaution should be taken to keep the light source out of the ordinary field of view, and fixtures should be such as to accommodate reflectors which will further shield the eyes. This demand for better diffusion of the light has caused the indirect systems of lighting to come into greater prominence, and while on this subject it might be well to define the three types of lighting fixtures in the common acceptance of these terms: A direct lighting unit is one from which over one-half of the emitted light is directed downward or to the side, reaching the surfaces to be illuminated without being reflected by the walls or ceiling.

A semi-indirect unit is one which employs a diffusing or translucent medium to direct most of the light to the walls or ceiling, to be redirected for use, a part of the light being diffused through its medium.

Indirect Light.

An indirect lighting unit is one from which all the light emitted is projected to the ceiling or walls and then reflected to the object to be lighted.

Needless to say with direct lighting the colors of walls and ceilings have less effect on resultant illumination, and it is generally the most efficient of the three systems when we consider the actual light getting to a given plane, such as the table level. The indirect and semi-indirect systems, however, generally give better diffusion to the light, tend to remove glaring conditions, prevent dense shadows, evenly illuminate the room, are susceptible of very artistic treatment and, last, but not least, are exceedingly comfortable to live under. This statement is not intended to imply that such arrangements of lights should be universal, as all three systems have their proper applications as will be pointed out later.

Color of Light.

In the residence where artistic effect is very prominent the color of the light should receive particular attention with regard to its effect on the colors of surrounding objects. Nearly everyone knows that light of a certain color falling on a differently colored object will produce a change in its apparent color. For instance, red light falling on light green wall paper will make it appear reddish gray; similarly, yellow rays falling on red drapery will make it appear orange. Tables giving such data can be readily located in publications on lighting. The electric light bulb is very flexible in regard to its color. It can be dipped in a tinted lacquer which will give the desired tint to the light; it can be enclosed in colored glass globes and in that way its color modified, or sheet gelatine can be made into cylinders to place around the lamp, or may be located over the mouth of a reflector, flooding the room with light of the particular character chosen. A little experimentation in the home enables one to produce many charming effects.

Since residence lighting is a problem with so many variables, it is impossible to lay down definite schemes for designing the lighting. Individual tastes vary, but the wide extremes and personal preference may cause one to believe that another's lighting scheme is improper, therefore, in outlining the procedure for the individual rooms the best that can be accomplished is the making of but a rough structure on which the individual can build.

Porch.

This part of the home ordinarily requires but very low intensity of illumination sufficient for one to see the steps, bell, name-plate and to distinguish a person from within the entrance. The wattage of the porch light near the door should be very low, as it is often desirable to have the light burning for long periods. The proper pride in the appearance of one's home will lead him to illuminate his porch regularly. The increased safety of a well lighted porch more than compensates for the slight expense. The 10 watt Mazda lamp, at a 10 cent rate for power, can be burned more than three hours a night at a cost of 10 cents a month.

The logical location of the entrance light is on the ceiling, midway between the door and steps, or, in some exceptional instances, at the front above the steps. A standard metal ceiling ring holder with weatherproof socket suffices for a fixture. Instead of the round, roughed crystal glass ball ordinarily applied, it is more desirable to use an opalescent enclosing globe, moulded in the form of an acorn or miniature urn, as the decorative element, as well as the better diffusion, compensates for the slight additional expense.

USEFUL APPLIANCES

Novelties, New Applications of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described Without Regard to Advertising Consideration

Rigid Bolt Sliding Door Lock.

IMPROVEMENTS over the bar locks now used in sliding doors for elevator shafts, etc., are announced by a local manufacturer. The prevailing feature about this device, which is illustrated herewith, is that it is rigid and positive in locking, yet quickly operating to permit prompt opening of the shaft door upon the arrival of the elevator at the landing. It will be seen by reference to the cuts that this device consists of a rigid bar, without the usual hinge. In operation all that is required is to push up the slide and in closing the door the slide drops back into place, positively locking the door. The locks come in various combinations, whether for double doors opening in a single direction or opposite.

So many accidents occur through failure of elevator doors to lock that it would seem as though this device, simple in construction and easy of operation, as well as being positive in its movements, would commend itself to architects and others seeking improvements over the types now in general use. This lock, according to the manufacturers, is being used in some of the more recently erected apartment houses of this city.

Expanded Metal Rib Lath.

THROUGH the courtesy of the Engineering News, an illustration is here presented showing the fabric of a recent form of ribbed expanded metal lathing that seems to be meeting with considerable favor from users. It is made by slotting and expanding the center portion of strips of metal, leaving on each side a solid portion which is afterward bent back forming a channel 4 x 1 inches, with web of expanded metal. The edge of the flange is also bent inward about 3-16 inches.

These channels are united in an interesting manner to form the sheets of lathing. They are placed together with flanges downward, and in contact, and are passed over a table having horizontal rotating disks fitted with punching and flattening devices. These punch holes are about 2 inches apart through the adjacent flanges, the metal burr being flattened on the opposite side so as to clinch the pieces together. The lathing thus made can be reproduced in sizes up to 12 x 4 feet.

Art In Business Offices.

DOWN south in some of the big tobacco factories and cotton mills manufacturers hire musicians to play music in workrooms where hundreds of operatives are employed at tedious and monotonous tasks, of one kind or another. The idea is that it keeps the operatives happy and intuitively they work their hands to the time of the music and turn out more work in a day than they do without this help.

Probably using this idea to a more or less modified degree a company has introduced little portable fountains for use in offices, showrooms, restaurants and grilles, for the purpose of lending a cooling effect in hot weather and giving an artistic touch to working environs. These portable electric fountains embody all the gorgeous effects and artistic beauties that combinations of colored glass, flowing water and electric light can produce. They require no plumbing fixtures as the water can be used over and over again. They come small enough to be used on a dining room table, or large enough to be used in the center of a dining room or restaurant. The practical side of these fountains rests upon the fact that in winter they give the necessary amount of moisture to the steam dried air and in summer they catch and retain particles of dust floating in the air, when the windows are up for ventilation.

These fountains are operated by the same current that supplies power for office fans or incandescent lights, They can be used in conjunction with certain disinfectants for purifying the air in a room.

A New Type of Window.

ARCHITECTS for a long time have been in search of an improved window that will embody in its design practical utility and pleasing architectural effect. Such a window is being introduced by a firm widely known in the building material field, the house of Richey, Browne & Donald, of Maspeth, Queens, N. Y. The manufacturers claim for this window simplicity of design and construction, rigidity and high quality workmanship, all tending to reduce the cost of maintenance to the minimum, and at the same time giving positive and easy operation under all atmospheric conditions. It is water-proof, having been tested in the severest weather and under high hose pressure. When slightly opened, it gives perfect ventilation at the top and bottom without draft or suction to disturb workers or papers. When opened, its ventilation is double that of the double hung or balanced window.

Among other features it gives the maximum of light. It can be easily cleaned on both the interior and exterior surfaces from the interior without danger; and both hands may be used while cleaning, one on the outer and one on the inner surface, resulting in the saving of time. It can also be cleaned from the exterior in the usual way if this method is preferred.

Signs placed on the glass can be read whether the window is opened or closed. When the window is opened, the signs can be read by persons passing up or down the street, which is not the case with any other type of window, according to the manufacturers. When the window is open vision is not obscured by having to look through two thicknesses of glass, which occurs in the case of the double hung or balanced sash. It is easy to get out of or make observations from, thus forming a perfect fire escape or emergency exit.

Storm sash can be easily applied to this window. It is easy of operation even in a high wind. There is no strain placed upon the glass either in opening or closing the sash. The window cannot be opened from the outside without breaking the glass. Any thickness of glass may be used in the sash. Shades may be applied to this window as simply as to the double hung window. By the use of venetian blinds, shades and awnings can be dispensed with. Lastly, the window can receive any number of coats of paint without binding. The illustrations show two positions of the sash, closed and opened.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

The New Orthopaedic Hospital, Being Erected in East 59th Street, to Rank With Most Complete Institutions in the City

NEW YORK City is noted throughout the world for the number of its hospitals, both public and private, and the high character which they have attained. To this group of institutions will soon be added a new one, which, when completed, will be the last word in modern hospital construction and planning.

The steel work has been erected and the masonry is well under way on the structure which is being built at 421-435 East 58th street running through to 420-426 East 59th street, for the New York Orthopaedic Hospital and Dispensary, now at 126 East 59th street. This building is being erected only a short distance from the East River. The 59th street outlook is over the promenade of the Queensboro Bridge and the public market adjoining its Manhattan abutment, thus assuring permanent north light to the hospital.

Marc Eidlitz & Son, Gen'l Contractors. York & Sawyer, Architects.
ORTHOPAEDIC HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY.

York & Sawyer, architects, 50 East 41st street, prepared the plans and specifications for this building. The consulting engineer for the steam heating, ventilating and electric work is Henry C. Meyer, Jr., 101 Park avenue, and the refrigerating engineers are Friedman, Robertson & Keeler, 90 West street.

Marc Eidlitz & Son, 30 East 42nd street, are the general contractors for the construction of this building. Subcontracts have been awarded for various branches of work as follows: excavating, William J. Dempsey, 103 Park avenue; structural steel, Eidlitz & Ross, 110 West 40th street; and ornamental iron, Harris H. Uris, 525 West 26th street. The granite for the facades is being furnished by the New England Granite Works, 489 Fifth avenue; and the fireproofing and concrete floor arches are being installed by the Adin G. Pierce Co., 103 Park avenue.

Fireproof doors are being manufactured by the Dahlstrom Metallic Door Co., 299 Broadway, the plumbing and gas fitting being installed by James Armstrong, 219 East 38th street, and the electric wiring has been awarded to the Alliance Electric Co., 1168 Broadway.

Much thought and careful study was given to the planning and design of this building, so as to provide for the maximum number of patients, combined with the utmost degree of efficiency. In plan the building is in the form of a cross. In East 58th street the structure has a frontage of 145 feet and in East 59th street the frontage is 88 feet. The dimensions of the building are 86 x 200 x 126 feet. The main portion of this structure will be six stories in height with two wings, four stories in height. Construction throughout the building will be fireproof and the most modern appliances for fire prevention and fire fighting will be installed.

The facades of this structure have been designed in the style of the Italian Renaissance and are being constructed of granite, limestone and terra cotta. Loggias are provided for every floor above the second, located at the intersection of the cross. These loggias will enable the patients to be removed direct from the wards to the sunshine and fresh air. A circular pavilion will be erected on the roof of the main building. This pavilion will be surrounded by loggias and surmounted by a cupola.

On the main floor will be located a waiting-room, and accommodations for outside patients. The dispensary will be located also on the main floor and will extend to the floor above. The quarters for the doctors and nurses will be located on the second floor with wards in the second and third floors of the wings. The operating rooms have been planned to occupy the fourth floor, thus insuring privacy, the best possible light and freedom from dust.

From a sanitary standpoint this structure will be unique. Every possible means for the elimination of dust has been provided for and inside the building it will be a difficult matter to find a corner or crevice where an elusive germ might hide. About $600,000 will be expended to complete this structure.

APARTMENT PROJECT ON HAVEN AVENUE

Great Northern Construction Co., Builder. Geo. & Edw. Blum, Architects.

THE Great Northern Construction Company is building a six-story apartment at the northeast corner of 180th street and Haven avenue, which will be ready for occupancy next October. The location is one of the choicest in the district, having an unobstructed view of the Hudson Valley. The house will contain fifty-three apartments, of four and five large airy rooms, arranged to suit the requirements of the most exacting tenants. The facade will be of limestone, tapestry brick and tile, treated in an ornamental manner, giving an interesting appearance to the building. George and Edward Blum, 505 Fifth avenue, are the architects. The same owners recently completed the Strathcona Apartments, at the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and 155th street, from designs by the same architects.

MASONRY CONSTRUCTION.

Outline of the Draft of a New Ordinance for the Building Code.

A preliminary draft of another article of the revised Building Code has been issued. It deals with the subject of Masonry Construction, including brick work, stone work, mass concrete and hollow building block construction.

The provisions as to hollow building blocks are entirely new. In the Ordinances which recently passed the Board of Aldermen the quality of building blocks to be used in building construction was specified and the working stresses for walls established. In the proposed article the requirements as to the erection of walls of hollow building blocks are given.

The use of these blocks in walls is limited to a height of 40 feet. Within the fire limits walls of this construction will be required to be of the same thickness as brick walls; outside of the fire limits a reduction in thickness is allowed, it being felt that the use of this construction in preference to frame should be encouraged.

Otherwise, in general, the proposed ordinance does not make any material changes in existing requirements or practice. A provision limiting the height of rubble stone walls to 60 feet is apparently new. To some it may seem an unnecessary provision, but it is merely intended to take care of the exceptional case, such as the buildings of the City College, where rubble stone masonry was used very effectively from an architectural standpoint. Walls of this construction are required to be 4 inches thicker than walls of brick.

While architectural terra cotta has been in use for some time as an ashlar facing, it is now for the first time recognized in the law itself. It is also proposed to recognize machine-made mortar as a suitable building material.

The present law requires the increasing of wall thicknesses when the walls exceed a certain length, or when the distance between bearing walls is more than 25 feet, or when there are horizontal openings to a greater extent than 30 per cent. It is not clear, however, whether an increase would be required in each case if a wall should for instance, exceed in all these particulars. The proposed ordinance makes it clear that under such circumstances only one increase is necessary, provided the wall is of ample strength and save construction otherwise.

Under the present law no reduction in wall thicknesses is allowed for non-bearing walls in business buildings. Under the proposed law the same reduction would be permitted in business buildings as is now permitted for residence buildings.

A provision in the proposed new ordinance that will probably avoid the trouble of appeals to the Board of Examiners in a number of cases, is the one which permits 12-inch walls throughout in skeleton buildings, instead of requiring an increase in thickness as the building increases in height.

BUILDING COMMISSIONERS.

Are Coming to the Convention of the National Fire Protection Association.

The annual meeting of the National Fire Protection Asociation will be held at the Hotel Astor on May 11, 12 and 13. Mr. Robert D. Kohn, of this city, will preside at the meetings as president of the association. In connection with this meeting a luncheon is to be held under the auspices of the New York Chapter, N. F. P. A., at the Hotel Astor on Wednesday, May 12. It is expected that prominent speakers will address the assemblage on the subject of "Fire Prevention and the Business Man."

Immediately after the N. F. P. A. meeting and as a sequel to it, a Conference of Building Commissioners and Inspectors has been arranged by the following committee: Rudolph P. Miller, former Superintendent of Buildings of Manhattan; V. D. Allen Commissioner of Buildings of Cleveland; James G. Houghton, Inspector of Buildings of Minneapolis; S. A. Dies, Superintendent of Building Inspection of Pittsburgh; N. A. MacIvor, Inspector of Buildings of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and Sidney J. Williams, State Building Inspector, of Madison, Wisconsin (who is acting as Secretary of the Committee).

REVISED ELECTRICAL CODE.

Relates to Electrical Wires, Appliances and Currents.

Alderman Pendry has introduced by request of the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity amendments to the code of ordinances relating to electrical wires, appliances and currents. Seven new articles are incorporated in chapter 9. They will be found printed in full in the City Record of Thursday, April 29, filling sixteen pages.

No electrical construction for light, heat or power may be done without a permit from the Commissioner. And after an official inspection a certificate of approval will be issued. The Commissioner in making rules and regulations for the interpretation and enforcement of the code is to post a copy of the same conspicuously for thirty days in his office and also in the office of the Superintendent of Buildings in each borough and publish the same in the City Record. No change has been made in the technical portion of the code.

Rapid Transit Work in Queens.

A statement has been prepared by Walter I. Willis, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens, showing the status on April 1st, of the various contracts which have been let by the Public Service Commission for the construction of rapid transit work in Queens Borough. According to this statement, the value of the contracts which have been let to date aggregate almost $7,000,000. Station finish contracts have been let for the extensions from Brooklyn to Ridgewood and over Liberty avenue to Richmond Hill.

In a letter to the chamber from Chairman Edward E. McCall of the Public Service Commission, dated April 22, it is stated that plans have been completed, and the contracts are about ready for submission to the Interborough Company for station finish, and for the supply and installation of track materials on the lines which will operate through the Bridge Plaza Station. This will add several million more dollars to the amount to be expended for rapid transit purposes in Queens.

The following is the list of contracts which have been let to date, and the per cent. of completion of same on April 1st:

1	Steinway Tunnel Reconstn...	$383,910	93%
2	Ely Avenue Route.....	557,856	55%

"Sign of the Times."

Commuters on the Montauk division of the Long Island Railroad have been amused lately by the presence of a large sign opposite the antiquated station of the railroad, at Baldwin, which reads:

DON'T JUDGE BALDWIN BY THE RAILROAD STATION.

It is one of the best towns on the South Shore of Long Island. It has high schools, public schools, churches, gas, water, electricity, sidewalks and miles of shore front.

Instrumental in erecting the sign, the Business Men's Association of Baldwin is bending its energies toward the building of a new railroad station. The present structure was built so long ago that the oldest inhabitant cannot remember the year. Property owners feel that the station is an eyesore and they do not want prospective homeseekers to judge Baldwin by its railroad station. Hence the sign, which some wag has described as "the sign of the times."

Plans have been prepared for a modern station building, but no definite period for the construction of it has been announced. Some property owners compare the present station to a dry-goods case. It was built sometime in the middle sixties or when the Montauk division was built.

Harbor Island Opposed.

The Merchants' Association, in accordance with a recommendation made by its Committee on Harbor, Docks and Terminals, of which Mr. H. B. Walker is chairman, is opposing a bill introduced in the lower branch of the Legislature by Assemblyman Hoff, authorizing the Commissioners of the State Land Office to convey certain lands under water in New York harbor to a private company for the purpose of constructing an island in the harbor. The project has been suggested at various times in the past and the United States War Department has always declined to give its sanction to it.

The Roosevelt Avenue Assessment.

Property owners in the area of assessment for the opening of Roosevelt avenue, from Woodside to Corona, will not be relieved of the cost of that proceeding, which amounts to more than $550,000, according to a decision which was handed down in the Queens County Supreme Court. Justice Van Siclen's opinion, in part, is as follows:

"The proceeding is practically finished, there being only the formal presentation of the report for confirmation. They (the petitioners) urge but one substantial objection to this proceeding and that is that the real purpose which moved the Board of Estimate to initiate this proceeding to acquire the title to Roosevelt avenue was to afford a place for an elevated railroad extension of the rapid transit.

"The petitioners assume that this was the sole purpose of the proceeding.

"Neither the language relied upon nor the fact, has, I think, warranted this assumption."

Praises Loan Associations.

State Superintendent of Banks Eugene L. Richards praised the work of the co-operative savings and loan associations, in promoting the ownership of small homes and systematic saving. It was the occasion of the recent dinner of the Metropolitan League of Savings and Loan Associations, held recently at the Hotel Majestic. Archibald W. McEwan, secretary of the league, presided.

Steinway Tunnel Connection.

A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens held a conference this week with President Theodore Shonts and General Manager Frank Hedley, of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., in reference to a proposed plan to provide an immediate connection between the Steinway tunnel and the platforms of the subway station at Grand Central station. The officers of the Interborough Company agreed to do everything possible to complete this extension within 12 to 14 months, if the city would appropriate a small sum required to cover the cost of the extra work involved.

Bronx County Civic Centre.

The question of a civic centre in Bronx County has been agitated for more than a year, mainly as to whether the county buildings should be located at Tremont, 161st street or 149th street. Through the efforts of Frank E. Holahan, who represented many influential business men and tax-payers desirous of having Tremont designated as the civic centre of Bronx County, the Sinking Fund Commission appointed a committee composed of the President of the Board of Aldermen and the Comptroller, to look over the different sites, with the result that recently the committee decided that the Tremont section was the logical and proper location for County buildings. The situation then devolved itself into a question of erecting or leasing public buildings and at a meeting of the Sinking Fund Commission, held this week in the City Hall, William C. Bergen's proposition to erect an annex to the Bergen building, to house the County officials, and to erect a new jail at a rental of $29,000 per year for 34,000 square feet of space, for ten years, was unanimously accepted by the Commission.

New Shore Front Hotel.

Because of the growing popularity of Beechhurst, Queens borough, as a home colony for persons desiring shore front residences and nautical advantages, a hotel with all modern equipments will be built on the shore, near the home of the Beechhurst Yacht Club, after plans by Walter K. Pleuthner. To be five stories in height and 100 x 100 feet in size, the hotel will be built so that the porch will surround a huge float for water craft, while two summer dining piazzas will front directly on the water. Beechhurst is adjacent to Willetts Point, where the waters of the East River and Long Island Sound meet. There is an unobstructed marine view clear to the Westchester shore.

In the center of the first floor of the hotel will be a large foyer hall with an office and check room on either side, while an inner dining room of ample size will open directly onto the dining porches. A spacious service porch will connect with all the dining spaces.

In the western end of the first floor will be a large lounging room, joining a smoking room. Extensive porch area will also surround this end of the building.

The driveways through the grounds will pass under porte cocheres where they adjoin the hotel.

In the upper stories will be 100 bed chambers and numerous fresh and salt water bath rooms, the majority of which rooms will overlook the water.

Situated on a promontory at the end of the Whitestone Landing division of the Long Island Railroad, Beechhurst has a shore front of nearly two thousand feet.

Clubhouse for Trained Nurses.

Parish & Schroeder, architects, 12 West 31st street, recently filed plans for the construction of another building for the Young Women's Christian Association. The new structure will be located in the south side of East 45th street, 75 feet east of Lexington avenue, and is to be used as a club house for graduate nurses. It will have a frontage of 75 feet and a depth of 100.5 feet, with a facade of brick limestone and terra cotta in the French renaissance style of architecture. In the basement will be the general dining rooms and kitchen. The executive offices, committee rooms, library and large assembly room will be located on the second floor, while the rest of the building will be taken up as bedrooms, there being 221 in all. It will be known as the Central Club for Nurses. The cost of this operation is given by the architects as $240,000.

Plans for Madison Avenue Loft.

Sommerfeld & Steckler, architects, 31 Union Square, have been retained by the George Backer Const. Co., and Arnstein & Levy, to prepare the plans for a modern twelve-story loft building to be erected at 103 Madison avenue and 25 East 29th street. The dimensions of the building will be 37 x100 feet with a wing 22 x 80 feet. The structure will be fireproof, and have a complete fire protective equipment installed. The materials to be used in construction will be brick, limestone, terra cotta and reinforced concrete.

Closing of Herald Square Theatre.

Last Friday night the historic Herald Square theatre, Broadway and 35th street, closed its doors for the last time. Today wreckers will commence to demolish the landmark, together with the buildings on the rest of the block front, to make way for a modern mercantile structure. For several years leases on most of the property have been for annual terms, with cancellation clauses, and when the entire plottage changed hands, as already announced in the Record and Guide, the occupants were notified to move on May 1. The Herald Square theatre was opened forty-one years ago, and has had a varied career.

Million Dollar Jail for Hudson Co., N. J.

Preliminary plans have been started in the office of John T. Rowland, Jr., architect, 98 Sip avenue, Jersey City, for a county jail to cost about $1,000,000, to be erected in Jersey City. This structure will be erected in Willow street, between Newark and Pavonia avenues, and will be built under the jurisdiction of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Hudson County, John Magner, supervisor. Definite details of this project have not as yet been decided upon and active operations are not likely to be started for quite some time.

New Residence at St. James, L. I.

Peabody, Wilson & Brown, architects, 389 Fifth avenue, are preparing the plans and specifications for a country residence to be erected at St. James, L. I., for Lathrop Brown, to cost about $100,000. The house will be fireproof, two and one-half stories in height, 50x90 feet, with two wings of irregular dimensions. Brick, marble and Indiana limestone are the materials to be used in construction. This project will probably later include the construction of extensive farm buildings.

An Ordinance Favored.

Ernest Bohm, corresponding secretary of the Central Federated Union of Greater New York and vicinity, has written to the Board of Aldermen that this body heartily approves of the proposed ordinance safeguarding passenger elevators, as advocated by the American Museum of Safety, and more particularly expressed in Sections Nos. 10 to 14. The Union requests favorable action. The measure was prepared by the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen and when enacted will form part of the Building Code.

Edison Service Stands Unique Test

The ten-story Columbia Theatre Building at Longacre Square has used Edison Service continuously since its opening in 1910. This means that Central Station Supply has met without interruption the demands, not alone of large office space, but of an unusual variety of play-house effects

A demonstration such as this of steadiness and adaptability of supply should make itself felt with everyone entrusted with big building management. Edison Service will insure you from the uncertainty of private plant supply, and now and ultimately put money in your pocket behind each sack

From the East to the West, lining the streets of the largest cities, dotting the most distant farms, Lehigh Cement structures stand, silent but convincing proofs of the quality of Lehigh Cement.

The argument of satisfactory use is practically unanswerable.

The cement which is made right if used properly is bound to give concrete satisfaction.

After leaving Cody, the party will proceed to San Francisco, where some time will be spent at the Panama Pacific Exposition.

JAMES C. HOE'S SONS, carpenters, builders and cabinet makers, have moved their offices and plant from 52-56 Gansevoort street, where they had been located for fifty years to 305-309 East 43d st. This is probably the oldest concern in the United States in its line. The business was established in 1822, ninety-three years ago. It was incorporated in 1909. During the entire history of this concern the business has been entirely in the hands of the Hoe family, practically handed down from father to son through nine decades.

JOHN E. BOWE, formerly commissioner of street cleaning of the Borough of Richmond, New York, was recently appointed assistant commissioner of public works of that Borough. Mr. Bowe was deputy commissioner of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity of the city in charge of the Richmond office, from 1908 to 1914. During his period in office, privately owned and operated water companies were taken over by the city and properly organized. Since 1914 Mr. Bowe has been commissioner of street cleaning.

ARTHUR WILLIAMS of the New York Edison Co. showed big statistics at the luncheon of the Fifth Avenue Association, at which he presided, to prove that something had been done to stem the factory tide. From May 15 to November 30, 1914, said Mr. Williams, there were 654 factories within a block of the avenue and on it. There are now but 498. The 73,582 employees have dropped to 52,478. This is a decrease of 156 factories and 21,104 workers. Other speakers were President Robert Grier Cook, Rabbi Silverman, A. A. Anderson, Joseph J. Rothschild, Reginald Pelham Bolton and Michael Dreicer.

LOUIS C. MAURER, of Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, Panama, junior engineer of the Panama Canal, who formerly was actively engaged in the practice of architecture in New York City, desires catalogues and price lists from manufacturers of materials used in the building trades. The Panama Canal Commission will soon erect two hospital buildings, one at Ancon and one at Colon. The former at an estimated cost of $150,000 and the latter at an estimated cost of $177,000. Mr. Maurer is desirous of obtaining information in the form of cuts, catalogues, etc., with unit prices for estimating purposes, also for designing and layouts for plans, which will be soon in progress. The following are a few important items of material, on which information is especially desired: Hospital plumbing fixtures and fittings, water closets designed without wood seats or covers, shower baths, bath tubs, slop sinks, bed pan racks, tables, beds, nurses' chairs, disinfecting, sterilizing and fumigating apparatus, incinerators, hospital elevators (approximately 4 ft. 6 ins. x 8 ft. 6 ins), red floor tile (Adamantine) or equal composition floors, base and wainscot, kitchen equipment, metal file cases, metal lockers, metal frames and sash. In reference to the last item, there will be two window openings 11 ft. wide x 7 ft. 6 ins. high, and one opening 14 ft. wide x 7 ft. 6 ins. high. The 3 windows will be of a type similar to that shown in the William Bayley Co.'s catalogue, center pivoted ventilator arranged for fly screen. All screening to be No. 18 copper wire screening. An estimate required for these three windows with all material throughout, of solid bronze, copper or steel, with glazing included. All glass of grade AA D.S. clear glass.

AMERICAN IRON, STEEL & HEAVY HARDWARE ASSOCIATION will hold its sixth annual convention from May 25 to 28, at San Francisco, Cal., headquarters will be the St. Francis Hotel. Secretary-treasurer, John G. Purdie, Marbridge Building, New York City.

PAN-AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS, under the joint auspices of the American Road Builders' Association and the American Highway Association, will be held at Oakland, Cal., during the week of September 13. It is expected that this congress will bring together those interested in highway improvement not only from all parts of the United States and Canada, but also from the South American countries, all of which will be officially invited to participate.

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN held its annual dinner at Delmonico's, Tuesday evening, April 27. There were 145 members and guests present. J. W. Alexander presided, and addresses were made by Edwin Blashfield and Cass Gilbert. Prominent among those present were Herbert Adams, Robert L. Aitken, William N. Chase, Kenyon Cox, William A. Coffin, C. C. Curran, Ben Ali Haggin, F. C. Jones, Harrison Morris, Alexander Van Laer and Adolph Weinman.

CONFERENCE OF MAYORS and other city officials will be held at Troy, N. Y., June 1 to 3, inclusive. This will be the sixth annual meeting of this conference, which consists of the city officials of all of the 54 cities in the State. In connection with this conference, an exhibit of the implements and manufactured wares which are commonly purchased and used by municipalities, will be held in the State Armory. General secretary, C. Arthur Metzger, Troy Chamber of Commerce, Troy, N. Y.

SOCIETY FOR ELECTRICAL DEVELOPMENT has launched a nation-wide movement to focus attention on the use of electricity for light, power and other uses, and plans are now in preparation for a campaign of education. Prominent in the plan of the society is the celebration to take form of an "Electrical Prosperity Week," beginning Monday, November 29, and ending Saturday, December 4, 1915. A committee of the society having the work in charge has asked the society for an appropriation of $50,000 for printing, advertising and other expenses, and it is estimated that the society will devote sufficient money from its regular appropriations to swell the total to $100,000. A simultaneous display throughout the country of store window lighting and of special town illumination is planned. The headquarters of the Society for Electrical Development are located in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th st.

RECENT INCORPORATIONS.

TILE ARCH CONSTRUCTION CO. has been chartered with $15,000 capital stock to do a general construction business and to deal in building materials, with offices in Manhattan. The directors are John Comerma, 7 East 42d st; Thomas H. Ray, 42 Broadway; and Elizabeth Kelly, Harrison, N. Y. The attorney is Thomas H. Ray, 42 Broadway.

KINGS POST REALTY CO. has filed incorporation papers with $25,000 capital stock to do a realty and construction business with offices in Brooklyn. The directors are: Thos. H. Ireland, 177 North 6th st; Hugo C. Gollmar, 2732 Bedford av, and Thos. H. Ireland, Jr., 1088 Nostrand av, all of Brooklyn. Gollmar, Smith & Froeb, 134 Broadway, Brooklyn, attorneys.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

BIG BRONX AND SUBURBAN BUILDING MOVEMENT SAPS MILL SUPPLIES OF CEMENT—STEEL MUCH STRONGER

Nineteen Bidders on Eastern Parkway Work—Prices Range Over Million

MAY first marks the real start of the building season. This year it is featured by conservatism, both in lending money for prospective construction and in the quantity of materials moving to jobs under way. The prices of materials remain low and the prospects are that for the next fortnight they will be practically stationary, pending labor adjustments and action on the part of the railroads regarding release of supply and equipment orders.

Current price shifts effective on this date include a range of $5.75 and $6.00 for Raritan common brick, $5.75 for good Hudson common brick; a range running from $1.23 to $1.32 for Portland cement; a price of $1.15 instead of $1.25 for finishing lime; a drop of five cents on all grades of gravel except in subway gravel, where the drop, by some of the smaller companies is even more. The big companies do not care for business in this commodity less than ninety cents.

Hollow tile is without change on moderate quantities for exterior or interior block, but concessions are being made this month for large quantities. Linseed oil has advanced two cents. Spelter, affecting all galvanized material like pipe and wire goods, including reinforcement, is higher. Quotations for May are at $0.13½, June $0.13 and July $0.12½. Copper, used for flashing and art work in buildings, has advanced. Electrolytic is now $0.18½ and $0.18¾.

COMMON BRICK.

Raritans Not Quoting Below $6 for Post-June Delivery.

COMMON brick is slightly firmer, in the sense that more brick is going out at $5.75 than at $5.50. Raritans are being quoted at $5.75 and $6 for delivery up to June 30, but the Sayre & Fisher Company are not making contracts beyond that date below $6. Newark yard prices are at $6.75 without noticeable stiffness.

It is understood that old contracts are having an important influence in keeping prices of Hudson brick back in this market at present. The action of the up-river manufacturers in not flooding the market and in determining to delay manufacturing to the latest possible date so as to gauge the probable requirements of the summer with consideration for the quantity left over at the beginning of the manufacturing season, is responsible for the change in prices rather than any improvement in local demand.

Official transactions for Hudson River brick covering the week ending Thursday, April 29, in the wholesale market, with comparison for the corresponding period last year and a comparative statement of Hudson brick unloaded from barges for consumption here, follows:

LIGHTERAGE RATES.

Interstate Commerce Commission Heeds Dealers' Demands.

WHEN word was received this week from Washington to the effect that the Interstate Commerce Commission had acceded to the request of the Building Material Dealers Association and other interests in New York to postpone action pending full investigation of the proposal to advance lighterage rates in New York harbor, there was rejoicing. The matter will rest until after November 1, having been originally postponed from January first.

The railroads, including the New York Central, Erie, Baltimore & Ohio, Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania and other lines desired to advance the charge for handling freight by lighter or float from and to points within and without the free lighterage limits. The commission has not had time to complete its investigation and accordingly the matter had to go over.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

Change in Local Market Price Not Far Off.

CHANGES in the local quotation for Portland cement was believed this week to be not far off. Some of the smaller companies and a big company are said to have benefited by the low prices to the extent of filling their mills full of business with little or no profit and that as soon as these plants have been surfeited the change upward will occur. There were rumors of big things imminent yesterday, but E. M. Hagar said that there was nothing he could announce at this time.

Albert Moyer, of the Vulcanite Portland Cement Company, which has been selling its product ten cents a barrel higher than some of the other companies, has figured out an interesting survey of what this cut has cost manufacturers. According to his calculations plants manufacturing one to two million barrels a year have practically the same overhead charges so far as administration, sales costs and similar expenses are concerned as a plant manufacturing a million barrels. The depreciation on a 2,000,000 barrel plant is $150,000 a year. Should a plant with a capacity of two million barrels ship one million at 57 cents, the cost of overhead and depreciation will be $300,000 and if it sold cement at 75 cents, mill, it would lose $120,000.

Should such a plant attempt to increase sales, thereby reducing overhead and manufacturing cost, it would have to reduce the selling price therefore, selling 1,500,000 barrels at a manufacturing cost of 55 cents and at a selling price of 65 cents there is a loss of $150,000, the same overhead and depreciation being figured as for a million.

Multiply this loss by the number of plants that have been selling at low price this year and some idea of the cost of the price war can be had.

IRON AND STEEL.

General Conditions Good, But Improvement Is Expected.

PIG iron is more active than steel. This is taken to be a good sign, especially since foundry grades are in the best demand. Total sales for April will amount to about 500,000 tons, or about 100,000 tons less than March. This is an improvement over the total for any other month since September.

Steel building and bridge work, even with the subway contracts placed, in April were less than in March, but March was an exceptionally heavy month compared with previous months, other than March. The April business will be larger than in any month (excepting March) since September, 1914.

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.

NEW YORK, MAY 8, 1915

WAITING FOR WEST SIDE IMPROVEMENTS

Mayor Mitchel Expects an Early Solution, But the West End Association is Skeptical—Plans For Landscaping

ACCORDING to an announcement by Mayor Mitchel the city is about to conclude preliminary negotiations with the New York Central Railroad Company for an agreement concerning the disposition to be made of the tracks along the West Side waterfront. The outstanding features of the new agreements differ materially from those in the tentative one arrived at under the previous negotiations, which were carried on by a committee of the Board of Estimate headed by the present Mayor, and were abruptly terminated when counsel for the West End Association, the Citizens Union and the League to End Death Avenue proved at public hearings that the Terminal Committee was under a misapprehension as to the rights of the railroad company to the lands occupied by its tracks.

So much of the plan as relates to Riverside Park provides that the rails shall either be covered over or a new road tunneled under the adjacent hillside for the length of the park, down to 59th street or thereabouts; and from that latitude the tracks are to be on an elevated structure to 30th street, and from there southward in a subway.

Changes in Plan.

The former plan (dated March 27, 1913) provided for a four-track subway from 59th street to 44th street through private property, and from there for an elevated structure to 30th street. Nothing was contained in the former tentative agreement about tunneling Riverside Park as an alternative. It was then planned simply to roof over the tracks where they run through the park lands and extend the parking to the river edge.

Whether the proposition to establish a freight yard at Manhattanville will be renewed will not be regularly made known until the Board of Estimate's committee, of which Mr. McAneny is now chairman, makes its report. Intimations have been given at City Hall that this will soon be forthcoming, but since the defeat of the Boylan bill in the Legislature the West End Association is skeptical of the consummation of any plan until the New York Central is pleased to proceed. There is now no compulsion in the shape of a time limit to urge the railroad corporation to hurry along. The Boylan bill, which was prepared by the Law Committee of the West End Association, provided that the Public Service Commission should prepare a plan for the necessary changes in railroad conditions on the West Side.

The West End Association has procured most of the legislation by which Riverside Park has been provided and protected. This great public service entitles the association to consideration. Charles L. Craig said this week that the Boylan bill was modeled after the Buffalo Terminals Commission act, which is operating to free the streets of Buffalo from the traffic of railroads. The plans when made final were to be approved by the Board of Estimate.

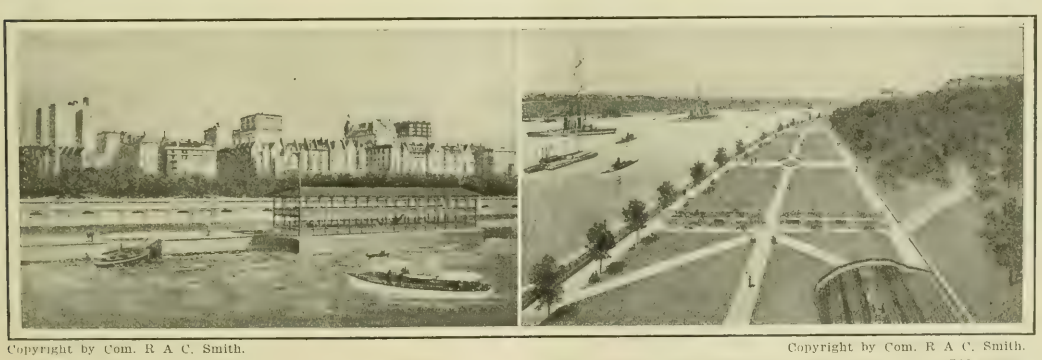
The bill also repealed the act of 1887 under which the waterfront (twelve streets) between 59th and 72d street, has been obstructed and public access cut off. It is very generally conceded that the act of 1887 is unconstitutional. The bill also repealed the act of 1911 under which the Board of Estimate is now carrying on negotiations with the railroad company for a proper disposition of its tracks. Counselor Craig is not sanguine that a solution of the matter can ever be had under the act of 1911.

The West End Association has now appointed a special committee to confer with the railroad and city authorities concerning the plans for landscaping and improving that part of Riverside Park which lies west of the railroad between 72d and 129th streets. The legal adoption of such plans will, Mr. Craig says, effectually check the operations of those who are insistent upon destroying that part of Riverside Park and substituting railroad yards. The law committee of the association has just issued an elaborate report upon the whole matter. It is contained in an illustrated pamphlet of 90 pages and evinces the years of careful attention which the association has given to protecting the most enjoyable park the city possesses.

That the present Commissioner of Docks and Ferries, Hon. R. A. C. Smith, is not included among those who would destroy the beauty of the park is evident from an illustrated pamphlet (printed at private expense) which he has circulated. It is entitled "In Rebuttal." It shows by means of the illustrations the plans which the Commissioner has for landscaping the lands (hitherto under water) which are now being added to the usable portion of the park. He explains the present status of the improvement and gives assurances of ultimate satisfaction by the public.

In Rebuttal.

In answer to a criticism that has been directed against the city authorities because of the erection of the disposal building at the foot of 77th street, North river, Commissioner Smith says that in order that the present open dump may be discontinued, and to save the city ten thousand dollars a year now paid to a private corporation maintaining an open dump, the engineers of the Dock Department worked out a form of artistic structure suitable for refuse disposal so long as it may be needed for the purpose and then convertible into a shelter.



On completion of the changes south of 72d street (to provide a proper disposal section at or in the neighborhood of 68th street) the building will be vacated by the Street Cleaning Department and put to the uses for which it is ultimately intended.

"Mothers and children will then find shelter from the summer sun and enjoy the breezes and the river view just as well as those who enjoy them from the Columbia Yacht Club property," says the Commissioner.

Commissioner Smith's resignation from the West End Association was announced this week.

The port of New York has 445 miles of direct waterfront. Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New Orleans have less than 100 miles.

The port of New York has 343 miles of wharfage, more than London, Liverpool and Hamburg combined.

LOWER BROADWAY CONDITIONS ANALYZED

Statistical Table Shows the Approximate Number of Vacancies—Surface Indications Point to an Uplift, Due to New Subway

A STUDY of the renting situation along Broadway, from White street to Astor place, through the wholesale clothing, millinery, etc., districts, is reproduced in statistical form on this page. For several years there has been considerable comment and discussion on the so-called "uptown movement" of commercial establishments and the resultant "abandonment" of downtown locations for places further north. Various individuals, intimate with the situation, have from time to time advanced different theories as to the whys and wherefores of this trend, but no one, so far as can be found, has made a building-to-building canvass to ascertain conditions.

The accompanying table, giving the street number of each structure, its height, and the number of store and loft vacancies, speaks for itself. It will be found that in spite of the popular impression to the contrary, renting in a number of blocks is good and that the number of signs plastered conspicuously on various parts of the building do not in every case indicate that amount of vacancies, but rather the number of brokers who have the property listed upon their books.

A table such as this can, at best, but comprise a survey of only surface conditions; a report of actual occupancy, prospective occupancy or vacancy cannot be attempted, because new leases are constantly being made. Firms are moving out and others moving in; signs are being taken down and replaced by others. Just south of Canal street there has been considerable activity of late, a number of office furniture firms having taken large space in some of the heretofore unoccupied buildings. Farther north, firms which have been established in the side streets are taking lofts on Broadway, with an evident appreciation of the advertising value of having a Broadway address.

A digest shows that there are 206 buildings between Astor place and 8th streets, ranging in height from two to fifteen stories, each having one or more stores on the street floor and lofts or offices above. An examination from the street, without inquiry as to whether or not new leases have been made, will find there are twenty-seven vacant stores on Broadway within these limits, indicating an average of about one store in every eight buildings. Fourteen of these vacancies are within the four blocks south of Grand street, the remaining thirteen stores are in the ten blocks, north of that street. Among the 206 buildings, eight are entirely vacant, thirty-six have but one vacancy, either a store or a loft, and eighty-one are entirely rented. Among this number fourteen are occupied at this time by a single tenant. Twelve buildings have been sub-divided or were originally built for offices or salesrooms.

Several blocks made a good showing in spite of all the talk to the effect that the section is "dead." The east side of Broadway, from Prince to Grand streets, has not a single store vacancy, and not many lofts are to lease. The block on the same side of the thoroughfare from Bond to West 3rd streets is fully occupied. In a row of seven twelve and thirteen-story structures between Prince and Houston streets there appear to be only two lofts vacant and one store.

Vacancies seem to be numerous south of Grand street. The street is almost impassable at various points on account of the subway construction.

SUBWAY EXITS WOULD BLOCK SIDEWALKS

Public Protests Against P. S. Commission's Plans, Which Would Make the Cost of Changes a City Charge—Condemnation Proceedings Advised

IN urging that William and Nassau streets shall not be given over to subway entrances and exits, Borough President Marcus M. Marks is receiving pronounced support. It is understood that the Real Estate Board, the Advisory Real Estate Council, the Merchants' Association and the Citizens' Union are moving in the matter, at the instance of many property owners in the section who apprehend that present unsatisfactory plans for access to the subway may not be changed. The lithographed plans show one station on the William street line extending from Wall to John and one other extending from John to Fulton, with entrances at various points, but all situated on the narrow sidewalks, and subtracting from the available width for traffic in streets that are much congested.

Borough President Marks has directed the attention of President McCall, of the Public Service Commission (under date of April 23) to the policy of the city in removing any encroachments and widening roadways in order to make available the full area of the streets for the accommodation of the constantly increasing vehicular and pedestrain traffic. In the widening of the roadway it had on several occasions, he said, been necessary to remove subway entrances and other structures that were a part of the subway. The cost had been a charge upon the community.

A Wrong Practice.

"An examination of the plans for the subways which are now under construction indicates that the practice is still in vogue of locating entrances and other structures on the sidewalk when their alteration may some time become necessary. While it is realized that the subways are a great public convenience, and even a necessity, it is believed that other space than the public highways should be used for station entrances. It is realized that the acquisition of private property for this purpose will slightly increase the cost of the railroad. It is believed, however, that this plan is more economical than the one now followed, when it is remembered that a great many of these entrances must ultimately be removed in order to provide accommodation for surface traffic.

"The need of the removal of some of these entrances in the uptown sections where the sidewalks are wide has already been felt. At such points as the intersection of Broadway and Fifth avenue, at all the stations on William street, and at other points throughout the city, there should be no encroachment of station entrances on the sidewalks.

Improper Encroachments.

"The fact that the property owners along William street were only recently required to remove all their encroachments at great cost is all the more reason why the city should not now occupy this space for subway entrances, which it required the property owners to restore to its proper use on the ground that it is needed for purposes of surface traffic.

"An examination of the lithographed plans for the William street subway indicates that in some cases the space between the stairway to the subway station and the curb line is not more than two or three feet. At Pine street, for example, the sidewalk is of insufficient width even at present to accommodate the pedestrian traffic.

"Since the city is the owner of the subways, and since the taxpayers of the city will have to pay the cost of removing these obstructions at some time in the future, it would seem that provision should be made to locate these entrances outside of the street lines, and that the cost thereof should be made a subway charge to be amortized with the rest of the cost of subway construction, and not be made a general tax upon the community.

"I respectfully call your attention to this matter with the hope that you will still be able to make provision to have these entrances built on private property instead of in the public highway, as shown on the existing plans. The practice of locating station entrances on private property in the City of Boston is general, and has been very satisfactory. The City of New York should be equally able to follow this practice and not appropriate for station entrances space in the public highways which was acquired for other purposes."

Official Confirmation.

At the office of the Public Service Commission an inquirer was referred by Chairman McCall to Engineer Turner, who confirmed the general understanding that the plans still call for entrances and exits situated within the sidewalk space. No easement had yet been obtained for an entrance into the subway through any adjacent building, and Mr. Turner would not undertake to say what success the commission would have in that respect, or what changes might be made ultimately in the plans. He understood that owners were asking prices for easements that are considered far too high.

The Merchants' Association has formally asked President Marks to cause an examination of the entire subject with a view, if possible, to suggesting some practical alternative which will better meet the needs of the public than will be the case if the entrances are located as is now proposed by the plan of the public service commission.

The matter is being considered by the Railroads and Transportation Committee of the Real Estate Board and a report is expected to be followed by action by the board. This committee consists of E. C. Camman, chairman; A. L. Dean, Sarsfield Doyle, William E. Harmon, Frank R. Houghton, Cyrus C. Miller and Carlisle Norwood.

So far as inquiries by the Record and Guide disclosed, the feeling of owners and business interests along William street is strongly opposed to the use of any part of the narrow sidewalks for subway entrances. It is the emphatic belief also that now, while the subways are being built, is the time to take the subject up, and that the city should not be put to the trouble and extra expense of changing station entrances after the work has been done. These sidewalks are only nine to ten feet in width, and are not sufficiently wide at the present time to properly handle the traffic. Subway station entrances and exits six feet six inches in width would reduce the space at such points to less than three feet in the clear.

It is pointed out by those who are familiar with conditions that entrances of this width would not be adequate to handle the tremendous crowds which will pour through the Fulton and Wall street stations of the William street subway. Entrances at least ten feet in width will be required to properly handle such traffic, especially at Fulton street, where by reason of a peculiar and unusual condition entrances and exits will be located on the easterly side of the street only to handle both uptown and downtown traffic. To give the public the facilities it requires these entrances should properly be made twelve to fifteen feet in width.

An Engineer's Suggestion.

A plan for the relief of conditions, that has caused a great deal of comment, is that of Maurice Deutsch, consulting engineer, who believes it is practicable to close William street to business vehicle traffic during certain hours and use both the sidewalk and roadbed for pedestrians. This would give forty feet of space from building to building and permit ten-foot subway entrances in the middle of the street with fifteen feet on each side for traffic. The claimed advantages for this plan are that street conditions will be improved, adequate entrances to the subway can be arranged for, and there will be no necessity for the city to condemn easements for entrances and exits.

In this connection it is pointed out that William street, south of Fulton, is now given over almost entirely to office buildings. The property not so improved is used largely by tenants who do not require cartage and shipping facilities. The stores along William street, south of Beekman, outside of the built-up section, where insurance interests predominate, are occupied by tailors, restaurants, lunch rooms, cafes and the like. The upper portions of these old buildings are generally given over to jewelry manufacturers and for semi-office and manufacturing purposes. There are probably not half a dozen firms remaining on William street who require cartage and shipping facilities.

If the Deutsch plan is not practicable from a legal viewpoint, then downtown interests will insist that arrangements be made, by condemnation proceedings or otherwise, so that entrances sufficiently wide will be provided.

Action by the Real Estate Board.

The Railroad and Transportation Committee of the Real Estate Board, of which E. C. Camman is chairman, has unanimously adopted a resolution opposing sidewalks in William and Nassau streets for subway purposes. In discussing this matter, Mr. Camman stated that on account of the large traffic in William street and the fact that the sidewalks at the present time are not of sufficient width to handle the traffic during the busy hours, that the public and real estate interests should insist that these subway entrances be kept off William, Nassau, Fulton, John and Pine streets.

EASEMENTS BY CONDEMNATION.

THE Railroad and Transportation Committee of the Real Estate Board has unanimously adopted the following resolutions: "That in connection with the construction of subways in William and Nassau streets (being narrow streets) the Real Estate Board of New York believes that the use of sidewalks for entrances and exits would be unwise, and that easements on private property should be condemned; but only sufficient space taken for entrance and exit purposes, and that all entrances and exits should be planned sufficiently wide to satisfactorily handle the traffic."

AN EXTRA LEGISLATIVE SESSION?

It Will Be Necessary If Appropriations Are Greatly Reduced—Resolutions in the Constitutional Convention

HEARINGS will begin next Monday before the Governor at the Capitol on the State appropriation bills passed hurriedly in the closing moments of the session. The Governor has caused to be summoned to the hearings the head of every State department, thirty-two in number, to prove the need of each and every item in the bills.

Every citizen interested in the tax budgets, city and State, will be welcome at the hearings. There should be a large delegation to represent New York City. If the hearings are conducted upon sound business principles, with the books wide open for taxpayers to see, it will, indeed be a revolutionary proceeding in this State, and probably means a really big reduction in the amount of the appropriations.

President McAneny says the State appropriation bills amount to more than $93,000,000, to which must be added the $27,000,000 for canal construction, which might be granted by the referendum in November. Together these reach the total of $120,000,000—more than twice the amount of appropriations of 1910.

Perhaps an Extra Session.

A bill is awaiting action by the Governor providing for a direct tax of 1.7. If, after an exhaustive scrutiny of every appropriation item, it is found that a substantial sum may be saved, it is probable that an extra session of the Legislature will be called.

Called to the Flag.

The Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests is urging upon all property owners and taxpayers' associations the necessity of appearing in Albany next week at the series of public hearings to be given by the Governor upon the financial bills now before him for approval. During the controversy between State and city officials, as to the need of a direct State tax, the special committee of the Advisory Council upon this matter was assured by the Governor that these hearings would be granted to the property owners, in an effort to lighten their tax burdens. Although it seems reasonably certain that a direct State tax is inevitable, nevertheless the Advisory Council believes that radical economies can be effected in the appropriations made.

With this in view, this special committee of the Advisory Council, which consists of Messrs. Cyrus C. Miller, chairman; Willard V. King, Alfred E. Marling and Thomas M. Mulry, has been carefully analyzing the different items of the State budget. Although the entire subject has been somewhat confused by political partisanship, nevertheless many of the appropriations, particularly for administrative purposes, are susceptible to reduction. However, nothing can be effectively accomplished by vague generalities. Actual facts, substantiated by practical reasons, must be adduced by all property owners if any success is to be obtained through being represented at these hearings of the Governor. It must be remembered that although New York City pays 70 per cent. of this direct State tax, nevertheless this tax levy will also bear heavily upon property owners upstate also, another will doubtless be represented at these hearings before the Governor.

More Bills Signed.

The Mayor signed the bill empowering the Board of Assessors to award damages to property owners near the Brooklyn terminal of the Manhattan Bridge who had been injured by the change of grade on the approaches.

Mayor Mitchel vetoed the bill for the widening of Coney Island Creek. He explained that the bill did not provide any means for the payment of the cost of the construction of the proposed ship canal between Gravesend and Sheepshead Bays, which would be the result of the work projected. The city just now could not undertake so expensive a piece of work, and the property-owners along the route had not expressed any willingness to pay for it.

For the Industrial Board.

Albany advices say that it has practically agreed that John Mitchell, James M. Lynch and J. Mayhew Wainwright will be three of the five members of the State Industrial Commission, which is to administer the work of the Workmen's Compensation Department and the Labor Department. Mr. Mitchell, who is a member of the Compensation Board, will be head of the new government branch; Mr. Lynch, present Labor Commissioner, will have charge of the labor branch of the new department.

Home Rule Expected.

An amendment demanding clean-cut home rule for New York City was laid before the Constitutional Convention by Senator Robert F. Wagner. It prohibits legislative enactments that have reference to any special city. It forbids the Legislature to provide for the filling of any municipal office now existing or hereafter to be created, except by an election within the municipality or by appointment of an official thereof. Absolute self-government is expressly given to all cities by the provision that they shall have the power to organize their own municipal government.

James L. Nixon, of Buffalo, submitted a proposition prohibiting the exemption from taxation on any real property, except that owned by the Federal, State, county and municipal governments in this State.

A new form of short ballot proposed by Edward N. Smith, of Watertown, gives the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Comptroller and Attorney-General a four-year term instead of two. Under Mr. Smith's plan the Governor would name a secretary for charities, a secretary for commerce and labor, a secretary for defense, a secretary for finance, a secretary for the interior, a secretary for public works and a secretary of state. They, with the superintendent of public instruction, would comprise the Governor's cabinet.

Chairman Seth Low, of the Cities Committee, announced that on Tuesday, May 11, that committee would have its first public hearing. Up to date the only resolution to be referred to this committee is the Wagner proposal for home rule for cities.

Senator Wagner offered a resolution which exempts all State lands from taxation by towns and counties.

Arthur J. Baldwin introduced a resolution which provides that no bill levying a direct tax shall be passed by the Legislature unless it receives the assent of members of the Senate representing districts in which the assessed valuation of taxable property shall be at least 40 per cent. of the total assessed valuation of such property in the State. This would mean that such a measure would have to have the support of more than half the number of the New York members.

SUB-METER TARIFF ORDERED HELD UP

Pending Further Negotiations Between the Companies and Wholesale Consumers of Lighting Current

A special committee of the Real Estate Board, with Charles Griffith Moses as chairman, which recently took up with the Public Service Commission and the lighting companies the question of a new rule of the commission reducing the retail rate for lighting current, has obtained a postponement of this arrangement for thirty days from May 1, with the prospect of a further adjournment pending the adjustment of certain phases of this matter.

A new ruling of the Public Service Commission provided that the retail rate for current furnished by the New York Edison Company and subsidiaries should be reduced to 8 cents per k.w. beginning May 1, but this rule did not materially affect the wholesale rate made by lighting companies. Aside from the ruling of the commission, the lighting companies promulgated an order, also to go into effect on May 1, that the wholesale consumers should be furnished with but one light and one power meter for each contract, and that all additional meters must be purchased by the consumer. This rule also required that these meters must be maintained, tested and read by the consumer.

It has been the custom, and the policy of the lighting companies, for owners of large apartments to make a special contract with lighting companies assuming the financial responsibility for the entire current consumption of the building and retailing the current to their tenants at regular lighting company rates and supplying tenants with certain types of lamps at the owners' expense.

The lighting companies under this arrangement furnished and installed all meters and read them, and in case of a controversy as to the accuracy of a bill rendered, furnished disinterested and expert evidence which, generally speaking, was accepted as final and conclusive. The lighting companies were relieved of a considerable overhead expense in not having to deal with a number of small consumers. They were also freed from the danger of financial loss through uncollectable accounts.

Under the new ruling of the lighting companies, which was to have gone into effect on May 1, the wholesale consumer would incur large expenses for the purchase of meters and for reading and testing them. There is also the prospect of many disputes between landlord and tenant, meantime the lighting companies will receive as much as formerly for their electric current.

The owners of large buildings feel that this ruling means the shifting of the burden from the lighting companies to the wholesale consumer. The lighting companies take a somewhat different view of the case. Precisely what will be the outcome of the representations made by the Real Estate Board's Committee cannot now be stated, but it is believed that some reasonable adjustment of the matter will result. The other members of the Real Estate Board's Committee are Charles A. Cone, Irving S. Whiting, Charles E. Duross, F. R. Wood, A. L. Babcock and Benjamin Mordecai. The action in no way affects the rest of the new tariff.

WHEN BUILDINGS MUST BE FIREPROOF

A New Classification of Buildings for the Building Code—Fireproof Restrictions—Fire Protection Convention—Inspectors' Conference

AN ordinance in relation to the classification of buildings prepared in the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen was introduced at this week's meeting of the board. Buildings are classified, first, according to occupancy, as Public Buildings, Residential Buildings and Business Buildings; and second, according to their construction as Fireproof, Non-Fireproof and Frame.

Fireproof construction will be required as follows:

a. Every public building over 20 feet high, in which persons are harbored to receive medical, charitable or other care or treatment, or in which persons are held or detained under legal restraint;

b. Every other public building over 40 feet in height, or exceeding 5,000 square feet in area;

c. Every residence building, except tenements, over 40 feet in height and having more than 15 sleeping rooms;

d. Every tenement house exceeding six stories or parts of stories as provided in the Tenement House Law;

e. Every residence building having more than 15 sleeping rooms and exceeding 2,500 square feet in area, unless divided by interior partition walls of approved masonry or reinforced concrete into sections of less than 2,500 square feet area;

f. Every other residence building over 75 feet in height;

g. Every garage within the fire limits; every garage within the suburban limits exceeding 600 square feet in area or 15 feet in height, or not located as provided in §91 of this chapter; and every garage, outside these restricted areas, over 40 feet in height;

h. Every business building used for a hazardous trade as indicated in §§ 171 and 212 of chapter 10 of this ordinance;

i. Every building over four stories in height used as a factory as defined in the Labor Law.

j. Every building or structure within the fire limits or the suburban limits used as a grain elevator or a coal pocket.

k. Every business building over 75 feet in height (as in the existing law).

l. Every business building within the fire limits or the suburban limits exceeding, when located on an interior lot or when facing on only one street, an area of 7,500 square feet, or when facing on two streets an area of 12,000 square feet; or when facing on three or more streets an area of 15,000 square feet, provided that when any such building is equipped throughout with an approved system of automatic sprinklers, fireproof construction shall be required only when the areas exceed double those herein specified for the respective conditions, and provided also that when any such building is divided by approved interior fire walls, fireproof construction shall be required only when any undivided area exceeds 7,500 square feet. Buildings of greater areas than herein specified for the respective conditions may, considering location and purpose, be constructed non-fireproof by special permission of the superintendent of buildings, provided they do not exceed two stories in height.

§ 71. Construction. 1. Classes of construction. For the purposes of this chapter all buildings or structures coming under its provisions shall be classified, with respect to construction, as fireproof, non-fireproof and frame.

2. Fireproof. Buildings or structures which are constructed throughout of materials that will effectively resist the action of fire as more specifically provided in Article 17 of this chapter, and in which wood or other combustible material, so far as permitted by this chapter, is used only for window frames, sashes and doors with the trim around the same, and for other inside finish, flooring, sleepers, door bucks and grounds, are deemed to be fireproof.

3. Non-fireproof. Buildings or structures which do not conform to the requirements for fireproof buildings or structures as in this section provided, but which are enclosed with walls of approved masonry or reinforced concrete, and constructed otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, are deemed to be non-fireproof. (See also City Record, May 6, and Record and Guide, March 6.)

Excavations and Foundations.

The ordinance in relation to Excavations and Foundations was reported out of committee for final passage this week in the Board of Aldermen. (See Record and Guide, April 3, page 569; and City Record, May 6.)

FIRE PROTECTION CONVENTION

Subjects to Be Reported on Next Week —Building Inspectors' Conference

The nineteenth annual meeting of the National Fire Protection Association will be held in the Banquet Room, eighth floor of the Hotel Astor, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and on the following day there will be a conference of Building Commissioners and Inspectors. President Robert D. Kohn will preside at the convention. F. J. T. Stewart is chairman of the executive committee.

At the Tuesday morning session the following committees will report: Canadian Committee, John B. Laidlaw, chairman; Public Information, Franklin H. Wentworth, Boston; State Fire Prevention Associations, Thomas R. Weddell, Chicago; Field Practice, C. H. Patton, Cleveland; Electrical Committee, F. E. Cabot, Boston; Blower Systems, A. M. Feldman, New York.

At the afternoon session of Tuesday the opening address will be delivered by Frank Irving Cooper, on the subject of the Status of School House Construction in the United States. There will be reports at this session from the following committees: Safety to Life, H. W. Forster, Philadelphia; Fire-Resistive Construction, Ira H. Woolson, New York; Uses of Wood in Building Construction, Julius Franke, New York; Automatic Sprinklers, C. L. Scofield, Montreal; Standardization of Pipe and Pipe Fittings, Charles A. Olson, Boston.

At the Wednesday morning session committees will report on the following matters: Explosives and Combustibles, Charles A. Hexamer, Philadelphia; Fire Protection Coverings for Window and Door Openings, W. C. Robinson, Chicago; Tanks, Gorham Dana, Boston.

Come to the Luncheon.

At 1 o'clock on Wednesday at the Hotel Astor there will be a luncheon under the auspices of the New York Chapter, N. F. P. A., at which the topic will be Fire Prevention and the Business Man. The speakers, on this occasion, will be Acting Mayor McAneny, Allan Robinson, and Franklin H. Wentworth. R. P. Miller, of New York, is president of the New York Chapter.

An interesting feature of the luncheon will be an illustrated talk by James E. Latta on the great work of the Underwriters' Laboratories in the cause of fire-prevention. A general invitation is extended to the public to attend the luncheon. ($1.50 per plate.)

The local committee in charge of the arrangements for the luncheon is composed of Messrs. J. P. H. Perry, of the Turner Construction Company; L. I. Neale, of the J. B. King Company; F. J. T. Stewart, of the Board of Underwriters; E. R. Hardy, of the New York Insurance Exchange, and President R. P. Miller.

At the afternoon session of Wednesday there will be a round-table discussion of practical problems in building regulations. Sydney J. Williams, of Madison, Wis., will preside. There will be five minutes' talk on the following topics: Uniformity in Building Laws, How Far It Is Possible and Desirable; Relation of State and City Building Codes; Relation of Building Codes and Architects' License Laws; Discretionary Powers of Enforcing Officials. Also special topics to building officials, such as the Availability of Window Protection for Hotels and Apartments and Sub-Standard Stair Enclosures for Low Grade Buildings.

On Thursday morning committees will report on the following subjects: Signalling Systems, Ralph Sweetland, Boston; Standards, W. C. Robinson, Chicago; High Pressure Fire Service Systems, H. B. Machen, New York; Fire Pumps, H. O. Lacount, Boston. There will be a round-table discussion at this session on the subject of Private Fire Supplies from Public Mains, with special reference to automatic sprinkler connection to High Pressure Fire Service Systems. Committees will also report on the following matters: Hydrants and Valves, H. O. Lacount, Boston; Manufacturing Risks and Special Hazard, Benjamin Richards, Boston; Laws and Ordinances, Charles H. Lum, New York; Uniform Requirements, Gorham Dana, Boston.

Building Commissioners and Inspectors.

In connection with the Convention of the National Fire Protection Association there will be a conference of building commissioners and inspectors from the principal cities of the United States. The conference will open at the Hotel Astor on Friday morning. Ex-Supt. Miller, of New York, will call the meeting to order.

At the building commissioners and inspectors' conference Supt. Carlin, of Brooklyn, will open a discussion on the subject of Hollow Tile for Outside Bearing Walls—should it be permitted? Prof. Woolson will speak on Uniformity and Mr. Lawrence Veiller on Building Inspection in relation to Housing.

The questions which this Conference will discuss include:

First, technical details of fire protection, sanitation, and structural safety, for the protection of both property and life—what protection is ideally desirable, and what can a building code reasonably require;

Second, questions of administration—relation between state and city authorities, discretionary powers, etc.

The new Fifth avenue is being blighted by the same pest that ruined the lower section for retail trade. Factories are necessary and valuable in their place, but they should be kept there. The need of a district commission with moderate police power to keep things in their right place is seen more plainly every day.

The Chelsea and Greenwich sections even now offer many opportunities for speculative building and will be very active when the Seventh avenue subway is ready. Proximity to business is an advantage to some people superior to any that distant sections offer, and consequently the comparatively few modern apartment houses in the two old villages are, according to all accounts, remarkably well occupied.

Taxation without representation has always been resented by the American people. Yet, when have property interests been sufficiently represented on any public board empowered to levy taxes, impose occupancy limitations or direct structural alterations? The probabilities are strong that no bona-fide business man, builder or real estate expert will be appointed to the new Industrial Board.

The city of Newburgh voted at a general election held last Saturday to adopt the city manager form of government, which means a government on business principles only, as opposed to a government for political ends. General Frederick Smith, U. S. A., recently retired, a native of the town, is likely to be tendered the commission of City Manager. Under an expensive system of government, for a small city, taxes and rents have mounted there to a level which aroused the citizens to action.

Delayed Terminal Improvements.

Preventing legislation which would have charged the Public Service Commission with the duty of preparing plans for the West Side terminal improvements within a specified limit of time has put a responsibility upon the city administration which property interests fear it may not be equal to in view of the non-success of its efforts heretofore. Nine years have now elapsed since the first Act was passed by the Legislature directing the removal of the railroad tracks from the surface of the West Side avenues, and nothing final has yet been accomplished. The Mitchel committee of 1913 failed because it had a wrong conception of the respective rights of the city and the railroad company to the lands in question, and carried on the negotiations as a suppliant instead of as the owner of four-fifths of the right-of-way.

But for this misunderstanding the committee would surely not have written into the tentative agreement with the railroad company the concession for a great railroad yard at Manhattanville that would have ruined property values not only along Riverside Drive north of the Valley but for a considerable distance westward, and wherever the midnight noises of rumbling cars, shrieking locomotives and bellowing cattle would have disturbed the rest of the surrounding population. Such important public business as the laying out of a terminal system intended to completely reorganize freight-handling for the city might very well have been entrusted to the Public Service Commission and its corps of engineers when armed with a law requiring the railroad company to come to terms within a reasonable period. Nothing can be done under the existing law without the assent of the railroad company, and the misfortunes which have so far attended the negotiations carried on from City Hall under such a handicap would have amply justified a change.

That delay in the completion and approval of a final plan for the improvements is not unattended with danger to the rights of the public in the park is evidenced by the attempt made in 1913 to repeal the law under which the lands under water west of the railroad tracks between 72d and 129th streets are held as a trust for park purposes. No one could be found to acknowledge the authorship of the bill, which would have permitted the park lands to be set apart for "such purposes as may be designated by the Board of Estimate." One of these purposes undoubtedly was commercial wharfage and railroad trackage. Strange as it may seem to the general public, constant vigilance has for many years been required on the part of the West Side property owners, and especially the West End Association, to detect and frustrate by public exposure the subtle attempts to take the park frontage for railroad and dockage purposes. The city while possessing more miles of waterfront than any other port in the world is undoubtedly in need of more wharfage for deep-sea vessels, for much of the present wharfage room is monopolized by railroad companies, while channel obstructions, which it is the duty of the United States Government to remove, render miles of frontage useless for ocean commerce.

While the citizenry will hope for the best from the Board of Estimate, they are very doubtful that the board is capable of handling the negotiations for the reorganization of the waterfront with finality, as the Public Service Commission would have been able to do. Mayor Mitchel was not adverse, as he said, to having the whole matter of West Side improvements turned over to the commission, and no doubt the general public would have insisted with success on this had there been timely notice of the pendency of the bill.

There Remaineth a Hope.

Even though the State appropriation bills which have passed the Legislature and will be the subject of hearings before the Governor next week should be pruned to a considerable extent, the direct tax at the rate of $1.70 per thousand would remain to be collected, unless the Legislature is reconvened to amend the resolution fixing the tax rate so that it will be in accordance with the reduced appropriations.

An extra session of the Legislature, when it will have opportunity of taking a sober second thought, is a probability at the moment which affords taxpayers a reason for taking new courage.

Another and larger reason for hope is found in the Constitutional Convention, where resolutions already offered provide for home rule for New York City and a more economical administration of State affairs. Whatever the Legislature may or may not do to reduce the burden of taxation, there is almost a certainty that the fundamental law of the State will be so changed and modernized, as the result of the work of the convention, as to provide for property interests in the future the fullest protection compatible with reason and justice.

A Modern Praetorian Guard.

All over the country taxpayers are revolting against the increasing cost of municipal government. In the past decade there has been a remarkable expansion of city pay rolls and a consequent increase of taxation and rents unwarranted by a corresponding increase in population, buildings and wealth. With a desire to make as many places in the public service as possible, political leaders have encouraged the smaller cities to extend public works and services in emulation of their larger neighbors, and many of them now have municipal organizations of a size sufficient for cities of several times their population. Larger sums are being spent for education, police, fire departments, charity, sanitation, and public works than most towns can afford, and the consequence has been the coming together of citizens in mass meetings and the forming of taxpayers' and rentpayers' leagues in towns where such societies were never known before; and they have demanded and obtained at the polls forms of government more economical than the old ones.

Citizens, irrespective of party, who had never taken much interest in local government, have thus been drawn together in helpful fellowship in hundreds of cities, to prove that American government cannot be a failure while the people retain the power to expel a system of civil service when it proves unresponsive to their will. Revolutions of this kind have occurred in so many places where they were deemed impossible that there remains no warrant to think that New York City will never get a change from the sort of government which overregulates and over-taxes.

In contrast to the new fellowship among citizens for the general good is the new movement among city employees here to organize into one body, presumably for the protection of their places in the civil service. No one will dispute their right to peaceable assemblage and the use of honorable means to maintain themselves, any more than he will challenge the right of business men to seek legislation for relief from abuse by regulation and confiscatory taxation. It is hoped, however, that the city employees will not be like the Praetorian Guards who acquired a dangerous power in ancient Rome and exercised it in a most unscrupulous manner, deposing and elevating emperors at their pleasure, and demanding from aspirants for imperial dignity liberal donations in return for their favor. Or, like the Janissaries of Constantinople, those organized public servants who finally conducted themselves with such extereme violence toward civilians that they were driven out of the city.

Ninety thousand men and women, with their relatives and friends, would make a formidable army for civilians to oppose in a political war. Even now they constitute a potential political force which city administrations have ever had the greatest consideration for, even at the expense of the civilian body. Unfortunately their numbers far exceed the reasonable requirements of the municipal corporation in times of financial stress, and the excess is not only the cause of an excessive outgo for salaries, but a reason for the city doing unwarrantable things. Property owners have, for humane reasons, hesitated to demand formally a reduction in the force, but different feelings may be aroused if they find that a Praetorian guard has really been organized to oppose their demands for relief. Any unpleasant overturn in the city government would be regrettable, and wise public officers, of both city and State, will always avoid compelling the citizenry to resort to their extreme constitutional rights.

The City's Rights in the South Brooklyn Waterfront.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

In my last letter I stated that the land to be taken by the city for a freight terminal below original low-water mark, on the Brooklyn shore, was filled in (under Chapter 202 of the laws of 1847) with the exception of a block and a half at the southeast corner of the tract, south of Sigourney street, on Halleck and Court streets, which was filled in under Chapter 184 of the laws of 1851. Permit me now to set forth the title of this block and a half, and show whether the condemnation proceedings, now pending, have safeguarded the interests of the city, as future owner of this land, to be used for a freight terminal, any better than they appeared to do for the rest of the land, as shown in my last two letters.

Chapter 202 of the laws of 1847 permitted the erection of wharves, etc., to the south side of Sigourney street; the rights of the wharf-owners, down to this line, were considered in my last letter to you. The rights of the occupants, from the south side of Sigourney street to the south side of Halleck street, and between Court street and Henry street basin, will be considered in this letter.

All of the land in question was below original low-water mark; the title was therefore vested in the State of New York—People, etc., vs. Staten Island Ferry Company (68 N. Y. 76). The State of New York enacted Chapter 184 of the laws of 1851, entitled "An act to authorize the owners of land fronting on Gowanus Bay to build docks, wharves and bulkheads, piers and basins in front of their lands in said bay, in the City of Brooklyn and part of New York."

The act provides: "It shall be lawful for the owners of land fronting on the water . . . and their heirs and assigns, to erect, etc., docks, etc., on the land under water in front of their lands in the City of Brooklyn." Then follows description of a line which would include the block and a half under consideration, between it on the south and and the line authorized by Chapter 202 of the laws of 1847 on the north; the section closes with the words: "And it shall be lawful for the said owners, their heirs and assigns, to charge and receive reasonable dockage and wharfage from all persons using any of the wharves, bulkheads, piers and basins that may be constructed in pursuance of this act."

It is evident that the act of 1851 is as far from giving ownership in the land under water to the persons who are authorized to build the wharves, south of Sigourney street, as was the act of 1847 in granting such ownership over the land under original low-water mark, north of Sigourney street, as set forth in my last letter.

All of the remarks in my last letter, showing the difference between ownership in fee simple absolute, and easements to build wharves on land under water, belonging to the State, therefore apply to the block and a half now under consideration, and for the reasons set forth in that letter, the proceedings to condemn the rights of the persons in possession, as though they owned the fee should be reopened and the rights of the city asserted. It should be remembered that the act of 1847 required the consent of the City of New York to the extensions of wharves, and that no such consent has been shown, in these proceedings, and that probably none was ever given. In that case the erection of wharves, etc., under the act of 1851 was unauthorized, as it could only be asserted by persons having complied with all of the requirements of the act of 1847, which extended the bulkhead line to the south side of Sigourney street.

Moreover, the act of 1851 grants privileges south of the south side of Sigourney street, only to "the owners of land fronting on Gowanus Bay;" there were no owners of land fronting on Sigourney street, between Court street and Henry street basin; there were only persons claiming certain easements to build wharves, practically identical with the rights of all up-land owners over land under water, in front of their uplands. There was therefore no authority for persons who were not owners to proceed under this act of 1851, and build wharves south of Sigourney street, and all such erections were encroachments on the public domain and unauthorized.

The deeds under which the First Construction Company takes title are made expressly subject to all covenants and restrictions of record, thereby preventing any possibility of a successful assertion that some of the restrictions in these acts of the Legislature might be barred by the lapse of time.

It is therefore submitted that as to this block and a half in Court street and Halleck street, the present claimants of the awards are far from being owners in fee simple absolute, and that appraisements made on that theory should be revised and accommodated to the rights of owners of easements of land under water, subject to all of the objections above set forth.

The deeds to the First Construction Company have, perhaps unintentionally, merely given unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's. As no rights can be asserted under this act of 1851, south of Sigourney street, except by persons who have acquired the consent of the City of New York to build wharves, etc., north of Sigourney street, and as no such consents appear to have been obtained, it follows that the City of New York is in virtual control of this block and a half, south of Sigourney street, as well as of the rest of the tract proposed to be taken for this freight terminal.

Standardization of Forms.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

The question of the standardization of forms of instruments to be recorded in the Hall of Records is one of intimate importance to all those identified with real estate in any of its branches. It will be remembered that last autumn a conference was held at my office and the subject discussed in full, the result being a committee was appointed, consisting of men identified with some of the largest title companies in the city. This committee reported in favor of the change and a bill was introduced by Senator Simpson (Senate Bill, Int. No. 1573 Pr. No. '994), which is now in the hands of the Governor, for signature. Following is a copy of a letter, sent to the Governor, by me, asking for his favorable consideration:

"Last autumn I invited representatives of varied real estate interests, including the title companies, distinguished lawyers of large real estate practice, representatives of large estates and real estate periodicals, to a conference to consider standardizing forms of instruments as recorded in this office for the convenience of the users of these forms and for the economy such standardization would afford in making the records of recorded instruments in this office. After the conference had discussed the matter generally and approved the purpose for which it was called, a committee was appointed, the members of which were Walter Lindner, Esq., of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company; Henry R. Chittick, Esq., of the Lawyers Title & Trust Company, and Cyril H. Burdette, Esq., of the New York Title Insurance Company, to study the subject and report the result of same to the conference. The report of the committee was submitted to the members of the conference and generally approved by them and the bill now before you represents their work.

"Practically, the bill provides additions of other forms of instruments than those now constituting part of Section 258 of the Real Property Law and includes such instruments as the committee deemed it wisely possible to standardize. The amendment to the present law is in entire accord with the full spirit of the present law in that it provides no compulsion for the use of the forms standardized and sets them up as sign-posts to the users of such forms of instruments. Generally, the bill in my estimation is a long step in the right direction, and approved, as it has been, by the various members of the conference, made up, as stated, of representatives of real estate interests generally, may afford you full assurance as to the propriety and need for such legislation."

Should this bill become a law, the taxpayers should be saved considerable expense, and the Department would be relieved of much red tape.

That Direct Tax.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Whatever may be the merits of the "direct tax" dispute, favored by some and opposed by other city officials, Comptroller Prendergast has the great advantage of being a practical accountant and understanding the meaning of figures which some of the disputants do not. They speak of $65,000,000 and of $120,000,000 with what may be called the flippancy of confidence. Albany legislation has always been unfavorable to New York City no matter which political party was in power there.

A Fire-Escape Decision.

The Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests is calling to the attention of property owners the recent decision of the Court of Appeals, in the case of Amberg vs. Kinley, whereby it is declared that failure to provide fire-escapes as required by Section 82 of the Labor Law establishes a conclusive proof of negligence against such persons not complying with this provision. The section of the Labor Law prescribes the following requirements with regard to fire-escapes on factories: "Such fire-escapes as may be deemed necessary by the Commissioner of Labor shall be provided on the outside of every factory in this State consisting of three or more stories in height."

The property owner possessed a large wooden building for drying oiled hides, 123 feet long and 43 feet wide, commonly termed a tannery drying loft. The first floor of this drying loft was on the ground, with only two board floors above, the third story being only sixteen feet from the ground. Notwithstanding the moderate height of the building, the court primarily held that it was three stories high, within the meaning of the Labor Law. Though tan bark was banked around the building outside to the top story, thereby indicating its low structure, this fact was not regarded of sufficient weight to exclude the building from the operation of the Labor Law.

The court held that it was not necessary on the part of the representatives of the deceased, in an action for damages against the property owner, to prove that he had negligently caused the death of their testator, in order to establish the liability of the property owner. Mere non-compliance with that provision of the Labor Law requiring fire-escapes was sufficient to determine conclusively negligence on the part of the property owner, although the building was provided with every other necessary facility.

GAS RANGE LEASES.

Public Service Commission Orders a Modification in Requirements.

Apartment house owners and tenants throughout the city will be interested in a ruling made by the Public Service Commission, modifying the requirements of the Consolidated Gas Company in the charges for leasing gas ranges.

The case was brought before the Commission by Edward B. Bruch, a member of the Real Estate Board, Harry Dubinsky acting as attorney for Mr. Bruch. The plaintiff secured the co-operation of the board's committee, and Laurence M. D. McGuire, president of the board, appeared before the commission and testified for Mr. Bruch.

The demands were, first, that all gas range rentals expire yearly from date of original hiring; or if a specific date must be fixed that the date be fixed as October 1 of each year. Second, upon expiration of the yearly contract new ranges be installed if desired without the payment of $2. Third, all rentals for one year, if the rental is renewed, cancellation be allowed on ten days' notice and the unearned rental be refunded to the consumer.

At the hearing on April 8, President McGuire, of the Real Estate Board, testified, among other things, that the members of the Real Estate Board of New York as owners or agents for owners, paid to the various gas companies approximately $1,000,000 a year for gas and gas ranges. The commission's ruling was as follows:

"The commission being of opinion after said hearing that the rules and regulations of said company as to the rental of gas ranges are unjust and unreasonable, it is

"Ordered that said Consolidated Gas Company modify its said rules and regulations so as to provide that upon the expiration of the first year's rental of a gas range any renewal thereof may be cancelled on thirty days' notice to said company, and that thereupon said company shall refund the amount paid for the unexpired term of such renewal, and it was further

"Ordered that this order shall take effect June 1, 1915, and that within ten days after service thereof said Consolidated Gas Company notify the commission whether the terms of this order are accepted and will be obeved."

Waterways on Long Island.

Property owners and residents generally of the south side of Long Island are pleased with the recent action of Governor Whitman in signing a bill directing the State Engineer and Surveyor to make a survey of the area necessary to build, in conjunction with the Federal Government, a deep waterway or channel through the confluent bays of the south shore.

Because of a general retrenchment in State expenditures, the Legislature did not deem it wise, at this time, to appropriate money for the acquisition of lands and rights of way for the creation of the waterway. No appropriation is necessary for the survey. The total cost of acquiring rights of way is estimated to be $995,000.

The matter has now assumed an official status and the State Engineer is directed to present the subject to the Legislature for further consideration before February first next. The delay is ascribed primarily to the fact that the State wishes to ascertain the probable cost of the enterprise independent of the Federal Government.

If the pledges of boards of supervisors and township officials on Long Island amount to anything, the cost of the projected waterway to the commonwealth will be much reduced by rights of way for laterals and easements being deeded by property owners and towns.

The entire south side of Long Island is eager for the waterway. Only last winter a large delegation appeared before the Board of Army Engineers in Washington to urge the project. The Government then took the attitude that if the State of New York would bear the expense of acquiring the lands and rights of way that the army engineers would attend to the rest. The chief item of expense is the acquiring of a right of way across the Rockaway peninsula in order to join the waterway directly to Jamaica Bay, the latter of which is being developed as part of the port of New York.

Four waterways are already completed by private enterprise that can be used as laterals for the main channel: The three deep harbors at Baldwin Harbor, Nassau County, and the Venetian canal at Brightwaters, in Suffolk County. The steady upbuilding of the south shore of Long Island assures an extensive use of a deep waterway both by pleasure as well as mercantile craft.

Growth in the Bronx.

"The people of the Bronx have waked themselves to a realization that the Borough has well earned the title of 'The Greater City's Fastest Growing Borough,'" said a member of the Bronx Board of Trade. "We are now engaged in the greatest building boom the Bronx has ever seen, in order to take care of the daily increase in population, now going on and which will be greatly quickened after the completion and opening of the rapid transit lines now under construction.

"I feel that I am making a conservatively optimistic forecast in saying that by 1918 the Bronx will have a population of well over a million, where today there is a population of 700,000, and that where there are today about 2,000 factories, employing 40,000 workers, we will have at least 2,500 by 1918 with a total of 50,000 employes."

According to the records of the Bureau of Buildings an increase is shown of more than 40 per cent. for the first four months of 1915 over the same period of the last year. To put the case in dollars and cents, the plans filed from January 1 to May 1, 1915, show an increase of $3,941,345 over the same period during 1914, while the number of permits issued show an increase of 61.

Will Ask an Injunction.

The United Real Estate Owners' Association, through Stewart Browne, president, has notified the Governor, the Attorney General and the Comptroller of the State that the proposed issue of $6,000,000 bonds to meet the current deficiency is unconstitutional, as Article 7 of the State Constitution prohibits loans of more than $1,000,000, and section 17 of the State Finance Law is unconstitutional. A new session of the Legislature should be called to pass a law authorizing this bond issue and the issuing of other bonds sufficient to relieve the taxpayers of the present unbearable burden. In the meanwhile, if necessary, the injunction will be applied for to prevent the payment of these bonds.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Washington Heights District.

At the meeting of the Local Improvement Board held May 4, the following resolutions were approved:

Construction of receiving basins in West 176th street, adjacent to the southwest corner of Audubon avenue, and in St. Nicholas avenue adjacent to the northeast corner of West 175th street, at an estimated cost of $875, the assessed valuation being $561,000. In view of the proposed paving of West 176th street it is considered advisable to improve surface drainage conditions before any work of repaving is undertaken.

Regulating and paving with a permanent sheet asphalt pavement on concrete foundation West 161st street, from the westerly curb line of Port Washington avenue to the easterly house line of Riverside drive service street at an estimated cost of $7,650; assessed valuation, $540,000.

Constructing a sewer in Elwood street, between Nagle avenue and Sherman avenue. Petition of property owners, in which it is stated that anticipated building improvements makes this sewer necessary as soon as possible. Estimated cost, $7,400; assessed valuation, $1,114,200.

Kips Bay District.

Construction of receiving basin in East 38th street, adjacent to the southwest corner of First avenue at an estimated cost of $480, assessed valuation $928,000. It is proposed to repave East 38th street, and it is considered advisable to improve surface drainage conditions before paving work is undertaken.

Greenwich District.

Construction of receiving basin adjacent to the northwest corner of Dutch and John streets, with connecting sluice basin adjacent to the notheast corner of Dutch and John streets, at an estimated cost of $565; assessed valuation, $6,943,000. Recommended as a means of improving surface drainage conditions prior to work of repaving.

Construction of receiving basin and inlet adjacent to the northeast corner of West 30th street and Tenth avenue, at an estimated cost of $590; assessed valuation, $1,203,700. It is proposed to repave this portion of West 30th street, and it is considered advisable to improve surface drainage conditions before paving work is undertaken.

Murray Hill District.

The board is likely to approve the following resolution:

Alterations and improvements to the sewer in 19th street, between Sixth avenue and Broadway, is contemplated, at an estimated cost of $29,200; assessed valuation of property to be benefited, $15,340,000. The existing sewer, from Sixth avenue to Broadway, constructed about 1847, is in a dangerous condition. Several sections in each block have caved in recently; timber shoring has been placed at other points to support the arch, while the remainder is distorted to such an extent that it may collapse at any time.

Arrangements for Steinway Tunnel Traffic.

The Public Service Commission has adopted an agreement modifying the provisions of the Dual System contract with the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to provide for the temporary operation of the Steinway Tunnel.

This tunnel was built by Interborough interests and is completed from a point in 42nd street, Manhattan, between Lexington and Third avenues, under 42nd street and the East River to a point in Long Island City at Jackson and Van Alst avenues. Under the Dual System contract the tunnel was transferred to the city and made a part of the city-owned lines which will be operated by the Interborough Company. Under the direction of the commission the company has been reconstructing certain portions of the tunnel to fit it for temporary operation, which is expected to begin next month. The modifying agreement provides that it shall be operated in connection with the existing subway either by trains of cars or by single cars.

Eventually the tunnel will be extended to a junction with the existing subway at Times Square, but for the present transfers will be given between the tunnel trains and those of the subway. An escalator will bring passengers to the surface of 42nd street, and they will have a short walk to the Grand Central station of the subway where their transfers will be good on trains going in either direction.

Subway Contracts.

The Public Service Commission awarded the contract for the construction of Section No. 4 of Routes Nos. 4 and 36 of the Broadway subway in Manhattan, lying in Seventh avenue between 51st and 59th streets to the Litchfield Construction Company, the lowest bidder, for $1,937,509. The contract for the construction of Section No. 2 of Route No. 12, that part of the Eastern Parkway subway in Brooklyn lying between Prospect Park Plaza and a point about 600 feet east of Nostrand avenue, was awarded to the Inter-Continental Construction Corporation, the lowest bidder, for $2,744,263.

Bids will be opened by the Public Service Commission on May 18 at 12:15 p. m. for the construction of Section No. 2 of Route No. 49, which is that part of the Gravesend avenue elevated railroad for Brooklyn running over Gravesend avenue and Shell Road between Bay Parkway and Avenue X. This is the first section of this line to be put up for bidding. The Gravesend avenue elevated railroad will connect the Fourth avenue subway with Coney Island.

LAW DEPARTMENT

Incorporeal Hereditaments.

By Isaac S. Forster.

Definitions—Immaterial, not consisting of matter, not having a material body.

Synonyms—Bodiless, formless, unsubstantial.

In a legal sense, the word incorporeal means: Not appreciable by the senses.

Intangible; as incorporeal rights in corporeal property.

Legally speaking, the word hereditament means: Anything capable of being inherited; any property that may be transmitted by the law of descent.

Property of such a nature as to be cognizable by the senses and in any way connected with land is known as a corporeal hereditament.

An incorporeal hereditament is an inheritable right issuing out of and annexed to some corporeal inheritance, in itself neither tangible nor visible, but existing in contemplation of law; an inheritable right contemplated in law, and intangible, created by and attached to some corporeal inheritance and adding to its value.

To illustrate: A owns a tract of ten acres. He sells part, an interior plot, to B for milling purposes. The law recognizes that B is entitled with his patrons to cross A's property, using the shortest route and reasonable discretion, otherwise his business would be profitless and his property valueless. This right of way over another's land is an incorporeal hereditament.

Why? Because this right, while intangible and invisible, is created by B's purchase from A and forms part of the value of the property which the law contemplates may be capable of being inherited.

Again: C owns upland and wharf adjoining, and D the land under water adjacent thereto. C built the wharf for the use and benefit of shipping, seeking compensation for services rendered. The wharf right implies the right of approach for vessels and carries an easement over D's land under water. (Landon vs. the Mayor: 93 N. Y. 129.) Moored to the wharf, vessels are subject to C's regulations, since C has the right issuing out of his ownership in the wharf to regulate conditions and charge wharfage which the law contemplates and upon which C depends when he constructed such wharf. This right is an incorporeal hereditament.

Bulkhead rights (the right to collect cranage and wharfage along the bulkhead) and pier rights (the right of cranage and wharfage at a pier built out over land under water but connected with upland in the rear of the water line) may belong to owners who are not proprietors of the upland in the rear.

Special value may arise from a combination of bulkhead or pier rights with ownership of upland which may even be physically separated from the line along which frontal rights exist by a marginal street, quay or wharf. Such joining in ownership of upland with frontal rights gives to these frontal rights an additional element of value known as conjunctive value.

A Broker's Claim Sustained.

The 1st paragraph of a complaint in an action by a real estate broker alleged that defendant agreed to pay him $2,000 for negotiating an exchange of lands. In the 2d paragraph he alleged that he brought to defendant one H., who entered into a contract in writing with defendant for an exchange of the lands. In the 4th paragraph he alleged a refusal on the part of the defendant to pay the commissions and asked for the recovery thereof. In the 3d paragraph he alleged that defendant broke his contract with H., and in separate subdivisions of paragraph 4 alleged (a) that at the special instance and request of defendant and said H. he employed the Title Insurance Company of New York to examine the title of the property to be exchanged and that the "value of the service so rendered by said Title Insurance Company of New York is $3,-500;" (b) that said H. employed him to obtain a loan on the property for which she agreed to pay $2,400; that he arranged for said loan, but that owing to defendant's refusal to convey "such loan was not and could not be obtained, whereby plaintiff was prevented from earning and receiving the sum of $2,400 aforesaid;" (c) that at the time of the making of the written agreement aforesaid it was, with the knowledge and consent of defendant, agreed between plaintiff and H. that she should pay for plaintiff's services in bringing about the exchange a commission of $4,500, but that by the refusal of defendant to convey, plaintiff has been prevented from receiving the same. For these various sums, in addition to the sum of $2,000, plaintiff demanded judgment.

The Appellate Division, Second Department, held that the complaint alleged a good cause of action for commissions in effecting the exchange of the properties;

That subdivisions a, b and c of paragraph 4 are not allegations of special damage resulting from the breach of defendant's contract with plaintiff, but constitute separate causes of action;

That demurrers to the causes of action attempted to be stated in subdivisions a, b and c of paragraph 4 should be sustained;

That the demurrer to the entire complaint upon the ground that causes of action upon contract have been improperly united with causes of action arising upon tort was not well taken.

THE BROKER AND THE AUTO.

How the Motor Car Has Helped the Real Estate Business.

"The motor car bears a strong relation to the real estate business, in these days of activity and of rapid transportation," says a writer in the National Real Estate Journal. "It has come as a boon to many dealers with subdivisions somewhat removed from the business sections of cities.

"In the olden days it was necessary for the dealer to depend on the railroad service, or the more or less uncertain street car transportation. Sometimes the latter was not available, the subdivisions being located outside of the street car district. In that case, depending on the infrequent service of the trains, the real estate dealer was at a great disadvantage.

"A trip to an outlying subdivision would consume hours and in many cases would take all day. A prospective buyer would find that even if the time consumed in making the trip were a few hours short of a full day, it nevertheless so cut into his day that there was practically no time left for his regular work.

"But, with the advent of the automobile, and its perfection, things have assumed a very different phase. Now the real estate dealer puts his prospective customer into a motor car and in a short time he is landed at the subdivision. If it is a large subdivision the car will carry him over the entire section in a few minutes, without the necessity of his disembarking even for one minute. He sees the lay of the land, gets an idea of the situation of the lots with reference to the rest of the city, and is taken back to the city without having suffered the least inconvenience. In an hour or two he is back at his desk or his work.

"Real estate dealers all over the country are beginning to realize the value of the motor car."

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

Small properties figured prominently in the business of the week and represented the same diversified elements which have characterized recent trading. Builders continued to acquire desirable parcels for improvement along both residential and commercial lines. In Long Island City a large tract was bought for utilization as a site for six-family houses. Other building projects are foreshadowed by purchases in the Bronx and on the West Side. A Trinity Church leasehold and a Columbia College leasehold also changed hands, injecting a new phase to the trading.

Commercial leasing was active and represented a substantial percentage of the total amount of business transacted. The mid-town district seemed to be the center of this trend.

The removal of another large china firm into 23d street, to join other concerns in kindred lines of business, strengthened the tendency to make that district the new center of the glassware and pottery trades.

The total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 23 as against 35 last week and 29 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 11 as compared with 5 last week and 14 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 12 as compared with 30 last week and 15 a year ago.

The total number of conveyances in Manhattan was 159, as against 164 last week, 27 having stated considerations totaling $1,536,535. Mortgages recorded this week numbered 87, involving $2,646,-178, as against 84 last week, totaling $2,028,454.

From the Bronx 10 sales at private contract were recorded, as against 21 last week and 14 a year ago.

The amount involved in Manhattan and Bronx auction sales this week was $1,209,253 compared with $1,912,950 last week, making a total for the year of $31,060,053. The figures for the corresponding week last year were $960,285 and the total from Jan. 1, 1914, to May 9, 1914, was $15,699,772.

Bronx-Downtown Trade.

L. J. Phillips & Company sold for the Sykes Realty Corporation, Charles A. Sykes, president, to the Red Shield Realty Company, the McCrory Building at the northwest corner of Prospect avenue and 160th street, on plot 77.2 x 125 feet. The building is leased at a net rental for a long term to the J. G. McCrory Company, which operates more than 200 5 and 10 cent stores through the country, and which has a store in this building. The Riker-Hegeman Company and the United Cigar Stores Company, and others, are sub-tenants in the building. In part payment, the buyer, gave 124-128 West 45th street, three buildings, covering a plot 61.8 x 100.5.

$350,000 Two-Borough Trade.

The Milledge Realty Company sold, through Wm. D. Bloodgood & Company and John F. James & Sons, 145-151 East 32d street, four five-story flats, on plot 99.1 x 98.9 x irregular, which the new owner expects to improve with a commercial structure. He gave in part payment fourteen six-family flats, at 80-96 Thirteenth avenue, and 99-115 Fourteenth avenue, Long Island City. The deal involved about $350,000. Wm. D. Bloodgood & Company have been appointed agents for the properties.

Concourse Deal Closed.

Achilles R. Scharsmith & Company and David Kraus sold for Mrs. Fannie M. Wallace sixteen lots, 200x200 on the east side of Ryer avenue, 99 feet south of 182d street through to Valentine avenue, with a frontage of eight lots on each thoroughfare. This is one of the largest single transactions in the West Bronx section, along the line of the new Jerome avenue subway, where there has been considerable activity of late. This is the plot that was rumored sold in last week's Record and Guide.

Old Flower House in Deal.

Fernando Wood has purchased the ten-year Columbia College leasehold, with renewal privileges, at 612 Fifth avenue, a six-story residence on lot 23 x 125, the one-time home of Frederick S. Flower. The building will be remodelled and stores built on the ground floor and first story. Negotiations are reported to be pending for the lease of the store to a prominent jeweler. The brokers were Nelson, Lee & Green and Bryan L. Kennelly.

Buys Trinity Leasehold.

Duross Co. has sold for the Neal & Brinker Company, wholesale hardware dealers, E. T. B. Penman, president, the Trinity leasehold, 18 Warren street, a five-story building on lot 25 x 100, to the M. Weiss Co., wholesale druggists, which will occupy part of the building. The lease has eleven years to run, with the privilege of a ten-year renewal. The Neil & Brinker Company took back a lease on the store and basement.

Large Long Island City Deal.

The G. X. Mathews Company has purchased 160 lots on Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues, Long Island City, on which it will erect one hundred six-family houses, of the type which the same builder has erected in Ridgewood. The property is opposite the holdings of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The total investment will represent about $1,000,000.

Ridgewood Activity.

Realty Associates have sold to the Ring-Gibson Company the northwest corner of Palmetto and Doubleday streets, 200x100, and the southwest corner of Palmetto and Doubleday streets, 340x100, comprising in all twenty-seven lots. The purchaser intends to improve with twenty-five two-family dwellings and two three-family dwellings.

Yorkville Apartment Deal.

John Volz bought from the Salisbury Realty Company, Edgar A. Levy, president, the "Clark," a six-story elevator apartment house at the northwest corner of Madison avenue and 87th street, on plot 50x115, which has been held at $180,000. The brokers were McDowell & McMahon.

Resells in 12th Street.

Samuel H. Stone resold through Pepe & Bro. to Adam Goodman the four-story dwelling, 39 West 12th street, on lot 25x103.3, and the two four-story dwellings, 41 and 43 West 12th street, on plot 26.6x54.6x irregular. The houses were part of the holdings of the Butterfield estate, recently sold at auction.

Heights Plot Sold.

S. Leibmann & Sons sold, through Richard Elliott, to Harris and Albert Sokolski, the plot of eleven lots, 275 x 99.11, in the north side of 150th street, 125 ft. east of Broadway, for improvement with two apartment houses.

REAL ESTATE APPRAISALS.

The following values were placed on real estate properties this week by the State appraisers in transfer tax proceedings, affecting Manhattan holdings. The amount specified does not in every case indicate the equity or interest of the decedent. It merely quotes the estimated market value of the realty, regardless of mortgages or other liens. The information comprises the name of decedent, location of property, block and lot on city map, description of building, size of lot and estimated value. Where decedent owned property in other boroughs, details of Manhattan holdings only are given.

AUCTION SALES OF WEEK.

Except where otherwise stated, the properties offered were in foreclosure. Adjournments of legal sales to next week are noted under Advertised Legal Sales.

* Indicates that the property described was bid in for the plaintiff's account.

The Auction Market.

Outside buyers figured in the Special Sales Day auction on Tuesday and acquired several properties. Among them was F. E. Barnes, who, for a client, paid $33,800 for 71 Lexington avenue, after spirited bidding. F. J. Flynn purchased the northeast corner of St. Anns avenue and 134th street for $19,700. On Thursday Frederick Sprenger bought the dwelling, 109 West 57th street, for $50,000.

Interest next week will center on the sale of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens holdings of the estate of Arthur

R. Morris, by Joseph P. Day, on Tuesday, for the benefit of the heirs, including a number of charitable institutions.

Moving Day

Moving day discloses the fact that most of the moving vans are depositing their loads in front of buildings equipped for electric service.

Modern families demand electric light in their homes. They know its many advantages and conveniences and go where they may enjoy them.

1914 INDEX OF DECISIONS OF THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

THE record and Guide herewith presents a complete index of all decisions (as well as appeals withdrawn) that have been handed down by the Board of (Building) Examiners, during 1914. The index was compiled by Mrs. M. M. D. Clark, for years secretary of the board. The index will serve as a ready reference for architects, and others, who may be desirous at any time of quickly obtaining information regarding building precedents, giving, as it does, the number of the appeal, the plan number, the location of the property in question, the classification of the objection, the appellants name, and the decision of the board. The index covers Manhattan, the Bronx and Richmond.

ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT OF THE RESIDENCE

PART TWO.

THE illuminated house number is a novel fitting and saves much annoyance to the person looking for the particular number and to the occupant who is frequently called to the door to answer an inquiry as to what number his house is. A standard fitting is so designed that the house number appears in white letters on a background and the light from the lamp also illuminates the porch. Control of the porch light should be from a flush wall switch within the entrance. If the porch is of sufficient size to warrant the installation of several ceiling lights, these should be on a separate switch so that they can be turned on only when it is desired to use the porch for reading or card playing. Medium size lamps (25 or 40 watt) serve for these outlets, and direct diffusing globes or reflectors complete the equipment. One or more weatherproof flush receptacles should be provided for use with a fan or portable lamp for reading on summer evenings. This should be so located as to prevent entrance of water when washing the floor.

Front Hall.

This room is so varied in character from the mere vestibule to the luxurious reception room that it is difficult to describe a layout. If it serves merely as an entrance a single unit from 15 to 40 watts, depending on the size of the room, enclosed in a diffusing glass auxiliary, should be used. A short chain fixture carries the glassware and is placed in the center of the room. Two three-way switches control this light, one placed near the entrance door and the other at the head of the stairs or in the upper hall. In some cases it may be necessary to provide wall brackets at the sides of the coat rack and mirror, and in other cases a bracket outlet with pull chain socket and 10-watt lamp in diffusing glass shade can be placed at one side of the stairway. This low wattage lamp is so economical that it may be burned all night, forming an extremely cheap and effective burglar insurance. At least one baseboard receptacle should be provided in the hall for connecting the vacuum cleaner, floor polisher or luminous radiator.

Living-room.

Many methods are in use for lighting this room, all of which have certain advantages. The former practice of employing a central chandelier is giving way to the installation of a central semi-indirect or indirect unit, supplemented in many instances, by a number of wall bracket units harmonizing in treatment. Certain historical styles demand the wall bracket with candelabra type fixtures. The lighting from such units is effective, as it removes deep facial shadows. The size of lamps used in the center fixture varies, depending on the size of the room, 40, 60 or 100 watt lamps being commonly employed. It is desirable that this fixture be so arranged that varying degrees of illumination can be secured by combinations of from one to the total number of lamps. Control should be by means of a wall switch conveniently located near the entrance doorway, this switch so connected that the combinations of lamps mentioned above may be secured by successive turns of the switch. The bracket lamps should be on a separate flush wall switch and should also be controlled at the sockets.

CORNER OF DEN.

The necessity for a generous number of baseboard and floor receptacles cannot be too strongly emphasized. Portable table lamps are on the market of such attractive designs that they add greatly to the appearance of the room. These are most conveniently and inconspicuously attached to the lighting circuit by means of flexible cords and baseboard plugs. At least one baseboard outlet in this room should be wired, of sufficient capacity to enable one to use the vacuum cleaner, floor polisher or emergency radiator. A baseboard receptacle near the piano is of much convenience, as it enables one to use a local light for the music rack and is also an economy for one often desirous to play with the music and keyboard alone illuminated.

Library.

This room must be made very comfortable, as a great deal of the time is spent here. A low general illumination should be provided by either a diffusing central fixture, or a number of wall brackets, so equipped that they will not be glaring. Local lamps should be provided for reading and attached to the circuit by baseboard receptacles and plugs. The central or wall units should be controlled by flush wall switches near the entrance, while the table lamps may be furnished with pull chain sockets. An additional baseboard outlet is desirable for an electric fan, cigar lighter and the like.

The practice in lighting this part of the home is widely varied. Many persons desire a very low value of general lighting from a shower fixture or other ceiling source, with local illumination provided by candles placed on the table. Semi-indirect lighting using an alabaster glass bowl is in favor in many cases, and others prefer the art glass dome hung over the center of the table.

When the dome is used its base should be about 4 feet 6 inches from the floor. The entire base of the dome should be covered by a screen of light tinted silk held in place by a wire ring. This diffuses the light well, mellows the illumination and prevents any light source being visible. A reflector of the prismatic glass type should be used inside of the dome with the tip of the lamp pointing downward. A 60-watt lamp is generally adequate. The redirecting properties of the reflector compensate for the absorption of the silk screen and the arrangement becomes very effective, particularly where doilies are used on a polished table top, as it removes all glaring reflection. Control of the main lighting unit should be by a conveniently located wall switch. Floor receptacles should be provided for connecting electric imitation candle-sticks or electric flower decoration, and one or more receptacles are necessary for attaching the electric cooking utensils. Among these we might mention the chafing-dish, coffee percolator, tea samovar, toaster, disc stove, frying pan or grill, griddle, waffle iron and plate warmer. In some cases special provision should be made for the illumination of the interior of the china cabinet, using low candlepower lamps.

Pantry.

It is self-evident that a good intensity of illumination is desirable here to eliminate breakage, and this can be usually accomplished by a single unit placed close to the ceiling, equipped with an efficient distributing type reflector controlled by a push-ball switch near the door. Wall outlets of a capacity for the electric plate warmer, water urn and other heating devices are essential. A great convenience is a small motor for polishing silver, grinding coffee, chopping meat and the like.

It has been mentioned that a high intensity of light is more to be desired in this room than some type of artistic fixture. In the kitchen of moderate size at least two outlets are necessary so that the table, sink and ranges may not be in shadow when one is working at these. Bowl-frosted Mazda lamps (25 watt and 40 watt) depending on the size of the room, with clear prismatic glass reflectors are desirable. A large number of electrical appliances are of service in the kitchen and the designer must make provision for these. The electric range, the electric waterback attached to the boiler, the water filter, small motor for beating eggs, turning ice cream freezer or dough mixer, and the various cooking appliances, mentioned in the description of the dining-room, save time.

A low intensity of illumination is all that is demanded here and almost any type of ceiling or wall bracket lighting units with small lamps will meet the requirements. Control by means of pull sockets is usually satisfactory.

Cellar.

The question of lighting this portion of the house is merely that of furnishing beacons to guide one in a passage from one compartment to another, with a resultant low value of illumination. Thirty-watt Gem or 15-watt Mazda lamps, clear, with no reflectors, and in waterproof sockets, are suitable units. The location of these lights should be such that one unit lights the foot of the stairs, another the coal compartment, a third the ash pit and furnace, with others for the vegetable bins and preserve shelves. Conditions may be such that in some cellars one light will be sufficient for the entire room; in that case a 25- or 40-watt clear Mazda, waterproof socket and flat dome type reflector, hung high and localized with reference to the furnace will serve. Frequently a work bench is found in the cellar.

Twenty-five watt clear Mazdas and bowl-shaped steel reflectors, located over this, controlled at the socket and hung about 7 feet high, will serve very well here. The lights in the main portion should be on one circuit, and controlled by a snap switch at the top of the stairs. A small lamp should be used in multiple with the others, located above the kitchen door leading to the cellar, to serve as a pilot and prevent needless waste of energy.

The laundry is often located in the cellar, and here provision should be made for electric irons and washing machine, or, in the larger houses, for an electric mangle.

Additional outlets are often desirable in the cellar for ice cream freezers, small lathe or other machines run by motors.

One or more ceiling units or wall brackets, consisting of low wattage lamps with diffusing glass shades or reflectors, should be located in such positions that all parts of the halls are illuminated to a low degree. Control should be by means of three-way switches located at the foot and top of the stairs.

Bedroom.

Too often is the bedroom inadequately illuminated, due to the lack of provision for electric fixtures. There should be a center outlet, controlled by a wall switch, to furnish general illumination of a low value. The outlet should be furnished with a totally indirect or semi-indirect dish of a design harmonizing with the room treatment, and from a 25-watt to 60-watt Mazda lamp, depending on the size of the room, will furnish the proper lighting.

Side-wall bracket type fixtures, controlled both by pull-chain sockets and a wall switch near the door, should be placed around the walls at the probable location of the dresser, dressing table or chiffonier. From 15 to 40-watt Mazda lamps and diffusing reflectors supply the illumination at these points. Some of the types of glassware described in the early part of the article are particularly well suited to the daintily furnished bedroom.

If the house is thoroughly equipped for electrical service at least two baseboard receptacles are advisable; one for a portable or reading lamp at the side of the bed, another for the heating pad, sterilizer, vibrator, curling iron, milk warmer or other electrical convenience, which may be of service in the bedroom. If there is a possibility of one of the bedrooms being used as a sewing room a convenient outlet should be placed to which the motor for driving the sewing machine may be attached.

For one to shave in ease a lighting unit should be used on each side of the mirror in the bath room. Low wattage lamps with diffusing shades are suitable. Care should be taken in the location of these outlets so that they are not opposite a window, as shadows may be produced on the window shade. A wall receptacle should be placed near the wash bowl and wired so that the electric water heater, massage vibrator, shaving mug, sterilizer, hair drier, curling iron, fan or luminous radiator may be attached. Nickel-plated bracket fixtures are used and opalescent spherical globes completely surround the lamp. The wall receptacle, not shown, is directly to the right of the wash basin.

The single bare lamp of low wattage placed close to the ceiling above the closet door will give sufficient light. An automatic door switch is the convenient means of controlling this lamp, but it is also advisable to equip the lamp with a key socket to avoid the light being on for long periods while the closet door may remain open, as during house cleaning.

Problems of Building.

By Nobel Foster Hoggson.

COMPREHENSIVE investigations of commercial buildings by a leading insurance company developed the fact that 96 per cent. of structures of this type exceeded, in final cost, the original estimates. This excess cost averaged 33 per cent. The direct result was the impairment of the investment in most cases and the absolute failure of the investment in many instances. The insurance company which conducted the investigation had been generous in making loans on commercial building propositions. Now, its activities in this line have been curtailed appreciably.

Effect of Skyscrapers.

Until ten years ago office buildings made money for their owners in spite of themselves. Then the development of the skyscraper, rising land values, increased cost of building materials, the complexities of construction, the improvements and conveniences for the tenants and the newer and better service that came with this, brought on a different condition. The office building became a proposition demanding a most careful supervision. In the hands of inexperienced owners they were failures. They brought the need for a new profession—that of the management of buildings. And it is due to the scientific building manager of today that office buildings pay any return investment, commensurate with the risk involved.

The margin between profit and loss was such a narrow one that the building manager cast about for means to insure a building's success. From his daily trials and the knowledge gained from his experience, he came to know that buildings were not planned to afford the best utilization of space by the tenants who were to occupy them. He learned that in most cases rooms were made too deep—that the points farthest from the windows were usually waste spaces. He learned that architects, not from design, but through lack of knowledge of actual renting conditions, attempted to cover too much of the lot area with building, confusing the idea that the greatest amount of rental space meant the greatest amount of usable space. He learned that light, air adaptability and efficiency were the factors that made rooms desirable, and not mere size.

New Field for Manager.

So, of necessity, the building manager came to concern himself with the planning of the building. It was right and proper that he should do this, not only because he was particularly qualified, but because he was held responsible for the success of the building from a renting standpoint.

Therefore, it might be safely stated that when a building manager (and meaning by that term a man qualified by training and experience to bear the title) has a hand in the selection of the site, in the decision as to the kind of building to erect, in the planning and layout of the rooms, and in the management, three of the big factors essential to the success of a building are well taken care of. But there is still another item, of as great, if not greater, importance, than the elements mentioned above. That is the matter of original cost.

Is the architect at fault? Is the owner at fault? Or is the common system in vogue at fault? The "common system," of course, is a combination of all elements.

Owner Demands Changes.

Whether the architect is at fault or no, he is standing the large share of the blame. Oftentimes the owner is at fault. He starts out to erect a building at a cost of, say, $500,000. Later he wants a number of things included that he had not thought of before, so he adds to his own cost.

Every building operation is an investment. The returns are predicated on the original cost. The size of the building known, the building manager can tell the owner almost to a dollar the rentals that the building can be expected to produce. He can tell, with fair accuracy, the expense of operation. The difference between the income and expenditure will represent the profit. The relation of the amount of profit to the estimated cost will give the percentage of return on the investment. Every dollar, therefore, of cost in excess of the original estimate, lessens the return on the investment, and it is only too often that this results disastrously to the owner.

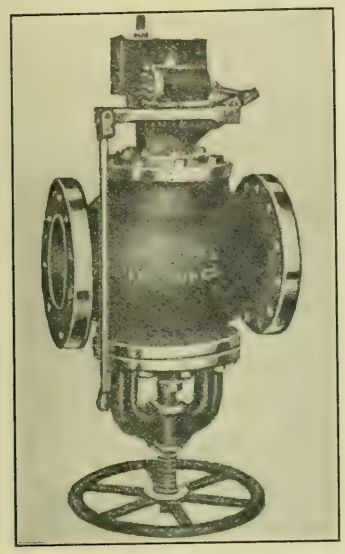
No architect who is a member of the American Institute of Architects can guarantee the cost of a building operation because the canons of that body will not permit of it. The architect is a professional man. In his relation to the owner he acts as the owner's agent and is supposed to prepare the plans and conduct the bulding operation as the owner's representative and under the owner's directions. He is in no way responsible, except for gross negligence, and can give the owner no guarantee as to the amount of money he will eventually pay out.

This is not written in a spirit of criticism. Neither is there an overstatement of conditions. These are the facts. With the architect it is a matter of professional ethics and it is his right and privilege to stand by them, and his duty to live up to them.

The building owner, however, is not concerned greatly about this. He wants to get the best building possible for the amount of money he has to spend and he wants to make a fair and adequate return on his investment. In order to do this he must know definitely first of all that his building will not cost more than a certain fixed amount. If he has $500,000 to put into the construction of a building and bases his returns on that sum, he should know that the final cost sheet will show $500,000 and not $550,000 or $600,000.

Difficulties of Building.

In every phase of business today, except building, one knows in advance just what the cost of any specified piece of work will be. In a building operation, as ordinarily conducted, no one participant is in a position to guarantee the work of all participants. The responsibility of the various contractors who execute different portions of the work is individual; the responsibility of each ends with the completion of his particular part; no one of them is in a position to guarantee anything beyond his own specific share or detail of the whole operation.

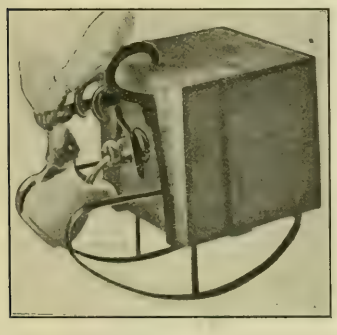


Usually the owner goes ahead without adequate guarantee of the limit of cost. He does not protect himself against errors in plans, specifications and estimates. If the discovery of errors necessitates extra charges later, he must pay them; if they go undetected, his building may be defective and he may suffer from its diminished quality and earning power; if plans and specifications are slighted in execution, if mismanagement occurs, if the building is not ready to earn income when expected, he must suffer loss.

USEFUL APPLIANCES

Novelties, New Applications of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described Without Regard to Advertising Consideration

Prevents Flywheel Explosions.



DANGER from flywheel explosion is imminent in any office building or factory, where heavy power is required. In order to automatically prevent such an accident there is being introduced upon the market a control valve, shown in the accompanying illustration, that shuts off steam as soon as the engine speed reaches a dangerous point. Its chief function is to automatically and instantaneously stop the engine as soon as it begins to race. It can be attached to any existing throttle regardless of make or size without disturbing the valve, piping or other part of the engine. Or it may be inserted in place of the present throttle.

A Carboy Inclinator.

SO many fires are caused by the careless handling of carboys containing high potential acids that there is being introduced on the market a carboy inclinator that promises to have extensive use among factory owners and building managers. It is simple in construction, yet most efficient. It allows the contents of carboys to be poured out at will without exertion and with absolute safety against spilling or splashing. A drop or a bucketful can be obtained with equal ease. One movement locks it to the carboy. In pouring all that is necessary is to pull out a handle. It resumes upright position through gravity.

A Novel Concrete Spacer.

MODERN methods of spacing concrete walls in order to conform to the requirements of the new building code promise to give a decided impetus to the demand for a new spacer being introduced in this city. The accompanying sketches, published by courtesy of the Engineering News, gives a clear conception of the use and operation of this device. It can also be used as an anchor for the future attaching of machinery on structures.

The spacer consists of a continuous wire, spiraled at both ends to provide a bond in the concrete and a socket into which the form screws may be entered during construction and which after the removal of the forms serves as the female screw into which the anchors may be fitted.

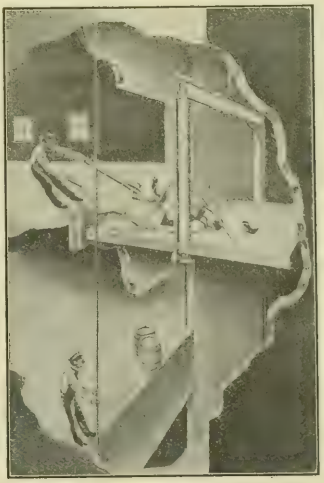
The manufacturers claim for this device that it provides absolutely even spacing and because the binder anchor is at the outside surface of the wall, concrete ingredients cannot be impeded while laying the material, hence no voids can occur.

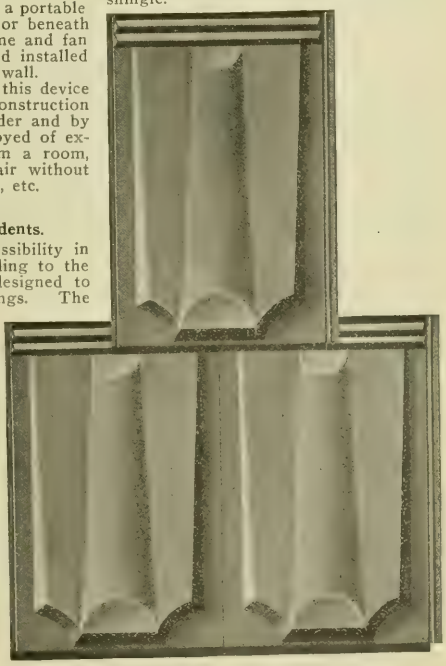


A Window Exhaust Ventilator.

VARIOUS types of window ventilators have been introduced upon the market at different times, but now comes a type entirely different. It operates on the exhaust principle. The new device has a number of new and well-thought-out features, being about the smallest practical electric-driven exhaust unit in the market. It will be supplied in a portable panel, ready to install above or beneath a window, or the motor, frame and fan may be bought separately and installed directly in an opening in the wall.

The advantage claimed for this device is that it is so simple in construction that it cannot get out of order and by reason of the principle employed of exhausting the impure air from a room, the occupants obtain fresh air without having breezes disturb papers, etc.

Prevents Elevator Accidents.



THIS is a picture of a possibility in your own factory, according to the manufacturers of a device designed to prevent just such happenings. The open shaft elevator is a necessity in many plants. Even in some buildings there is an ever-present danger of somebody either pulling the control rope or turning over the control lever. To avoid just such a contingency there is being manufactured a safety lock that positively prevents accidents of the kind depicted. In fact, it prevents the sudden starting of an elevator car under any circumstances because it controls the source of power. The danger of a truck load of material accidentally bumping against the controller handle is eliminated by its use, because no matter how far the lever is turned over, as long as the lock is applied it is impossible to move the car in any direction, thereby positively preventing accidents.

A New Type of Metal Shingle.

EVERY once in a while some manufacturer gets out a type of building material, or equipment, that seems on its face to be destined for a distinct success. This is what appears to be in store for a new type of metal shingle that is just being introduced and which is illustrated on this page. These shingles are made of fine selected metal, up to 10 x 14, and are made to conform to various periods of architecture. The shingles are made with a three-point contact block construction and an end lap providing higher corrugations at the top insures a tight joint and absolutely gle now in the market. This serves a two-fold purpose. It facilitates application and at the same time makes the shingles automatically interlocking and self-aligning while the knife edge at the top insures a tight joint and absolutely prevents capillary attraction. In other words, a quicker, better and tighter job is possible, according to the manufacturers, by the use of this shingle, and a more lasting and beautiful roof achieved than is possible with the ordinary metal shingle.

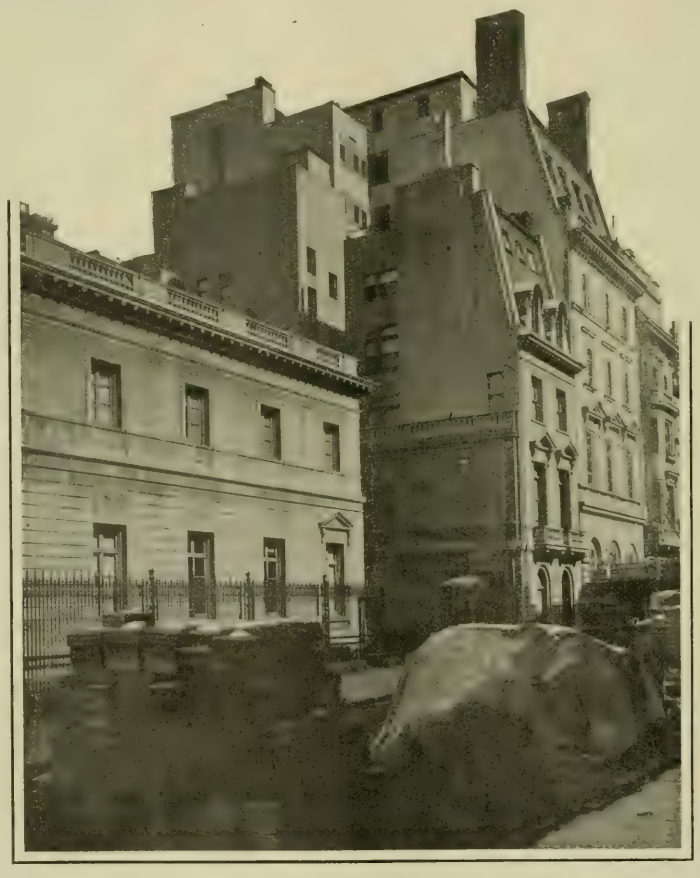
CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

Several Costly Residences Being Erected or Projected On and Near Fifth Avenue, in Lenox Hill Section

DESPITE the fact that the recent financial depression has affected almost everyone in some degree, and has been felt particularly by many of our wealthy families, the construction of private residences continues on a large scale. Many handsome and costly dwellings are now being erected, and others which are contemplated will be started, no doubt, during this spring and early summer. This applies to the construction of both city and country houses, and it would seem to indicate the return of confidence in the future on the part of these owners, when they are willing and able to spend large sums of money for purely social purposes.

Fifth avenue and the side streets west of Park avenue from 60th to 70th street is probably one of the most active sections of the city, when the construction of new buildings and alterations to old ones is considered. This district is dotted with many newly finished houses and those now in various stages of completion. Recent real estate deals indicate that other dwellings of importance are contemplated and that the present activity will continue for some time to come.

The northward march of business has been abruptly stopped by the natural barrier presented in Central Park. The residences north of 60th street are assured of privacy for many years to come. Apartment houses have in a few instances been erected in this exclusive section, but they are so elegant in tone and character and have attracted tenants of such high reputation that their construction has not jeopardized the ancient prestige of the city's foremost residence street.



Considered as a group, the dwellings in the Fifth avenue section would be a credit to any city in the world. They have been planned by architects who are masters of their profession, with wide experience in this class of construction. Into these houses they have put the best of their talents and have created structures which will for many years exert an influence for good upon the aesthetic sensibilities of the community at large. Following is given a brief description of some of the more important projects now active in this territory.

At 9 East 65th street a five-story American basement residence is soon to be erected for E. W. Humphreys, from plans by C. P. H. Gilbert, architect, 1123 Broadway. This house will be built on a lot 25 by 100 feet. The facade is to be limestone and granite and the house will include every possible modern convenience and comfort.

Hoppin & Koen, architects, 224 Fifth avenue, have been retained by Harris Fahnestock, banker, 2 Wall street, to prepare plans and specifications for a handsome residence which he is to build at 13 and 15 East 56th street, on property recently purchased by him. This residence will be five stories in height and will probably cost more than $100,000.

The general contract was recently awarded to James McWalters & Son, Inc., for the construction of a dwelling for John T. Pratt, lawyer, 43 Exchange Place, from plans which have been prepared by Charles E. Platt, architect, 11 East 24th street. This house is being erected at 7 and 9 East 61st street. It will be five stories in height, with basement and attic, built of brick and limestone, and will be on a plot 50 by 89.9 feet. E. E. Seelye, 101 Park avenue, is consulting engineer for the structural steel work.

At 9 East 70th street, William Crawford, general contractor, 5 East 42d street, is erecting one of the largest private houses in the city. This house is seven stories in height, with basement and attic, and in height is second only to John D. Rockefeller's house in West 54th street. The owner of this new residence is Dr. W. B. James, and the architects who prepared the plans and specifications are Trowbridge & Livingston, 527 Fifth avenue. The building itself occupies a plot 41 by 90 feet. Its facade is of granite and limestone, elaborately carved. Nygren, Tenny & Ohmes, 101 Park avenue, are the consulting engineers for heating and ventilating. Following are the names of a number of subcontractors who supplied labor and material for the construction of this building: Waterproofing, Tuttle Roofing Company; structural steel, Post & McCord; granite, A. Le Poydevin & Company; plumbing, Francis McNamara; heating, Barr & Company; carpenter work, Watt & Sinclair; ornamental iron, Wells Architectural Iron Works; roofing and sheet metal, Nicholson & Galloway; elevators and lifts, Otis Elevator Company; electric wiring, J. Livingston Electric Company; plastering Klee - Thompson Company; cabinet work and trim, Pottier & Stymus; painting, Charles A. W. Rinschede.

Wm. Crawford, Gen'l Contractor. Trowbridge & Livingston, Architects.
RESIDENCE OF DR. W. B. JAMES, IN EAST 70TH STREET.

Another important operation which is now nearing completion is the residence at 882 Fifth avenue, for Oliver Gould Jennings, 70 East 72d street. This structure is six stories in height, on plot 30 by 175 feet. The building was designed by W. B. Chambers, 109 Broad street, and Stephenson & Wheeler, 2 West 45th street, associated architects, and has been erected under separate contracts which were awarded by the architects. Opposite the recently completed Frick residence, on the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 70th street, a four-story marble structure is being completed by Norcross Brothers, builders, 103 Park avenue, which is to be the residence of C. Ledyard Blair, the banker. This house was planned by Carrere & Hastings, architects, 225 Fifth avenue, and is 33 by 158 feet, costing between $150,000 and $200,000.

One of the largest alterations in this district is that to the residence of E. W. Ellsworth, at 12 East 69th street. W. W. Bosworth, architect, 527 Fifth avenue, prepared the plans for this work, and Hugh Getty, builder, 359 West 26th street, was the general contractor. The project includes an addition and general interior alterations, extensive in character, totalling in cost, according to the architect's estimate, about $75,000.

BUILDING INSPECTIONS.

Mayor Mitchel Requests Walter Lindner to Work Out a Satisfactory Scheme.

Mayor Mitchel has requested Walter Lindner, chairman of the Law and Legislative Committee of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, to attempt to work out a satisfactory scheme to minimize building inspections. When the Mayor vetoed the Lockwood-Ellenbogen bill, he stated that he regretted that a proper measure could not be passed at the late session of the Legislature, adding that nobody realized more keenly than he did the burdens now upon real estate. Concluding his veto message, he stated that not only would he not discontinue but he would double his efforts to cure the admitted evils of the existing inspectorial system. In accordance with his promise, the Mayor proposes that between now and the next session of the Legislature the city officials and others who may be interested, shall co-operate with Mr. Lindner in a sincere effort to frame legislation which will be acceptable to all concerned. In his letter to Mr. Lindner, the Mayor states:

"As I said in the memorandum accompanying my veto of the Lockwood bill, I am more anxious than ever to accomplish a well-considered and workable solution of this very vexatious problem, and I know of no one who is more capable than yourself to assist in evolving a scheme acceptable to me and those who hold my views, and satisfactory to those who have taken a contrary position.

"I propose formally to announce that I have procured your acceptance of this commission, and I shall instruct all the heads of departments and other officials under the Mayor's jurisdiction to co-operate in this important work."

THE NEW ELECTRICAL CODE.

Explained By Commissioner Williams—Permits Are Now Necessary.

Commissioner William Williams of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, says the purpose of Articles One, Two and Three of the proposed new electrical code (see City Record, April 29) is to amplify the powers of the Commissioner under Sections 523 and 524 of the Charter, in reference to the enforcement of the code.

The Commissioner adds: "These articles contain one new provision, namely, the requirement that no person shall install or alter electric wiring or appliances without a permit from the Commissioner. The intent hereof is to prevent the ignorant from endangering life or property through the improper performance of electrical construction. This will not hamper any legitimate electrical contractor or any other person conversant with electrical construction; nor will it prohibit the renewal of fuses or of lamps by the tenant or any of his employees. Any person who can show the Commissioner that he is able to perform the proposed work can secure a permit therefor.

"Article Four is intended to secure for the city the revenue which now goes to the Fire Underwriters. Hitherto, the electrical inspections of this department have been conducted free of charge, while a large percentage of those of the Underwriters have been charged for. It is estimated that by the establishment of a schedule of fees similar to that of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters and by enlarging our inspection force somewhat an income of approximately one hundred thousand dollars per annum can be secured without imposing any new burden upon the property owner. When the fee system goes into effect, the Underwriters will, as a matter of course, be obliged to abandon their system of charges. At the same time, the present Underwriters' agreement, which is a subject of some criticism on account of the fact that Underwriters' inspectors are performing work which should be done by city employees, will pass out of existence.

"Article Seven is substantially a restatement of the penalty now prescribed in the Charter.

"I have submitted the proposed ordinance pursuant to Section 523 of the Charter, making it my duty from time to time to submit to the consideration of the Board of Aldermen proposed ordinances in regard to electric wires, appliances and currents for furnishing light, heat or power when introduced into or placed in any building in said city."

West End Avenue Project.

ANOTHER West End-avenue apartment has recently been planned by Emery Roth, architect, 405 Lexington avenue, for Albert Saxe. The new structure, thirteen stories in height, will be located at the southwest corner of West End avenue and 89th street, on a plot 44 by 90 feet. The building will accommodate thirteen families, or one to each floor. Each apartment will consist of nine rooms, large foyer, and three baths. Two electric elevators, one passenger, and one combination freight and service, will be installed. The building will be fireproof and will include some distinctive features in apartment house construction. Separate laundries, with dryers, will be located in the pent house on the roof. The facades of the building will be built of limestone and the courts will be of white enameled brick. The cost of the building is estimated at $250,000 and the reported rentals will range from $3,300 to $4,000 a suite.

Bronx Dynamite Outrage.

Damage to the extent of about $5,000 was done to the Bronx Borough Hall when a dynamite bomb, said to be one of the most powerful ever exploded in New York City, was set off Monday evening about 8 o'clock. Five persons were in the building at the time but no one was injured.

The bomb was exploded near a door at the foot of the stairway leading into the basement, in the south court of the building. The structural damage to the building, directly traceable to the explosion, is slight; some masonry was splintered and damaged, and two or three brick piers in the basement were weakened. These require the support of steel jacks until permanent repairs can be made. Concussion, following the explosion, caused the greater amount of damage. Practically every window in the south half of the building was broken, particularly in the court where the effect was felt most on account of its being enclosed on three sides.

The quarters of the Bureau of Highways was the greatest sufferer. In these offices, the floor directly over the position of the bomb when exploded was ripped up for an area about 20 feet square. Desks, tables and other furniture were damaged by falling glass. Ink bottles, standing upon the floor, were flung up and the contents splashed against the ceiling by the force of the concussion, but aside from the general disorder and damage to the floors, the building is in good shape.

Borough President Mathewson, when interviewed by a Record and Guide representative on the morning following the explosion, stated: "The actual damage to the building is slight. As you can readily see there is very little glass left, but the building physically otherwise has not suffered; that is, with the exception of the basement where two or three brick piers were slightly weakened.

"Considering the amount of explosive used there is no telling what might have happened had the bomb been placed differently. We were fortunate also in that the explosion took place at the time when practically no one was in the building. Our engineers have not, as yet, made an accurate survey of the extent of damage, but outside of replacing of glass in the window sash the repairs will not reach a very high figure.

"The old building with its wood girders and beams and in many instances wood columns stood the strain well, probably better than it would have had it been a modern steel structure, which is more rigid and consequently more susceptable to a sudden shock."

Another Loft Building in Printing District.

William H. Birkmire, architect, 1133 Broadway, has prepared the plans and specifications for another large loft building to be erected in the city's new printing centre by the Birwin Realty Corporation, of 1133 Broadway. The structure will be twelve stories in height, covering a plot 102.10x94.9 in the north side of 38th street, 469 feet east of Eighth avenue, now occupied by old time private dwellings. The cost has been estimated at $400,000.

Another Midtown Loft.

John I. Downey, Inc., builder, 410 West 34th street, is having plans prepared by Peabody, Wilson & Brown, architects, 389 Fifth avenue, for a modern twelve-story store and loft building which will soon be started at 15-17 West 36th street. The structure will cover a plot 50 x 100 feet and have a facade of brick and Indiana limestone. The building is estimated to cost about $200,000.

Plan Addition to Bergen County Jail.

Haenke & Sherman, architects, 15 Broad street, Manhattan, have been retained to prepare plans for an addition to the Bergen County Jail at Hackensack, N. J. The work will proceed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Bergen County, Charles N. Cumberland, chairman Building Committee. The addition will be fireproof, built of brick, limestone and reinforced concrete and will contain seventy cells.

Two New Lofts for Long Island City.

Plans are being prepared by Franklin Hawley Janes, architect, 154 Nassau street, for two modern, reinforced concrete loft buildings on Webster avenue, Long Island City, to be used for light manufacturing purposes. Both structures are to be built for Mrs. Annie S. Annable, of Bay Head, N. J., and will be five stories in height. One will cover a plot 200 x 111 feet and will cost $60,000, and the other will be 200 x 180 feet and cost about $100,000. D. D. Harned, attorney, 154 Nassau street, Manhattan, represents the owner.

Plans for New Bronx Church.

A. F. A. Schmitt, architect, 604 Courtland avenue, has about completed the plans and specifications for the new church to be erected in the north side of 138th street, 525 feet east of St.

Taking No Chances

Here, at 440 Riverside Drive, stands the Paterno, a typical apartment-building of the exclusive sort. The land alone is valued at over a million dollars. Edison Service has supplied this house from the date of its completion. Furthermore, Edison Service was contracted for two and a half years before the opening

Tenants here were not to be annoyed by engine-room disorders, dirt from coal delivery and ash removal, vibration, rising heat and bad odors

The best apartment service means the best electrical service. With street supply, these conditions can be produced on your premises. Our engineers will gladly prepare special figures showing just what Edison Service can do for you

NATIONAL FIRE PROTECTION ASSOCIATION will hold its nineteenth annual meeting at the Hotel Astor, May 11-13. Secretary, F. H. Wentworth, 87 Milk st, Boston, Mass.

NATIONAL DISTRICT HEATING ASSOCIATION will hold its seventh annual convention in Chicago, Ill., June 1-3. Headquarters at the Hotel Sherman. Secretary, D. L. Gaskill, Greenville, O.

NEW YORK CHAPTER, AMERICAN SOCIETY OF HEATING AND VENTILATING ENGINEERS, regular meeting third Monday of each month, Engineering Societies' Building, 29 West 39th st.

NATIONAL PIPE AND SUPPLIES ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in Buffalo, N. Y., May 11-13, with headquarters at the Hotel Lafayette. Secretary, George D. McIlvaine, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NEW YORK CHAPTER, AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS, regular meeting second Wednesday of each month, except July, August and September, at the Fine Arts Building, 215 West 57th st.

ILLUMINATING ENGINEERING SOCIETY will hold its ninth annual convention at the new Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C., September 20-23. E. S. Marlow, Potomac Electric Power Co., Washington, D. C., is the chairman of the convention committee.

AMERICAN IRON, STEEL & HEAVY HARDWARE ASSOCIATION will hold its sixth annual convention from May 25 to 28, at San Francisco, Cal., headquarters will be the St. Francis Hotel. Secretary-treasurer, John G. Purdie, Marbridge Building, New York City.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS' ASSOCIATION of the United States will hold its fifteenth annual convention in San Francisco, July 21-24. Secretary, George H. Duffield, 41 Martin Bldg., Utica, N. Y.

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MUNICIPAL ELECTRICIANS will hold its annual convention at Cincinnati, O., August 24 to 27. Headquarters will be at the Gibson Hotel. Secretary, Clarence R. George, Houston, Tex.

MASTER PLUMBERS' ASSOCIATION OF JERSEY CITY at its recent regular meeting adopted a set of resolutions which were ordered engrossed and presented to Michael P. Moran, who retires as secretary of the association after a continuous service since 1898.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS will hold a meeting in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th st, Tuesday evening, May 11, at which John Calder, a member of the society, will present a paper on the "Metal Spray Processes in Engineering and Art." The talk will be illustrated with lantern slides showing the operation of the process and a commercial spraying instrument will demonstrate.

PAN-AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS, under the joint auspices of the American Road Builders' Association and the American Highway Association, will be held at Oakland, Cal., during the week of September 13. It is expected that this congress will bring together those interested in highway improvement not only from all parts of the United States and Canada, but also from the South American countries, all of which will be officially invited to participate.

CONFERENCE OF MAYORS and other city officials will be held at Troy, N. Y., June 1 to 3, inclusive. This will be the sixth annual meeting of this conference, which consists of the city officials of all of the 54 cities in the State. In connection with this conference, an exhibit of the implements and manufactured wares which are commonly purchased and used by municipalities, will be held in the State Armory. General secretary, C. Arthur Metzger, Troy Chamber of Commerce, Troy, N. Y.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS will hold its twentiety annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, May 25 and 26. Manufacturers from all parts of the United States will assemble to discuss the effects of the year's political and economic developments, internal and international, on their business. Among those who will address the convention are ex-President Taft and Senator Harding of Ohio. The subject of Mr. Taft's address will be "The Clayton Act and Other Things."

NATIONAL SCULPTORS' SOCIETY, the National Academy of Design, the Architectural League of New York, the Municipal Art Commission, the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and the Century Association, held a joint meeting in Ethical Culture Hall Wednesday evening, May 5, in memory of Karl Bitter, who died April 10 from injuries received when struck by an automobile in front of the opera house on April 9, while saving his wife from being run down. Felix Adler presided, and the meeting was addressed by George McAneny, Herbert Adams, John G. Milburn and O. G. Villard. Mr. Adams, in closing his address, read the resolutions which were recently passed by the National Sculptors' Society, and sent to Mr. Bitter's family. They read in part as follows:

"Whereas, In circles far wider than those of his profession, he was not only valued as a faithful friend, but, because of his commanding personality, his intellectual and moral force, his enthusiasm, his imagination, his executive ability, and his devotion to the service of art, he was repeatedly appointed to positions of great trust; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, as members of the National Sculptors' Society, here record our loyal affection for Karl Bitter, comrade and president; our recognition of his liberating and quickening spirit among us; our gratitude for the beauty his art gave to the world—even in the midst of our profound sorrow writing down these things in our annals, for love, honor and remembrance."

RECENT INCORPORATIONS.

A. BARTOCCINI CO., general contracting, decorating, dealers in building materials, etc., has filed incorporation papers with offices in Manhattan, to do business with a capitalization of $10,000. The directors are: Astolfo Bartoccini and Florence Eartoccini, both at 538 Morris Park av, and Frank Di Stefano, 21 Hancock st. The attorney is A. Caccia, 261 Broadway.

E. C. CONSTRUCTION CO. has been chartered with $10,000 capital stock as a realty and construction company, with offices in Brooklyn. The directors are: Chas. Winkel, 1172 Fulton st; Irving Ribman, 960 Gates av, and Benjamin C. Ribman, 105 Bay 29th st, all of Brooklyn. The attorney is Benj. C. Ribman, 367-373 Fulton st, Brooklyn.

ERLBACK REALTY CO. has been incorporated with offices in Manhattan to do a realty and construction business with $10,000 capital stock. The directors are: Leo J. Lehman, 225 West 86th st, Manhattan; Jos. Hennessy, 583 St. Johns pl, Brooklyn; and Lawrence S. Heller, 231 West 103d st, Manhattan. A. H. Mittlemann, 44-48 Cedar st, attorney.

302 FIFTH AV CORPORATION has filed incorporation papers with $15,000 capital stock, to do a realty and general contracting business, with offices in Manhattan. The directors are Jos. Falk and Harry Falk, both of 3785 Broadway, and Louis North, 109 Thatford av. The attorney is Jos. Falk, 3785 Broadway.

TRASK REALTIES have been chartered, with offices in Manhattan, to do a realty and construction business with a capitalization of $50,000. The directors are Frederick B. Mearkle, Daniel F. Kelly and Edna J. Siess, all of 233 Broadway. The attorneys are Maerkle & Maerkle, 233 Broadway.

Damsey, 949 Hoe av; Cecil Rossi, 1115 Westchester av, and N. S. Riesenfeld, 313 West End av, who is also the attorney for the company.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Knickerbocker Said to Have Been Chosen New York Hager Plant

BUILDING material dealers throughout the metropolitan district believe that the turn in the price situation has arrived. Common Hudson brick moved up twenty-five cents a thousand, wholesale, this week. Portland cement companies, with the exception of two or three, have been showing a tendency to get to new levels, higher than $1.23. Linseed oil advanced another cent a gallon, leading paint manufacturers to believe that a higher quotation would be necessary before long in view of the high price of lead and colors. Copper and sheet brass were quoted this week at 24c. base for the former and 21¼ and 20½ for the latter. Copper was 18 cents and brass 17½ cents a few weeks ago. It is being held stiff and high and the result is that art metal manufacturers, especially those making andirons and fire-place fixtures have had to consider further advancing their quotations to the trade.

The name of the Knickerbocker Portland Cement Company was mentioned this week as the New York State unit in the Edward M. Hager chain of cement factories that he plans to establish throughout the country in areas of 200 miles each. President Bassett said, however, that Mr. Hager was not at present negotiating with the company. The fact that the new concern was about to be incorporated, and the further fact that the man who probably will be the president of the new concern, has gone to Chicago to attend the Manufacturers' Convention to begin next week, leads many to believe that negotiations are all closed and that the company is about ready for launching. It is to be incorporated for $25,000,000.

An actual gain in building construction of 20.4 per cent. is indicated by the increased consumption of common brick from the Hudson river district alone for the first four months of 1915 over the same period in 1914. This barometer is particularly reliable this year, because of the fact that few dealers are stacking owing to their anxiety to store as much cement at the low prices that have been prevailing as possible. Reports from the suburbs indicate that there is a notable improvement for building materials although the yard prices for common brick in Newark is still between $6.75 and $7.

Advices from the manufacturing centers of the Hudson brick industry indicate that what looked like a possible over-supply will barely fill out the season on current demand to June 12, when new brick is expected to arrive. On Jan. 1 there were 300,000,000 common brick up the Hudson. Today there are only 117,375,000, and there is a current demand of 18,750,000 brick a week. The price of Raritan brick has advanced from $6 to $6 @ $6.25 to match the advance made in the price of Hudson.

The condition of the lumber market is such as to give considerable hope to dealers for better prices. The stocks at the mills are getting low. The large demand for rifle stocks is sapping certain grades of hardwood to the extent that hardwood panels and mantels are likely to be higher in price unless the present demand eases off. Heavy shoring timber is in the bulk of the business moving in this city today, while in the suburbs building grades are slow, but strong on figuring. The low price of cement, brick, sand, lime and other basic materials used in making fire resistive structures is said by some of the dealers to be responsible for the marked falling off in the demand for lumber and the gain in the call for brick, cement and general concrete ingredients.

In some places in the east there has developed a decided campaign opposing the further use of wood shingles. This is being discussed by lumber interests of the jobbing trade in New York with the idea of combatting this tendency. The feeling is that once this movement gets under way it will sweep throughout the East, where there are many cities of moderate population, and cause a run on slate and composition material.

Plan filings in the five boroughs for the current week follow: In the same week last year 333 new building plans were filed, with an estimated value of $4,382,077.

LIME.

Application of New Freight Rates Advances Price of Hydrated 15 Cents.

OWING to the application of new freight rates for lime, local distributors this week advanced the price from $8.50 for hydrated lime, making the current quotation $8.65 without bags and $10.65 with bags. The demand for this commodity has shown marked increase within the last month.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

Big Convention in Chicago Expected to Open the Market.

WHEN the National Portland Cement Manufacturers open their convention in Chicago on Monday, there is expected to be a chain of big events released. In the first place, Edward M. Hager is to be a speaker and during the course of his address, it is expected, that he will have an important announcement to make regarding his new chain of manufacturing plants that will reach from New York to the Pacific Coast and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes.

Mr. Hager's recent visit to the East resulted in the acquisition of what he called "an important plant in New York." The Knickerbocker plant is generally believed to be the one to be selected, although President Bassett said Thursday that no negotiations with Mr. Hager were in progress at this time. Mr. Hager has exacted a pledge of secrecy regarding his plans and what he has accomplished here in the East, but the intimation he gave to the Record and Guide that he was about ready to make an important announcement indicates that the Chicago convention next week will be the place and the proper time to make a statement.

It is the purpose of this convention to take up the matter of sales development through publicity. Advertising and sales promotion experts from the four corners of the country will be there and will show and discuss plans for boosting cement sales on a plan never before attempted. Matters pertaining to follow-up systems, new fields of applications for this commodity are all included in the program.

The relation of good cement streets and roads to the development of cities and rural communities will be one of the themes for discussion and an unusual feature of the convention will be a two-hour free excursion from Chicago to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, for all the delegates to see how a good concrete road can build up a district in a remarkably short time.

LUMBER.

Building Grades in Weak Demand—Shoring Active.

BUILDING grades of lumber in this city are weak. In the suburbs it is stronger, but it is apparently not approaching the quantity that the wholesalers had hoped for. If figuring is taken into consideration there is no reason for complaint, said a Queens dealer, this week, but the trouble seems to be that the low price of cement and brick and the moderate price that lime, sand and concrete ingredients have reached during the season, have inspired a wider use of these commodities and building grades of lumber has suffered in consequence, especially since the quotations on lumber have not dropped to proportionate levels.

Shoring material, however, is in good demand and probably will continue to be. The subway work is taking tremendous quantities of this material, in fact practically all the bottom capacity now coming into this harbor. This entails heavy building shoring. One big Brooklyn distributor said this week that the demand for material over 8x8 probably never has been exceeded. Quotations are practically without change in any line.

LINSEED OIL.

Prices Advance to the 65 and 66 Cent Level—Demand Better.

LINSEED oil moved up another cent a gallon this week, in response to an improved demand for this commodity from paint and varnish companies. The early estimates of volume to meet the building demand for paints this year have had to be revised upon receipt of news from salesmen that the low stocks that dealers have been carrying in anticipation of moderate building requirements, are being rapidly depleted and that, while they are a little slow in placing heavy orders now, they are looking forward to heavier specifications as the season advances.

COMMON BRICK.

General Improvement in Demand—Prices Up—Labor Restless.

BRICK stiffened perceptibly this week. Prices moved up to $6.25 a thousand wholesale and the demand was active, based upon information that a larger proportion of construction was moving ahead. This, according to opinion expressed this week on the Building Material Exchange, included much work that was held over from the last quarter of last year. Some idea of the improvement in demand for common brick during the first four months of this year compared with the same period last year may be obtained from the Record and Guide's weekly reports of brick barge movements in the wholesale market.

From January 1 to May 1, this year, 487 barge loads, or 182,625,000, common brick moved out for distribution to jobs. In the same period last year 387 barge loads, or 145,120,000 common brick moved out. This is a gain for this year's consumption of 37,500,000. In view of the disposition of dealers to stack up cement in as much space in their yards as possible, some even going so far as to build temporary shelters for cement on spots usually reserved for brick stacks, it shows that actual building construction this year as shown by brick sales for the district is 20 per cent over that for the same time last year.

The above figures concern only the movement of the Hudson brick coming into the entire metropolitan district.

On the first of January there were 300,000,000 still in sheds in the Hudson River brick manufacturing district. Figuring on the conservative basis of 375,000 brick to a barge there has been sold 182,650,000 common Hudson brick, leaving a total in sheds of 117,375,000. If the rate of sale continues at or about 50 barge loads a week in the wholesale market, there is still available a supply of Hudson brick that will last until June 12, when new brick will be coming into the market.

Official transactions for Hudson River brick covering the week ending Thursday, May 6, in the wholesale market, with comparison for the corresponding period last year and a comparative statement of Hudson brick unloaded from barges for consumption here, follows:

IRON AND STEEL.

Big Industrial Plant Expansion Feature of the Week.

THERE are signs of strengthening in the May steel business for building construction. The loss of 34 per cent., reported in April under the March total, probably will be entirely made up in the current month by reason of the relinquishment of large railroad orders and an easement in the letting of contracts for industrial plant extension. The Crucible Steel Company will put up a big plant at Harrison, N. J., just outside of Newark and has already closed with the American Bridge Company for 2,500 tons.

NEW YORK, MAY 15, 1915

THE NATIONAL FIRE PROTECTION MEETING

Convention Held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, at the Hotel Astor—Many Important Topics Discussed

AT the Hotel Astor, Broadway and 45th street, last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, was held the Nineteenth Annual Meeting of the National Fire Protection Association. The association comprises about 130 organizations, which are actively engaged in the protection of life and property from conflagration. The ballroom, on the eighth floor of the hotel was crowded to capacity when Robert D. Kohn, president of the association, called the meeting to order, and after the usual routine business, reports were read from many of the affiliated organizations, which commended the work of the association.

Election of Officers.

On Thursday, just before the meeting was adjourned, the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: Charles E. Meek, of New York, president; Louis Wiederhold, Jr., of Philadelphia, Pa., first vice-president; D. Everett Waid, of New York, second vice-president; Franklin H. Wentworth, of Boston, Mass., secretary and treasurer; also the following members of the executive committee, to serve three years: H. W. Forster, of Philadelphia; E. B. Hatch, of Chicago, Ill.; H. O. Lacount, of Boston, Mass.; A. M. Schoen, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mason R. Strong, of New York. F. J. T. Stewart, of New York, was elected chairman of the executive committee and the following three members are added to the nominating committee, class of 1916: W. H. Merrill, of Chicago, Ill.; Gorham Dana, of Boston, Mass., and Richard L. Humphrey, of Philadelphia, Pa.

The President's Address.

In his opening address, Mr. Kohn said, in part:

"The purpose of our association is defined in our Articles of Association as follows: 'To promote the science and improve the methods of fire protection and prevention; to obtain and circulate information on these subjects and to secure the co-operation of its members in establishing proper safeguards against loss of life and property by fire.' What has been accomplished by our energetic committees in this direction will be brought to your attention in detail by these committees during the sessions of this association of the next three days. No one who hears these reports or reads this mass of technical material will fail to realize the devoted service which has been rendered our cause during the year. The members who have thus given of their time and their knowledge have not worked toward a selfish end. In the best sense they have been in the service of our country, for they have helped to build up the solid foundation on which our country's legislation to reduce the fire hazard must in the future be based if it is to be based on expert, not on amateur opinion. They have served their country as the citizens of a democracy can best serve it—by offering the best of themselves for the good of all. They offer it and trust to convincing others through the wisdom inherent in the offerings, not through force. In this sense, we, the workers in this effort toward the protection of life and property, are soldiers enlisted in a fight against an enemy, fire. Let us hope that more and more the technically qualified citizens of this country may join in this and other ways to further by constructive means the ends of right and wisdom, and that we may be spared from any desire to attain just ends by means of violence and destruction. * * *

Official Interest Growing.

"It is fair to ourselves to take stock of the evidence of growing official interest in the work of the National Fire Protection Association. The officers of your association have been able to co-operate for the first time during this year to a limited extent with certain departments of the government in the establishment of standards of safe construction. This co-operation will in my opinion be much advanced if we can present our standards in graphic form. A plan to this effect has the general endorsement of your executive committee.

"We are convinced that the publication of diagrams illustrative of forms of construction that reduce the hazard from fire to life and property will encourage their adoption after due trial as safety standards by the national and state governments. They would then be distributed throughout the country to any one interested. Citizens in far-away places, completely out of touch with fire prevention experts, would then be advised most easily as to the proper construction of chimneys, the proper enclosures of elevator shafts; the safe construction of staircases and other exits; of roofs, of cellars, of hatchways, etc. We have during the last year received many assurances from different government departments that such a series of standard sheets would be of invaluable assistance. Their publication would be a great step forward in the cause of conservation."

Franklin H. Wentworth, the secretary and treasurer, said in his report: "The status of our membership as of April 30 is as follows: Active members, 126, a gain of 5; associate members, 2,595, a gain of 84; honorary members, 4, a gain of 1; total, 2,725, a gain of 90. As in previous years, our resignations have been met and exceeded by new adhesions so that the records show an unbroken gain for the past five years.

"By all odds the association's most important publication of the year was the inspection manual, Field Practice, the entire first edition of which, aggregating 3,000 copies, has already been sold. Its official adoption by the New York Board of Fire Underwriters and its general use by the inspectors of the New York City Fire Prevention Bureau, place the seal of the largest American city upon its value, and inspire the hope that it will continue rapidly to gain in favor and become the standard fire inspection manual for all fire departments and inspection bureaus in the United States and Canada.

Mr. Wentworth's Report.

"The demand for speakers on fire prevention is also becoming nation wide. The growing habit of cities to institute 'clean-up week,' with its accompanying public meetings, is rapidly multiplying this demand. Although motion pictures are an admirable feature of such meetings, a good speaker is necessary.

The following members of the association served in the delivery of lectures and addresses: Gorham Dana, Powell Evans, Joseph O. Hammitt, E. M. Underwood, H. W. Forster, W. H. Merrill, J. Tremblay, John Kenlon, W. O. Teague, John A. O'Keefe, Ira G. Hoagland, Ralph Sweetland, J. A. Robinson, Benjamin Richards, John C. McDonnell, Thomas R. Weddell, F. R. Morgaridge, Charles E. Meek, Rudolph P. Miller, Edward R. Hardy, Alcide Chausse, Gilbert A. Pevey, Robert Adamson, H. M. Wilson, R. H. Newbern, Lew R. Palmer, E. P. Heaton, H. C. Henley, O. B. Ryon, Lewis T. Bryant, John R. Freeman, Robert D. Kohn, F. M. Griswold, William Guerin, F. E. Cabot and Frank E. Henderson."

One of the pleasant features of the convention was the luncheon on Wednesday that had been arranged by New York Chapter, of which Rudolph P. Miller, ex-Supt. of Buildings, is president. The company was large, filling the grand ballroom comfortably. The honor guests were the Acting Mayor, Hon. George McAneny; Fire Commissioner Adamson, Chief Kenlon, ex-President Phillips and Secretary Wentworth of the N. F. P. A.; Messrs. Stewart and Anderson of the Board of Fire Underwriters, ex-Supt. Milller and Allan Robinson of the Allied Real Estate Interests. President Robert D. Kohn acted as toastmaster. The speakers were the Acting Mayor, the Fire Commissioner and Messrs Robinson and Wentworth, and the general subject of discussion was "Fire Prevention and the Business Man."

The Acting Mayor extended the welcome of the City of New York and made for the first time the important announcement that an entire new fire-alarm system is to be installed, and that the Board of Estimate is to take action on the matter very soon. He alluded to the policy upon which the city has entered for limiting the height of buildings, and to the necessity of limitation. Long efforts to get a new building code were at length being rewarded by the success of the present plan of revision, and he alluded to Mr. Miller's work as Superintendent of Buildings and reviser of the Building Code in words which brought a round of applause from the audience for Mr. Miller.

Commissioner Adamson called attention to the Acting Mayor's promise of a new fire-alarm system and asked the stenographers to take particular note of it. He described the need of the new system and assured property interests that the interest on the cost of the installation would be offset to them by the reduction that would be made in their insurance premiums, a promise he had obtained from the Board of Underwriters.

Mr. Robinson explained to business men the profit there was derivable from the installation of automatic sprinklers through the lower rate of insurance granted to owners of property where the sprinklers are installed. He advocated a measure in prospect that the water required for sprinklers should not be metered.

Secretary Wentworth spoke of the need of interesting business men in fire-prevention work.

In the conclusion the party was entertained and instructed by an illustrated lecture describing the Underwriters' Laboratories at Chicago.

The committee of New York Chapter in charge of the luncheon consisted of Messrs. J. H. Perry, of the Turner Construction Company, chairman; L. I. Neale, of the J. B. King Company; E. R. Hardy, of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters, and Pres. R. P. Miller.

Superintendents Carlin, Moorehead and Moore, Louis Graves, secretary to the Acting Mayor, and Secretary Needham, of the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen, were guests of President Miller of the local chapter.

Building Inspectors' Conference.

Following the adjournment of the convention, a round table meeting, composed of men prominently identified with building, both in official and private capacities, was held on Friday morning. Mr. Rudolph P. Miller opened the meeting as temporary chairman, but following the roll call was unanimously elected permanent chairman and Mr. Sidney J. Williams, State Building Inspector, of Madison, Wis., as secretary.

The subjects discussed at the meeting, which lasted the best part of the day, were: (1) Floor loads, with special reference to low floor loads; (2) hollow tile, as applied to outside and buried walls; (3) sprinklers; (4) enclosed stairs; (5) the relation of the building inspector to the public, the enforcement of the code, etc., and (6) the organization of the building department, including statistics, forms, etc.

In his opening address Mr. Miller said:

"We have come together from communities widely separated, varying in size and character and having different needs. Materials that are common to some of us are practically unknown to others. Problems that are pressing in our community would in their solution mean a waste of time elsewhere. Results under the organization existing here are secured by different means than where the administrative machinery is otherwise constituted. One building official's jurisdiction extends over the installation of plumbing and the maintenance of elevators, as well as the construction of buildings; another's is limited to supervision over structural matters only.

"And yet there must be many matters in which there is a common interest. There are some general principles that hold good everywhere. Even when practice and expediency vary in different places, a discussion of them cannot but be helpful to everyone who participates in a conference such as this.

"Before starting on our discussions, may I mention a few fundamentals that I believe it would be well to keep in mind in these deliberations? The official called upon to enforce the building laws, whether he is called commissioner, superintendent, inspector, or anything else, is a police officer; not, of course, in the restricted sense of a person whose business it is to patrol a certain beat for a fixed period of time for the purpose of arresting offenders against the provisions of the criminal laws, but in the broader sense of a guardian of the peace. His immediate concern, however, is to see that public safety as to life and limb is secured by the observance of such laws as it has been found necessary to make with respect to the construction of buildings. Dealing with technical matters, he should be a man qualified by experience to judge competently of the matters under his jurisdiction.

"The building laws should provide only for such requirements with respect to building construction and closely related matters, as are absolutely necessary for the protection of persons who have no voice in the manner of the construction or the arrangement of buildings with which they involuntarily come in contact. Otherwise there should be the greatest freedom to the owner and builder to erect as he sees fit. Thus, when buildings are comparatively small, are far apart and their use is limited to the owners and builders of them, so that, in case of failure of any kind they are not a source of danger to others, no necessity for building restrictions would exist. But as these buildings are placed closer to one another or on the line of a neighbor's property, or as they are used first as a matter of necessity and later as a regular practice growing out of necessity, by other persons than the owners, as in the

Petitioning the Governor for an Extra Session—Legislation Aftermath—Constitutional Convention

VERY little good to real estate came from the last session of the Legislature, upon which great hopes had been set. The Sanders bill, which would have given to the local Building Bureaus the duty of enforcing in this city the State Labor Laws relating to construction and alteration of buildings, has been vetoed by the Governor. It would have given the building interests a measure of relief from over-regulation, seeing that the Lockwood-Ellenbogen bill was vetoed by the Mayor.

The bill containing the recodification of the State Labor Laws, upon which the State Factory Investigating Commission spent a great deal of time last year, was denounced by the Real Estate Board and was lost in committee. The only great reforms that may result from the session are promised by the bills authorizing investigations of the tax system of the State and the financial system of the city.

Action by the Governor.

The Thompson bill, intended to compel charitable organizations to give detailed reports of their receipts and expenditures, has been vetoed by Gov. Whitman. He said its provisions were too broad.

Four New York rapid transit bills have been signed. One permits the Public Service Commission to allow the Interborough Company a slice of Bronx Park for tracks and storage. Others authorize construction of a subway along Utica avenue, Brooklyn, permit the transfer of city property for rapid transit and connect the subway with the Long Island railway at Corona.

The Governor has signed Assemblyman Kelley's bill amending the workmen's compensation law by providing that an employe suffering from a previous disability shall not receive compensation allowed for a later injury in excess of compensation allowed for such injury, when considered by itself.

The Direct State Tax Question.

The Governor has been holding hearings this week on the appropriation bills, and has made many small cuts, but just what they will all amount to, and what will be the effect upon the tax rate, cannot be anticipated. An important constitutional question has been raised by Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners, in connection with the State Comptroller's intention to raise $5,000,000 by bonding the State for a term of seven years. Mr. Browne contends that the State constitution authorizes the State to contract a debt or debts not exceeding a total of $1,000,000, in order "to meet casual deficits or failures in revenue or for expense not provided for," as the section reads. The United Owners intend to see if this is not good law that they have cited, by an action in the courts.

A mass meeting under the auspices of the Real Estate Owners' Protective Association was held at the Hotel Majestic on Monday night. Resolutions were adopted praying the Governor to veto the Direct Tax bills and the appropriation bills now before him, and that an extraordinary session of the Legislature be called for the purpose of going over the financial needs of the State for the ensuing year.

Action by United Owners.

Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners, has forwarded to Governor Whitman resolutions passed by the executive board and asking that after the State Department heads have been heard the Governor fix a day by wire at which the United R. E. Owners and other realty associations of New York City can have a hearing on the pending appropriation bills and the State Direct Tax of $19,000,000; and that the Governor be petitioned to veto said State Direct Tax bill and convene a special session of the Legislature for the sole purpose of amending said several appropriations bills and for the purpose of passing a Direct State Tax bill in acordance therewith.

Unite for the Home Rule Campaign.

In a public letter Corporation Counsel Polk urges citizens, and particularly civil organizations, to unite in support of the city's constitutional program.

"A constitutional amendment granting home rule to cities," he says, "is absolutely needed and to obtain it New York is co-operating with other cities of the State. There is a general realization that cities must have larger control over their municipal affairs if they are to be efficiently governed. Their present dependence on the Legislature for every minor reform causes unending embarrassment and vexation.

"With 60 per cent. of the population living in the larger cities, municipal home rule has ceased to be a debatable theory. It is now an admitted necessity."

BEDFORD SECTION IN TRANSITION STATE

Once a Residential District, Now Given Over Largely to Business Enterprises—Advent of Automobile an Influencing Factor

WILL Grant Square, in the Bedford section of Brooklyn, and its environs, continue to be a desirable residential district, or will business in its numerous forms, march on and forever change the character of what, only a few years ago, was a choice section for homes? If business continues to usurp plots devoted to residences, apartments and semi-public buildings, will it appreciate or depreciate realty values in this locality?

Peter Cleary, Builder. Montrose W. Morris, Architect.
GRANT SQUARE, BROOKLYN, SHOWING NEW APARTMENT HOTEL.

At the present time that portion of Bedford avenue, including Grant Square from Fulton street to Eastern Parkway, is rapidly undergoing a decided metamorphosis. It is claimed, by real estate operators and owners of property in this vicinity, that the change is due largely to the advent of the automobile. For many years Bedford avenue has been one of the principal thoroughfares for people riding or driving for pleasure, as the artery leads from the very heart of the borough to Eastern Parkway, thence through Prospect Park and to the Ocean Boulevard to Coney Island.

In the past Bedford avenue was a thoroughfare lined with fine residences, high-class apartments, churches, clubs and other notable buildings of a public or a semi-public character. In this section, also, are to be found two of the finest equestrian statues in the city; the one of General Grant, at Grant Square, and the General Slocum monument, at Eastern Parkway and Bedford avenue. Among the notable buildings in this section are the Brevoort apartments, the first elevator apartment erected in the borough; the Twenty-third Regiment Armory, occupying the block front on Bedford avenue, from Atlantic avenue to Pacific street; the Kings County Medical Building directly opposite, on Bedford avenue, and William Fox's Bedford Theatre, at the corner of Bedford avenue and Bergen street. The imposing building, at the corner of Grant Square and Dean street, was for many years the home of the Union League Club of Brooklyn, and is now occupied, after extensive alterations were made, by the Unity Club, which was formerly at 482 Franklin avenue. In Herkimer street, just a short distance from Bedford avenue, is located the Invincible Club and Kismet Temple of the Mystic Shrine. This section includes a number of apartment hotels of high class and whose service is excellent, as well as many apartment houses of modern design and construction.

One has only to walk along Bedford avenue, say, from Putnam avenue to Sterling Place, and note the changes, wrought during the last few years, to realize that the automobile has been the primary cause for the present condition of affairs on this thoroughfare. Stores in close succession, and in a number of cases entire buildings are utilized as salesrooms for automobiles and automobile accessories, garages, repair shops, etc. These stores occupy a large percentage of the avenue frontage and leave only a few locations for other businesses.

With the occupancy of these stores by practically one line of endeavor, what has been the effect on other businesses which formerly found place on the avenue? In the first place, it has made it almost impossible for them to continue business on the avenue and they have been forced to seek quarters in other locations. Nostrand and Rogers avenues have been particularly favored by virtue of this fact. Many businesses' which formerly were conducted on Bedford avenue, are now located along Nostrand and Rogers avenues, and during the last six or seven years these thoroughfares have become lively business marts. Both, for miles, are lined with small shops so necessary to the life of the community. Nostrand avenue, in particular, has been favored, and its stores are high class as a whole and they have helped much to increase the values noticeable in this section

During the last two years the number of building operations, chiefly apartment houses of medium class, have been completed in the transverse streets.

These houses are of the usual type, four and five stories in height, averaging two to four families to a floor.

During the coming summer a noteworthy addition to the group of apartment hotels, in the vicinity of Grant Square, is to be erected. Plans and specifications for this structure have been prepared by Montrose W. Morris, architect, 82 Wall street, New York City, and Peter Cleary, 115 Marion street, has been awarded the general contract. The building will occupy the northwest corner of Bedford avenue and Dean street and will have a frontage on Bedford avenue of 155 feet and a depth, in Dean street, of 90 feet. It will be six stories in height, fireproof, thoroughly modern in all its appointments. This hotel will be owned and operated by Louis F. Seitz and will adjoin the Hotel Chataline, in Dean street, which is also owned and operated by the same interest. The structure, it is understood, will cost approximately $200,000 to erect.

A CONTROVERSY ABOUT GAS-RANGE LEASES

Gas Company Refuses to Obey the Public Service Commission's Order and Asks for Its Suspension and a Rehearing of the Case

THE Consolidated Gas Company, through Vice-President R. A. Carter, has notified the Public Service Commission formally that it will not obey the recent order of the commission, directing the company to modify its charges for leasing gas ranges, and, further, asks for a suspension of the order pending a rehearing, on the ground that the commission has no power of regulation in the present case, and on the further ground that the order is inequitable.

The company has also, through its attorneys, Shearman & Sterling, filed a brief, in which, answering the complaint of Edward B. Bruch, a member of the Real Estate Board, with Harry Dubinsky, as attorney, it is said that the complaint has narrowed down to a very narrow compass—to a demand that the company shall arrange its rental period so as to make leases for a year from the first of October, because that is the period chosen by real estate owners and operators. The questions presented are, therefore (1) whether any abuse in the business methods employed by the company in connection with the rental of its gas ranges has been shown, and (2) whether, on the facts established, the commission has any power of regulation in connection with the rental of gas ranges.

Points for the Company.

The company's brief recites the fact that in the cheaper tenements, which are not steam heated, the tenants through the winter months use coal stoves; and they would dispense with their gas ranges during that period if the leases expired on the first of October. And further:

"The real estate interests suggest that if the leases were made for a year from the first of October, the gas companies would fare just as well, because they would have a lease that would ensure them a rental during every month of the year. That is not so; because, this class of tenants would not renew a lease that expired on the first of October. They would force the company to take out the ranges on the first of October and to install them again in the spring; and, unless the company could then insist upon a lease for another year, the tenant would take a range only during the months of mild weather. In other words, if the suggestion of the landlord is adopted, the company would never, after the first year, be able to lease its ranges to about 50 per cent. of all its consumers, except for periods of about six months in each year. This would inevitably force the company to abandon the leasing system altogether or else to require a much higher rent. For the cheaper kinds of ranges, which are necessarily the kind demanded by this class of tenants, the annual rent is only $1, or 8 1/3 cents a month. As the cost of installation is on an average much more than one dollar, it is obvious that if the ranges were returned in the autumn and remained idle for six months in each year and were then again installed, the rent charged would have to be increased to a prohibitive price, and the present method of doing business would have to be abandoned.

The Landlord Point of View.

"Gas ranges are very inexpensive compared with the ordinary coal ranges; and in the construction of the modern apartment houses of the better class, the expense of purchasing and installing these ranges would be an insignificant item in the aggregate cost. Any owner, therefore, who desires to have absolute control of the rental of the ranges can obtain it at a trifling expense, by purchasing them outright. A real estate owner, who is unwilling to do this and who prefers to hire the ranges from the gas company and sublet them to his tenants, must conform to the conditions upon which such leases are made.

An Old Custom.

"Leases of houses and apartments were formerly made for a year from the first of May. That was before there were such ready facilities for spending the summer months in the country, and before such a large portion of the population left the city during the summer. If leases had continued to be made from May to May, many tenants, after the first year, would have gone into the country and, in the autumn, would have rented a house or an apartment for the winter months only. It was to prevent this inevitable loss that the landlords very properly insisted upon making the leases run for a year from the first of October, as Mr. Burch very reluctantly admitted and as Mr. McGuire, the president of the Real Estate Board, frankly conceded.

A Precedent.

"The same principle precisely that has resulted in the universal leasing of residential property from the first of October, has led the gas companies to make leases from the first of April, the season of demand in the former case being for the winter months and in the latter case for the summer months.

"The demand of the real estate agents is, in substance, that the gas company shall be deprived of the privilege which they themselves exercise of fixing a rental year which will ensure a maximum income upon the investment in the property rented. Their answer to an objecting tenant is that if he does not like the rental year, he can purchase a house instead of renting one, which is something that but very few persons can do. Nearly everyone, however, could purchase a gas range upon the liberal terms made by the companies. A canvass of the better class of apartment houses in New York City would undoubtedly disclose the fact that just as many of the gas appliances installed therein are owned by the owners of the building as are rented from the gas companies.

Why Allow for Idle Months?

"Some suggestion was made, by way of aspersion upon the gas companies, that they did not make any rebate for the months when the ranges are not in use. Why should they, when the amount of annual rental is established upon an assumption of annual service? If the rental had to be based only on a period of actual use, the amount exacted for that period would necessarily have to be increased, so as to pay for the periods of idleness and for the expenses of frequent removals and installations. Did any one ever hear of a landlord who remitted the rent to his tenants during the summer months, when they did not occupy the premises? Mr. Bruch very bluntly said that they did not, and that if a tenant failed to pay his rent, even though he had vacated the premises, he would be promptly sued for the amount due. Obviously, owners of improved real estate could not maintain present rental rates if they attempted to pursue any other policy. If, for instance, the investment in an apartment house represented a million dollars, and if, in order to obtain 6 per cent. on the investment, the owner found it necessary to exact an annual rental charge for all his apartments, aggregating $150,000, it is obvious, that, if he made no charge for six months of the year, the rental for the remaining six months would have to be doubled if he wished to preserve the value of his investment and earn a fair return thereon.

Rental Periods.

"What is it that the complainant seeks to have the Gas Company do in the present case? He complains because, while he sees fit to negotiate his leases from the first of October, the gas company sees fit to negotiate its leases from the first of April. Therefore, an owner who lets his apartment from the first of October, with a gas range leased to the first of April, may have to take a new lease of the range for a year from the first of April. But as the term of his lease is to the first of October, he has nothing to complain of for the summer months. He personally is not entitled to any rebate because the range is not used in the summer, for he has charged the tenant for the range, whether it is used or not.

Only Ground of Complaint.

"The landlord's only possible ground of complaint against the gas company is, therefore, that he may possibly be unable to procure tenants for every one of his apartments during the winter months, and, to that extent, the rental for the ranges in those particular apartments may fall upon him. The annual rental charges for ranges are from $1 to $6, or at the rate of 8 1/3 cents to 50 cents per month. This is a mere nominal risk on the part of the landlord, and is in itself so trivial as not to call for serious consideration; especially as even this infinitesimal liability could be avoided by the landlords, if they purchased the gas ranges instead of leasing them. They are not satisfied, however, with requiring their tenants to pay for the ranges as well as the apartments during the summer months, when they are away from the city, but insist upon a regulation which will throw all remaining risk respecting the ranges upon the gas companies, in case they are unable to find tenants for all their apartments.

"Although many real estate agents and owners prefer to have the rental period for ranges from the first of October they cannot always make leases in this way. There are hundreds of operators and individuals who lease and operate properties where the leases run from and to various dates throughout the year. They might, with equal propriety, demand that the gas companies should regulate the gas range rental period to conform to the respective periods covered by their leases."

The Official Order.

The order appealed from is as follows:

"Ordered that said Consolidated Gas Company modify its said rules and regulations so as to provide that upon the expiration of the first year's rental of a gas range any renewal thereof may be cancelled on thirty days' notice to said company, and that thereupon said company shall refund the amount paid for the unexpired term of such renewal; and it was further.

"Ordered that this order shall take effect June 1, 1915, and that within ten days after service thereof said Consolidated Gas Company notify the commission whether the terms of this order are accepted and will be obeyed."

JUSTICE FOR BROOKLYN REAL ESTATE

Joint Committee of Advisory Council and the Charity Organization to Solve the Three-Family House Problem

THE hearings which the Three-Family House Committee of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests have been holding to learn the opinions and advice of real estate owners, architects and builders with regard to encouraging the construction of three-family houses, will be continued during the summer.

It was practically impossible for this committee to arrive at any conclusions which might be embodied into law, owing to the brief session of the last Legislature. However, considerable information and advice have been gleaned at the hearings which have taken place every Monday since February.

The work of this committee, consisting of Messrs. Cyrus C. Miller, chairman; Frank Bailey, Edward C. Blum, William M. Calder and Frederic B. Pratt was divided into two subdivisions.

First, to ascertain whether it would be profitable to construct a three-family house at the present time, and simultaneously conforming to proper regulations for hygienic housing, ventilation and light. In this respect, architects and builders of recognized merit were requested to submit plans for three-family houses. The second subdivision was to cover the many one-family houses which today exist in the several boroughs, in order to ascertain whether it would be profitable and practicable to alter or remodel these houses, so as to make them accommodate two, three or four families. In its deliberations, the committee was immediately confronted with the fact that the two and three-family house was passing away in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx. Since the housing of people in multi-family tenements increases the percentage of citizens who feel no direct interest in government, and is apt to be accompanied by all of the evils of overcrowding, it was evident that any movement which would help to increase the number of land owners and to spread the population over a larger area should be encouraged. The ambition to own their own homes is common to all people, and this desire should be gratified whenever economic conditions permit.

Stating the Problem.

A number of reasons have been assigned for the decline in the erection of three-family houses, which are economic, social and legal. In the latter respect it has been constantly asserted that certain provisions of the Tenement House Law might be modified, so as to decrease the cost of construction of these houses. From general observation, there would seem to be no difficulty in making a three-family house pay where the lot values are from $500 to $1,000; but the question is a much closer one where lot values are from $1,000 to $1,500. From $1,500 to $2,500, it is hardly possible to make them pay, and from $2,500 up, it seems to be impossible.

Shortly before the Legislature adjourned, it was deemed advisable by the members of the Three-family House Committee of the Advisory Council to consider whether or not it would be feasible to amend the Tenement House Law at present, so as to reduce the number of requirements now prescribed for small houses. At a special meeting, which was attended by Messrs. Paul D. Cravath, Charles S. Brown and Alfred T. White, of the Tenement House Committee, the possibility of making such amendments during the recent Legislative session was discussed. The members of the Tenement House Committee evinced a willingness to do all that they possibly could, within reason, to comply with the request of real estate owners, that some remedy be effected. With a view of co-operating, therefore, with the Tenement House Committee in this respect, the special committee of the Advisory Council prepared the following report. Lawrence Veiller, however, dissented from the conclusions of the majority, and feeling that the committee had not investigated the subject as thoroughly as it might, he resigned. The report, therefore, was signed merely by Messrs. Frank Bailey, Edward C. Blum, William M. Calder, Cyrus C. Miller and Frederic B. Pratt.

HON. WILLIAM M. CALDER.
Who is working for modifications in the Tenement House Law.

Report of the Committee.

"The Three-Family House Committee has to report that it has approached the question of new Tenement House construction, with a desire by new legislation, to discourage the growth of the four and six-story tenements, four families on a floor, constructed especially in Brooklyn and in Queens on lots that are worth under $1,500, and to increase the number of smaller houses. This committee is of the opinion that the construction of these large tenements causes congestion and should not be allowed. The city is spending a very large amount of money to disperse the population and the marked tendency toward large tenements should be viewed with alarm by those working to improve housing conditions.

"The principal phase of this question, discussed by those appearing before the committee, was the method of decreasing the cost of the three-family house, for its construction has practically ceased in Kings and in Queens counties.

"Recommendations tending to reduce the cost of construction of these three-family houses had to do in main with the fire-proofing now required, and suggested few changes affecting the hygiene of such buildings.

"We are inclined to believe that over-regulation, or over-inspection by the city departments resulting in extreme annoyance to owners, is an element of much importance in producing the larger buildings, inasmuch as the large buildings could better afford to attend to inspectors' complaints while the small buildings, as a rule occupied in part by the owners, were not large enough to endure non-essential annoyances.

What Over-inspection Has Done.

"We believe that in regulating tenement houses, as construction is now required in the Tenement House Law, the results have not been entirely successful, or entirely satisfactory, even as the Inter-State Commerce Act did not produce the results the public demanded, and neither the public nor the railroad was satisfied; for over-regulation has tended to change the ownership of tenement houses to a class of people who do not particularly wish the tenants well, and who are willing to avoid laws made for the tenants' benefit whenever practicable or possible.

"We also feel that over-inspection and unnecessary annoyance are part of the elements preventing the construction of the three-family houses, and from our investigations believe that it is possible that a surplus of inspectors are causing troubles to owners, not in the end beneficial to the tenants.

"We feel that neither over-inspection nor cost are, however, the complete reasons for the construction of the large buildings, but that there are other causes, sociological and financial, which also tend to their production. These other causes have not been investigated.

Be Fair to the Landlord.

"We, however, feel that it is not our purpose or our desire to be placed in a position of trading with those who have produced tenement house reform for the purpose of furthering the construction of any particular class of buildings; but we do feel that the tenement house situation will not be improved to the extent that it should, unless these large buildings upon cheap lots are no longer constructed, and unless at least a part of the penalty for filth and ill-use is borne by the tenant, instead of as now—all borne by the landlord.

"We strongly recommend that the Tenement House Committee, constituted for the purpose of tenement house reform, should be asked, inasmuch as it assumes the guardianship of the tenants' interests, to further guard the tenants' interests by changing the tenement law, so as to produce a class of buildings which are better for the tenants than those now produced, and that the city should not be allowed to further clog up with these large fifty-foot-four-family-on-a-floor buildings to the detriment of the health and the morals of the tenants, where the land values do not require such construction. The methods of producing these results and the character of the new legislation, we do not now suggest, but we do feel that immediate consideration of this big question, so important to Brooklyn and to Queens, should receive the direct attention of the Tenement House Committee, or it should entrust this needed reform to others."

Cooperation Promised.

"At a meeting of the Tenement House Committee held on May 11, Alfred T. White and Darwin R. James, Jr., were appointed to confer with the Committee of the Advisory Council upon this subject. Thus, it is anticipated that a thorough plan of co-operation will be arranged for by the Advisory Council and the Tenement House Committee of the Charities Organization Society. This joint committee will consider the subject thoroughly during the summer months, and in the fall, so that by the next session of the Legislature it is quite possible that legislation may be agreed upon which will tend to improve conditions for small property owners.

Start an endless chain of letters to the Governor asking him to veto the Direct Tax bill and call an extra session of the Legislature. Do it now.

No legislative body is really interested in economy. The requirements of political organizations, which the members primarily serve, compel the raising and spending of as much money as taxable property can yield.

Publicity when availed of is a great help to good government and to cooperation between departmental administrations and the public. A municipal division which does not take the public into its confidence, when it has plans under way affecting the public, is likely to be misunderstood.

The Governor, at last accounts, was still at work with his pruning-knife on the appropriation bills. New York City taxpayer organizations have taken fresh hope and are sending up appeals for an extra session of the Legislature, believing that the leaders in that body have now come to a realization of the harm they have done to New York City.

An entirely new fire alarm system, completed within two years, is the promise which Commissioner Adamson has obtained. Mayor Mitchel and President McAneny have said it. Better still is the promise of the Board of Fire Underwriters that, in return for this more perfect protection to property, insurance premiums will be appreciably reduced—to such an extent that the interest on the cost of the installation to taxpayers will be offset by the difference in the cost of their insurance. Public improvements that actually pay their own way are in an entirely different category from those which bring no equivalent.

Commission Government.

Remarkable results have attended the trial in several hundred American cities of a commission form of government, when it was found that government by National political parties was incapable of adjusting itself to existing economic conditions in local affairs. Every city has its own story of taxes reduced, of the real estate market revived after depression, of bonds retired, municipal departments unified, public works more economically constructed, extravagance stopped, unnecessary services dispensed with, and the old spirit of American democracy in local government recalled from exile and again enthroned. So rapidly is the charter revolution spreading that any list of cities governed by commissions soon becomes obsolete. Newark, Jersey City, Passaic, Mount Vernon, Beacon and Newburgh, all in the immediate vicinity of New York, are among the number.

A singular characteristic of commission government of every variety is that it proves even better in practice than it promises. Certainly no city that has tried it has yet expressed regrets. Somehow when a municipality resolves to strike the trail, the resolve reforms and regenerates the whole community. This is the point which Henry Bruère missed when he reported the results of his investigation of commission government to the Metz Fund in 1911. In Mr. Bruère's view, commission government does not necessarily imply good government, but he admits that it removes numerous impediments thereto, that it keeps city problems separate from State and National issues, and that it enables cities to elect public officers without the aid of bosses. More than that, according to our own observation, it accomplishes the chief purpose intended—a wise administration of public affairs without over-burdening the taxpayers.

Underlying principles of the commission form are "the short ballot, the concentration of authority in the hands of a few responsible officers, the elimination of all ward lines and designations, absolute publicity in the conduct of public business, the merit system, and a city administration, or a city administrator, responsive to the deliberately formed and authoritatively expressed public opinion of the city." (Woodruff.) Responsive action upon the part of commissioners can be assured and most often is, by the operation of the principles of the initiative, referendum and recall, aided by direct primary and non-partisan elections. The advantages claimed are that it facilitates the election of a higher class of men, since American municipal experience has demonstrated that small bodies with large powers attract a better class of men than large bodies with small powers; and because it abolishes sectional lines, settles the question of centralization or decentralization and makes each commissioner a representative of the interests of the whole city. (Bacon and Wyman.) The alleged objections are, (1) that it combines the taxing power and the spending power, and (2) concentrates all the executive, legislative, judicial and financial powers of the city in a single small body. As one has pungently expressed it, a commission form sets up a bunch of five to run everything and certify to everything. They make your laws, make up your budget, assess your taxes and conduct your public works. They are, in fact, an elected oligarchy. The answer given to this objection is that business corporations are so conducted.

What is believed to be an improvement on the straight commission form is the commission-manager plan. The manager has entire control (through power of appointment and removal) over the administrative departments, except courts and schools. Some authorities believe that the three fundamental requirements of the ideal city government—efficiency, economy and democracy—can be satisfied in even the largest cities, such as New York, by the city manager plan with proportional representation. (Hoag.) After all, the attractive thing about commission government is that it means local administration on simple business lines. Whether it be administered under the Des Moines, Lockport or Dayton plan, the commission has broad powers to create, unify or extirpate departmental agencies within the local sphere; and its members, by means of the initiative, referendum and recall, or otherwise, are made directly responsible to the will of the people when intelligibly expressed. New York City is at present engaged through a committee in revising its charter. No intimation has been given that the committee has examined into new forms of local government or into the experience of commission cities, but it is hoped that, unlike some battleships and some other codes, the new charter may not on that account be antiquated before it is launched. A large extension of the expensive social service features of the present government would, for one thing, be directly contrary to the wish of property owners as declared to the Board of Estimate, and therefore sharply in contrast with the spirit of the new forms of local government for strict compliance with public opinion.

An Encroachment Problem for the Authorities.

The Public Service Commission has been asked by the Borough President, by the real estate and mercantile organizations and by local business interests not to erect subway kiosks within the narrow space afforded by the sidewalks of William and Nassau streets and the streets intersecting them. First, because they would be encroachments in defiance of corporation orders recently promulgated and enforced by the Borough President, directing the removal and future prohibition of any projection beyond the building lines in those streets. The fact that the projections from the subways are to come up through the sidewalks, and not from either side, as in the case of buildings, can hardly justify an exception to the rule.

The Public Service Commissioners would be setting a poor example to the community if they should over-ride regulations which private citizens are commanded to obey. And it may be asked if such action would not be contrary to that fundamental law which the Court of Appeals laid down in the case of the City vs. the Knickerbocker Trust Company, to the effect that nobody has a right to maintain a permanent encroachment upon a public street, that nobody has a right to grant a permit to do so, and that if any official body should presume to, it would be exceeding its constitutional powers. Not even the Legislature is authorized to grant a license to erect a permanent encroachment upon any public street in this city, in the opinion of the highest court. If it be granted that the subway kiosks would be a permanent encroachment, than according to this decision, which has been consistently followed by the lower courts, the Public Service Commission would be exceeding its authority in erecting them, and could be restrained by a taxpayer's action, if not by a simple order from the Borough President to remove the encroachment —which is all that is necessary for other property owners.

A second good reason why the Public Service Commission should not contemplate obstructing the narrow sidewalks is that it is unfair to create conditions which the borough would have to change at its own expense. The cost of effecting entrances and exits for the subways through the adjacent buildings should be made a part of the general cost of subway construction and be paid for in the same manner, and not left for taxpayers to defray through the annual city budget. The fact that adjacent property owners have not offered to make gifts of easements should not be a reason for the Public Service Commission to dodge the responsibility of purchasing them or getting title by condemnation. Every owner does not want a subway entrance through his building. He has other uses for his premises, and in the case of a building with a narrow frontage, a passageway ten to fifteen feet wide into the subway would practically ruin the building for certain purposes.

It seems to the Record and Guide that the Public Service Commission should not take thought as to how it may circumvent the city in this case, but rather how it can do the handsome thing, by putting the openings where they will not be a nuisance and the cost of making them not a hardship on the public.

Proposed Bus Lines.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Many merchants on Broadway, between Herald and Times squares, headed by the Broadway Association, have been urging the Board of Estimate to modify one of the proposed automobile bus routes, so that the Herald square section and Broadway, north of that point, might be benefited. As laid out, the route runs from 42d street, south on Seventh avenue, to the Pennsylvania Station. It is proposed that the busses operate from the Pennsylvania Station to Broadway, then north through that thoroughfare, to Times square, and thence as originally laid out. While this change is all right in a way, why not lay out two routes, whereby some of the busses could run in both avenues. Of course there is but little demand, at the present time, for busses in this section of Seventh avenue, while the reverse is true as applied to Broadway. Still, Seventh avenue is sure to reap the benefits of the new subway and undoubtedly will be improved with modern structures. Therefore, it should not be deprived of what additional transit facilities it can obtain. I would suggest that alternate busses run on Broadway and Seventh avenue. This is a compromise suggestion, that, I think, should not meet with much opposition. The future alone can decide whether the proposition is correct, but this is only a detail, which readily can be adjusted.

The William Street Subway Entrances.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

I enclose with this letter a copy of a resolution adopted at the meeting of the governors of the Real Estate Board, held on Tuesday, relating to the location of entrances and exits for the William street subway. This board is unalterably opposed to the use of the narrow sidewalks in William and Nassau streets for kiosks or station purposes. These sidewalks are only from nine to ten feet wide. If the entrances to stations are placed as called for on the subway plans, the width at such points would be only two or three feet. The mere fact that the entrances are at certain points will only increase the congestion which already exists on both thoroughfares.

It is the opinion of this board's Railroad and Transportation Committee that entrances of adequate width should be provided for and that the traffic on the William street subway, with stations only at Fulton and Wall streets, could not properly be handled through a six-foot six-inch entrance. This is particularly true of Fulton street, where the traffic must go through stations on the easterly side of the street only, which means practically twice the normal congestion under existing conditions. This William street subway will serve not only upper New York, but the outlying districts in Brooklyn, so morning and night there is certain to be a tremendous amount of traffic, all of which will be poured out of entrances on the easterly side of the street only.

This matter should be settled at this time, and the press should support Borough President Marks in his efforts to relieve this condition. If the sidewalk is used as now contemplated, it would be unfortunate, because former Borough President McAneny compelled owners of property in William and Nassau streets to remove all incumbrance beyond the building line on both these streets, and this was done at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

William street is only forty feet wide, the sidewalks, as pointed out, are nine to ten feet in width, and at the present time approximately 7,000 people use William street in a given hour morning and night. Under the present conditions the sidewalks are entirely inadequate to handle this traffic.

RICHARD O. CHITTICK,
Executive Sec'y R. E. Board.

The resolution referred to above follows:

Resolved, That in connection with the construction of subways in William and Nassau streets (being narrow streets) the Real Estate Board of New York believes that the use of sidewalks for entrances and exits would be unwise and that easements on private property should be condemned, but only sufficient space taken for entrance and exit purposes, and that all entrances and exits should be planned sufficiently wide to satisfactorily handle the traffic.

Hostility of the Daily Press to Real Estate Interests.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

The Lockwood-Ellenbogen bill which was passed by the Senate and the Assembly by an overwhelmingly large majority is a bill which to my mind should have received the sanction of the entire press as well as of the Mayor of the city. The legislators are the direct representatives of all the people. They know the pulse of the people, and the bill was the result of a demand made on the Legislature by more than seventy real estate organizations throughout the boroughs; and by the merchants' associations. It is folly to believe that so many organizations would stand behind a bill which is not meritorious. I am astonished that the press took an adverse attitude against the bill, calling it vicious and scandalous. I am not at all surprised that the public is reluctant to make further investments in real estate. Considering all the difficulties that the owner of property contends with, such as excessive taxation, over-inspection, the recent difficulty of renewing mortgages, and on top of this ridicule and criticism by the daily press, the bright days of real estate must be far off, and yet real estate pays 95% of the expense of this great city.

BERNARD GOODMAN,
Pres. N. Y. Taxpayers' Asso.
230 Grand street.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Without any desire to criticise, and assuming that "there's a reason," it strikes me as strange that there are no street signs on Park avenue, in the 70's and 80's. This condition has resulted in a great deal of annoyance to strangers in the neighborhood. On account of the large number of new buildings which have been erected in the section, during the last two years, the thoroughfare has taken on an entirely different aspect, and old landmarks have disappeared, or are hard to find. I also notice that new signs have been placed on Madison avenue, and must say that they are most intelligible. The principle of using large numerals, or letters, for the street to be designated, and smaller ones for the intersecting thoroughfare, is admirable. These letters are illumined, so at night they are clearly discernable. I assume that either this scheme, or another equally good one, is to be carried out on Park avenue, but in the interim, many people find themselves "lost in this big city."

WANDERER.

May 14, 1915.

—The real estate situation at the present time would not be fully realized by the reader of this paper in future years without a note being made as a matter of record of the intense public feeling of anxiety now prevailing concerning the cisis caused by the sinking of the Lusitania and the American Government's note to the Imperial Government of Germany. We are living in times of thrilling international events. Long years of economic stagnation are near an end.

Secured Debt Tax Law Amendments.

Article 15 of the Tax Law relating to taxation of secured debts, was changed materially at the recent session of the Legislature.

Securities on which the tax was paid prior to May 1, 1915, are not affected by the new law, but continue to be exempt from assessment under the personal property tax; nor do the changes affect the mortgage recording tax (Article eleven of the Tax Law).

The secured debt tax law, as enacted in 1911, provided that upon the payment of a tax at the rate of one-half of one per cent. to the State Comptroller, certain securities could be exempted from the ordinary personal property tax. These securities were mainly mortgages on property outside the State, and bonds secured thereby, and state and local bonds of other States.

Chapter 169, approved April 1, 1915, amended the law by adding at the beginning of Section 331 the words: "After the first day of May, nineteen hundred and fifteen." The effect of this amendment was to suspend the operation of the law.

A bill was subsequently introduced, making the secured debt tax an annual one, but after a hearing before the Senate Committee on Taxation, the annual tax feature was dropped. The bill as amended was passed, and approved April 30, as chapter 465.

The changes made by the new law are explained by Secretary Pleydell of the New York Tax Reform Association to this effect: The rate is increased to three-quarters of one per cent.; the tax exempts the security from the ordinary personal property tax for a period of five years only; payment must be made before the first day of November, 1915. Taxable securities which have not then been stamped will be liable to the personal property assessment, without deduction for indebtedness, and taxable at the regular local tax rate. Taxable securities owned on assessment day this year, which is July first in many districts and October first in the City of New York, will be liable to the personal property assessment without deduction for debt, unless the secured debt tax has been paid before assessment day.

The new law also makes taxable as a "secured debt" such proportion of a bond, note, or mortgage, secured by real property within this State and property outside the State, as the value of the property outside the State bears to the value of the entire property. This will affect chiefly bonds secured by a mortgage recorded in this State subsequent to the enactment of the recording tax law of 1906, when such mortgage includes also property outside the State; the recording tax being paid only on such proportion as is located within this State, and being held to exempt therefore only an equivalent proportion of the total value of the bond. Bonds secured partly by a mortgage recorded within this State prior to 1906, and partly by property outside the State, may be registered, under the recording tax law (§ 264), with the recording officer of the county where the mortgage was first recorded, upon payment of one-half of one per cent. on the entire value of the bond, and thus obtain exemption from the personal property tax.

A Relief Committee for Draughtsmen.

The architects of New York City are creating a fund to help draughtsmen, who, in these depressed times, have been without work and who are now without funds. The loans will be arranged for easy repayment after employment and will demand a low rate of interest to give them a commercial aspect. The committee will probably develop automatically into a committee of employment. Application for sums are strongly desired by the architects in charge, who will consider all requests confidential. These applications can be addressed to G. L. Schelling, care of B. G. Goodhue, 2 West 47th street, New York.

REAL ESTATE NEWS OF THE WEEK

Brokerage Sales, Auctions, Foreclosure Suits Together With Other Current Realty Items

A $5,500,000 LEASE.

Broadway Block Front, Including Projected Building, Acquired by Realty Company.

What will probably prove to be one of the largest deals of the year, has just been closed. The property affected is the block front in the west side of Broadway, between 35th and 36th streets, opposite the New York Herald building and includes a twelve-story commercial structure now in course of construction. The entire deal, according to the recorded instrument, involves $6,500,000.

The Old School Realty Company has leased from the No. 1337 Broadway Company, William Everdell, Jr., president, and in which William Henry Barnum is heavily interested, the entire property for a term of twenty years from the completion of the structure. The deal also includes a renewal privilege, the rental to be determined by re-appraisal.

The property was acquired by the present owners of the fee last June, from Charles E. Johnson, whose family had owned the block front for almost sixty years. The property has a Broadway frontage of 211 feet, and measures 207 feet in 35th street, facing the establishment of R. H. Macy & Company, 81 feet in 36th street, with irregular lines on the west side. It is understood that the new building will be ready for occupancy about January 1, 1916.

The transaction is one of the largest leasehold deals which has been closed during recent years. House, Grossman & Vorhaus were the attorneys for the lessees, and Simpson, Thatcher & Bartlett represented the owners, as attorneys.

During the last three years, or so, the property was reported sold and leased a number of times. In 1913, Lee Shubert, representing a syndicate, obtained an option of the property, having in mind the improving the site with a notable structure. After negotiations had extended over a considerable period, they dropped out of sight and the deal was subsequently declared off.

Owing to the prominence of the location several large out-of-town dry goods concerns figured in the current reports, prominent among which were Jordan, Marsh & Co. and R. H. White & Co. Last year the property, with its present old buildings, was assessed by the city at $2,135,000.

When the purchase of the property was concluded, last June, the price was currently reported as having been $6,500,000. In deeds recorded shortly afterward, it was shown that a building loan of $1,250,000 was made by the Thompson-Starrett Company, which is to erect the building. The loan is to run for 5 years, at 5 per cent., and a second mortgage of $5,000,000, for ten years, was given to Mr. Johnson. F. & G. Pflomm and Edward P. Blake, of William A. White & Sons, were the brokers in the sale.

Clinton & Russell, 32 Nassau street, are the architects for the new building, which will be of skeleton steel frame type, resting on steel grillage and concrete foundations, the floor construction being of reinforced concrete.

Taxable Real Estate.

In 1912, according to the Census Bureau, the value of the real property in the United States subject to taxation was $51,854,000,000.

NEW YORK CITY'S FACTORIES.

35,849 Employ 782,566 Persons—16,552 Factories in the Clothing Industry.

The Industrial Directory of New York State for the year 1913, just issued by the Albany State Department of Labor, contains statistics of the number and kind of factories in New York and other cities. From this we learn that there was at date of record a grand total of factories in New York City of 35,849, employing no less than 782,566 persons, constituting New York City the largest manufacturing city in the United States.

There are two main divisions to the volume; the first comprises tables of statistics of factories and factory employes, geographically arranged; and the second contains a record of individual factories by firm names. The data was secured by mail or by agents and from the reports of factory inspectors.

In Greater New York there are 188 factories engaged in the manufacture of cut stone and a total of 599 factories manufacturing stone, clay and glass products; 393 are manufacturing brass and bronze goods; 89 manufacturing sheet metal work of copper, brass and aluminum.

The structural and architectural iron work shops number 320; sheet iron work, 422; cooking, heating and ventilating apparatus, 45; machinery, 484; castings, 31; electrical apparatus, 218; automobiles and parts, 396; boat and ship building, 56; and altogether a total of 4,549 factories manufacturing metals, machinery and conveyances.

There are 205 factories engaged in the manufacturing of house trim; 413 manufacturing cabinet work and fixtures, 156 manufacturing pianos, organs and other musical instruments; 979, furs and fur goods; 355, miscellaneous leather goods; and a total of 2,520 factories manufacturing furs, leather and rubber goods.

There are 161 factories manufacturing chemicals; 98 paint, varnish, etc.; 96 dyes, colors and inks, and a total of 801 engaged in the manufacturing of chemicals, oils, paints, etc.

There are 265 factories manufacturing paper boxes and tubes; 2,121 engaged in printing and book-making; 17 engaged in the manufacture of wall paper; and a total of 1,013 manufacturing textiles.

There are 4,280 factories manufacturing men's tailoring; 290 men's shirts, collars and white goods; 2,051 women's dresses and waists; with a total of 16,552 factories in Greater New York manufacturing clothing, millinery, laundering, etc., and a total of 11,994 in Manhattan alone. There are 101 factories engaged in slaughtering and meat packing; and a total of 4,998 factories making food products, liquors and tobacco.

Golf Tournament of Board.

The spring golf tournament of the Real Estate Board of New York will be held at the Engelwood Golf Club, on Tuesday, May 25, morning and afternoon. Up to the present there have been sixty entries. At the autumn tournament last October there were seventy entries. It is expected that long before the tournament starts 100 players will have entered their names.

This is the Board's fourth tournament, the first having been held in November, 1913, at the Oakland Golf Club, Bayside, L. I. In the spring of 1914 the tournament was held at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Short Hills, N. J., and the fall tournament in 1914 at the Oakland Golf Club.

The Golf Committee requests that members of the Board send in their entries as soon as possible. Arrangements have been made for dinner at the Engelwood Golf Club.

The Golf Committee includes the following: Albert B. Ashforth, chairman; Joel S. DeSelding, secretary; John P. Kirwan, H. H. Hazelton, Walter Stabler and W. J. VanPelt.

Industries in Queens.

From the report made by A. L. Langdon, traffic manager of the Long Island Railroad, at the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens, it is evident that many new factories are locating in Queens. Mr. Langdon, who is vice-chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Queens Chamber of Commerce, reported the following new industries in Queens:

1. "Kaufman, Worms & Co., cigar manufacturers, of 348 East 23d street, New York, are erecting a two-story brick building, to cost $16,000, on Woodside avenue, near the new Union Station. They expect to employ fifty hands when in full operation.

2. "The C. B. French Cabinet Co., manufacturers of telephone booths and phonograph cabinets, have moved into their new building in the Maspeth section.

3. "The Ficks Reed Co., manufacturers of reed furniture, of Cincinnati, Ohio, have rented a loft in 6th street, Long Island City, for the distribution of their products in New York. They expect to move their entire plant to Long Island City in the near future.

4. "The Commercial Research Co., of Tuckahoe, N. Y., has rented the top floor of the Goodyear Rubber Tire Co.'s building on Jackson avenue, Long Island City, and will have twenty-five employees.

5. "The Dietz Coal Co., Fresh Pond road, are erecting a plant for the manufacture of ice, the capacity of which will be seventy tons daily."

According to the last Federal census, taken in 1909, there were 771 factories, with 27,495 employes, located in Queens. The latest census taken, however, by the Department of Labor of New York State, in 1913, which has just been compiled in book form, shows a total of 830 factories, with 35,105 employes. Queens County has a greater number of employes in its factories than any other county in New York State, with the exception of Manhattan, Kings, and Erie Counties. A general distribution of these factories throughout the borough is shown by the following table:

Exhibition of Civic Art.

The Municipal Art Society has arranged a "Civic Art Exhibition" in the rooms of the National Arts Club, 119 East 19th street, which will be open until May 30. The exhibition has been planned to show what has been and is being accomplished to make the city ornamental, and in time as beautiful in detail as it is now artistic in mass, when seen from a proper distance. George W. Breck is chairman of the committee in charge of the exhibit, which consists of drawings, sculptural models and photographs of works completed and projected. A special feature is the first public view of the new seal and city flag recently adopted by the Board of Aldermen. The flag is to be first unfurled on June 20. The seal designed by Paul Manship is quite in the spirit of the date which is on it, 1664.

Notable among the plans shown for improvements now under way and proposed are those for Riverside Drive and the Department of Docks. There are also groups devoted to the Bronx and the Committee on City Plan of Manhattan and Brooklyn. Interesting is a project for a Brooklyn Civic Centre by the architectural firm of McKenzie, Voorhees and Gmelin. Plaster models are shown of groups for the approaches to the Manhattan Bridge by the sculptors, French, Rumsey and Heber. Another feature, illustrated by photographs, explains the labors of the Art Commission and shows work that has been approved and disapproved. At the close of the display the drawings submitted in the competition for "An Architectural Solution of the Intersection of an Avenue and a Street," the announcement of which was recently made in the Record & Guide, will be shown in the same galleries.

BUILIDING INSPECTORS' CONFERENCE.

case of guests at hotels, customers in business buildings, workers in factories, tenants in multiple dwellings, etc., then the increasingly greater requirements needed to secure to the occupants and to neighbors structural safety, security against fire, sufficiency of light and air to preserve health, etc.

"So far as possible, the laws should prescribe only the purpose to be accomplished and not the method to be followed. In this latter all possible freedom should be left to the designer. In this way development will not be hampered. When necessary, it may be well for the building official to supplement the law by rules designed to fix the minimum safe practice, but those rules should be made only as the need for them arises, and then they should be framed with the same principle in mind that controls the making of the laws, namely, to provide only for the safety of the otherwise helpless occupants or neighbors.

"It is not my purpose to elaborate on these points at this time. Much can, and perhaps should, be said in explanation. But building officials generally are so desirous of securing the best possible work, of raising the standards of construction, of establishing the best practice, that they are likely to overlook the fact that this is not their function. Let us remember in our discussions that the building official is acting his part when he secures a construction that safeguards the public from dangers incident to buildings by an observance of the laws enacted for his and the public guidance."

Officials Present.

Among those present at the meeting were S. J. Williams, State Building Inspector, Madison, Wis.; Philip Kerrigan, late of the State Fire Marshal's Office, Albany, N. Y.; Walter R. Demand for Waterfront Sites.

In conformity with the demand for waterfront sites in suburban Long Island, as indicated since the beginning of spring, active construction work has been begun on four new waterways or harbors in the 750-acre tract overlooking Hempstead Bay at Baldwin Harbor, southern Nassau County. To be from six to eight feet in depth and sixty feet each in width, these waterways will flow into Baldwin Harbor.

Owners of homes between these waterways will be enabled to have their motor boats anchored practically at their back doors, and it is the homeseekers who love nautical pleasures who are buying extensively along the south shore of Nassau County.

The waterways are being built, at Baldwin Harbor, between Washington and Hayes streets; between Van Buren and Hayes streets; between Jackson and Van Buren streets; and between Northern Boulevard and Jackson street.

Plans are completed and the developers are ready for bids on the construction of twenty-six frame stucco and hollow tile detached houses to contain from six to nine rooms with modern improvements. These houses will be between the waterways mentioned. More houses will follow the completion of these.

When Will Queens Get Rapid Transit?

The Interborough will require well over a year to connect its "L" in Second avenue with the bridge, because of the extensive reconstruction work that will have to be done on the "L" structure between 61st and 57th streets.

The tracks opposite the bridge entrance are to be lowered in order to make room for bringing the downtown track from the bridge above the uptown track on Second avenue, thus avoiding a grade crossing at that point.

The Corona and Astoria elevated lines are to be connected with the union station at the bridge plaza on the Queens side this fall, according to present estimates. Connection with Manhattan this year or early in 1916 will be through the Steinway tunnel.

Big Pier Leased.

The first lease of one of the new, massive piers which are to be erected along the South Brooklyn waterfront by the city, has been authorized to the United States Steel Products Company by the Sinking Fund Commission.

This particular pier is to be located at the foot of 29th street. When built it will be 1,198 feet long and 80 feet wide, together with a bulkhead extending from a point about 98 feet north of the pier to a point about 115 feet south of the pier.

The lease is to be for a term of ten years, and the lessee will have the privilege of two renewals of ten years each. The rental for the first term of ten years is to be at a rate of $35,000 per annum, and for each renewal term, the city is to exact a 10 per cent. advance on the rental.

Bronx Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting was held at McKinley Square Casino, 169th street and Boston road, on Friday evening, May 14, to protest against the proposed Direct State Tax of $19,000,000, 73 per cent of which will be saddled on New York City. If this iniquitous measure is not vetoed, this tax will add a 17.5 point increase in the municipal tax rate next year.

Delegations from many civic associations in the Bronx were present at the meeting, and among the speakers were Ex-Lieutenant Governor Wagner and Assemblyman Alfred E. Smith, both of whom fought hard against the passage of the bill in the legislature.

Electric Light Sells Real Estate.

A real estate operator of Rockford, Ill., who wished to dispose of a group of building lots in a sub-division just outside the city limits, conceived the idea of installing electric lighting so that prospective purchasers could inspect the property at night. Accordingly, a contract was entered into with the Rockford Electric Company and a special pole line constructed to the subdivision where an installation of high-efficiency lamps was made.

The lighting of this property attracted considerable attention and many visitors inspected lots at night. The entire subdivision comprising 200 lots was sold in 30 days, and the operator claims that this phenomenal record is due entirely to the electrical installation and the resultant advertising.—Electrical Review.

Beach Sand from Europe.

Sand imported from Europe is being used in construction of the new subways in New York City. This is not because suitable sand cannot be obtained in this country, but because the war in Europe has cut down the cargoes which steamships ordinarily bring from the other side of the Atlantic to such an extent that it is necessary for many ships to come over in ballast. They have been using beach sand as ballast. Upon arriving in New York this ballast is discharged to make room for the returning cargoes and is practically given away by the steamship company to any one who will haul it away and dispose of it. Rodgers & Hagerty, Inc., who have the contract for the construction of Section No. 15 of the Lexington avenue subway, extending from about 138th street and Park avenue, through Mott avenue and Franz Sigel Park and River avenue to 157th street, have used ten scowloads of this sand in back filling what remains of the subway excavation.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

WHILE there was a varied budget of sales and leases reported during the week, still it was not until last Thursday, when the $6,500,000 lease of the block front on Broadway, between 35th and 36th streets, was announced, that the climax came. The fact that a deal of this magnitude is possible is about the best recommendation of the stability of real estate as a permanent investment, for deals of this size always extend over a period of years, proving confidence in the future.

During the last few months the market has been "spotty," some weeks showing considerable activity, while others dropped below the average. A careful analysis of the situation will show that at present there is a far better feeling than for a long time past. Property owners have united forces to combat existing evils, and it is confidently expected by them, that good, and only good, will result. It is only a short time since an attitude of hopelessness was assumed. Everything looked dark and unpromising.

Well located real estate is as good today as ever. It has greater possibilities. Operations of greater magnitude are being undertaken. Money, in greater quantities, is being invested in single projects. The direct effect is good. The small investor can back up the confidence of the large operator, because it is usually the large operations which create real estate values.

Outside of the large deal, which after all is in a section whose future is assured for many years to come, other sales and leases were closed, which clearly indicates the broadening tendency of the market. Speculative builders were prominent in the budget of the week, both the East and West sides being well represented. In addition there were a large number of small dwellings and flats which changed hands.

Vacant land in the Bronx figured in the transactions of the week. A Manhattan institution acquired a solid block in the Kingsbridge section, which is rapidly becoming a center for large charitable and educational institutions.

In Queens a development company acquired a large tract of land along the line of the new subway. The operation, which involves upwards of 1,100 building lots, is expected to result in the establishment of a new settlement of apartment houses, similar to those erected, by the same company, on property acquired some time ago in the Bronx.

During the week the convention of the National Fire Prevention Association was held, and many suggestions made to further guard against the loss of life from fire and other hazards. Should these suggestions be adopted, real estate, in the long run, should be the benefactor.

The total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 45 as against 23 last week and 26 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 14 as compared with 11 last week and 11 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 31 as compared with 12 last week and 15 a year ago.

The total number of conveyances in Manhattan was 147, as against 159 last week, 22 having stated considerations totaling $1,013,325. Mortgages recorded this week numbered 80, involving $2,870,508, as against 87 last week, totaling $2,646,178.

From the Bronx 21 sales at private contract were recorded, as against 10 last week and 17 a year ago.

The amount involved in Manhattan and Bronx auction sales this week was $1,444,852, compared with $1,209,253 last week, making a total for the year of $32,504,905. The figures for the corresponding week last year were $1,443,991 and the total from Jan. 1, 1914, to May 16, 1914, was $17,143,763.

Big West Side Deal Closed.

Slawson & Hobbs have sold for various owners, the six private houses at the southeast corner of West End avenue and 89th street, on plot 100.8 x 82, to a builder for improvement with an apartment house. The houses take in 590-598 West End avenue and 274 West 89th street and were sold respectively by Albert W. J. Petrie, Thomas H. Willard, Mary H. McCulloch, Gertrude D. Hawes, Sophia E. Poundt and Charles A. Starbuck. The Record and Guide of February 13, 1915, reported that the deal was being negotiated.

Large Purchase in Queens.

The American Real Estate Company has purchased the Kouwenhoven estate, in the Steinway section of Queens, containing about 1,150 lots, with frontages on Flushing, Woolsey, Potter, Ditmars, Wolcott, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth avenues. The property is along the line of the dual subway system now in course of construction and its sale is one of the most important in the borough for many years.

Fordham Road Corner Sold.

The Keary estate has sold through Richard H. Scobie, the southeast corner of Fordham road and Elm place, comprising practically the entire block front on the south side of Fordham road from Elm place to Marion avenue. The plot measures 159.45 on Fordham road and 57.55 in Elm place, with an easterly line of 115.47, adjoining the five-story apartment house at the southwest corner of Fordham road and Marion avenue.

Huggins Homestead Sold.

Francis B. Chedsey, executor of the estate of Samuel J. Huggins, has sold to the Lehigh Building Corporation, Irving Judis, president, the old Huggins homestead at the southwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 157th street, an old frame dwelling and six lots fronting 103 feet on the avenue and 144 feet in the street. The site will be improved with a high-class apartment house. George Ranger was the broker.

Sale Opposite City Hall.

It was reported yesterday that the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the P. E. Church had sold the five-story building, 243 Broadway, with an "L" to 2½ Murray street, measuring 25.1 on Broadway, extending back 126.6, and with a frontage of 12.7 in Murray street. The society received the property through the will of Mary R. King, in 1910.

New 82d Street Operation.

Samuel A. Herzog purchased from Mrs. A. S. H. Schmidt, through Douglas L. Elliman & Company, the three four-story flats, 110-114 East 82d street, on plot 71.6 x 102.2, for improvement with a nine-story apartment house. This represents Mr. Herzog's second operation in East 82d street, his first one having been the "Surrey" at No. 122.

Institution Buys in Bronx.

The Society for the Relief of the Destitute Blind, now at Amsterdam avenue and 104th street, has purchased from the estate of William Wicke, the block bounded by Kingsbridge road, Grand Boulevard and Concourse, Creston avenue and 193d street, containing about twenty lots, to be used as the site for a new building. The deal was negotiated by John N. Golding and Geo. R. Read & Company.

Bronx Block Front Deal.

Phelan Brothers' Construction Company bought from Edward Ruehl, the eight lots comprising the block front on the south side of Lafayette avenue, from Longfellow to Whittier avenues, 200 x 99; also the plot 100 x 150 at the northwest corner of Lafayette avenue and Whittier avenue. The broker was John A. Steinmetz.

Buy to Protect Light.

A. Kimbel sold, through William A. Pond Phipps, the seven-story building, Tomlins, Jr., Prospect Home Association, Brooklyn; Charles Kaiser, Bedford Association, Brooklyn.

AUCTION SALES OF WEEK.

Except where otherwise stated, the properties offered were in foreclosure. Adjournments of legal sales to next week are noted under Advertised Legal Sales.

* Indicates that the property described was bid in for the plaintiff's account.

Auction Market.

Illustrative of the marketability of New York City real estate at any and all times, regardless of whether general conditions are favorable or unfavorable, the heirs of the estate of Arthur R. Morris realized a total of $310,475, Tuesday, on holdings, improved and unimproved, in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx, and Queens. The improved properties were sold for $277,475, while vacant land in the Bronx brought $83,000.

The sale was arranged by Joseph P. Day and J. Clarence Davies for the executor, Henry Lewis Morris, and the proceeds are to be distributed among various religious, charitable and educational institutions in this city and Japan. An extensive advertising campaign resulted in the attraction of a large crowd at the Vesey street salesroom. As a result every offering was sold at what was generally considered bargain prices.

The high price for a single property was paid by Owen Tyler, of Louisville, Ky., who bought the land at the southeast corner of Third avenue and 138th street for $49,000. Nathan L. Ottinger, who has often expressed his faith in the future of 57th street, supported this belief by paying $43,800 for the two flats at 438 and 440 West 57th street.

A heavy buyer of Bronx lots was one-time State Tax Commissioner Thomas F. Byrnes, who bought twenty-four lots opposite Franz Sigel Park for $21,800. Along Mott avenue, lots brought from $1,100 to $1,800 each, while on Sheridan avenue prices ranged from $675 to $1,275. Complete results will be found below.

"Although the prices were low," said J. Clarence Davies, "when the geographical location of the lots is considered and comparison is made with prices obtained for similar properties in the immediate neighborhood, the fact that they actually were sold demonstrated that there is always a market for real estate in this city, if the owners are willing to sell cheaply."

Manhattan.

DEPARTMENTAL RULINGS.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

The following appeals and decisions have been handed down by the Board of Building Examiners:

APPEAL 166 of 1915 (new), New Building 2139 of 1915, 2245 Pitkin avenue, Brooklyn. William C. Winters, appellant.

That building does not comply with Section 109 of the Building Code.

As building is only to be used as a motion picture house and not a theatre and it is not intended to operate both floors at the same time therefore not having more than 600 people at any performance. Building is also constructed of fireproof material throughout.

Why a motion picture house should be compared with the theatre laws. We have complied with all laws and rules regarding a motion picture building for both floors, providing proper means of exit, width of stairs, doors, etc.

We consider that as building is constructed entirely of fireproof material and proper means of exit have been provided eliminate every means of danger from fire etc. Also we consider a roof garden far better than an open air motion picture that is constructed on the street level, inasmuch as there is less danger for the people taking cold from dampness, and the air being much purer.

Appearances: Wm. C. Winters and Dr. Majer.

On motion, DISAPPROVED.

APPEAL 167 of 1915, New Building 2468 of 1915, south side Dean street, 256' 6" west Rochester avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code for brick partition walls fore and aft spans exceed 26' between bearing walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. And it being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the said borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

That the distance between the main bearing walls is not over 26' and therefore no fore and aft brick partition walls are necessary.

Walls forming structure conform with Section 31 of the Building Code, in that the main bearing walls are not over 26' apart, and 8" brick cross fire wall separating front part of building from rear part of building is provided.

APPEAL 168 of 1915, New Building 2470 of 1915, 75-87 Woodruff avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code in re brick partition walls. Rest of appeal worded same as in Appeal 167 of 1915.

APPEAL 169 of 1915, New Building 2505 of 1915, south side of Glenmore avenue, 50' west Alabama avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

Wording same as in Appeal 168 of 1915.

Appearance: Abraham Reiner.

On motion, Appeals 167, 168 and 169, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 170 of 1915, New Building 2544 of 1915, southwest corner East New York avenue and Tapscott street, Brooklyn. Edward M. Adelsohn, appellant.

Violation of Section 31 of Code as to brick fore and aft partition walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. And it being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

Whether it is necessary to have fore and aft brick walls when the distance between the main bearing walls is not over 26'.

The walls forming the structure conforms to the Building Code in that the bearing walls are not over 26' apart. Also a brick wall at the stair hall separates the front part of the building from the rear part into small areas. Similar construction to that shown on the plans have been approved by the Superintendent of Buildings for the Borough of Brooklyn, numerous times, and that said construction does comply with the Building Code. All floor and roof girders and columns will be fireproofed with wire lath and 2" concrete.

Appearance: Edward M. Adelsohn.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 171 of 1915, New Building 683 of 1912, Broadway, Nassau, Pine and Cedar streets, Manhattan. E. R. Graham, appellant.

35. All trim should be incombustible in accordance with Section 105 of the Building Code. The superintendent has disapproved the material which it is proposed using.

The use of non-fireproof wood be allowed in the space to be occupied by the Bankers' Club of America as shown by plans submitted. The finish of these rooms must be the finest, which is impossible to obtain by the use of fireproofed wood.

The amount of wood involved in the proposed installation is less than one per cent. of the floor area of the building. Automatic closing shutters are being provided as shown on the plans to divide the area in which this wood is located. All the proposed wood will be hard wood and solidly backed up with fireproof material, leaving no open spaces.

Appearances: L. J. Horowitz, A. F. Gilbert and George Simpson.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that automatic self-closing fireproof doors be provided at each of the points marked "A" on the 36th floor plan.

APPEAL 172 of 1915, New Building 2340 of 1915, 245-249 Midwood street, Brooklyn. P. Tillion & Son, appellants.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code for brick partition walls fore and aft where spans exceed 26' between main bearing walls.

1. The Superintendent of Buildings has refused to approve the manner of construction and materials proposed to be used in this building.

1. Comply with Section 31 of the Code for brick partition walls fore and aft where spans exceed 26' between main bearing walls.

We believe Section 31 of the Code provides for using iron columns and girders in place of brick partition walls. We have provided an 8" brick wall across the centre of the building as a fire protection.

Appearance: Philip G. Tillion.

On motion, APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1. That a self-closing fireproof door be provided in the cellar at point marked "A" on the cellar plan.

2. That all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 173 of 1915, New Building 2240 of 1915, 23-25 Lenox road, Brooklyn. Slee & Bryson, appellants.

Denied as to Section 32 of Code—area of non-fireproof building.

Application No. 2240 for New Building for the year 1915 has been denied as to Section 32 of Code—area of non-fireproof building.

That the proposed construction of building be granted as shown on plans, i. e., brick walls, steel and concrete floors, fireproof partitions, steel girders and columns, 3" x 9" spruce roof beams, entire ceiling be covered with 26 gauge metal ½" plaster board as per Fire Department regulations, and fireproof windows on all lot lines.

The building is only one story in height; at least 75 feet away from any other building on the block; is outside of the fire limits; is to be used as an automobile storage where no gasoline is stored or kept on the premises. Further the Building Code provides for the Commissioners' option in such and similar cases as herein described, "Under Section 32."

Appearance: John R. Slee.

On motion, APPROVED, in view of the fact that the building is outside of the fire limits.

APPEAL 174 of 1915, New Building 2389 of 1915, 3101 Surf avenue, Brooklyn. George H. Suess, appellant.

Denied under Section 31 of the Code.

To approve the mode and manner of construction in regards to using steel columns and steel girders to support upper floors instead of brick wall bearing partition.

It is desired that iron columns and steel I beam girders as marked on the plans and elevations be used as a means of support of upper floors instead of brick bearing wall. Brick cross wall tiering bearing walls marked on the plans. Entire first floor is used for stores.

That this mode of construction in this case is equally good. Also, in case of the first floor, as entire first floor is used for store purposes, a brick wall would spoil all the stores as it would run right through the centre of the stores.

Appearance: Geo. H. Suess.

On motion, APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1: That an unpierced brick wall not less than eight inches thick be built at the point marked "A" on the cellar and first floor plans, to extend from the cellar floor to the underside of the roof-boards.

2: That the vestibules at the ends of the staircase halls be built of six-inch terra cotta blocks in steel framing, fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

3: That all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 175 of 1915, New Building 103 of 1915, 1103-1109 Broadway and 1-5 West 24th street, Manhattan. H. Craig Severance and Wm. Van Allen, appellants.

1. Walls are of unlawful thickness.

1. An equally good form of construction can be employed.

1. To allow the walls to be 12 in. thick above the first story as shown on the plans.

1. Skeleton frame construction being used, the walls are carried at every floor and are only 12 ft. 10 in. high.

Appearance: H. Craig Severance.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that the walls of the first story be made not less than sixteen inches in thickness.

APPEAL 176 of 1915, New Building 49 of 1915, 588 Fifth avenue, Manhattan. Alfred Freeman, appellant.

7. Proposed walls in first story and in basement are of unlawful thickness. Section 36.

That an equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

To construct side and rear walls, which shall be of skeleton type 12 in. in the first story and 16 in. in the basement and same to be carried on steel framing.

1. A 12" wall being considered as sufficient for the upper 75 feet or more on the exposed part of the building, the same should apply to the lower or less exposed part of the building.

2. The height of the first story is less than 15 feet and since the walls are supported at each story by steel beams the weight of the first story wall or the load on the lower layer of bricks is considerably less than that which would develop in the use of a 12" bearing wall carried to its lawful height.

3. This wall carries no load other than its own weight.

4. The main use of this wall is as a fire protection or protection from the elements.

5. The use of a 16" wall in the basement would be in conformity with the Code requiring that the basement wall be made 4" thicker than the wall above.

6. Since this is only an 8-story building no special features or difficulties present themselves.

Appearance: Sidney Diamant, engineer.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that the basement walls be made not less than sixteen inches in thickness.

APPEAL 177 of 1915, New Building 2631 of 1915, 390 East 4th street, Brooklyn. S. Millman & Son, appellants.

Construction does not comply with Section 31 Building Code.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

To allow the floor beams to rest on cross girders with span not over 25' 6" and to omit the construction of brick partition walls.

1. Section 31 Code does not prevent the use of steel girders for the support of floor beams.

2. An unpierced brick wall 8" thick provided midway of the building from cellar to roof.

3. S. C. F. P. D. provided in the cellar at the same time.

4. That all columns and girders supporting floor and roof beams will be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

Appearance: James J. Millman.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

BUILDING MANAGEMENT

FACTORY HEATING AND VENTILATING

By J. P. MALLETT, Society for Electrical Development

Conducted by Raymond P. Roberts, Building Manager for The American Real Estate Co.

THE installation of a heating and ventilating system in a factory is invariably considered as an expense to be reduced to its lowest terms. This is no doubt due to the fact that it does not enter directly into the manufacturing operations of the factory. It is not an actual link in the chain of production, but it can, however, have a most important control of the surrounding atmosphere, and thereby of the workmen and thus of the total production. You will find some kind of a heating and possibly ventilating system in nearly all factories—this indicates the necessity.

Artificial Heat Necessary.

In our chief manufacturing centers the winters are too cold to make it possible for the workmen to do their work efficiently, if at all, without the use of some artificial heating system. It may be stoves, located at certain points, in which case a small section about each stove is perhaps too hot with the temperature falling as the radius from the stove increases, until there is an area too cold to work in. Possibly some steam or hot water system may be used with only natural radiation where the necessary heating pipes are supported on the wall or ceiling, or it may be that some system of natural circulation of hot air is installed.

Regardless of which one of the above systems may be used for heating, it would require another system for cooling in the summer. This may be only by opening the windows, which is sometimes better than nothing, or possibly the use of fans or blowers in certain sections, if not generally. This all shows that the manufacturer finds it necessary to control the temperature and condition of the air in the factory to a sufficient degree to permit his operators to work even during the extreme cold and hot seasons. If this is necessary is it not at least desirable and better to control the temperature and quality of air to such a degree that the employees are working at maximum efficiency at all seasons?

Influencing Factors.

The class of work a person can do is determined largely by his experience and mental ability. The amount and accuracy of the work he will do depends largely upon his physical condition and his physical condition in turn depends directly upon the air he works in. The importance of proper air for the workmen cannot be too strongly emphasized. It has been proved in many plants that from 10 to 25 per cent. more work can be produced where pure air and proper temperature are provided. Ignoring the humanitarian side of the case, it will pay in dollars and cents. It means contented labor, greater immunity from disease, longer life, therefore less frequent change in the productive organization.

Good Air.

Admitting the desirability of having good air in the factory, how can we get it at a reasonable cost? To have good air we must have some method of moving it so that there will be no dead air spots and it must be possible to control the velocity with which the air is moved, as well as its temperature and quality.

There has been only one method of heating and ventilating developed, as far as I know, which gives the desired results. It is the so-called "mechanical heating and ventilating system by forced circulation."

The apparatus consists of a blower, which is usually driven by an electric motor and a bank of coils enclosed in a proper housing. For heating, the blower forces the cool air through the coils of pipes which are heated by steam or hot water. For cooling, the air is forced by the blower around between the coils of pipes through which cold water is circulated and from there the air for either purpose is forced through distributing tubes throughout the factory, with outlets at such points and in such shapes as may best direct the warm or cool air to all parts of the factory, or to such parts as may most require it. The different outlets should be supplied with dampers by means of which the amount of air escaping at any outlet can be controlled.

Bad Air.

The exact method of installing such a system will depend on the shape of the building or space to be heated or ventilated, as well as the product to be manufactured and the arrangement of the men and tools for producing same, so it is very advisable when designing a factory building to make the plans with respect to the heating and ventilating system to be used. Don't leave this important factor of an up-to-date factory building as an after consideration of little value. It is said that "bad air slows up more workers than alcohol or ill-nourishing "food" and it is unquestionably true.

The air circulated in such a system can be washed and cleansed, humidity controlled, and even revitalized by ozone made by an electric ozonator. This shows how the air in a factory can be controlled when the heating and ventilating system is such that the air can be prepared as may be desired at a given place, and then circulated throughout the factory, so that the air may be changed as frequently as conditions require.

Why should any factory be without a good heating and ventilating system, when it is known that an increase of not less than 10 per cent in output can be secured by its use? This may make just the difference between a profitable and an unprofitable business.

It can be readily understood how important this is to a factory located as many factories are, where the outside air is dirty and often saturated with odors of various kinds, which make it unpleasant and unhealthy to breathe, and it frequently contains dust which might settle on the machinery and material being manufactured, so as not only cause extra expense to remove, but prove very injurious to bearings and other working parts. Acid fumes thus carried might be not only injurious to breathe, but attack various parts of the machinery to a serious extent.

Ventilation.

With proper ventilating system, the windows and doors of the factory in such a location may be kept shut during all seasons of the year, and the air taken into the factory can be cleansed and purified and then circulated through the factory in the regular heating and ventilating ducts, and the pressure of the air being greater on the inside than the outside of the building, will prevent any large quantities of air entering the factory around the windows or other similar places; in fact nowhere except at the regular intended intake where the air is prepared according to the requirements.

It is impossible to specify here just how such a system can be installed that will meet the conditions of all factories, as practically no two factories are the same, or have the same conditions existing either inside or outside, so that each one should be considered by itself as an individual proposition.

Fundamental Factors.

There are, however, certain fundamental factors entering into any heating and ventilating problem which must be known before any definite plans can be formulated. These factors will be different from each plant, but they will hold the same relative place of importance in determining the proper heating and ventilating plan for any given factory.

First: The building; what is its shape and dimensions? Also, of what material is it constructed in its various parts?

Second: What is to be manufactured in general and in each of the different departments of the factory?

Third: What change will it be necessary to make in the quality and temperature of the air to meet the requirements of each department, and how frequently should the air be changed in each department?

Fourth: Space allowable for the heating and cooling plant and distributing pipes.

When the above factors are known a proper heating and ventilating system can be designed, cost estimated and all information necessary, furnished for such installation.

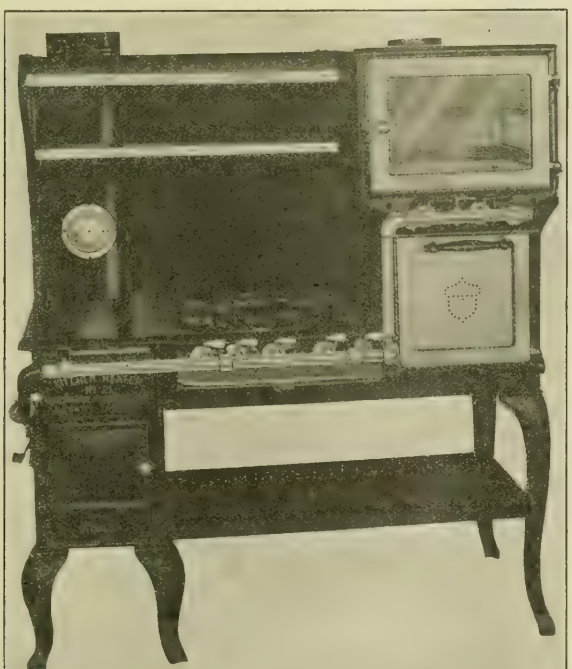
Any of the large manufacturers of heating and ventilating apparatus are glad to furnish engineering data on application with the above factors given.

John E. Eustis Elected President.

At their meeting held May 11, the directors of the Guaranteed Mortgage Company of New York elected John E. Eustis, former Public Service Commissioner, to the presidency of the company. Up to the expiration of his term as a member of the Public Service Commission for this city, in which he served for almost seven years, Mr. Eustis had worked for the municipality almost continuously over a period of many years. Among the positions held were those of school trustee, school inspector, commissioner of education and park commissioner for the Bronx. Since leaving the public Service Commission, Mr. Eustis has resumed the general practice of law. Mr. Eustis succeeds James L. Bennett, who resigned in order to devote his time to new interests in California. The directors also voted yesterday to increase the capital and surplus of the Guaranteed Mortgage Company of New York, from $350,000 to $500,000.

USEFUL APPLIANCES

Novelties, New Applications of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described Without Regard to Advertising Consideration



NEW ideas in gas ranges are being placed upon the market by enterprising manufacturers to meet the new requirements of modern apartment kitchens and kitchenettes, and it is the purpose of the Record and Guide, through the cooperation of the American Gas Light Journal, to present to our readers a series of illustrations showing the most modern gas cooking equipments that have been introduced or are about to be. The first of this series is presented herewith.

Compactness and Small Cost.

HERE is a small-sized gas range that is manufactured for use in a kitchenette of a modern apartment house where the servant problem has created a demand for a range suitable in size and capacity for the preparation of a modest breakfast or luncheon and contemplating a trip to some neighborhood restaurant for the evening meal. It will be noticed by the accompanying cut that this stove is equipped for boiling, broiling and baking, taking care of the warm cereal, the lamb chop and the hot muffin. This stove is well built and is so constructed as to make cleaning easy. Its protection by means of a rear apron and a shelf for plate warming lends much to its general attractiveness and utility.

Gas Table Specialties.

ALONG with the new styles of gas ranges are several novelty gas appliances which are shown herewith. The table set is a real step toward added comfort in the use of gas. It makes possible with gas a toaster, chafing dish and other small appliances so necessary in modern domestics. It eliminates the danger of the alcohol lamp; gives the user all the conveniences of electricity with greater efficiency and less expense.

In short, it places the owner of a gas-equipped apartment on exact par with the owner of an electrically equipped apartment. The complete set consists of table, stove, toaster, griddle or fry pan and six feet of nickel-plated metal tubing with one-eighth inch standard metal connections. The various parts can be ordered separately if desired. The stove consists of a bowl mounted on legs; resting on an eighth and ½-inch tray, also on legs. The toaster heats quickly and toasts rapidly, two slices of bread at once. The griddle is convenient for cooking cakes, chops, small steak, frying eggs, etc. Coffee percolators, tea or water kettles, sauce pans, chafing dishes, egg coddlers, etc., for the set can also be had from the same manufacturer. The cost from the manufacturer is moderate.

Family Apartment Gas Range.

THIS range is designed for an apartment occupied by a family which maintains a servant. It is constructed with the idea of doing away entirely with the coal range combining coal and gas in apartments or residences. It has real points of novelty and value.

The range shown in the illustration was built to supply the growing demand for a cabinet gas range with coal or coke heater for heating kitchens. The oven measures 18x16x12 inches and the broiler 18x12x12. The size of the cooking top is 20¼ by 33½ inches in length; over all, is fifty-two inches. The kitchen heater has a gas lighter with which it is possible to start a coal fire without kindling, and the fire box is full sized, making it possible to carry fire over night. The sheet metal parts and castings are furnished in a semi-gloss baked japanned finish. The oven doors are nickeled with glass enameled panels. This attractive combination is designed to be another step toward the "All Gas Kitchen," being but one-third coal and two-thirds gas.

Inexpensive Bath Water Heater.

HERE is a device that any apartment house owner can install for little expense and will appeal strongly to the family consisting in part of infants or invalids where hot water may be necessary during the night or where special food in small quantities has to be prepared at unusual hours. It may be installed in a nursery.

The device is shown in the accompanying illustration. It consists of a burner in a bowl attached to a wall apron of enameled iron. It is 7 inches wide and 11 inches high, and is fastened to the wall out of the way. If desired it can be attached to a board and made portable for use in a number of rooms.

Another Type of Small Range.

THERE is shown in the accompanying illustration a gas stove somewhat on the style of the one shown elsewhere on this page, but is a little larger and is of little different design, having a shelf apron at the top and a side shelf on the left. This stove is also designed for apartment houses as well as residences, but it has a deeper warming box underneath the cooking section and it has a little more nickel work on it. The type of burner is somewhat different. This stove is designed more especially for bachelor apartments, sets a little higher from the floor and the burners are of a little different design, calculated to conserve the patience of the masculine cook who has an early train to catch in the morning. This range is now ready for fall distribution.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

Prominent Corner on Murray Hill To Be Improved, With Modern Structure, for the International Correspondence School

PLANS have been completed by F. E. Townsend, architect, 103 Park avenue, for the erection of a modern store and office building at the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 40th street. This property is owned by Mrs. Lilla B. Hyde and has been leased for a term of years to the Foster Building Company, of Scranton, Pa. The new structure will be known as the Foster Building, and has been designed and will be constructed especially for use as the headquarters of the Foster Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, which will give instruction throughout the United States and Canada in dressmaking, millinery, cooking and other branches of domestic science, by the home study method. The institute is a subsidiary of the International Correspondence School and it is proposed to operate it so that it will act in the education of women largely as the International Correspondence School has functioned in the education of men throughout the country.

According to the plans and specifications the structure will be twelve stories in height with a basement and subbasement, and will occupy a plot having a frontage of 54 feet on Madison avenue and of 120 feet in East 40th street. It will be fireproof in every sense of the word and will be equipped with the latest appliances for comfort and safety. The facades have been designed in the free perpendicular Gothic style and are to be built up of Indiana limestone, face brick and ornamental terra cotta. The first two stories will be entirely of limestone, above which face brick in four colors and terra cotta, also in colors will be employed. In the spandrels of the arches in the upper stories terra cotta in the same colors as the face brick will be used. The ornamental balcony shown will be of wrought iron and terra cotta and the roof will be of green Spanish tile.

The mechanical equipment of this building has been given particular thought by the architect and engineers. High speed electric passenger and freight elevators will be installed. The building will be heated by low pressure steam from a plant located in the basement and electric current for the operation of elevators, lighting, etc., will be furnished by the New York Edison Company.

The steel engineer is Thomas J. Bird, 30 East 42nd street, and the engineer for heating, electric work, plumbing and elevators is Louis E. Eden, 1 Madison avenue. The building will be erected under general contract by the Manhattan Construction Company, 76 William street, Manhattan. This structure, exclusive of the value of the land, will represent an expenditure of approximately $400,000.

The new building will be used almost exclusively by the Foster Institute. In it will be located the New York headquarters, and the administrative offices. It will also include an instruction department where the written lessons and samples of work submitted by students will be examined and corrected. Numerous instructors will be employed in this work. In this building the Institute will also conduct demonstration schools in sewing, dressmaking, millinery and cooking, for the purpose of demonstrating to those interested the benefits to be gained through a knowledge of these subjects and the practicability of the Institute's home study method of teaching them.

Two entire floors of the new Foster building will be devoted to a demonstration dressmaking school. Another entire floor will be used as a millinery school and another will be utilized as a cooking school. This floor will be completely equipped with the most up-to-date cooking utensils and appliances for sanitation and refrigeration.

There are only comparatively few parcels in this section of Murray Hill which are not either improved with modern buildings, or under long term leases. During the last few years the character of the section has undergone a complete change, and what was once one of the finest residential sections in the city, has been given over to business.

The opposite northwest corner of Madison avenue and 40th street, also under the ownership of Mrs. Hyde, and where she maintained her residence for many years, is now under lease to the Anderson Art Galleries, which concern occupies the adjoining twelve-story building, which was erected for its occupancy. On the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 41st street, is the twelve-story structure, occupied in part by the H. W. Johns-Manville Company. The owners of the corner also control the adjoining property on the avenue and in the street, these parcels having been acquired to protect the light and air of the larger building.

On the northwest corner of Madison avenue and 38th street is the Professional Building, designed for the exclusive occupancy of doctors, dentists and others engaged in a profession. This structure was erected on a site which had an interesting history, for many years the site of a handsome residence, which was subsequently sold to a firm of builders, which started the erection of a modern office building. As a result of the resale of the property, to an adjoining owner, the erection of the building was discontinued, and the present structure built.

At the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 41st street the new establishment for Arnold, Constable & Company is in the course of construction, which will mean another notable link to the already long chain of mercantile structures in the section. The southeast corner of Madison avenue and 38th street, occupied for many years as a place of worship by the congregation of the Old South Church, was sold some time since to a firm of speculative builders, and the announcement was made that an apartment house might be erected.

Manhattan Const. Co., Builder. F. E. Townsend, Architect.

PERSPECTIVE OF THE FOSTER BUILDING.

BUILDING CODE REVISION.

Approved Ordinances.

Mayor Mitchel has approved of the ordinance to amend Article 2, Chapter 5, of the Code of Ordinances of the City of New York, entitled "Materials."

Mayor Mitchel has also approved of the ordinance to amend Article 15, Chapter 5, of the code of Ordinances, relating to Iron and Steel Construction.

Also the ordinance to amend Article 14, relating to Wood Construction.

And the ordinance to amend Article 3, relating to Working Stresses and Loads.

All the new ordinances will be found printed in full in the City Record of Tuesday, May 11.

New Factory Rules Approved.

The Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, through its Industrial Code Committee, which consists of Messrs. Julius Franke, chairman; Louis J. Horowitz, Frank A. Pattison and Evarts Tracy, approves of the proposed rules relating to the removal of dust, ashes and fumes, promulgated by the Industrial Board. These rules seem to be very proper and desirable, and apply to manufacturing in loft buildings throughout New York City. Certain recommendations were suggested by the council for a change in the requirements specified, and these recommendations were incorporated into the rules. It is of vital importance that the owners and tenants of loft buildings should be apprised as to the exact tenor of these rules, and the council advises that they obtain the same from the Labor Department. The rules of the Industrial Board, when finally approved by the Labor Department, have the force and effect of statute law, so that any violation of them is regarded in the courts as prima facie evidence of a desire to evade the law. Inasmuch as ignorance of the law excuses no one, there is every reason why property owners should have these rules and regulations of the Industrial Board on file in their offices for immediate reference.

Electric Wiring Inspections.

In the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, yesterday, there was a hearing on the proposed ordinance to make it obligatory on the part of property owners, in the erection of buildings, to pay the city for the inspection of electric wiring and the issuing of certificates.

At the present time these duties are being performed by the underwriters, who charge for the inspection, and the city and the Edison Company accept the certificates of the underwriters, with regard to the safety of the wiring. This new ordinance would add to the number of inspections of buildings, and also to the cost of administering the laws.

The Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests has been active in its opposition to the ordinance being passed and this week sent out a notice requesting property owners to appear at the hearing in order to register their protests.

As desirable as it may be for the city departments to become self-sustaining, by having property owners pay for the inspections performed upon their own buildings, nevertheless the council believes the present time is exceptionally inauspicious for increasing the financial obligations to the city on the part of real estate owners.

The council objects particularly to the features which occur in Article IV, which are as follows:

"Section 1. Fees for Permits and Certificates. The Commissioner is hereby authorized to charge for inspections, surveys, permits and certificates made or issued pursuant to this Chapter such fees as, in his judgment, may be reasonable compensation to the city therefor. A schedule showing such fees in detail shall be filed and conspicuously posted in the office of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, in which applications are filed and from which permits and certificates are delivered, and also in the office of the City Clerk.

"Section 2. The Commissioner shall on each day, except Sundays and holidays, render to the Comptroller an account under oath, of all fees collected by him pursuant to this Chapter, containing the names of the persons from whom such fees were collected and the purpose for which fees were charged respectively, and all amounts of money so collected shall be paid to the Chamberlain of the City of New York, whose receipt therefor shall be furnished to the Comptroller.

Chamber of Commerce for Rochester.

Plans are being prepared by Claude Bragdon and Foster & Gade, associated architects, Rochester, N. Y., for a new half million dollar building for the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, G. W. Todd, president, to be erected at the corner of St. Paul and Mortimer streets. The structure will be fireproof, two stories in height and will occupy a plot 92 x 112 feet. This building will be a gift to the city from George W. Eastman, president of the Eastman Kodak Co.

R. Thomas Short, architect, 17 West 44th street, is preparing plans for a post office substation to be erected in 8th street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, Brooklyn, by Thos. A. Clark Co., owner and builder, 122 Livingston street, Brooklyn. The building will be built of brick two stories in height, on a plot 60 x 100 feet. The cost is $30,000. U. S. Government, Treasury Department, has leased the building for a long term of years.

Plans for Brooklyn Hospital.

Axel Hedman, architect, 367 Fulton street, Brooklyn, is preparing plans and specifications for a new hospital structure to be erected on the southeast corner of New York avenue and Union street, by the Unity Hospital, Dr. M. A. Cohn, president. The building will be fireproof, built of reinforced concrete and brick, five stories in height. It will be built on a plot 50x100 feet. The cost is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

Court House Plans Filed.

Guy Lowell, architect, 225 Fifth avenue, filed plans with the Bureau of Buildings Thursday for the city's new $10,000,000 court house to be located on Leonard, Lafayette, Duane and Baxter streets. The structure will be circular, 385.4 feet in diameter.

Edison Service at the Gorham Company

One of the world's most exclusive firms—the Gorham Company, silversmiths—has used Edison Service for a decade. Ten years ago in September, their big Fifth Avenue building was opened with the Central Station supplying both light and power

Reliability has always been the keystone of Gorham success. And the keystone of reliability in current supply—is Edison Service. From the beginning the management of this enterprise realized the lack of fitness, the annoyance, and the host of other disagreeable features of a private plant

Our engineers are waiting to prepare an estimate for your building, without obligation. Are you ready to see them?

Modern Construction

Has One Solution

The increasing demand for beauty, permanence and economy is steadily eliminating the undesirable methods of building construction.

As less desirable materials are eliminated, the necessity for a material plastic but durable, fireproof but economical, points toward concrete construction.

To have the fullest concrete satisfaction, it is essential to use the best cement.

MARK & MOHL, INC., iron works, announces the removal of their works and office to Third av and 6th st, Brooklyn. The move to that locality, which is directly on line of the new Fourth avenue subway, is made in anticipation of the great industrial development which will take place in that part of the city so soon as the transit improvements are completed. Mark & Mohl, Inc., are makers of ornamental iron work of the better grade and of structural steel. Up to now the works have been located in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn. The concern is one of the number that has looked up and forward during the time of general depression, and as indication of its faith in the good times to come, has extended its capacity, made new installations and is preparing for New York's re-awakening.

The new plant is in a brick building, two stories high, on a plot 50x260, part of which is set aside for storage of materials. The building faces on Third avenue and there is also access to 6th st by means of a driveway, thus allowing a continuous procession of work without the necessity of handling any semi-finished materials back and forth. The most up-to-date shop construction in semi-fireproof type has been used. High headroom, perfect light by means of Bailey sash set in large openings and skylights of ample proportion and perfect sanitary arrangements characterize Mark & Mohl's new shop. One wall is almost entirely of glass, just enough masonry having been provided to carry the roof and floor construction. The drafting rooms and office on the second floor are spacious and perfectly lighted and afford all possibilities for the performance of good work. With a plant of this kind and with skilful production, special arrangements and especially adapted machinery which it has, Mark & Mohl, Inc., look forward with certainty to a share in the prosperity that is surely coming to our city.

BRONX CHAMBER OF COMMERCE will hold its regular meetings in the Walworth Building, Bergen avenue and 149th street, on the fourth Saturday of each month.

NATIONAL ELECTRIC LIGHT ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in San Francisco, Cal., June 7-11. T. C. Martin, 29 West 39th st, N. Y. C., secretary.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MASTER STEAM AND HOT WATER FITTERS will hold its twenty-seventh annual convention in Milwaukee, Wis., June 21-25.

NEW JERSEY MASTER PLUMBERS' ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in the Second Regiment Armory, Trenton, N. J., May 25-27.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON CITY PLANNING will be held in Detroit, Mich., June 7-9. Secretary, Flavel Shurtleff, 19 Congress st, Boston, Mass.

NATIONAL RETAIL HARDWARE ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in St. Paul, Minn., June 22-24. Secretary, M. L. Corey, Argos, Ind.

HERBERT ADAMS, 131 West 11th st, has been elected president of the National Sculptors' Society, to succeed Karl Bitter, who died recently as the result of an automobile accident.

NATIONAL DISTRICT HEATING ASSOCIATION will hold its seventh annual convention in Chicago, Ill., June 1-3. Headquarters at the Hotel Sherman. Secretary, D. L. Gaskill, Greenville, O.

NEW YORK CHAPTER, AMERICAN SOCIETY OF HEATING AND VENTILATING ENGINEERS, regular meeting third Monday of each month, Engineering Societies' Building, 29 West 39th st.

ILLUMINATING ENGINEERING SOCIETY will hold its ninth annual convention at the new Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C., September 20-23. E. S. Marlow, Potomac Electric Power Co., Washington, D. C., is the chairman of the convention committee.

AMERICAN IRON, STEEL & HEAVY HARDWARE ASSOCIATION will hold its sixth annual convention from May 25 to 28, at San Francisco, Cal., headquarters will be the St. Francis Hotel. Secretary-treasurer, John G. Purdie, Marbridge Building, New York City.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS' ASSOCIATION of the United States will hold its fifteenth annual convention in San Francisco, July 21-24. Secretary, George H. Duffield, 41 Martin Bldg., Utica, N. Y.

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MUNICIPAL ELECTRICIANS will hold its annual convention at Cincinnati, O., August 24 to 27. Headquarters will be at the Gibson Hotel. Secretary, Clarence R. George, Houston, Tex.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS will hold its twentieth annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, May 25 and 26. Manufacturers from all parts of the United States will assemble to discuss the effects of the year's political and economic developments, internal and international, on their business. Among those who will address the convention are ex-President Taft and Senator Harding of Ohio. The subject of Mr. Taft's address will be "The Clayton Act and Other Things."

CEMENT PRODUCTS EXHIBITION CO., of Chicago, held its annual meeting Tuesday, May 11, at which the following officers were elected: B. S. Affleck, president; A. Y. Gowen, vice-president; Robt. F. Hall, secretary; J. U. C. McDaniel, treasurer. The directors elected were as follows: B. F. Affleck, J. P. Beck, W. E. Cobean, Wm. Dickinson, A. Y. Gowen, Edward M. Hagar, Robt. F. Hall, D. McCool and J. U. C. McDaniel.

ASSOCIATED MANUFACTURERS OF ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES have appointed a committee to consider and recommend to the Board of Governors a general secretary for the association. The committee consists of D. C. Durland, Sprague Electric Works, New York; W. A. Gennor, Standard Underground Cable Company, Perth Amboy, N. J., and J. E. Way, R. Thomas & Sons Company, New York.

HERMAN H. SCHMIDT, chief engineer of the Brooklyn Bureau of Highways, was elected president of the newly-formed New York Civil Service Association at its meeting held in Manhattan Tuesday evening, May 11. The name of the organization was changed to the New York Municipal Club. Moses Altman, secretary of the Charter Revision Committee of the Board of Estimate, was elected vice-president; Robert Farrell, of the Borough of Queens office, secretary, and George Stansfield, of the Department of Public Charities, treasurer.

ASSOCIATED ADVERTISING CLUBS.—Chicago will be the scene of the eleventh annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World which meets June 20 to 24. President Wilson, war conditions permitting, will head the list of speakers. Hon. William Jennings Bryan, John H. Fahey, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Henry Watterson, George Horace Lorimer, ditor of the Saturday Evening Post, and Arthur Brisbane are among others of national prominence who have promised to address the sessions. On the Sunday preceding the formal opening of the convention, fifty business men of country wide reputation will deliver lay sermons in Chicago churches. New features include a conference of the teachers of advertising and another of the secretaries of advertising clubs. Departmental meetings of men in the several fields of work give opportunity for a discussion of the problems of various phases of advertising, an arrangement which reflects the new freedom in business.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

MOVEMENT TO LIMIT MANUFACTURERS' SALES TO DEALERS ONLY EXTENDS FROM NEW YORK TO EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA

Common Brick Prices Advance—Cement Raise Looked Forward To—Oil Up

FOR the purpose of protecting the building material dealers of New York, New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania a movement is on foot to induce manufacturers of building materials not to sell to any one who is not, strictly speaking, a dealer. The latest development in this direction was in the form of a special meeting of the Building Material Dealers of Eastern Pannsylvania at the Hotel Walton, Philadelphia, Tuesday, when the big cement companies not only agreed with the idea, but sent their representatives there to further the plan and to induce their dealer customers to join.

This action followed the movement taken by New Jersey and New York dealers several weeks ago, when a similar call was sent out and the manufacturers at that time did as they did in Philadelphia, this week, endorsed and promised to further the enterprise. The three states are now practically a unit in the matter of protecting the dealer against outside buying to the end that the builder may derive more protection in the matter of quality of materials supplied against the operations of so-called "Shoe string" builders, men who prey upon unsuspecting builders by telling them they can buy material cheap and build cheaper than regular supply men can put the materials in their yards.

In order to fully protect the dealer and the consumer it has been necessary to eliminate all contractors from membership in the association. If a contractor desires to buy cement, for instance, from the manufacturer, he will have to pay the five cents a barrel differential now allowed as commission to the dealer, so that it will not profit him to buy outside of his own home town.

This will not increase in the least the cost of building construction save to those who have been inclined to contract with men who have no rating as dealers. Quality is thus insured to the consumer, whereas under the former conditions he has been attracted by a special bargain price which has resulted, in some cases, in failure of concrete structures of more or less serious character. The plan is now in operation in the metropolitan districts of New York, Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia and Scranton.

Prices of materials in the New York metropolitan district are somewhat firmer, led by common Hudson brick, which has moved to $6.50 a thousand, wholesale, N. Y. Portland cement prices are without change, the bottom quotation being $1.23 and the top $1.33. Further stiffening is shown in iron and steel for future delivery, and in art metals there is a very firm tone. Sand and gravel is steady at the same quotations ruling at the first of the month. Roofing paper is somewhat firmer because of the difficulty of obtaining Canadian wood pulp and rags and the lack of bottoms for asphaltum freight from South America. Paints are stiffening perceptibly, as the price of colors and linseed oil keeps high. Linseed oil is now at 67 and 68 cents a gallon, an advance of eight cents in the last five weeks. The top is not yet reached, say the distributing trade here.

The condition at the Portland cement mills in the Hudson and Lehigh districts is still of a character to warrant concern regarding the supply three months hence. There are now 188 kilns in operation.

The condition of the Hudson river common brick supply is such as to indicate general resumption of brick manufacture up the river by June 1. Many of the yards started to clear and get ready for brick making today. There is a general belief that the early spring decision to reduce output this year to something like 60 per cent. of capacity will undergo revision in view of the drain on the reserve supply that has developed in the metropolitan district since April 1. Manufacturers say they can make expenses by selling brick at $6.50, and so, in order to counteract the low price of Portland cement in this market it is not considered probable that the price for this commodity will go higher between now and August 1, when the price of Portland cement is expected to move up to points nearer normal levels.

Following is the summary of new building plan filings in the five boroughs this week. In the corresponding week last year 289 new building plans were filed at a total estimated value of $2,699,040.

	Week ending May 7.		May 14.
Manhattan...	6	$1,016,550	12	$10,976,375
Bronx.....	40	1,329,600	19	780,200
Brooklyn.....	94	917,750	100	780,800
Queens.....	133	492,130	105	289,080
Richmond....	43	55,555	14	44,326
Total.....	316	$3,811,585	250	$12,870,781

This action does not signify any tendency upon the part of the dealers or manufacturers to advance the price of cement to consumers. It is a movement merely to protect the dealers 5 cents a barrel differential in the price of cement sold to consumers. The plan is to charge builders or users of cement like big concrete contractors the price that dealers ordinarily would charge them. The matter of classifying mail order houses selling cement and building materials was referred to a special committee by President George P. Erich, of Allentown, which will report at the annual meeting to be held in February at Philadelphia. About 128 dealers attended the meeting.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

More Than 188 Kilns Now Reported in Operation.

REPORTS from the cement manufacturers' centers supplying this market are to the effect that there are now probably more than 188 kilns in operation to meet the constantly increasing demand for this material. There are conflicting rumors regarding the maw into which this great quantity of cement is being fed, but it is a settled fact that practically none of this excess output is going into reserve mill bins. It is stated that even the clinker capacity of the leading mills is being taxed to meet the current demand for finished material and there is, in consequence, comparatively little clinker on hand.

April shipments greatly exceeded those for March, which were far in excess of those for any preceding month this year, from the Lehigh district. An unconfirmed report has it that the April shipments were 13 per cent. in excess of those for March, which were, in turn, 30 per cent. in excess of those for March, 1914. The shipments from the Lehigh district in April were slightly above normal for that month. Local dealers have worked off their supplies bought during the crux of the price war in early February and middle March and the indications are that there will be a continued heavy demand for Portland cement in May, especially when pending concrete road contracts are awarded and work begins.

COMMON BRICK.

Some Manufacturers Now Have Kilns Under Way.

SOME manufacturers up the Hudson have kilns under construction for the first 1915 burn. There is sufficient brick up the river to take care of present demands, so most of the manufacturers are building large kilns, indicating that there is a well defined tendency not to rush the local market beyond what the traffic will bear. Prices here at present for the best Hudson brick range between $6.25 and $6.50, with small likelihood of there being a further advance.

The movement of brick from the West 52d street wholesale docks in the last week has been exceptionally heavy in view of the retarded movement noticeable heretofore this year, but a week's sale of sixty bargeloads is only normal for this time of the year and has no special significance. An abnormal week of sales would total between 80 and 90 bargeloads. Practically all of the brick being sold is moving direct to jobs, which is an encouraging sign.

New brick cannot arrive in this market before June 5, even with good weather conditions. If there is a spell of bad weather with much rain and little sunshine the arrival of 1915 brick will be postponed accordingly. The Raritan brick market is firm to strong and $6.50 top is said to be stiff.

Official transactions for Hudson River brick covering the week ending Thursday, May 13, in the wholesale market, with comparison for the corresponding period last year and a comparative statement of Hudson brick unloaded from barges for consumption here, follows:

ART METALS.

Advance in Price of Copper and Brass Boosts Quotations.

SHARP advances in the price of copper and sheet brass have led manufacturers of art brass goods, and irons, etc., to consider a further boost in catalog quotations. The Janusch Manufacturing Company followed the lead last week of the F. H. Graf Manufacturing Company and of the Peerless Manufacturing Company and have jumped their prices 10 per cent.

Iron prices have also stiffened which affects even ordinary wrought iron and irons and fireplace goods. This includes ornamental iron work, although the average iron worker has been loath to mark his catalogue quotations up because there are still some who desire to shade for new desirable business. Copper sheets held this week at 24c base as against 18 cents when the art metal manufacturers first advanced their prices and sheet brass was quoted at 20¼ and 20½ as against 17 cents in the first part of April.

IRON AND STEEL.

Small Fabricated Orders Coming Out in This Territory.

IRON and steel orders are developing some strength, primarily, however, in numerous small order quantities, among them an order for about 500 tons for the Equitable building owing to some changes in the interior construction of the building. The fabricating shops are fairly busy as a whole.

Conditions in the metropolitan district indicate a strengthening tone to the foundry iron situation, showing that ornamental iron interests are increasingly active. Steel works are buying more low phosphorus iron. There is a great deal of galvanized iron pipe being bought by speculative interests in anticipation of still further advances in the cost of spelter which affects galvanized products of all kinds. The second half of the year price list reads as follows for tidewater delivery:

	Cents per lb.
No. 1 X foundry northern	14.25 and 14.75
No. 2 X foundry northern	14.00 and 14.50
No. 2 plain foundry	13.75 and 14.25
Gray forge foundry	13.25 and 13.75
Basic northern	13.00 and 13.50
No. 1 foundry southern	14.00 and 14.50
No. 2 foundry southern	13.75 and 14.25
No. 1 soft southern	14.00 and 14.50
No. 2 soft southern	13.50 and 14.00
Gray forge	13.00 and 13.25

JOIN WITH N. Y. DEALERS.

Eastern Pennsylvania Interests to Cooperate for Protection.

FOLLOWING a conference held here a few weeks ago when the dealers in building material supplies put up to the manufacturers of Portland cement and other materials the necessity of drawing a tight line between dealers and contractors in the matter of price, the Eastern Pennsylvania dealers at the Hotel Walton in Philadelphia on Tuesday met and received the pledges of co-operation from the Atlas, Lehigh, Coplay, Allentown, Alpha, Vulcanite Bath and other Portland cement companies.

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.

HOW REAL ESTATE RECORDS ARE KEPT

The Early Libers Were Written in Dutch—Purpose of the Register's Office—Changes and Improvements in 1914.

TO those not interested in real estate the work done yearly at the office of the Register of the County of New York means little or nothing, but to others it is of prime importance. Accuracy and speed are two essentials, and that mistakes are almost unknown is due to the system which has been evolved from the one hundred and three years' experience, since the recording office was established.

Prior to 1812 the records affecting real estate were kept by the County Clerk. At that time the county was about one hundred and fifty years old, and about one hundred volumes were necessary to keep the records. These were transferred in 1812 to the care of the Register, and the records, with the exception of a few of the early libers, are now continuous from 1654, during the Dutch regime, to the present day. It is interesting to note that some of the first libers are written in the Dutch language.

Hon. John J. Hopper, the Register of New York County, in his statement and report showing the changes and improvements made in the department during 1914, gives much valuable as well as interesting information, covering as it does the early history of the Register's office down to the present time.

Records Written by Hand.

Until about 1898, the records were written by hand in large volumes, each book containing from 500 to 700 pages. These libers would contain from two to three hundred instruments, each of which was copied out at length. In the early days there were not many instruments, so those recorded were easily located, but to-day there are upwards of two million instruments, of various kinds, on file. There are about one hundred thousand lots in New York County, so that, on an average, there are about twenty instruments which make up the title to each lot. To find the particular twenty instruments, out of the two million on record, is the object of title "searching" and so simply that search is the purpose of indexing.

Each liber is separately indexed, by placing the names in alphabetical order in the back of the book. Later special index books were supplied. The alphabetical system continued until 1891, at which time there were about one million two hundred thousand instruments on record. It has been estimated that not less than four million separate name entries were indexed. The result of this system was an enormous aggregation of names under each letter.

In 1856 the indexes contained about six hundred thousand names and an effort was made to correct the evils resulting from the cumbersome system in vogue. A new alphabetical index was arranged, in which the names for the entire period prior to 1856 were arranged in exact directory order. This system was a decided improvement over the one in force up to that time, and shortened the time required for searching titles.

The agitation for improved indexes

HON. JOHN J. HOPPER,
Register of New York County.

was actively renewed in 1885. At that time about one million instruments were on record and searching conditions were almost intolerable. As a result a Commission was appointed and a measure providing for the block system was passed in 1889 and went into effect January 1, 1891. The law was defective, inasmuch as it did not provide for the re-indexing of the great mass of instruments recorded prior to 1891. A re-indexing law was passed in 1892 and again in 1893 but nothing was done until the organization of the Reindexing Department in 1910.

When first organized the only duty of the Register was to receive real property instruments, record them "at length" and index them. This is still the primary duty of the Register, but in recent years the responsibilities and duties of the office have been greatly increased and broadened. In addition to the current recording and indexing, the Register attends to the satisfaction of mortgages; he receives chattel mortgages, of which more than one hundred thousand are filed and indexed annually; he collects the mortgage tax, which amounts to about $2,000,000 a year; he is also responsible for recopying and certifying old and mutilated records, and also for the locality reindexing of all old records. The Register is also the Registrar o titles under the Land Title Registration Act, commonly called the Torrens Law.

Three Classes of Instruments.

Real property instruments are divided into three main classes: (1) conveyances, (2) mortgages, and (3) miscellaneous papers. These three classes are each given a separate series of filing numbers, record and index books. Within each classification are a variety of instruments. For example: In the conveyance libers are placed deeds, leases, assignments of leases, releases, party wall agreements, trust agreements and similar instruments. The mortgage libers contain mortgages, assignments of mortgages, extension agreements, participation agreements and the like. Among the miscellaneous papers are found general trust mortgages, general conveyances and releases of decedents' estates, and other papers general in character. During last year there were recorded 12,138 conveyances, 12,163 mortgages and 852 miscellaneous papers.

About one hundred papers are received daily for record and to obtain the highest economy of administration a routine has been established so that each division receives an entire day's work to handle. The daily steps for the original instruments are as follows:

Division of the Work.

First Day. The instruments are taken in and pass the notary clerk, the mortgage tax, the receiving clerk, the cashier, the tickler index and the bookkeeper. Each instrument receives its serial number and minute of record, and is abstracted, examined and located by block and lot.

Second Day. Each instrument is copied at length by typewriter in the record libers and the liber and page are noted.

Third Day. The Examining Division compares the typewritten record with the original paper and corrects all errors.

Fourth Day. The Block Index Division completes and verifies the entries in the block index, first written from the abstract slips, which are then sent to the Alphabetical Index Division for use in preparing that index.

Fifth Day. The original papers are sent to the Executive Office for the signature and certificate of the Register. They are entered in the delivery book and delivered by mail, or otherwise, as requested.

The routine of procedure has been so worked out that there is hardly any variation in actual operation. A person recording a paper knows that it will be returned to him at the end of the fifth day without the necessity of making any special request.

Mr. Hopper states that the systematic handling of an entire day's work each day and thus keeping the work up to date does not add to the cost, but on the contrary results in distinct saving.

Use of Typewriters.

The use of typewriters and of the abstract method in indexing current instruments and for checking accuracy was begun early in 1914. Formerly both the block index and the alphabetical index were prepared in preliminary form in "blotters." These were afterwards copied in the permanent books. The use of temporary blotters was discontinued in 1914 and indexing is now made directly into the final books. This system resulted in reducing, by nearly one-half, the staff engaged in preparing these two indexes. The clerks so relieved were assigned to other work.

The budget for 1914, which was prepared before Mr. Hopper went into office, was $304,468.40, a considerable reduction from 1913, due to the withdrawal of Bronx County, which was effective January 1, 1914. The total amount spent in 1914 was $279,277.65. The difference represents a money saving to the city, of which $14,956.62 was saved in salary accounts, $10,206.50 in wages of temporary employees, and $27.63 in supplies, making a total saving of $25,190.75, which was returned to the City Treasury in unexpended balances.

Budget Appropriation.

The total appropriation allowed in the budget for 1915 is $291,392.25, a decrease of $13,076.15 from that allowed for 1914. A great deal of extra work done during 1914, and continued into 1915, was made necessary by the fact that work was allowed to fall behind at certain points in years gone by, and because errors crept into the indexes due to inadequate methods of checking. Beginning with 1914 the record and index entries for each instrument are cross checked in such a manner that it will not be necessary at any future time to go over the indexes again.

An instrument once recorded cannot be altered except by re-execution. A wrong block may be corrected by paying a small fee, but if the error is in the body of the instrument it must be re-recorded. This, however, is usually a simple matter, if the transaction is fresh, whereas if allowed to remain unnoticed, years might go by, parties move away or die, and a defect in the title result. A record of each error and its manner of correction is kept upon a card or on the abstract slip.

Standardization of Forms.

Every instrument is copied "at length" in a liber. A majority of the instruments are on printed forms. During 1914 a record was kept and it was found that about 46 per cent. of the contents of conveyances and 66 per cent. of mortgages are printed matter. If the varying forms furnished by different printers were the same, the Register's office could have printed pages prepared corresponding to these standard forms and so save copying the printed parts. The copying is paid for by piece work, at the rate of five cents a hundred words. The sum of $27,000 was allowed for this work in 1915. About one-half of this amount could be saved annually. As already announced in the Record and Guide, to accomplish this requires other legislation compelling the use of standard forms, or an agreement among printers and conveyancers.

A Transfer to the Bronx.

The formation of Bronx County reduced to some extent the revenues of the New York County Register's office, and the number of its employees. A transfer of the conveyances and other instruments, contained in 1711 volumes, to Bronx County, was made last July. A transfer of 1730 filed maps was made last August and 176 filed maps in October, all affecting Bronx property.

Many attorneys and conveyancers have expressed their approval of the new system of examining instruments immediately upon their receipt and advising those interested of any discovered errors or omissions.

POPULATION VERSUS REPRESENTATION

An Argument for a Geographical Division of the State—Discrimination Against New York City

MUCH has been said relative to the subject of "Population Versus Representation," and in this connection Joseph S. Wood, member of the Westchester Bar, has compiled the following statistics, which bear upon the subject:

"The population of the City of New York, in 1910 and 1914, together with that of the balance of the State, is given in the following table, which also includes an estimate of what the population will be in 1929.

	New York City.	Rest of State.	Whole State.
1910.....	4,766,833	4,346,777	9,113,614
1914.....	5,583,871	4,540,719	10,124,590
1920.....	7,000,000	4,890,000	11,890,000

"Today the City of New York contains more than 1,000,000 inhabitants than the rest of the Empire State. In the State Senate it has only 21 members, out of 51, and in the Assembly, only 64, out of 150. If representation in the Legislature were based on population, New York City would have 28 senators out of 51, and 83 assemblymen out of 150. If the total numbers of senators and assemblymen are not changed, New York City should have, on the same basis, in 1920, 31 senators out of 51 and 90 assemblymen out of 150. This the State Constitution prohibits.

Voters and Representation.

"If representation should be based on the number of voters, then the figures to be considered are as follows:

	Total Number of Voters.	Male Aliens over 21 Years.
New York City....	923,077	510,675
Rest of the State..	1,194,776	208,248
Totals	2,117,853	718,920

"These figures are taken from the United States census of 1910. On the basis of voters only, New York City should, in 1910, have had 22 senators, instead of 21, and 65 assemblymen instead of 64. On this basis of actual voters, New York City had, in 1910, virtually all the representation in the Legislature it was entitled to. In 1914, however, allowing the same percentage of male aliens 21 years old as in 1910, the City of New York should have had 1,083,261 voters, and the rest of the State 1,248,698. The city, therefore, should have had, in 1914, 24 senators instead of 21, and 70 assemblymen instead of 64. In like manner it can be shown that in 1920 New York City will have 1,358,000 voters, and the rest of the State 1,344,750; so, in 1920 the city should have 26 senators instead of 21, and 76 assemblymen instead of 64. Thus, on the basis of the actual number of male voters, the minority in this State will, unless the Constitution is changed, rule the majority in the Legislature, on and after 1920.

Divide the State.

"New York State has an area of 49,170 square miles, of which 326 are in the city. It would be absurd and unjust to permit the voters who live in 326 square miles of the southeastern corner of the State, to regulate the affairs of those who live on 48,844 square miles, some parts of which are 300 miles from New York City. It is equally unjust and absurd that a minority of the voters in the whole State should be permitted, after 1920, to regulate the affairs of New York City. What then should be done? The answer is: Divide the State.

"My suggestion is let New York City, the rest of Long Island and the whole of Westchester County be one State and the remainder of New York State the other. Rhode Island has only 1,250 square miles, and is only 50 miles long and 35 miles wide. Hamburg and Bremen are independent States of the German Empire, the former having 160 square miles, with a population of 1,000,000, and the latter less than 100 miles, and a population of less than 300,000.

"There are only two States in the Union, outside of New York, having a population of more than 5,000,000 each, namely Pennsylvania, with nearly 8,000,000, and Illinois, with less than 6,000,000.

Assessed Values.

"The assessed valuation of all real estate in the Union, in 1913, was $50,290,126,002, of which $7,861,898,890, or nearly one-sixth, was levied on New York City. None of the States in the Union, except New York, has an assessed valuation of real estate aggregating more than $5,208,131,631. The assessed valuation of New York State is greater than that of twenty-four States in the Union combined, and these States have forty-eight United States Senators.

"In 1914, the assessed valuation of New York State realty was $10,900,260,883, of which $8,007,647,861 was in the city, or, in other words, 73 per cent. of the taxable real estate in the State is located in New York City. Yet the city has only 41 per cent. of the State Senate and 42¾ per cent. of the Assembly.

Personal Property.

"The ratio of the value of personal property in the city to that of the rest of the State is greater than that of the real estate. New York City has about one-sixth in value of the real estate in the Union; it has fully one-fifth, if not one-fourth, of the personal property therein.

"It may be difficult to obtain a division of the State and it may be unwise to do so, on account of the question of water supply for the city. There is another way of doing justice to some extent, and that is by dividing the State into two tax districts. Let New York City be one and the rest of the State the other.

Two Tax Districts.

"In 1912 the State spent $42,354,612.99, as follows:

For Education.....	$9,646,044.29
Agriculture	2,631,729.51
Conservation, etc.	3,015,904.48
Highways and Public Works	4,772,916.95
Hospitals	8,622,839.97
Charities	4,024,726.41
	$32,714,161.61
Executive & Administration.	$3,588,102.53
Legislative	2,047,420.09
Judiciary	1,757,922.11
Prisons	2,247,011.97
	$42,354,012.97

"Out of the $9,646,044.29 for education, the city received, in 1912, the sum of $2,198,070.79, leaving $7,447,973.50, which was paid over to the cities and school districts of the rest of the State. As New York City paid at least 75 per cent. of the whole, which is $7,234,533.22, and received only $2,198,070.79, it follows that the city paid $5,036,462.43 for the education of the children in the rest of the State.

"Out of the $32,714,161.61 spent by the State for education, agriculture, conservation, highways, public works, hospitals and charities, at least 75 per cent. was paid by the city, which amounts to $24,535,621.21. Out of this the city received for schools $2,198,070.79, which means that the city paid, for the benefit of the rest of the State $22,347,550.42. The city may have some patients in the State hospitals and asylums for the insane and their maintenance should be charged to the city.

"Let each tax district pay for what it gets, and let the State expenses which are general, such as the Executive, Legislative and Judicial, be apportioned in the two districts by the State Tax Commissioners."

An Adverse Recommendation.

Alfred Craven, Chief Engineer of the Public Service Commission, has made a report against the proposed connection of the West Farms branch of the existing subway with the proposed elevated extension of the Lexington avenue subway running through Westchester avenue, in the Bronx. He holds that such a connection would disarrange the traffic scheme for the Bronx and reduce the ability of the West Farms branch to serve its own territory.

"OLDEST" LANDMARK TO BE MODERNIZED

As the Result of the Sale of Historic Site, Dwelling Will Be Reconstructed to Fill Up-to-date Requirements

WHAT is probably one of the oldest houses in the Van Cortlandt, Riverdale and Fieldston districts, was sold recently, as already reported, by the Delafield Estate to Willett R. Skillman, who is to occupy the premises, after extensive alterations which amount practically to reconstruction, under the supervision of Dwight James Baum, architect, Waldo avenue and 246th street. The house is located on the Albany post road, just north of the old southerly line of the Philipse Manor.

The house antedates the famous Van Cortlandt mansion in Van Cortlandt Park, and is so old that the exact date of its erection is not known. Around it are linked a number of historical associations which make it one of the most interesting landmarks, binding present New York with the past. It is estimated to have been built two hundred years ago and represents the type of construction of a period when building materials and methods of construction were almost primitive in their simplicity. The structure seems to have been the guardhouse at the southerly entrance to the manor. Tradition has it that it was occupied by the commander of the American army in the days of the Revolutionary War, during the fighting in the section north of New York City. Another old story holds that during these exciting days, George Washington spent a night under its roof. The present tenant has been on the premises for thirty-five years.

REVOLUTIONARY LANDMARK IN RIVERDALE SECTION.

The house, in its present condition, presents an interesting study, representing, as it does, in plan and style, an era even before the Revolution. The main portion is about twenty-four feet square and is built of rough stone walls, more than two feet thick, laid up in lime, which is, in the main, mud. Originally its northern division, which is now built of wood, was a small stone annex.

Owner Since 1829.

This part was razed in 1815 and the present wooden or higher portion erected. The property came into the possession of the Delafield family in 1829.

All the materials are hand made; the beams are hand hewn and the nails of wrought iron. The laths were also made by hand and consist of long strips split from rough hewn timbers. The supports on the first floor are about ten inches square, those on the second floor, approximate four inches by six inches. The roof rafters are five inches wide by four inches deep, as compared with two inches wide by six inches deep custom-army in use at the present day.

One of the unique details noted in connection with the layout of the interior is a slender partition built entirely of stone separating the old kitchen from the dining-room. Its thickness including several coats of whitewash, laid from time to time, is only five and one-half inches. No one has been able to explain the reason for this type of interior partition and the only plausible cause advanced is that it was constructed to divide the two rooms. Nothing corresponding to it has been found in any of the old landmarks which also represent antiquated types of building construction.

Heavy Floor Timbers.

The flooring consists of boards about ten inches wide, and from one and a half to two inches thick; the wear of two centuries has caused, at various points, spots nearly worn through. From the kitchen there is still a ladder which leads to a small room under the roof, containing one window, two feet square. This space was originally used for slave quarters. The greater part of the southern side is taken up by a huge chimney which makes the wall at this end four feet thick. It opens into an old Dutch oven in the kitchen and a five foot wide fireplace in the dining-room and in the bedroom above. There are two fireplace openings of simple lime-mortar finish with hearths of huge flagstones which have been so used that in places they resemble the rocks worn down by the ceaseless onrush of waters in the bed of a creek. The chimney is topped by brick, probably brought over from Holland.

Wrought Iron Hinges Used.

Both on the east and west sides of the house are porches with square post columns. These are to be saved and used when the building is reconstructed. On the blinds are ancient wrought iron strap hinges of crude make, probably the handiwork of the old-time village blacksmith. These will be duplicated and added to, as part of the reconstruction work.

As much as possible of the old building will be retained and preserved, as outlined by Mr. Baum. The only exterior change will be the lowering of the roof of the wooden or newer section, painting the clap-boards of the new portion white, a similar treatment of the downstairs blinds and the adding of new shutters along the old lines on the upper portion of the house. The old stone work is to be repointed with white mortar. When completely remodelled, the house will represent as near as possible an old New England prototype.

A small new kitchen wing is to be added on the south, with a breakfast porch at the southeast. The present old kitchen will be utilized as a pantry. The old stairs of black walnut connecting the first and second floors are to remain intact, while in the northerly part of the house a living-room porch is to be built. All these porches will have original columns and the new ones required will be remodelled after the old.

One of the most interesting features in connection with this ancient dwelling house is an unusual growth of vines. These have become so heavy and strong through years of steady and uninterrupted growth that they have forced themselves between the stonework and can even be seen in some of the rooms. In one place, they have raised a section of the roof rafters.

The house, of course, has the old Colonial garden, typical of all the old-time residences. The old grape arbor has also grown to a remarkable degree; some of the bushes have trunks the size of a full grown tree and one has followed a fence for more than a hundred feet.

Along the line of the road stretches a row of giant boulders and a stone wall about three feet high, which is said to have once marked the southern boundary of the old Philipse Manor. As part of the reconstruction a low quaint white picket fence is to be added to the top, which will serve to make the old gray wall even more picturesque. About a hundred feet from the house there is a famous spring which has been in use for a great many years. It is guarded by a huge, equally famous, frog, who has been there in the memory of the oldest residents. He gazes placidly on every curious onlooker within a reasonably safe radius, and vanishes in the depths of the pool at the least approach of danger. In back of the spring is the old Dogwood brook, so called on account of the great number of dogwood trees along its banks.

Crude Construction.

The house, with its crude construction which has resisted the wear and tear of the winters of two centuries and its picturesque surroundings, exemplifies the charm and mystery which every old landmark holds for the imaginative observer. These impressions are intensified by the picturesque wildness of the surrounding country and the almost virginal character of the woodland stretching in every direction, away from the old building.

The Riverdale section has many other historic houses still standing, and is full of Revolutionary lore. Organizations, which have for their object the preservation of relics, a few years ago made a thorough canvass of the section, trying to locate furniture and other things which would serve to perpetuate the memories of past days, and the efforts were rewarded in many instances. The old Van Cortlandt mansion, in the park bearing that name, is used as a museum for the exhibition of these antiques.

WHAT CITY PLANNING HAS DONE FOR NEW YORK

Work of the New York City Improvement Commission and How Far Its Ambitious Plans Have Been Carried Out*

By NELSON P. LEWIS

VARIOUS schemes have been put forward for modifying the plans of those portions of the city already mapped, but none of them has had the official character of those proposed by the New York City Improvement Commission, created by ordinance of the Board of Aldermen in December, 1903, in a report which was submitted in January, 1907.

This report was accompanied by a number of plans, most of which were commendable, but some of them were ambitious and extravagant beyond possibility of realization, while some of them also ignored conditions which then existed or improvements then under way which would have rendered their execution impossible.

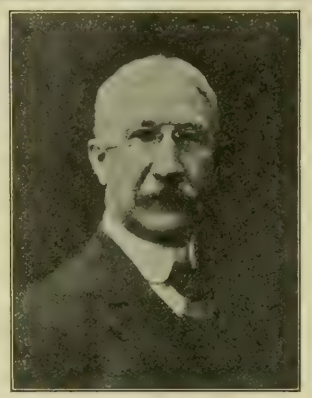
No attempt will be made to describe or even to enumerate all the different projects suggested in this report. Some of them have already been carried out or are under way. Among these, the following may be noted:

The widening of the roadway of Fifth avenue by setting back the curb and the removal of encroachments beyond the building line. Not only has Fifth avenue been treated in this way, but a great number of other streets in the Borough of Manhattan.

The New Seventh Avenue.

The southerly extension of Seventh avenue and the widening of Varick street in order to furnish a much needed continuous thoroughfare on the west side of Manhattan: This project was under consideration by the Board of Estimate before the commission submitted its report, and a special report had been made by the chief engineer of the board, dealing not only with the Seventh avenue and Varick street improvement, but with a number of other changes relating to this part of Manhattan.

The extension of Grand street and the widening of Roebling street in the Borough of Brooklyn: These improvements have been entirely carried out and had been incorporated in the plan of the city before the commission made its report. Their purpose was to furnish a system of adequate approaches to the Brooklyn end of the Williamsburg Bridge.



The widening of Thompson avenue in the Borough of Queens: This improvement is now under way on a more comprehensive scale than was suggested in the report of the commission. The street is two hundred feet in width instead of one hundred and sixty feet, as suggested in the report, and extends all the way to Jamaica.

An Ambitious Project.

The creation of a civic center in the Borough of Manhattan: While the commission made no very specific recommendation on this subject, the selection of a site for the new court house of such proportions as to permit the grouping about it of other buildings and connecting it with the City Hall Park, is probably a more ambitious project than the commission had in mind.

Certain other projects suggested by the commission have been at various times discussed by the Board of Estimate, and some of them have gone as far as the preparation and consideration of specific plans, but no action has been taken. Among these are the following:

The separation of grades at Fifth avenue and 42d street: Plans were made for carrying the surface railway tracks and the heavy traffic on 42d street under Fifth avenue in a subway. Public hearings were given, but there was so much opposition on the part of the property owners in the immediate vicinity that the project was abandoned.

NELSON P. LEWIS.
Chief Engineer to the Board of Estimate.

Approach to the Queensboro Bridge: The commission favored the acquisition of the block between 59th and 60th streets all the way from Fifth avenue to Second avenue, but expressed the belief that this would be too costly and advised the widening of 60th street by taking half the block to the south and the construction of a diagonal connection between 57th street and the end of the bridge. The Board of Estimate has actually laid out on the city plan the entire block between 59th and 60th streets and between Second and Third avenues as an open space and has provided for the widening of Second avenue for several blocks either side of the bridge, but no action has been taken toward the acquisition of the property, pending a final determination as to the arrangement of tracks on the Queensboro Bridge and the connections between these tracks and existing and proposed transit lines.

The southerly extension of Irving place from 14th street to Fourth avenue: This was also considered by the Board of Estimate and the extension was laid out upon the city map in order to provide a route for what was called the Tri-Borough Subway. When the transit plans were changed, this extension was abandoned.

The extension of the Shore Road around Fort Hamilton to connect with Dyker Beach Park in the Borough of Brooklyn: This project appears likely to be realized through negotiations with the War Department permitting the re-establishment of a road which was closed at the time of the Spanish War.

The extension of Flatbush avenue southwardly across Jamaica Bay to Barren Island: This street has been laid out and it is likely that it will be acquired in the near future.

The laying out of Bedford avenue from the deflection at Heyward street to the Williamsburg Bridge Plaza: This street was laid out on the city plan and proceedings to acquire title to it were authorized. Its strategic importance was at once recognized and a rapid transit line was planned to follow it. Owing, however, to the insistent objections of some of the property owners in the territory which would be traversed by the street, on the ground that it would change the entire character of the neighborhood, the project was abandoned. It should be noted, however, that the change in the character of the neighborhood, so much dreaded, has taken place, and many of those who opposed the extension have already found homes elsewhere.

A Brooklyn Civic Center.

The grouping of public buildings in the Borough of Brooklyn: The commission suggested the plaza at the main entrance to Prospect Park as an admirable location for a Brooklyn civic center. Present plans contemplate, however, retaining this center at the Borough Hall, and the location in this vicinity of a notable group of buildings, including a new municipal building and a court house, which, with a reconstructed terminal for the Brooklyn Bridge, would create a center which, while of entirely unconventional shape, would probably be very satisfactory.

The plaza at the main entrance to Prospect Park would have furnished an admirable site for the grouping of the public buildings of Brooklyn, but it is so far removed from the administrative center of the borough it would probably be better to adopt it as the location of a group of educational buildings. The Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences is already there, and the Mount Prospect reservoir, which will probably not be needed when the Catskill water supply is introduced into the city, if lowered a few feet would have furnished an admirable site for a public building. The location of the Brooklyn Public Library on the triangular space in front of the reservoir between Flatbush avenue and Eastern Parkway, a site the selection of which was strongly opposed by many, seems to have effectually prevented any such use of the reservoir site.

The Enormous Cost.

There were many other projects suggested and the above comments relate only to those which have received more or less consideration by the municipal authorities. The report of the commission was referred to the chief engineer of the Board of Estimate for analysis and for an estimate of the probable cost of carrying out those improvements which appeared to be most practicable.

Such report was made under date of September 26, 1907, and included an estimate of the probable cost of carrying one of the projects which appeared most meritorious, this estimate being based upon the assessed value of the property which would be required with a certain addition which was believed to represent the probable difference between the actual cost of acquisition and such assessed value. The plans for the Boroughs of Queens and Richmond were so little developed at the time that it was impossible to present estimates for any of the projects suggested for these boroughs. The total estimates of the probable cost of acquiring the necessary land in the other three boroughs were as follows: Manhattan projects, $48,628,000; Brooklyn projects, $25,490,000; the Bronx projects, $5,390,000; total, $79,508,000. The above did not include the estimated cost of the Seventh avenue extension and the widening of Varick street now under way.

BUILDING INSPECTORS' CONFERENCE

The More General Use of Automatic Sprinklers Advocated —Floor Loads and Stairways—Conferences to Continue

THE first subject discussed at the morning session of the Building Inspectors' Conference at the Hotel Astor on May 14, was "The recent tendency toward low floor loads." The discussion brought out the fact that there was a great difference in different cities in this respect. Some of the cities give elaborate lists of buildings and differentiate between different purposes.

The other extreme is represented by the provisions recently adopted by New York City, in which provision is made for minimum floor loads for floors used for residence purposes, for places of assembly, and for business purposes.

It was also brought out that there is a wide variation in the minimum floor loads required. In some cities the minimum floor loads required for residence buildings are as high as 70 lbs. per square foot. New York in its recent action represents again the other extreme in having adopted 40 lbs. per square foot as a fair minimum floor load for residence buildings.

In the case of places of assembly it was contended by some of the Building Inspectors present that loads sometimes run up as high as 150 lbs. per square foot and more, but it appeared that this was only in cases of experiment in which buildings were crowded within a given space as closely as possible. This is an unusual condition that would seldom occur, as under such conditions it would be practically impossible for people to move.

A suggestion was made that in fireproof buildings also floor loads might be permitted lower than in non-fireproof buildings, not only as an encouragement to construct fireproof buildings, but because the proportion of dead load to total load is greater in the case of a fireproof building than in the case of a non-fireproof building.

Certificates of Occupancy.

The discussion of floor loads drifted for a while into one of certificates of occupancy, and resulted in the passage of a resolution to the effect that certificates of occupancy should be issued in all cases of new buildings, and a change of occupancy should be made unlawful unless a new certificate is secured from the proper building official.

Hollow Tile Walls.

Superintendent of Buildings Carlin, of Brooklyn, opened the discussion on Hollow Tile for Outside and Bearing Walls in an interesting paper, in which he outlined the present practice in the City of New York. He contended that hollow tile walls should be at least of the same thickness as brick walls, if not thicker. He also argued for the restriction of hollow tile walls to buildings of limited height, namely, about forty feet. The tendency elsewhere seems to be to higher and thinner walls of hollow tile. Attention was called to a desirable feature in connection with hollow tile walls, that if encouraged by being permitted to be of less thickness than brick they would replace frame construction to a large extent where such construction is permitted. There was some discussion on the strength of hollow tile blocks and the tests made by the National Fireproofing Company in Chicago were referred to, showing that hollow tile walls in cement mortar greatly exceeded in crushing strength ordinary brick walls in lime mortar.

Considerable discussion was evoked by the subject of Automatic Sprinklers. Opinion was divided as to whether automatic sprinklers should be provided for in building codes. Some contended it was a matter of fire-prevention, but the advocates of automatic sprinklers as a safeguard to life were numerous. The discussion on this subject was continued in the afternoon session, at which time a resolution was drafted advocating the more general use of automatic sprinklers.

Enclosed Stairways.

The Enclosure of Stairways, which was scheduled for the morning session, was not reached until the afternoon. The opinion was quite general that stairways should be enclosed in all buildings except residence buildings, and perhaps other buildings not over two stories in height.

The discussion on the Organization of a Building Department did not proceed very far, for lack of time. Commissioner McKelvey, of St. Louis, outlined the organization of his department. It appeared from the discussion that in the work of many city building departments the planning and supervision of public buildings is included. The sentiment was general that this matter is not a proper function of a building official. The presentation of this subject was made more than usually interesting by the submission of several diagrams showing the exact relation of the official to the public and to his staff.

Results of the Conference.

The results of the Conference were considered very satisfactory. The interest aroused was so great that it was decided to hold a Conference annually. The present chairman, Rudolph P. Miller, now Engineer to the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen in charge of the revision of New York City's Building Code, and the secretary, Hon. Sidney J. Williams, State Building Inspector of Wisconsin, were elected to continue in office, and to act as an executive committee in arranging for a conference some time next year. It was thought wise to hold the next conference somewhere in the West and in connection, if possible, with some national organization interested in some subject closely akin to building construction.

LEGISLATIVE AND CONSTITUTIONAL

An Extra Session Still Demanded by Realty Interests— Labor Unions Want Changes in the Form of Government

GOVERNOR WHITMAN has concluded to sign the bill imposing a direct tax of $19,560,000 upon the State, notwithstanding all the appeals that have been made to him to be considerate of taxpayers and especially of New York City taxpayers whose burdens will be unusually heavy next year. As he was able to cut only $2,300,000 from the appropriation bills, he considers there is no need of calling an extra session.

This will be the largest direct tax since the year 1900, when the rate was 1.96 mills. This year it is to be 1.70 mills. The tax will fall rather heavily on New York City because, first, we pay on 77 per cent. of the total assessed valuation, and, second, because real estate here is assessed at its full value, while the largest number of counties are credited with only 70 to 80 per cent. of full value, and in some the assessment is less than half the full value, according to statistics recently published by the president of the New York City Tax Board, Hon. Lawson Purdy.

In a statement issued by the Advisory Council this week, property owners are urged to communicate with the Governor, beseeching him to adopt ways and means to eliminate the economies which he has effected from the Direct State Tax. If this may only be done by calling an extra session of the Legislature, then such a method should be employed and the responsibility for the appropriations placed directly upon the Legislature, for doubtless further savings could thus be accomplished. The Advisory Council, through its special committee, consisting of Messrs. Cyrus C. Miller, chairman, Willard V. King, Alfred E. Marling and Thomas M. Mulry, has been carefully following the hearings at Albany. This committee believes that under the depressed real estate conditions in the city it would be wise for the Governor to adopt heroic remedies to reduce this Direct State Tax, particularly when all property owners have heavy city taxes to meet. Experience has shown that when there is a large unexpended surplus in the public treasury a strong tendency prevails among public officials to appropriate such moneys for improvements that are not immediately necessary or of vital importance.

Senator William M. Bennett and Stewart Browne, of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, appeared at a hearing before the Governor in opposition to the Mills bill, permitting the new New York court house to be built in sections. Frank DeMuth, of the West Side Taxpayers' Association, and Senator Bennett contended that under the present plans the court house will cost forty to sixty million dollars. L. Laflin Kellogg, of the Court House Board, and Leo Arnstein, representing the Board of Estimate, spoke for the bill.

An injunction to restrain Comptroller Travis from borrowing $6,000,000 to meet State engagements was denied by Justice Cochran at Hudson last Saturday when application was made by President Browne of the United Real Estate Owners' Association.

Constitutional Convention Matters.

Abram I. Elkus appeared before the Committee on Industrial Relations in the Constitutional Convention and advocated a minimum wage for women but not for men. Representatives of labor organizations will hold a conference in Albany next Monday. In an interview Labor Commissioner Lynch said that workmen's compensation, the short ballot, and woman suffrage are among the broader proposals in which the laboring classes are taking a special interest. He believes that the initiative and referendum and proportional representation are other suggestions that make a large appeal in labor circles.

Specific proposals for a constitutional amendment already brought forward would give the Legislature the right to delegate to a board or commission the power to make regulations for carrying out the labor law, the right to establish a minimum wage, if it should see fit so to do, and the right to regulate or prohibit manufacture in tenement houses. Alfred E. Smith, minority leader of the Assembly, has introduced three proposed amendments designed to bring about these changes.

Chicago's eight thousand carpenters were getting $5.25 a day when they struck for five cents more an hour. The employers, uniting for defense, then locked out everybody in the building trades. A sympathetic lockout is a novelty in Chicago. If a good general arbitration plan develops from the war it will not have been fought in vain.

The Public Service Commission would have great difficulty in proving that subway kiosks on the narrow sidewalks of streets where the Borough President has prohibited sidewalk encroachments, are a public necessity, and so a privileged encroachment not amenable to the law. The Commissioners should watch their step and get in line with the determined will of the people.

The experiment of Labor trying to get along without Capital, and relying upon the Uplifters instead, has been thoroughly tried out. Persistent and unnecessary legislation against employers and property owners under the pretense of improving working conditions has done no one any good. The old saying that the best governed people are governed the least has had ample justification.

The insurance companies which report to the New York State Insurance Department have $1,761,000,000 invested in real estate deeds and mortgages, a sum which is equal to about one-fifth of the total assessed valuation of all the real estate in New York City. Add to this the sum which the savings banks and some other big lending institutions have invested in the same securities and you will be well on the way to the answer to the question, "Who owns New York?"

The City's Changing Needs.

"More and more the city of New York, if it is to be well governed, must develop toward the city-manager plan."—City Chamberlain Bruère.

Something evidently needs to be done to bring the system of government more into accord with the facts of city life. New York is first of all a business community, the greatest port for commerce in the world, the largest city borrower and spender of money, and it should have a local government conducted with some respect for business principles and with reasonable consideration for the city's economic interests, upon which all its other interests are founded. In recent years the social and altruistic side of government has been so strongly emphasized as to bring reminders from the tangible interests that New York City was not intended to be simply an international melting-pot with endless philanthropic attachments, and that we cannot as a business community contemplate the imprudent use of tax money with the same indifference as in years gone by when the total was comparatively small. That there is not more appreciation at City Hall for the practical affairs of the city is acknowledged to be far more the fault of the plan on which the government is organized than the fault of the members of the government. Therefore when a system of government planned primarily for the benefit of political and social elements becomes incapable of adjusting itself to local economic requirements, a new plan of government is now very often adopted.

Between three and four hundred American cities have taken on the commission or commission-manager form, which concentrates responsibility into the hands of a few experts. The plan eliminates partisan politics entirely and puts local government on an efficient but economical basis, so that public money may not be needlessly spent or the tax and rent payers overburdened. The commissioners and the city manager conduct the affairs of the city as if it were a bank, a railroad or a great industrial establishment. Mr. Bruère, in his report as City Chamberlain, recommends certain steps in the direction of the commission form of government, and would make a beginning by establishing the Department of Finance as the sole fiscal agency for the city government, instead of having a host of departments and bureaus handling city funds. He would also set up a Department of Administration to be a branch of the Mayor's office and "an instrument of day-by-day assistance to the Mayor in the performance of his work as general manager of the city government, which he must increasingly become."

It is important to know that a prominent member of the Mayor's cabinet concedes the need of an entirely new form of government, though advising only partial steps for the present. As there is a committee of the Board of Estimate now engaged in revising the Charter as a whole, the public may be warranted in inferring from the remarks of the City Chamberlain that the product of the revision committee will not be patterned altogether after the commission plan. The piecemeal method, when revision is absolutely necessary, is of course better than no revision at all, and a complete change of plan would be a great deal to expect from members of the existing government. And yet the question may be asked if a complete change is not imperatively required, and if a more certain and distinct departure from the present system would not result from a charter drafted by an independent committee of citizens, especially if they followed a model of known and proved worth? John Stuart Mill once wrote that the precursor of every important period of social and political reconstruction has been "a great change in the modes and opinions of thinking society." We have seen here in New York a great but ineffectual protest go up from the business people against those modes of government that have resulted in over-regulation and excessive taxation. The protest has been ineffectual simply because the present system is not responsive to the intelligent and authoritatively expressed opinion of the people. Under a straight commission form of government, with the initiative, referendum and recall incorporated, the people would have close control over their governing board.

For the Protection of Homes and Institutions.

While New York City is waiting for the new Commission on Building Districts and Restrictions to recommend the boundaries of districts and the proper regulations to be enforced in each, it is interesting to learn that the city of Philadelphia is also taking steps to control the location, size and use of buildings. Under an act which this week has been signed by the Governor of Pennsylvania, cities of the first class in that State may for the purpose of promoting the public health, safety, order and general welfare, control the types of buildings to be erected hereafter. To the Park Commission is given special authority to regulate the size, location and use of buildings coming within two hundred feet of any park, parkway or public place under its care or management. In a few days the heads of the several departments having in charge the inspection of buildings, the planning of the city and the control of its parks will meet to consider the regulations to be adopted, in order, as we infer, not only that residential districts may be properly protected from incongruous invasions, but also that various types of buildings to be hereafter erected, corresponding to the lines of trade in which they will be engaged, may be located where they will best serve both their own interest and that of the community at large.

One of the most serious charges that can be brought against any city, as well as against any nation, is that it does not protect its citizens in their homes and institutions. In order to preserve certain neighborhoods from contamination our people have not only had to organize societies and keep up a constant vigilance, but also to spend large sums of money. In innumerable other instances have fine residential districts been broken up and old families, with their houses of worship and other institutions, scattered—not so much as the consequence of invasion by legitimate business houses as by the intrusion of activities essentially illegitimate and destructive to the good name, the comfort and the value of the district. A man living in New York cannot be certain of his dwelling for any definite period, or that he will be able to leave it unimpaired to his heirs. He cannot be certain of his church or his club, or who his neighbors will be at any future time. Nor can he be sure that his business will not be ruined by a sudden inrush of outlanders of some sort. Nothing being permanently settled, the fluid elements in population and business dash hither and yon to new points of interest and vantage almost unrestrained. Even old covenants against unwelcome establishments have not served in every instance, for the times change and former designations no longer apply. Thus, restrictions against tenements made in 1873 will not hold against tenements erected in 1915. Stables have become garages and theatres "movies" in common parlance, and a million-dollar office building may be declared a factory building in the eyes of the law.

That assurance of permanence in habitation and business in which a man elsewhere may take comfort and pride is denied to the residents of old New York under existing conditions. Manhattan has suffered irreparable social and institutional losses. In some sections of Brooklyn values are also being disintegrated. For there is little in the city ordinances to hinder a garage, a factory, a picture theatre or any undesirable structure from locating next to the most beautiful dwelling in any borough, if the site can be purchased; and nothing that places a restriction over a section to apply to all properties, to ensure the permanence of homelife, appreciate values and preserve those things which testify to the refinement and high civilization of a community. But there will be such restrictions when the district regulations are promulgated and the general lines for city development are marked out; when certain areas are set apart for port development, other areas for factories, and when residential neighborhoods are fortified against their enemies. Only in this way can the wealth, health and comfort of the city of the future be assured.

Realty Will Survive.

The Governor finds that he cannot veto the Direct State Tax bill, and real estate must bear the consequences. The decision is a serious one for the Governor as well as for taxpayers, who are persuaded that neither the affairs of the State nor those of the great city have been well managed when such obligations as they are now called upon to meet have been allowed to accumulate. If now there is no escape from the high taxes, it may be said that they won't break real estate, but they may break the present systems of government in State and city which are primarily at fault. The Constitutional Convention with such an example of managerial incompetency before it will undoubtedly change the fundamental law and introduce a plan which will compel the government to conserve in a far more efficient manner than in the past the interests of the people. A remarkable depth of feeling has been sounded throughout the State without regard to political parties against the sort of administration which contracts such mountains of debts to confound the people. New York realty will survive and prosper in spite of everything, and some good will come out of this wrongful treatment.

Commissioners of Deeds.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Section 58 of the Greater New York Charter (Chapter 418 of the Laws of 1913), in relation to Commissioners of Deeds of the City of New York, has been materially amended by Chapter 607 of the Laws of 1915, commonly known as the Hamilton-Fertig bill. This bill was drafted and caused to be introduced by Register Edward Polak of the County of the Bronx, for the purpose of clarifying the language of the old law and of bringing such law into harmony with Section 310 of the Real Property Law.

The new act repeals that portion of the old statute requiring Commissioners of Deeds to file certificates of appointment in the office of the County Clerk or Register, if any, of the county in which they reside and with the Register, if any, of the county in which the acknowledgments are taken, before they may proceed to act. It also repeals the provision making it mandatory upon commissioners to file certificates of appointment in the office of a Register in which such commissioners desire to have instruments accepted for record.

Under the new law, a Commissioner of Deeds, after qualifying in the office of the City Clerk and paying a fee of five dollars, as at present, may then administer oaths, or take acknowledgments, or proofs of deeds, or other instruments, without filing a certificate of his appointment and his autograph signature in any county office whatever.

To safeguard public records, however, it is provided that a commissioner who desires to take an acknowledgment or proof to an instrument to be recorded or to be read in evidence, must either before or after taking such acknowledgment or proof but prior to or simultaneously with the offering of such instrument for record or to be read in evidence: (1) File a certificate of his appointment and his autograph signature in the office in which such instrument is to be recorded, or in the office of the County Clerk in which such instrument is to be read in evidence; and any such instrument shall thereupon be accepted for record or read in evidence without any further proof; or, (2), as an alternative, such commissioner may file his certificate of appointment and his autograph signature in the office of any County Clerk included in the City of New York, and the said County Clerk with whom such commissioner has filed his certificate and his autograph signature shall, upon demand, authenticate any acknowledgment or proof of deed taken by such officer, without regard to the county in which such acknowledgment or proof was taken, provided such county was wholly included in the City of New York; and any such instrument so authenticated shall be accepted for record or read in evidence in any county of the City of New York or any other county of the State, without any further proof.

The act further provides that a commissioner shall affix to each instrument acknowledged or proved before him, in addition to his signature, the date when his term of office will expire and also his official filing numbers given to him by the clerks of the counties with whom he has filed certificates of appointment; it is also provided that if such acknowledged instrument is to be recorded in the office of a Register with whom such commissioner has filed his certificate, and received an official filing number from such Register, he must also affix that number to said instrument.

It is also made the duty of the City Clerk to issue to a Commissioner of Deeds, upon request, as many certificates of appointment as such commissioner may deem necessary for the proper conduct of his office, and for each such certificate the City Clerk shall collect a fee of 25 cents.

To facilitate the recording of papers, it is suggested that commissioners file their certificates of appointment in the County Clerk's office most convenient to their business or their residence addresses, and also in any Register's office with which they may transact any considerable volume of business.

This is a simple, practical measure, so drawn as to facilitate the taking of acknowledgments of instruments intended for record, and at the same time safeguarding the public interest. The law was approved on May 12, 1915, and became effective immediately.

T. F. DRISCOLL,
Secy. to the Register, N. Y. County.

Public Baths Needed.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Considerable interest attaches to the resolution which will again be presented to the Board of Estimate on Friday next calling for an appropriation of $22,000 for six public floating baths. The edict of the Board of Health forbidding bathing in the waters around Manhattan on account of sewage pollution, while unquestionably a necessary one for the prevention of disease, has created for the poorer classes of the population a hardship which the floating baths tend to alleviate.

In spite of the economies in city expenditures which have become so urgent within recent times, there is a growing feeling, however, that in this particular instance the failure to provide in some measure bathing facilities during the coming summer, months, would be a false economy.

What constitutes a worthy expenditure more than money directed toward an increase in the efficiency of the toilers, who have been deprived of conveniences formerly enjoyed by them and who, if no adequate substitute is offered, become dissatisfied and more susceptible to the call of other communities? There is a class of workingmen in this city who are indispensable to the industrial and commercial life of the city. Not alone do they encourage the retention of large manufacturing concerns within the city (because the employer will operate his plant only where labor is available), but they also support the small tradesmen and shopkeepers who represent another substantial element in our population. These are the kind of residents who should be encouraged to remain in New York City because they make definite economic contributions to the city's welfare. Their presence reflects favorably upon real estate and directly benefit the owners.

A small appropriation such as this, to meet an undeniable need in the lives of these people, is in my opinion, a wise expenditure. That it becomes necessary at a time when the cry is heard on every side for retrenchment may be considered unfortunate, but this situation does not detract from its desirability or urgency.

I feel encouraged to ask the Record and Guide, as the medium of the taxpayers, to present the facts as they are, and urge the adoption of the resolution.

That Long Island Railroad Lease.

In determining the provisions of the agreement between the Long Island Railroad Company and the Public Service Commission for the use of the tracks of the latter company by rapid transit trains from Corona to Whitestone and Little Neck, the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests believes, according to a statement from the executive committee, that all property owners should give most careful attention as to the exact terms of this contract:

"The recent enabling act passed by the Legislature and approved by the Mayor and the Governor, permits the Public Service Commission to determine under what conditions the city will accept the offer of the Long Island Railroad Company. This enabling act establishes a precedent for the use of the tracks of a private transit corporation by the city. Consequently it is of vital importance that the terms of the agreement be equitable to all parties. If this agreement is consummated there is no doubt that residents of other sections of Greater New York will petition the Legislature for enabling acts to permit the city to use the lines of private transit corporations for bringing the subway to their localities.

"Thus, the basis upon which any future development along these lines may follow should be established upon a very sound and equitable foundation. At present the city's finances are not in a condition to justify the construction of the lines which the company offers. The plans of the Public Service Commissioner were to extend the city's rapid transit line as far as Whitestone. If this line were to be constructed it would parallel similar tracks of the company. Therefore, to avoid this competition, and duplication, the railroad company has offered its tracks to Whitestone and Little Neck, under the following terms:

"A rental charge of $250,000 per annum, for a period of ten years, with the privilege of renewal for an additional ten years, either party to have the right to terminate the agreement upon a three-years' notice. However, there are additional charges. The city must likewise bear a pro rata charge on the basis of cars handled, for cost of operation and maintenance of tracks and taxes and power consumed. Also, a pro rata share of 7 per cent. interest upon the cost of additional tracks, stations and other facilities required for the joint use, and a pro rata share of 7 per cent. of the amount expended for the elimination of grade crossings.

"With regard to grade crossings, the Long Island Railroad Company is required by law to pay but one-half of the expense, the city one-quarter, and the State one-quarter, so that the city will thus be obligated to pay one-quarter of the cost of eliminating grade crossings, as well as a pro rata charge of 7 per cent. interest on the one-half of the cost expended by the railroad company. The company further reserves the news, vending, advertising and other station privileges, under the provisions of this proposition. The city may use the tracks, stations and facilities of the Long Island Railroad Company under a joint use of the tracks; first, by the railroad company for carrying on its freight and passenger business, as at present, and second, by the city rapid transit trains in carrying on its rapid transit business, without interference one by the other, but over the same line."

REAL ESTATE NEWS OF THE WEEK

$3,000,000 OPERATION CLOSED.

Corner of Fifth Avenue and Seventy-Second Street Site of New Apartment House.

THE most important sale of the week, and one which should have a far-reaching effect is the acquisition, by the Wells Brothers Company, of New York and Chicago, of the south corner of Fifth avenue and 72nd street, measuring 115 feet on the avenue and 125 feet in the street. Pease & Elliman were the brokers. The immediate corner, 35 x 125, was acquired from the estate of James A. Burden. This property is improved with the old home of the late Mr. Burden and was under lease to the late Senator Nelson W. Aldrich. The adjoining parcel, 80 x 125, is vacant, and was sold by Cornelius Vanderbilt. The seller acquired the property some years ago from the estate of Seth Barton French, having in mind the erection of a residence for his own occupancy. When the late George Vanderbilt died, he devised the one-time William H. Vanderbilt mansion, at the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and 51st street to the seller in the present deal, and all idea of erecting a residence in upper Fifth avenue was abandoned.

The new owners of the property, just acquired, will improve the site with a twelve-story apartment house, which will have specially designed suites, to meet the desires of the prospective tenants. The entire investment, including the cost of the building, is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. It is reported that a building loan has been placed to finance the operation.

The sale of the property is interesting from many points of view, but one in particular is the fact that arrangements were made several years ago for the sale of the corner to a syndicate in which the Burden and French families were interested. Cass Gilbert, the architect, was commissioned to prepare plans for the structure, but the operation was abandoned on account of the opposition of some of the neighboring residents. The property then reverted back to the original owners. Those interested in the former deal have no connection with the present transaction. The Vanderbilt plot has been used by the Inter-Club Baseball Association during the last winter, and games were played there several times a week, weather permitting.

The new owners will take title on July 1, when the old Burden house will be demolished. The lease to Senator Aldrich expired on May 1. It is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy by September 1, 1916.

J. E. R. Carpenter, architect, has been commissioned to prepare the plans. Six floors will be laid out, having only one apartment on a floor, while the remainder of the building will have two suites on a floor. The facade of the structure will be of limestone. The tentative rentals have been placed from $15,000 to $25,000 a suite.

The site is admirably adapted to apartment-house construction, having frontages on two wide thoroughfares, and being directly in front of an entrance to Central Park. Directly opposite the site, is the home of James Stillman, and nearby are the residences of Louis C. Tiffany, Henry A. C. Taylor, W. Bayard Cutting, Oliver Gould Jennings and Nathalie E. Baylies. The new $3,000,000 mansion of Henry C. Frick occupies the entire frontage on the block to the south,

Jamaica Hillcrest Auction.

John H. Judge, Louis B. Hasbrouck, Michael Coleman and Charles B. Barkley, trustees of the Jamaica Hillcrest Company, finding themselves confronted with the necessity of disposing of the remaining lots of the company by the end of the month, in order to carry out the trust agreement with the stockholders, have ordered the sale of about 400 lots, beginning next Saturday, May 29. William P. Rae will conduct the sale, which is to be continued on Monday, May 31, until every lot is sold.

Jamaica Hillcrest is located in a desirable residential section of Jamaica, in the Fourth Ward of the Borough of Queens. It is bounded by Hillside avenue, Home Lawn avenue, opposite Jamaica Estates, and Doncaster road. Fulton street, the main business street of Jamaica, is within two blocks.

The elevated railroad is being extended to Grand avenue, which will be within two blocks of the property at Hillside avenue and Grand avenue. The Jamaica Union Hall street station of the Long Island Railroad is within a few blocks, with direct service within 18 minutes to the Pennsylvania station, Manhattan, and in the same time to Brooklyn, the Flatbush avenue station connecting with subway trains to Manhattan.

The property is fully developed, with streets on established grade adopted by the city, with roads macadamized, sidewalks curbed, large sewer system, water and gas mains, electricity and telephone.

A New Ferry Line.

Property owners in the Dyckman section are rejoiced over the action of the Palisades Park Commission in making a contract with a company just organized, or about to be, for a ferry on the Hudson between the foot of Dyckman street and the Englewood Approach, the fine new road which connects the great Hudson scenic boulevard with the waterside. The ferry will carry automobiles and teams, as well as foot passengers, and will begin operations in June. Temporary landing facilities will in another year be superseded by permanent improvements such as waiting-rooms, etc. The landing place on the New York side will be on premises owned by C. G. K. Billings, just north of the street line, and on park property on the Jersey side, where a large pier for steamboats was built two years ago. The Dyckman street and Englewood Ferry Company is the name of the lessees.

Considerable travel is expected. After a while a barge canal landing place, with loading facilities, is to be built near Dyckman street on the waterfront. Residents of the vicinity are predicting that the time is coming when the Englewood Ferry will be as important as the Fort Lee Ferry, and Dyckman street as busy as 129th street.

Subway Bids Opened.

Bids were opened on Tuesday by the Public Service Commission for the construction of Section No. 2 of Route No. 49, a part of the Culver rapid transit railroad in Brooklyn. This route leaves the Fourth avenue subway at 38th street and runs east to Gravesend avenue and down Gravesend avenue to Coney Island. It will be a three-track railroad, running through an open cut in 38th street and then ascending to an elevated structure and continuing as an elevated railroad through Gravesend avenue. It will be operated by the New York Municipal Railway Corporation (Brooklyn Rapid Transit) under the Dual System contracts.

Construction work in the 38th street cut has been under way for some time, but no work has yet been done on Gravesend avenue. Section No. 2 is the first section of the elevated portion to be put up for bidding. It extends from a point about 525 feet south of Bay parkway (22nd avenue) produced over Gravesend avenue and Sheel road to a point in Shell road about 525 feet south of Avenue X produced. Oscar Daniels Co. was low bidder at $863,775.

CITY MORTGAGE INVESTMENTS.

Aims to Dispose of All Mortgage Investments by City.

An aggravated situation has steadily grown up with respect to mortgage investments of the city held by the Chamberlain as trustee for various court funds. Since January 11, 1911, all investments are required to be in the form of city or State bonds, because of certain injudicious investments made in 1910. Prior to that time the Chamberlain was permitted to invest in real estate bonds and mortgages. On January 1, 1914, the City Chamberlain held 104 of such mortgages, all of which represented loans made prior to May, 1910, except one mortgage paid in under a court order in 1912.

It has been the aim of the present administration to dispose of all excessive mortgages as soon as possible. The year 1914 was, however, an unfavorable year for liquidating mortgages. When Mr. Bruère entered upon his duties as City Chamberlain he found $1,200,000 invested in mortgages, representing 104 separate loans. Of these 104 mortgages, 94 representing $823,000, were past due, and only 10 mortgages, representing $377,000, had not yet matured. In some cases overdue mortgages ran back as far as the year 1857. In every case where there were delinquencies, the Chamberlain sought to protect the invested funds by insistently urging the mortgagors to make payments of arrears, and to liquidate part or all of the principal if possible. In five cases this proved unsuccessful, and foreclosures became necessary, representing property assessed at $111,500, and mortgages aggregating $79,800.

In this connection Chamberlain Bruère says in a report just made to the Mayor:

"So far as possible it will be my purpose to avoid foreclosures. The practice of the office has, for years, been to continue mortgages past maturity where interest and taxes and other charges are promptly paid. This is advantageous, for the rate of interest on these mortgages is higher than the income which could be produced if foreclosures were insisted upon. Notwithstanding this fact, because of the order of the Appellate Division and the rule of the State Comptroller, I am insistently urging the mortgagors to liquidate their obligations and shall continue to do so as long as the trusts remain in my hands."

According to Mr. Bruère there is no sufficient reason for maintaining a Sinking Fund Commission as an independent body merely for the purpose of the custody of sinking funds. In this connection he says: "As a simplification of the machinery of government I have previously made to you a recommendation which I now reaffirm—that the functions of the Sinking Fund Commission be transferred to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Many of these functions are merely survivals of an earlier time when the individual members of the commission were able to give personal supervision to all the details of city business. * * * The transfer of the sinking fund functions to the Board of Estimate would merely mean an occasional lengthening of the calendar of the Board of Estimate and exclusion from consideration of these matters of the Chamberlain and the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen. In the suggestion that there be such an amalgamation the present Chairman of the Finance Committee concurs."

MARGINAL R. R. DEAL.

Real Estate Board of New York Takes Action in Opposition.

The Real Estate Board of New York took a stand at the meeting of the Board of Estimate yesterday against the city's deal for the Brooklyn marginal railway.

A request, signed by Elisha Sniffen, secretary, and authorized by the president, Laurence M. D. McGuire, and the board of governors, had been sent to the Board of Estimate asking that the resolution setting aside more than $6,000,000 for construction of the proposed railway be rescinded.

Mr. McGuire also has sent a letter to Governor Whitman requesting that he defer action on the charter amendment giving the city authorities power to turn the marginal railway over to the trunk line railways until he hears the real estate men in opposition.

It is estimated that without the power to give this $30,000,000 railway to the railroads it will be impossible for the city to construct it. Numerous letters also have been sent to the Governor asking that he veto the Cullen bill, now before him.

The Great Cost.

The Real Estate Board, in its request to the Board of Estimate, refers to the statement that the cost of the marginal railway was first placed at $11,226,516, which later was "found to be grossly inadequate."

"Upon the hearing before Governor Whitman," the communication states, "it was admitted by Dock Commissioner Smith and Borough President Pounds that the present city estimate of the cost was $19,000,000, and it was asserted and detailed figures were exhibited to the Governor by others indicating that the cost of the enterprise would be nearer $30,000,000.

"Whatever may have been the propriety of the city embarking upon an enterprise costing $11,000,000 when it would receive interest merely upon $7,500,000 thereof, there certainly can be no propriety in the city embarking upon this enterprise when it now appears that the cost will certainly be about double and probably triple that amount.

"In our present financial condition we submit that the city should not embark upon any enterprise which the city knows in advance will result in a large annual financial loss to it, which must be made up by taxation, and which it is proposed to carry for a long term."

Brightwaters Pavilion Management.

The Brightwaters bathing pavilion, restaurant and cafe will be opened on June 10, under the new management of H. F. Starin, for many years with the Herald Square Hotel. The Brightwaters Garage, operating a general auto service for Bayshore and Brightwaters, has resumed its summer schedule, so as to include the Pavilion.

Steinway Tunnel Trains Next Month.

The Steinway Tunnel, extending under the East River from Manhattan to Long Island City, will be placed in temporary operation by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company next month, probably about the 15th. Transfers will be given to and from the existing subway.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THAT there is a strong undertone to the real estate market was demonstrated again this week. In addition to a well-distributed budget of sales, involving comparatively small sums of money, several deals of importance were closed, one of which should have a decided influence on the future of the section.

As announced in another column of this issue the south corner of Fifth avenue and 72nd street has been sold to the Wells Brothers Company, builders, for the improvement of the site with a high-class apartment house, twelve stories in height. The announcement, which involves the home of the late James A. Burden, and the Vanderbilt plot on the south, has caused wide-spread interest, for it means the invasion of the exclusive Lenox Hill section, and opens the way for other apartment house operations.

In laying out the apartments, the architects are endeavoring to fill any want that a prospective tenant may desire, and the arrangement of the rooms will differ with the various suites. The building will be so constructed that one or more floors can be connected in a single suite, or as little as half a floor constitute an apartment.

There has been a decided demand for houses of this character along Fifth avenue, and buildings of this type, located in the section, notably at 998 Fifth avenue, have been successes from the start. The erection of a building of this type is a step tending to carry further the evolution in apartment house construction. Today a tenant can get an apartment "built to order," and does not have to build a private dwelling in order to satisfy all his requirements.

The leasing market has been strong during the week, a number of important transactions having been closed. The demand has not confined itself to lofts, but stores and apartments play a large part in the reports. That general business conditions throughout the country are on the upward trend, is generally acknowledged, and many brokerage firms are hopeful that before the summer is over real estate will be back again on its old footing. At least, for the present, with the Legislature adjourned, investors have but little fear that new drastic measures can be taken.

From the building standpoint, those interested in this branch of the market are hopeful of an early settlement of the building code, now in course of preparation. The old code, as it stands today, is most confusing, so many changes having been made from time to time that the original is hardly recognizable. Once this question is settled there should be renewed activity from a construction point of view.

Turn Your Garbage Into Fuel

Sanitary engineers have stated that a ton of garbage contains as much heat as 200 pounds of coal—often more. And in a Kewanee Water Heating Garbage Burner garbage and refuse are used as part of the fuel necessary for the heating of hot water.

Furthermore, the only really sanitary way of disposing of garbage and refuse is to burn it on the premises where it originates, before it has a chance to decay and breed and feed flies, rats and other disease-carrying insects and vermin.

KEWANEE
Water Heating Garbage Burner

performs two functions. It provides hot water at minimum cost—because it uses garbage and rubbish as fuel. And it eliminates the garbage problem by burning garbage, without odor, while it is still fresh and green.

Many of the most up-to-date apartment buildings in New York City have installed these burners. We would like to have you know what the owners say about them.

Will you give us an opportunity of telling you?

LEASES.

Jewelers to Remain Downtown.

George W. Welsh's Son, jewelers, leased from Vincent Astor, through the Charles F. Noyes Company, the corner store in the new seven-story building to be erected at the north corner of Broadway and Vesey street. The store will have about 100 feet of direct display advertising. The business of the lessee is now conducted at 256 Broadway and has been identified with the lower section of the city since 1845. Their selection of a downtown location, in spite of the prevailing uptown movement, indicates the confidence of the firm in the retention of their clientele.

REAL ESTATE APPRAISALS.

The following values were placed on real estate properties this week by the State appraisers in transfer tax proceedings, affecting Manhattan holdings. The amount specified does not in every case indicate the equity or interest of the decedent. It merely quotes the estimated market value of the realty, regardless of mortgages or other liens. The information comprises the name of decedent, location of property, block and lot on city map, description of building, size of lot and estimated value on the date given. Where decedent owned property in other boroughs, details of Manhattan holdings only are given.

MARGARET BAKER, Mary Blass and Everett Herrick, details next week.

AUCTION SALES OF WEEK.

Except where otherwise stated, the properties offered were in foreclosure. Adjournments of legal sales to next week are noted under Advertised Legal Sales.

* Indicates that the property described was bid in for the plaintiff's account.

The Auction Market.

Interest next week will center on the holdings of a number of estates to be offered at the stands of various auctioneers. An entire waterfront block on the Harlem River, from 122d to 123d street, to close the estate of Thomas Patten, will be sold on Wednesday at the stand of Bryan L. Kennelly, who also will offer a Bleecker street corner and Bronx and White Plains vacant land among other properties.

On another of his Special Sales Days, scheduled for Thursday, Joseph P. Day will present a diversified class of properties, also for the accounts of estates, including those of Hugh McCreery, John A. Casey, Elizabeth P. Casey, Francis Higgins and Benjamin G. W. Lichtenberg. The estate of William Farrell will offer, through Henry Brady, a high-class West Side residence.

Next Saturday at 2 p. m. William P. Rae will sell at auction for the trustees of the Jamaica Hillcrest Company, in liquidation, about 400 lots in Jamaica Hillcrest, Fourth Ward, Borough of Queens.

Manhattan.

"Castles of Comfort"

The wise builder knows that the more comforts and conveniences he places in his new buildings the quicker they will be rented or sold.

That's why the up-to-date apartment house is a veritable "Castle of Comfort."

Not the least of the many comforts installed is electric lighting service. It places at the fingers' tips of the tenants wonderful opportunities to lessen household cooking and cleaning labors.

1914 INDEX OF DECISIONS OF BOARD OF EXAMINERS

IN the Record and Guide of May 8, there was published a table giving the decisions handed down by the Board of (Building) Examiners, as applied to the Boroughs of Manhattan, the Bronx and Richmond. The following table deals with Brooklyn and Queens and shows the number of the appeal, the plan number, the location of the property in question, the classification of the objection, the appellant's name and the decision of the board. The table was compiled by Mrs. M. M. D. Clark, who has been for many years secretary of the Board of Examiners. This information should be of great value to architects and also to those who may have occasion at any time to refer to the finding of the board, for the simplification of their work.

ILLUMINATION OF BUILDING EXTERIORS

Conducted by Raymond P. Roberts, Building Manager for The American Real Estate Co.

MANY gems of architecture are lost to view several hours of the day. Public buildings, edifices of worldwide renown, and other buildings of note with their beautiful and intricate tracery of stone or their dignified simplicity of outline can now be enjoyed and appreciated by night as well as during the daytime. Advertising signs also, instead of "shutting up shop" as night closes in, can be made to tell their message just as effectively as through the day.

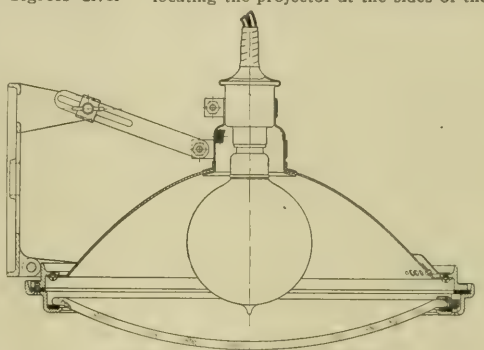
The new flood-light projector has been designed to economically and brilliantly illuminate building exteriors and advertising matter at night.

This projector consists of a highly polished aluminum parabolic reflector, 16 inches in diameter and mounted in an iron frame. The front is covered with curved heat-resisting glass. This is clamped to the reflector frame and packed so that the whole unit is thoroughly water-proofed, and can, therefore, be operated out of doors. All exposed parts are either of non-corroding alloy or weatherproof coated. The projector itself is well ventilated by a current of cool air which enters near the base of the lamp, circulates around the stem and bulb and passes out at the front top of the reflector.

MORGAN MEMORIAL LIBRARY, HARTFORD, CONN.

The installation of the outfit is simple. The most convenient location within a distance of from 25 to 500 feet from the surface to be lighted is selected and the projector bolted or screwed in place. It may be located on the roof of a building, the side of a wall, or mounted on brackets on a telegraph pole. The base of the projector has slotted bolt-holes, which permit of a slight adjustment before the final location is made. The best illuminating effect can quickly be determined by test before permanently fastening the unit in place. Since the power consumed by the lamp is only 500 watts at 110 volts, the projector may be connected to an ordinary lamp circuit. The entire outfit weighs about 30 pounds.

The lamp most commonly used is a 500-watt focus type Mazda "C" lamp in a "G-40" bulb with a mogul base. The focus-type lamp has its filament concentrated into a very small space and, by locating the filament at the focal point of the reflector, a narrow beam of light may be projected a great distance. If, however, the surface to be lighted is close to the projector, the lamp filament should be located behind the focal point of the reflector (drawn further into the reflector) in order to spread the beam sufficiently to cover the surface. The very fact that the spread of the beam and its effective distance can be controlled easily and accurately by moving the lamp in and out of focus makes this equipment an ideal one for this type of lighting. The beam may be concentrated to about 6 degrees divergence with an apparent candle-power in the center of slightly more than 400,000 by locating the filament exactly at the focus; or, by drawing the filament behind the focus, the beam may be spread to 18 degrees, with an apparent candle-power of approximately 150,000 in the center of the beam.



The locating of the filament at the focus is accomplished by directing the beam on any convenient surface 100 to 150 feet away and moving the lamp backward or forward until the smallest spot of light is obtained on the lighted surface. When this is determined, the focusing device may be locked by tightening a clamp provided for that purpose. This keeps the lamp from moving after it had been properly adjusted.

If the lamp filament is drawn too far behind the focal point of the reflector, a dark spot will appear in the center of the beam. This should be always avoided.

With the projector located 100 feet away and the beam concentrated to 6 degrees, the minimum spread of about 10 feet will be obtained with an average intensity across its diameter of 30 foot-candles. By spreading the beam to 18 degrees, the maximum spread will be about 30 feet, with an average intensity of 6 foot-candles. If two projectors are trained on the same area, the intensity will be doubled; if trained side by side, thus keeping the intensity constant, the area lighted will be doubled.

The question of the intensity of light required is one which depends largely on local conditions. If the lettering of the sign is white on a dark background, a low intensity is ample. If, on the other hand, the sign is dark and surrounded by powerful street lamps or viewed against other light backgrounds, it may be necessary to use a very high intensity to make the sign stand out conspicuously. For average conditions from 2 to 10 foot-candle produce very satisfactory results.

For lighting long, narrow surfaces, such as a row of bill-boards, it is desirable wherever possible to locate one projector at an angle at each end. By locating the projector at the sides of the board, each one will cover a greater area than if located in front and the beam projected perpendicularly to the surface lighted. For flood-lighting the fronts of buildings, it is desirable to locate the projectors at several different points, so as to eliminate the sharp shadows which might result if all the light came from one direction.

SECTIONAL DRAWING OF PROJECTOR.

When the area of the surface to be lighted and the probable location of the projectors are known, it is a simple matter to calculate the number of projectors required.

The beam of the projector is conical, and if it is directed perpendicularly it will light up a circular area; but if it strikes the surface at an angle the area lighted will be elliptical.

This flood-lighting projector should find a wide use for advertising purposes. Its first cost and maintenance are low, the installation is easy, and it requires no attention whatever, beyond an occasional rubbing up of the reflector and replacing the incandescent lamp at the end of its life.

EXTERNAL VIEW OF PROJECTOR.

This class of lighting opens up an attractive field to the central station, since the load is steady and occurs for the most part "off the peak." For the consumer, it affords an economical method of utilizing advertising signs.

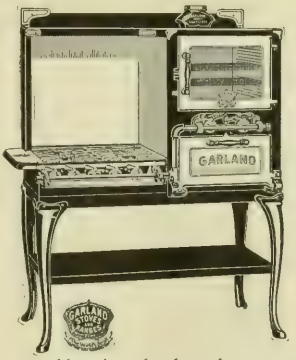
More Modern Gas Stoves.

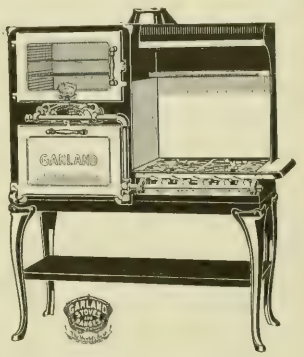
FOLLOWING the article appearing in last week's Record & Guide in which some of the latest styles of gas stoves and ranges were shown for the guidance of prospective owners and architects specifying kitchen equipment for new buildings, some more styles are shown in this week's issue.

In the large cuts appear two ranges that have special application for good sized kitchens. A gas appliance to be useful must be substantially built, especially in apartment houses where rough usage is likely to be given to kitchen equipment by different types of tenants. These stoves will meet all the requirements of a good sized family with or without servant. Contemplating, however, the presence of a servant in the kitchen special stress has been laid upon the simplicity of operation, convenience of cleaning and fine cooking and baking qualities. The continued demand for high grade ranges has led manufacturers to make a line of cabinet ranges representing the highest excellence in design, workmanship and material.



The bodies of both the types shown in the large illustrations are of blue planished steel with double walls and intervening non-radiating air space confining a large percentage of the heat generated by the burners to the inside of the oven and insuring uniform temperature. The linings are electric welded and are interlocking, extra heavy die stamped and are made of cold roll steel. They are readily placed in position without bolts or screws and are easily removable. The heavy cast frame and base, protect the steel bodies and give rigidity as well as proper anchorage for oven doors. Substantially built frames and doors insure a more lasting fit. The legs are heavily cast and are interchangeable with each other. The gas cocks are fitted with phosphor-bronze springs of an improved type. A washer holds the valve barrel tightly in place and automatically takes up all the wear.

The two types are new models and contain all the latest and most approved features of the gas range.



Stoves Match Tile Walls.

THERE are shown herewith two types of gas stoves of modest design, but with a very distinctive feature; namely, white enameled backs over the cooker plate. The manufacturers have taken into consideration the fact that a great many kitchens are now tiled in white. In such kitchens even the refrigerators are in white and the stove has been the only piece of equipment that has been out of harmony with the sanitary appearance of the culinary department.

With the idea of carrying out the idea to the farthest possible extent the manufacturers of the two stoves shown have designed a right and left hand small gas range that do away entirely with the old time cabinet gas stove which has two ovens, one on top of the other, requiring painful stooping for long periods while cooking articles of food requiring careful baking or broiling. In the new style both the broiler and the ovens are raised above the cooking plates and in both ovens there are glass doors permitting a ready view of the condition of the article being prepared. These ranges are 48 inches over all, and have aluminum linings, ventilating doors, and either plain or glass doors may be had.

Solution Works Wonders.

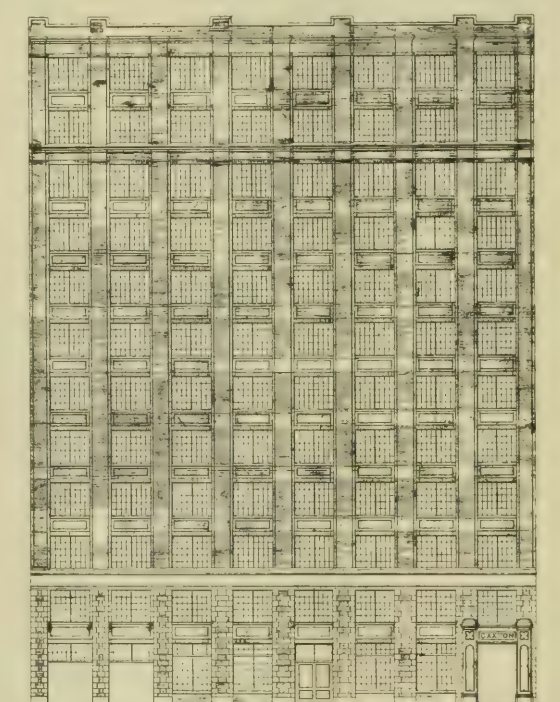
THERE is being introduced on the market a chemical compound that, among other things, will clean clogged up soil pipes and take every vestige of grease off a gas stove, no matter how long the accumulation has existed.

It is also useful in thawing frozen pipes. In use all that is required is to make a warm water solution of the compound and await results, according to the manufacturers. Those who are introducing it say that this compound will dissolve accumulations of lint, cloth, hair, grease, sponge, chamoise, vegetable matter, cigar and cigarette butts, chewing tobacco and even leather. There seems to be a demand for such a compound in large buildings where the public is admitted to the toilets. It can be purchased in small tins or in large quantities for big buildings. The statement is made that the use of this material has resulted in saving of large sums for plumbing repairs.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

New Structure to be Erected in West Twenty-eighth Street—Designed to Carry Heavy Floor Loads

ANOTHER building, designed primarily for the accommodation of the printing, lithographing and allied trades, is soon to be erected in the section now generally occupied by those lines of business. The latest project for this district is to be known as the Caxton Building, and will be erected by John J. Radley, owner, 34 West 33d street, at 229 to 239 West 28th street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues. This location is convenient to many direct lines of transit and transportation, making it advantageous to employees and also for the shipment and receiving of freight.



Plans and specifications for the new building have been prepared by William M. Farrar, architect, 1269 Broadway. Mr. Farrar has had a wide experience in planning buildings of this type, and in this particular one has combined the best features of his former operations, and has designed a structure which, from every viewpoint, should meet the specific demands of tenants in the printing and allied trades. As all floors in this building will no doubt be subjected to heavy loads, the architect has made provision, in the store floor, for a live load of 300 pounds a square foot and in the upper floors for a 250-pound load a square foot. This construction provides for all possibilities with a generous margin of safey.

The Caxton building is to be twelve stories in height with basement and sub-basement. It will be erected on a plot, extreme dimensions of which are 124.4 by 94 feet. The building will be 124 by 84 feet. The floor area will be approximately 10,500 square feet. Owing to special demands of tenants, the floor heights in this building have been made unusually high. The first story will have a ceiling 15 feet 4 inches in the clear and the upper stories will have heights of 11 feet 4 inches. A pent house on the roof has been especially designed to suit the needs of lithographers.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Caxton Building is to be built primarily for manufacturing purposes, the ornamental design of the front, which is to be constructed of granite, Indiana limestone and buff brick, will give it more of the appearance of an office building. The main entrance of this structure will be a distinct feature and will include an entrance corridor 23 feet long and 15 feet wide with tile floor, marble walls and ceiling of ornamental plaster decorated in a simple and dignified manner.

In construction, this building will be as near fireproof as it is possible to make it. The floors throughout will be of cement, and the floor arch construction of reinforced concrete. Enclosed iron stairs and smoke-proof fire towers are included to protect lives in the event of a fire panic.

For the further protection of life and property from the fire hazard the owner has planned to install throughout the building a 100 per cent. automatic sprinkler system, and in addition to this a complete stand-pipe and fire-alarm system. The State Labor Department, Fire Prevention Bureau and Building Department have already approved of these plans and the Board of Fire Underwriters have been consulted with the view of obtaining the lowest possible insurance rates. According to the Board of Fire Underwriters an eight-cent rate on the building and a rate varying from 14 to 20 cents on the contents will be secured. These rates are among the lowest at present procurable for any building of its character in the city.

William M. Farrar, Architect.

NOS. 229 TO 239 WEST 28TH STREET.

This building will be equipped with two electric high-speed passenger elevators, having a speed of 250 feet per minute, and two freight elevators which can also be used for passengers, if necessary, with a capacity of 6,000 pounds each. The arrangement of the freight elevators is somewhat unusual. On the ground floor both elevator openings face the street and are set back so that the loading and unloading of trucks can be accomplished from a loading platform and driveway located within the confines of the building, thus eliminating obstruction to the sidewalk and street. On the upper floors the doors of one freight elevator will open towards the front of the building and the doors of the other will open toward the center of the lofts, so that loading and unloading from both elevators may be carried on at the same time without conflict or congestion. Electric current for power and lighting will be delivered on each floor as the structure will be completely wired for both classes of current. Each floor will have electric lighting outlets in each panel of the ceiling and have power conduits to columns. According to the present plans the building will be completed and ready for occupancy by February 1, 1916.

Julius M. Cohn, 341 Fifth avenue, will also erect a printing building at 212 to 232 West 26th street, from plans by Schwartz & Gross, architects, 347 Fifth avenue. Lawrence A. Ball, 25 East 24th street, is the structural steel engineer. This structure will be sixteen stories in height, 223 by 90 feet, and will cost approximately $350,000. The plans have been completed, and it is understood that contracts for construction will soon be awarded. This structure will be completely equipped for the uses of concerns in the printing and allied trades.

At 406 to 426 West 31st street, construction is well under way for what is probably one of the largest loft buildings in the city. This structure is also designed primarily to house the printing interests. The property is owned by the 406 West Thirty-first Street Company, Inc., 259 West 34th street, and has been planned by Edward L. Larkin, of the same address. The structure is fifteen stories in height, with the approximate dimension of 250 by 72 by 103 feet. Its cost has been placed at $800.000. No general contract was awarded for the construction of this building, the architect having taken all estimates and awarded contracts separately for the various branches of the work.

Herman Lee Meader, architect, 200 West 33d street, has plans in progress for a loft building to be erected at 138 and 140 West 32d street, for the Pennlane Realty Company, care of Joseph Brewster, attorney, 165 Broadway. This building will have a facade of Indiana limestone, brick and terra cotta. It will be twelve stories in height, and erected on a plot 40 by 31 by 49 by about 40 irregular. It is expected that these plans will be completed in a few weeks, when estimates will be taken on the general contract.

Another important structure in this section, while not exclusively for business purposes, but interesting as a building operation, is the Irvin Hotel for Women, to be erected at 308 to 312 West 30th street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues. Jackson, Rosencrans & Waterbury, 1328 Broadway, are the architects, and Jaul J. Piatti, 47 West 44th street, is the consulting engineer for steam heating and ventilating. This building will cost about $250,000 to erect, exclusive of the furnishings. It will be twelve stories high, 66 by 100 feet, and include assembly-room, commodious dining-rooms and accommodations for more than five hundred women. Estimates on the general contract have been taken recently by the architect, and it is expected that the award will be made in the near future. It is expected that this operation will be ready for occupancy early next winter.

John T. Brady & Co., Obtain Contract.

A general contract was awarded this week to John T. Brady & Co., builders, 103 Park avenue, for the construction of a church building at the southeast corner of Lexington avenue and 66th street. The owner of the new building will be the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer, Rev. Father F. C. Fitzgerald, pastor. The plans for this structure have been prepared by Bertram G. Goodhue, architect, 2 West 47th street, and call for a structure constructed of limestone and New York ledgestone. The dimensions of the new building will be about 225x100 feet, and its cost will be approximately $650,000. At the time the general contract was awarded the contract for the heating and plumbing was let to J. F. McKeon & Bros., 882 Lexington avenue, and the electric wiring and installation was awarded to the E. L. Electric Installation Co., 221 West 33d street.

Contract Awarded for Brooklyn Church.

Another imposing edifice will soon be added to Brooklyn's already large group of fine churches. P. J. Carlin Construction Co., 1123 Broadway, Manhattan, was recently awarded a general contract for the construction of a new building for the Roman Catholic Church of the Nativity, Rev. John L. Belford, pastor, on the east side of Classon avenue, between Madison street and Putnam avenue. The plans and specifications from which the structure will be built were prepared by Raymond F. Almirall, architect, 185 Madison avenue. The building will be fireproof, with walls of brick and limestone. It will cover a plot 89 x 195 feet and will cost nearly $150,000. The new church will have a seating capacity of 1,200.

New Structure for Barnard College.

Charles A. Rich and F. Mathesius, Jr., associated architects, 320 Fifth avenue, are preparing the plans and specifications for a students' building to be erected in 119th street, between Broadway and Claremont avenue. The new building will be erected on what is now part of the college athletic field. It will be five stories in height and will have facades of brick, limestone and terra cotta. The cost is given as $500,000.

Plans for West Side Apartment.

Neville & Bagge, architects, 105 West 40th street, have nearly completed plans for a high-class apartment house, to be built by the Charmion Construction Co., Henry Mayer, president, 2309 Broadway. The new building will occupy 321-329 West End avenue and 303-307 West 75th street. The plot measures 142x105 feet. The structure will be twelve stories in height and will have facades of brick, limestone and terra cotta. The cost is given as $500,000.

New Brooklyn Factory.

John Thatcher & Son, builders, 60 Park avenue, Brooklyn, have been awarded a general contract to construct a ten-story factory building, 52x100 feet, for the Grand Union Tea Co., Arthur A. Jones, president, 68 Jay street. The exact location of this structure has not as yet been announced. The plans and specifications for the new building, which will cost about $100,000, have been prepared by William Higginson, 13-21 Park Row, Manhattan. The structure will be fireproof, built of brick and concrete.

Large Residence at Englewood, N. J.

Preliminary plans are being prepared in the office of J. Martin Haenke Co., Inc., 15 Broad street, Manhattan, for a residence and garage to be erected at Englewood, N. J., at a cost of nearly $100,000. The buildings will be of brick and stucco, in the Colonial style of architecture. The name of the owner and additional details of construction will be announced in a later issue.

The Service that Meets High Standards

The light and power demands of a twelve-story apartment house in Central Park West are bound to be exacting. That is the reason Edison Service has been used exclusively for five years in the well known Harperly Hall apartments

Dependability of light and power is the first and most necessary factor in apartment house management. But economy is equally important. Edison Service combines both, together with other significant advantages

All this is worth investigating. Send a request to have an Edison engineer make an estimate for your building

GEORGE F. SPELMAN, specialist in departmental bureau permits, has recently opened an office at 101 Park av. Mr. Spelman was connected with the firm of McKim, Mead & White, architects, 101 Park av, for the last twenty years and in that time had entire charge of their business with the Bureau of Buildings, Tenement House and other departments, such as filing of plans, making amendments, removing violations, etc. The experience so gained and the familiarity with the laws governing buildings acquired by him during this long service has promoted him to specialize along this line, and submit his services in an advisory capacity to architects and owners in need of such.

H. S. BLACK, chairman of the United States Realty and Improvement Co., is quite optimistic regarding the future business outlook, particularly as applied to a revival in the building trades. Mr. Black recently said: "Building in the East shows little activity, but there is more doing in the Middle West. Good harvests may stimulate building, but at present more or less uncertainty seems to prevail. The war and threatened international complications are responsible for prevailing dullness. Investors are cautious and not inclined to make large commitments into the future. Except for those concerns benefiting through war orders general business is not brisk, but we look for a satisfactory outcome."

ARTISTS and designers are invited to participate in the competition, which closes July 1, 1915, for the designs of two seals or emblems, to serve as the official symbols of the North American Gymnastic Union, of Indianapolis, Ind., and its subsidiary, the Normal College of the N. He acted as New York manager for eight months, before which he was chief of the experimental and research department for a number of years, located at the factory in Jamestown. The new firm were recently awarded the prize in a competition for the design of the new building for the Rome Trust Co., at Rome, N. Y. The entrants in the competition included some of the foremost bank architects of the country.

F. E. FOLSOM COMPANY, of 507 5th av, Manhattan, has started a unique business, whereby the company takes out your building permit at the Bureau of Highways, assumes all responsibility for same as to deposits required, charges and refunds and guarantees the contractor or builder the actual cost of the permit before the work is undertaken. Through this service the public is relieved of any unnecessary delay as well as the unestimated expense of attending to the details in obtaining permits. The possibility to sub-contractors of future damages occurring to the premises after the completion of contracts and the shifting of these responsibilities and burdens should render these services of inestimable value. It has never been more important than now in view of the large increase in new building and alteration work contemplated, that something should be done to facilitate the work of the builders and contractors in relation to these permits. The Legal Department of the Folsom Company stands ready to advise on any permit problem that may arise in connection with any street opening permit.

OBITUARY

ALFRED R. MARSHALL, a building contractor, of Little Neck, L. I., died in the Flushing Hospital, Wednesday, May 19. His death was due to injuries received May 10, in a fall from a building he was erecting. He was thirty-six years old.

LOUIS CHRISTENSEN, a contracting plumber, in business at 49th st and New Utrecht av, died at his residence 1264 57th st, Brooklyn, Tuesday, May 18. He was born in Brooklyn thirty-eight years ago and is survived by his widow and two sons.

HENRY P. HENDRICKSON, a retired general contractor, who for years had been prominent in Brooklyn, died at his home 742 Carroll st. He was born in Brooklyn and had lived there all of his life. He was a member of the B. P. O. Elks and of the Society of Old Brooklynites. He is survived by a son and a daughter.

ROBERT A. McCORD, vice-president of the Hecla-Winslow Co., ornamental iron, 101 Park av, died at his home, in Greenwich, Conn., of a complication of diseases, Friday, May 14. He was forty-two years old. Mr. McCord was the son of the late Mr. William H. McCord, a steel merchant. For a time he was associated with his father in the business. He was a member of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club. He is survived by his widow and one son.

A. F. NORRIS, architect, 150 Nassau st, Manhattan, died of an affection of the stomach at his home, 73 Union av, Montclair, N. J., Tuesday, May 18. He was born fifty-three years ago, and had been well known as the designer of fine residences for many years. He had planned more than four hundred private dwellings in Montclair and vicinity. Mr. Norris was a member of the American Institute of Architects. He is survived by his widow and a son.

DANIEL T. OAKLEY, for thirty years a member of the firm of Oakley & Roberts, general contractors, died of heart disease at his home, 77 Day st, Orange, N. J., Wednesday, May 19. Mr. Oakley was seventy-seven years of age and was a descendent of one of the oldest families of Union county. He had been a resident of Orange for more than fifty years. Mr. Oakley has been a member of the Orange Building and Loan Association for twenty years and was connected with numerous social and fraternal societies and clubs. He is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter.

TRADE AND TECHNICAL SOCIETY EVENTS.

AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL INSTITUTE will hold its eighth annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Friday, May 28.

NATIONAL HARDWOOD LUMBER ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in Chicago, June 10-11. Secretary, F. F. Fish, Chicago.

NATIONAL ELECTRIC LIGHT ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in San Francisco, Cal., June 7-11. T. C. Martin, 29 West 39th st, N. Y. C., secretary.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MASTER STEAM AND HOT WATER FITTERS will hold its twenty-seventh annual convention in Milwaukee, Wis., June 21-25.

NEW JERSEY MASTER PLUMBERS' ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in the Second Regiment Armory, Trenton, N. J., May 25-27.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON CITY PLANNING will be held in Detroit, Mich., June 7-9. Secretary, Flavel Shurtleff, 19 Congress st, Boston, Mass.

NATIONAL RETAIL HARDWARE ASSOCIATION will hold its annual convention in St. Paul, Minn., June 22-24. Secretary, M. L. Corey, Argos, Ind.

NICHOLAS S. HILL, JR., consulting hydraulic and sanitary engineer, was elected president of the American Waterworks Association at the annual convention at Cincinnati last week.

NATIONAL DISTRICT HEATING ASSOCIATION will hold its seventh annual convention in Chicago, Ill., June 1-3. Headquarters at the Hotel Sherman. Secretary, D. L. Gaskill, Greenville, O.

AMERICAN IRON, STEEL & HEAVY HARDWARE ASSOCIATION will hold its sixth annual convention from May 25 to 28, at San Francisco, Cal., headquarters will be the St. Francis Hotel. Secretary-treasurer, John G. Purdie, Marbridge Building, New York City.

EASTERN TRADE GOLF ASSOCIATION will hold its annual spring tournament on the Oakland Links at Bayside, L. I., Wednesday, May 26. President A. S. Armagnac has appointed a Tournament Committee as follows: Charles S. Wood, chairman; C. C. Hale, Geo. W. Pierpont and W. G. Titus.

WILLIAM FELLOWES MORGAN, president of the Brooklyn Bridge Freezing and Cold Storage Co., was elected president of the Merchants' Association by the board of directors at its recent annual meeting. Other officers named were: Albert Plaut, first vice-president; Waldo H. Marshall, second vice-president; Louis E. Pierson, third vice-president; Silas D. Webb treasurer; S. C. Mead, secretary. Mr. Morgan reappointed Wiliam C. Breed chairman of the members' council of the association.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS held its annual meeting in the auditorium of the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th st, Tuesday evening, May 18. The report of the Board of Directors for the fiscal year ending April 30 was presented. Following the business meeting Alexander Graham Bell was presented with the Edison medal in an address by John J. Carty. The presentation was followed by an address by Thomas A. Watson on "How Bell Invented the Telephone."

ILLUMINATING ENGINEERING SOCIETY, at its coming annual meeting and election of officers will consider the following ticket: President, C. P. Steinmetz; vice-presidents, Clarence L. Law, J. L. Minick; general secretary, Alton S. Miller; treasurer, L. B. Marks; directors, W. A. Durgin, M. Luckiesh, J. Arnold Norcross. New York Section; Chairman, D. McFarlan Moore; secretary, Norman D. Macdonald; managers, Thomas M. Ambler, L. H. Graves, W. F. Little, E. R. Treverton, Herbert Whiting.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS will hold its twentieth annual convention in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, May 25-26. Former President Taft and United States Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, will be among the speakers. Mr. Taft will discuss the Clayton Act. The new Federal Trade Commission will be discussed by Mr. James A. Emery, and the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations by Mr. Walter Drew. Reports of committees will be made upon fire and accident prevention, the use of union labor, immigration, uniform State laws, industrial betterment and trademarks and copyrights.

NEW YORK SOCIETY OF ARCHITECTS.—The annual meeting of the society, which was also the tenth anniversary of its existence as an organized body, was held Tuesday evening, May 18, at the United Engineering Societies Building. There was a large and enthusiastic gathering of representative members from each of the five boroughs of the greater city. Felicitations were exchanged on the final success of the society's efforts to bring about the passage of the architects' registration bill, which is now the law of the State, having received the Governor's signature on May 3. The election of officers and members of the board of directors resulted in a return of practically the same names for the ensuing year. C. Schubert, president; James Riely Gordon, vice-president; Louis Berger, treasurer; Wm. T. Towner, secretary, and Edward Wehrlin, financial secretary. The president gave a short resume of the society's history, showing how it had grown from a small beginning at a meeting of practitioners in a suburb of Brooklyn to its present proud position as the largest organized body of architects in the State of New York. Special commendation was paid Mr. Schubert for his work in connection with the society's Year Book, which is a recognized manual of technical and general interest to the profession at large. Emphasis was laid by several leading members upon the necessity of maintaining the aggressive character and policy of the society, in correcting departmental and other abuses, these having been the primary cause of the society's inception.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

ITALY'S ENTRANCE INTO EUROPEAN EMBROGLIO WILL MEAN SHARP ADVANCE IN ART BUILDING METAL—RADIATORS LOW

Lumber Cutters Curtailing Shipments for Big-Profit Foreign Trade

ITALY'S entrance into the European war should immediately send the price of copper, brass and spelter at least five cents higher than prices prevailing a week ago, which even then were unprecedented. Thirty-cent copper and brass is almost a certainty, said a well-known wholesaler. This will represent a jump in copper of six cents for soft and five for hard. It will mean almost a ten-cent jump for sheet brass. Some of the manufacturers showed signs of being wary about protecting purchasers on specifications running more than a week, and one house refused to take anything but spot business.

Italy, ever since the war, has been the great clearing house for shipments of cartridge-making metals for Germany and Austria as well as for France. The shutting off of this market from Germany will mean the shipment of materials of this sort by roundabout routes entailing higher cost, and so great is the demand for these two commodities at present that domestic prices are based entirely upon the demand from abroad.

Spelter was again high and excited this week, affecting galvanized materials of all sorts. No quotation was made upon New York delivery as the week closed, although July and August sales were reported to be as high as fourteen cents. Some who bought spelter toward the end of the week paid as high as 16¼ cents a pound for it. That is one reason why plumbing interests figuring on pending building operations have not been able to drop their prices very much and have in consequence temporarily checked some speculative operations.

Pipe works are buying all the iron they can carry in anticipation of a continued advance in prices. No. 1 X Foundry northern pig iron is quoted today at 14.25c. a pound, and the demand from equipment companies is increasing, probably in anticipation of a sharp rise resulting from possible eventualities abroad.

Radiators, in marked contrast to almost every other department of the equipment market, are being sold lower than ever before with a single exception. This is due to a struggle for supremacy between various clusters of manufacturers against others and what is being spent for high-priced copper can almost be saved, according to one authority, in the current price of radiators.

Portland cement is without feature, save for increased orders for road work. Building orders in places outside of Manhattan continue to be fairly active. There was some attempt to stimulate building orders by offering of attractive concessions to dealers, but this movement was not concurred in by important companies, who are in on some of the road business and railroad work now coming out. The generally accepted level of Portland cement in the New York market today is $1.23 and $1.32 a barrel, wholesale.

Common brick has a good, steady call, practically all of that moving out of the wholesale dock going into construction work above the Harlem. Prices range from $6 to $6.50 a thousand.

Lumber is in a doubtful tone, depending upon location of yards. There is a great deal of concern in some quarters regarding the state of supply in the autumn, if the European situation becomes more tense. There is fear of a general scarcity of building grades here because of the already scant cut at the manufacturing centers and the difficulty of getting boats to bring the lumber to New York.

Manufacturers, according to information at hand, have not been getting hardly a profit-taking price for their material for a long time. If the war is protracted much longer and more countries become involved, the cutting interests believe that America will be deluged with lumber orders from abroad at the termination of the war. They profess to see in the future handsome prices for dressed building lumber, with spot cash payments and no shipping risk. Some idea of what this curtailment of cutting and shipment means may be gathered from an official table compiled by the Lumber World Review which shows that during March, 1914, 737,300,000 feet of soft and hardwoods were cut, while in March, 1915, only 676,700,000 feet were cut. Shipments in March, 1914, totalled 668,800,000 feet, whereas March, 1915, showed a total shipment for both hard and soft woods of only 629,300,000 feet. That is one reason why dealers have not been over willing to shade price lists for speculative building operations and builders have found terms very limited. If the European situation becomes more critical prices will be sure to move up rather than go lower.

Plan filings in the five boroughs for the week ending May 21, follow. In the same week last year 279 new building plans were filed, with an estimated value of $2,907,925. The notable difference in estimated value of plans filed last week was due to the filing of plans for the new court house, which alone was estimated to cost $10,000,000.

LUMBER.

Some Figures Showing Why War May Boost Prices.

IF every builder could be impressed with the necessity of doing his prospective building now he would be a richer man than he will be if he delays his purchases or his building operations. For instance, those behind the scenes in the lumber world know that there is being shaped a plan to conserve a tremendous suply for the European reconstruction period that is to follow the war. Italy s entrance into the melee will hasten the day when the long-expected demand will develop and the American consumer who hesitated when he had the chance to buy cheap, will take the consequences of his overconservatism.

Practically the same conditions prevail in other lines, including Portland cement, copper, brass, iron, and many equipments. But these are reliable figures, compiled by the Lumber World Review from the reports as sent in to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, and cover the states of Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma, Montana, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Manufacturers are holding back their cutting and their shipments. For some time they have not been able to make the business profitable. The demand has been too spotty and competition has been too keen. They warned the dealers some time ago that they were going to reduce their cut. The dealers smiled, said it was only the usual bluff of the manufacturers to make them buy, and they let their stocks run down. Today, they are finding not anywhere near as big a stock on hand at the mills and they are not so keen about cutting their prices to speculative builders as previously. This is why speculators are not getting as attractive prices as formerly. Also, it is why the dealers are somewhat worried about getting building grades in sufficient quantity.

The cut in soft woods in March, 1914, for the states named was 656,800,000 feet. In March, 1915, it was 615,900,000. Shipments in March, 1914, were 627,700,000 feet. In March, 1915, 587,600,000. Cutting in hardwoods March 1914, totalled 80,500,000 feet. In March, 1915, 60,800,000. Shipments in this department were about even between the two months in the respective years, because there was a large stock on hand that the manufacturers wanted to work off. The shipments in March, 1914, were 41,100,000 feet. In March, 1915, 41,700,000 feet. The total cutting of all kinds of lumber in March, 1914, was 737,300,000 as against 676,700,000 feet last March. The shipments in March, 1914, were 668,800,000 feet. Those in March, 1915, were 629,300,000 feet.

There is shown a decrease in soft wood cut of 6.2 per cent., a decrease in hardwood cut of 24.6 per cent. and a decrease in total cut of 8.2 per cent. The decrease in soft wood shipments amounts to 6.4 per cent. The increase in hardwood shipments was 1.5 per cent., but the total decrease in shipments was 5.9 per cent.

CEMENT.

Natural Cement in Strong Demand—Portland Active.

ONE of the surprising things about the late depression was the steady upward demand for natural cement. According to William C. Morton, of the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company, of 50 Church street, there is more natural cement being used in this city today than for years. This may reflect the unstable condition existing in the Portland market to a certain degree, at least. The price of ninety cents has steadily prevailed throughout the winter.

Portland cement in this market is being held steadily at prices ranging from $1.23 to $1.32 a barrel alongside of dock. The relinquishment of road orders and the releasing of some railroad contracts have made eastern dealers a little less dependent upon the builders and, in consequence, there has been a steady strengthening in the levels now ruling. There are some dealers who have been able to exercise old options or back contracts and have taken some cement at low prices from certain companies, but these quotations do not make the market, which may be said to be steady and firm.

IRON AND STEEL.

Fabricating Business Here Slightly Improved.

STEEL and iron orders in this market have been of more sizable character this week. The Levering & Garrigues Company was awarded the contract for 1,000 tons for the Riverside power station at Albany and Milliken Brothers will supply 350 tons for the extension to the Lambs' Club. Inquiries developed this week for 1,500 tons for the John J. Radley loft building and for 1,500 tons of steel to be used in the construction of the Third Presbyterian Church in Newark.

Pipe works are heavy buyers in the iron market. There were more sales of low phosphorus iron and galvanized iron pipe stiffened. The U. S. Steel Corporation increased its output.

COMMON BRICK.

Dealers Report Moderate Demand for Hudsons and Raritans.

MANUFACTURERS of common brick in both the Hudson and Raritan districts feel what they call a satisfactory pulse in the present market. There was a slight easing off on prices this week, following the rain on Monday. The range has not changed for good brick. Raritan brick interests are holding their brick firm and are equipped for any emergency, providing they can take a profit on the brick they make. The Hudson river manufacturers have been inclined to ship rather freely, but the quick easing off of prices sufficed to warn them of the consequences of flooding the market at this time. The bear movement on prices failed to develop any strength and the market today is as strong as it was a week ago for well burned material.

Official transactions for Hudson River brick covering the week ending Thursday, May 20, in the wholesale market, with comparison for the corresponding period last year and a comparative statement of Hudson brick unloaded from barges for consumption here, follows:

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.

GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE TOWARD REALTY

As Observed at Albany and City Hall—No Strong Desire for Economy —Public Opinion Must Be Changed—Views of Two Leaders

HON. Cyrus C. Miller, chairman of the executive committee of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests (formerly Borough President of the Bronx and member of the Board of Estimate), when asked for an expression of opinion on the meaning and effect of recent city and State legislation and the apparent attitude of officialdom toward business interests, dictated the following:

Ex-President Miller's Views.

"There seems to be an idea in the minds of some real estate owners that city and State officials have a settled enmity towards real estate. I think this is an error. To be sure, isolated cases of indifference to real estate interests may point to such a condition of mind, but I think it is far from general.

"The record of the last Legislature towards real estate has been a mixed one. In the first place, it passed a good many bills, such as the Lockwood-Ellenbogen bill, and others to ameliorate the condition of real estate. On the other hand, the percentage of waste in the bills making a direct State tax necessary was prejudicial to real estate.

The People Were the Spenders.

"The spending record of the municipal government for the past twenty years has been the result of pressure by citizens themselves.

"We must not forget that one of the functions of officials is to appropriate and disburse the moneys necessary to carry on the government, and that eventually all taxes get back to bear directly on real estate. Appropriations therefore, be they little or big, must fall eventually on real estate. The question is not how to avoid such taxes, but how to see that they are expended economically. Here must arise a difference of opinion.

"Social workers and persons who do not own real estate naturally do not take the same direct interest in limiting expenditures as the owners of real estate do who pay the taxes in the first instance.

"Of course, everybody in a community pays taxes directly or indirectly, but the indirect payers are not so apt to realize it. Large organized bodies in the community, which are composed of indirect payers, constantly press officials to make expenditures which are designed to further plans for educational, charitable, religious or social work, or to grant exemptions of taxes or assessments which fall on the rest of the community; accompanying such pressure with laudatory articles in the public prints which tend to make the official popular and to favor his political fortunes. Many of these schemes are good, and in line with our advance in civilization, but many are bad.

"The real estate interests, on the other hand, which are directly interested in such expenditures, are individualistic and unorganized. It must not be forgotten that in the past many of the official extravagances have been urged by real estate people themselves, and also that every good reform for the betterment of housing and working conditions in the city has been made despite the opposition of some of the less intelligent real estate interests. This is apt to create in the minds of officials the impression that all reforms will be opposed by real estate, which is an unfortunate condition for both parties.

WHAT is the attitude and purpose of official and social forces in New York City and State toward real property interests, as evidenced, for example, by the results of the late session of the Legislature and, for another example, by the record of the municipal government?

The question was asked of two gentlemen prominently identified with real estate interests, in order to obtain a definite expression of opinion. Disappointment over the unwillingness of the Mayor to sanction the Lockwood-Ellenbogen bill to reduce the over-regulation of buildings, and resentment at the imposition of an extraordinary direct State tax on top of an increased city tax, have been very marked in business circles, and coupled with expressions of conviction that the law-making powers were either hostile or indifferent to the general welfare.

Social Workers Skilfully Advised.

"While we see the forces for spending money organized and exerting constant pressure, the real estate interests are unorganized and do not bring their intelligence to bear on the subject in a concerted way. The mercantile interests, the banking interests and all other large interests in the city are organized to present their best arguments to city, State and National officials. They retain the most talented men in their ranks to advise them.

"Real estate should do likewise. It should not maintain the attitude of opposition to progress, but should adopt an enlightened policy to advance with the progress of the city, and at the same time to prevent waste.

"There are many questions of policy in fields of expenditure which have not been worked out in the best way. The city has not had a settled financial policy. Until recently not even a beginning had been made in this most necessary part of the municipal government. Until this is done we must drift along in the haphazard way of the past. Perhaps the Constitutional Convention supplemented by the best thought of the city expressed in the new charter will give us the relief we need."

False Impressions, Says Pres. McGuire.

President Laurence M. D. McGuire of the Real Estate Board, remarked:

"My experience with the city, Legislature and Governor has convinced me that the most important work before the real estate interests to-day is to effect a radical change in public opinion and in official opinion.

"Through the zealous efforts of certain types of social uplifters, unfortunately given wide publicity in the newspapers and through extensive circularization for mercenary purposes, there has been created in the minds of the ordinary citizens a false idea of the property owner and landlord.

"He is represented as a scheming, heartless and avaricious man, careless of the lives and comfort of his tenants and seeking only to wring the last cent of profit out of his investment.

"To the official the property owner is a mere minority, whose vote is not worth considering, when it is remembered that there are eighty-six tenants to fourteen landlords.

"There is also an impression in official circles that the landlord is what the tenant considers him, and that, in addition, landlords as a class are absolutely without gratitude.

"The Lockwood-Ellenbogen bill, an eminently meritorious measure, was vehemently opposed by the press and by a large class of well meaning citizens who believed the misrepresentations of interested office-holders and social uplifters. This bill, which made for economy and simplicity in building inspection, should have received the unanimous support of the community.

"It is for the reasons given above that economy in city administration does not receive the support it should.

Economy Measures Vetoed.

"None of the various measures introduced in the Legislature looking toward economy received enthusiastic support, and even when we succeeded in getting them passed by the Legislature they were vetoed either by the Governor or the Mayor.

"The Sanders bill, introduced at my suggestion, to do away with an entirely unnecessary labor building bureau in cities which have competent building bureaus, would have saved the State several hundred thousands of dollars. But it was vetoed by the Governor, and I am not aware that there was any adverse editorial comment in the daily press anywhere in the State on this veto.

"The Department of Purchase bill, which, it is estimated, would have saved the city $2,500,000 a year, was vetoed by the Mayor because it took some patronage from him and gave it to the Board of Estimate, and again there was no adverse editorial comment in the daily press. City officials have indulged in a great deal of talk regarding mandatory legislation, yet the city gave no support whatever to a bill giving the city absolute control over all city and county salaries; and again there was no criticism of their action.

The First Duty.

"In my opinion there is no strong desire, either among city or State officials, or among people generally, for economy in government administration. It should be the first duty of the real estate interests to educate public opinion and show that the tenant and landlord are partners and that municipal misgovernment and all governmental waste affects everyone in the community.

STATE LABOR DEPARTMENT REORGANIZED

Industrial Board and Office of Labor Commissioner Abolished—New Commission Heads Department—Members Appointed

THE Governor has signed one new piece of legislation which holds great consequences for good or evil for real estate. The Spring bill, which he signed on Monday, the last day under the law, completely reorganizes the State Department of Labor. It abolishes the office of the Commissioner of Labor, the Industrial Board and the Workmen's Compensation Commission, and establishes a new body called the Industrial Commission, with five members, who were appointed this week.

The new commission is the head of the Department of Labor and will take over the duties of the offices which have been abolished and will meet in June to organize its work. Meanwhile all the rules, regulations and orders of the former Industrial Board, Compensation Commission and Labor Commissioner will continue in force until changed. The law uses the word "commission" to designate the new body, and nowhere refers to it as a board of commissioners, but always as "the commission," or as "the members of the commission."

The appointed members are John Mitchell of Mount Vernon, chairman; James H. Lynch of Syracuse, H. H. Rogers of Rochester, Edward B. Lyon of Brooklyn, Louis Wiard of Batavia. Messrs. Mitchell and Lynch have been prominent in labor counsels for many years. Mr. Lyon is president of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., and Messrs. Rogers and Wiard are said to be manufacturers. No one of them has the point of view of the New York owner or manager of a building used in whole or part for factory or mercantile purposes, who is equally responsible with the tenant, under the terms of the law. It will be perceived that the board will be dominated by welfare workers.

Particulars of the Spring Bill.

The term of office of each commissioner will be six years, except that the terms of the commissioners first appointed will expire, one on Jan. 1, 1917, and the others in rotation each succeeding year. Each commissioner will receive an annual salary of $8,000.

To advise the commission there will be an Industrial Council of ten members appointed by the Governor, five to represent the interest of employees and five to represent the interest of employers (but none to represent the interests of the owners of the property). The councilmen will receive no compensation or expenses.

Three Deputy Commissioners.

The Industrial Commission will appoint a First Deputy Commissioner of Labor, to have charge of the Bureau of Inspection; a Second Deputy Commissioner to have charge of the Workmen's Compensation Bureau; a Third Deputy Commissioner to be in charge of the Bureau of Mediation and Arbitration. The first and second deputies will receive a salary of $6,000 each, and the third deputy $5,000.

The bill amends the law so that the new commission takes over all the duties formerly discharged by the Commissioner of Labor, as well as by the Industrial Board. The administrative work is to be apportioned among the members of the commission. Authorization is given for the appointment of a secretary at an annual salary of $6,000, additional deputy commissioners, statisticians, secretaries, accountants, physicians, experts and other assistants as may be necessary for the exercise of the commission's powers under both the Labor law and the Workmen's Compensation law.

The commission will meet at least once a month at Albany or New York City, and other meetings when called. All meetings shall be open to the public. It is to have the power of subpoena, power to make, amend and repeal rules and regulations for carrying into effect the provisions of the chapter, and to prescribe means, methods and practices to effectuate such provisions.

The Industrial Code.

The rules and regulations to be made by the commission will constitute the Industrial code. In the meantime the rules, regulations and orders of the Commissioner of Labor, the Industrial Board and the Workmen's Compensation Commission are continued in force, and shall be operative until modified.

Powers of the New Commission.

Power is given to the commission to make, amend and repeal rules and regulations for proper sanitation, in all places to which the Labor Law applies, with respect to (a) the construction, alteration, equipment and maintenance of all such places; (b) the arrangement and guarding of machinery, and the storing and keeping of property and articles; (c) the places where, and the methods and operation by which trades and occupations may be conducted, and the conduct of employees, employers and other persons.

Discretionary power to vary a provision of the law is conferred upon the commission.

While the new amendments abolish the offices of Commissioner and Deputy Commissioners of Labor, the Industrial Board and the Workmen's Compensation Commission, all other officers, assistants, inspectors and employees of the Department of Labor are continued in office.

Other Bills Signed.

When Governor Whitman signed the bill levying a direct tax of $19,560,000 upon the State he issued an elaborate explanation of his action. Premising it with a charge that on assuming office he found State finances exhausted through failure of the Glynn Administration to provide means for payment of obligations, the Governor's statement points out that he has eliminated $2,565,000 from the appropriation bills, leaving $63,370,000 as the final budget. The Governor then seeks to answer New York City's protest by saying that while it is true that New York City pays about 70 per cent of the taxes of the State, the city benefits proportionately from the expenditures.

"I wish to assure the people of the State," says Governor Whitman, "that the appropriations, which I have approved, represent necessities that are actual and that the total of these appropriations, no matter what the amount, gives opportunity only for carrying out the functions of the State with decency and the maintenance and protection of structures, canals and highways against wasteful deterioration."

Acting Mayor McAneny suggests that the city may yet escape the proposed increase of seventeen points in the tax rate by the intervention of a special session of the Legislature in the early fall. He says that the effect of the proposed direct tax will be to pile up a surplus in the general fund of the State Treasury, which might be further increased if the Constitutional Convention should release a part of the $27,000,000 in the sinking fund of the State. Mr. McAneny declares that analysis of the appropriations for this year and last showed that the greatest increases are not in allowances for the current cost of government, but in the so-called special or other unusual items.

The Brooklyn Marginal Road.

Governor Whitman also signed the Cullen bill, authorizing the construction of the Brooklyn Marginal Railroad.

The purpose of the amendment embodied in this bill is to allow railroad companies to hold stocks, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness in a freight terminal company, which it is proposed to incorporate, to operate the terminal facilities in the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens. The Governor says:

"The bill is opposed on these grounds: That the city's proposal to construct, equip and lease to trunk line railways will result in a large annual loss to the city. That the estimated cost is inadequate. That there will ultimately be an investment of $22,000,000, of which the city will receive interest on only $7,500,000. That the measure is designed for the benefit of certain land owners. That there have been purchases of unnecessary property at excessive figures.

"Objections of cost, business policy, whether the city has paid exorbitant prices for unnecessary land, are not germane to the question of whether I should approve or not.

"Refusal to approve would not prevent conditions complained of. A contract must be entered into between the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and a freight terminal company.

"The city has invested a large amount. It should not be prevented from securing the benefit it claims would be obtained through approval of this bill."

The Governor has signed the Court House bill, providing for building the New York County Court House by stories.

National Conference on City Planning.

The City of Detroit will entertain the Seventh National Conference on City Planning on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 7 to 9. There will be an exhibition of city planning, illustrating the program of the meeting and the work of the Plan Commission of Detroit, at Hotel Statler. Frederic Law Olmsted is president of the Conference; Nelson P. Lewis, vice president. Among the speakers and their topics will be Flavel Shurtleff, secretary of the conference, on "Six Years on City Planning in the United States"; Edward H. Bennett of Chicago, on "The City Plan of Detroit."

The report of the conference committee on "Best Methods of Land Subdivision" will be presented by E. P. Goodrich, consulting engineer to the Borough of Manhattan. The committee's report is based on data received from local committees which have been gathering the facts about the more important types of subdivisions that have been tested in the United States and Canada.

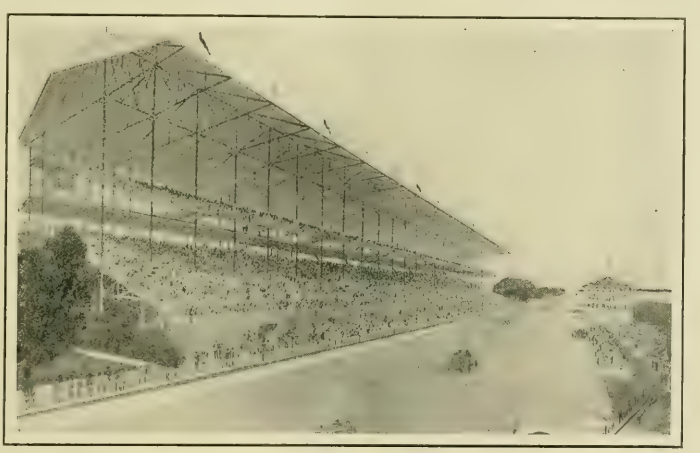
Paul A. Harsch, vice president of the E. H. Close Realty Company of Toledo, will speak on the "Best Methods of Land Subdivision from the Viewpoint of the Real Estate Developer." Burt L. Fenner, of McKim, Mead & White, on "City Planning and Civic Designs." Robert H. Whitten, secretary of the City Planning Committee of the New York Board of Estimate, will present the report of the committee of the conference which has been studying "The Constitution and Powers of a City Planning Authority." Frank B. Williams, New York, will speak on "European Planning Administration."

NEW $3,000,000 AUTOMOBILE SPEEDWAY

Improvement of Old Coney Island Jockey Club Holdings—Two Mile Track and Mammoth Grand Stand the Features

AFTER spending ten months in research and preparation on plans, Koehler, Spyr & Farrington, architects, 489 Fifth avenue, have designed an automobile speedway which should prove, when completed, to be one of the fastest and safest ever projected. Its grandstands will be among the largest built in this section of the country. In general, it will be a pleasure-ground for national and international sports of all kinds.

The property involved is the old Coney Island Jockey Club holding, on Ocean avenue, Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn.



The track is a two-mile circuit, composed of two half-mile straightaways and two half-mile semi-circular turns varying in width from 70 feet on the straightaways to 76 feet on the turns. The latter, or bents, as they are technically called, will be built upon steel trestles, 25.6 feet higher on the outside than on the inside of the track, forming true parabolas in cross section, and allowing for speeds on these turns ranging from 60, at about midway of roadbed, to 120 miles an hour on the high area of the curves. These curves are mathematically designed for mechanical, automatic safety for excessive speeds. Spiral easements approach the main curves for a distance of 720 feet, starting from the straightaway on both sides and at both ends. The roadbed will consist of 2 by 4-inch planed long-leaf yellow pine strips, set on edge, and laid in the direction of the course. The architects decided upon a wood roadbed, set upon substantial foundations and rigid supports, after obtaining most complete data, feeling sure that it makes the fastest track with the least wear on the tires.

This roadbed construction is a radical departure from the Brooklands track, in England, which is of concrete and lumpy, or the Indianapolis track, where the bed is of vitrified brick, which creeps. Both of these defects cause a jarring or jumping of the cars when travelling at excessively high speed. The strain on racing drivers travelling 500 miles at a two-mile-a-minute clip is minimized by a scientifically designed track with a perfectly smooth roadbed.

The public has been safeguarded first by placing the grandstands along the straightaways, accidents generally occurring on the turns, and by encircling the track on the outside for its entire length by a reinforced concrete wall, 30 inches high, and on the inside by a wall hub-high. The reduced height on the inside line is, for obvious reasons, for the benefit of racing drivers and their mechanicians.

The grandstand, a picture of which is published herewith, will be among the largest structures of its kind in the world, and can be increased, if need be, by adding sections, to double its present capacity. The design, as can be seen from the cut, shows a two-tier stand, roofed, built along the west straightaway. It will be 1,850 feet in length and 136 feet in depth, from front rail to rear of concourse, and measuring 90 feet in height from ground to top of roof. There will be fifty rows of individual seats on the two tiers, making about twenty miles of seats. Ramps of easy grade give access to the first tier and broad stairways at every section extend from the lower tier to the upper concourse.

The entire front of the stand is given up to nine hundred boxes with separate access from the arena and about fifty boxes de luxe opposite the pits. These boxes will accommodate from six to ten persons each. A concourse, 25 feet wide, extending along the entire rear of the stand, will be accessible from the various entrances by inclines, thus keeping the seatholders on a raised platform above the vehicular traffic.

Koehler, Spyr & Farrington, Architects.
GRANDSTAND AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY MOTORDROME.

This mammoth stand will be constructed of steel, rigidly braced and well anchored into massive masonry foundations. The platforms and risers will be of wood. Refreshment and retiring rooms, also the lavatories and toilets, are distributed along the concourses.

Opposite the grandstand and along the straightaway on the east side of the track will be a heavy bolted timber stand with comfortable individual seats similar in every respect to those on the grandstand, with accessories in every way equal thereto. This stand will not be covered and has been designed in one tier to seat about 30,000 people. It will be deeper and longer than the main stand and can be increased at a later date, if desired, to the extent of about one-third of its present capacity.

Inside the track the field has been divided into sections to park about 30,000 automobiles. In back of the grandstand ample parking space is provided for accommodating automobiles of seatholders.

In addition to these features, there will be fifty garages for racing cars, about sixty pits, and four-decked judges', reporters' and refreshment buildings; also pavilions inside the field. Handsome entrance gateways, good roads, and walks have been laid out.

The architects estimate the cost of the work to be completed before the fall meet approximately at $1,100,000. This estimate includes the builders' profit, but does not allow for architects' fees, accountants' fees, or the salaries of officials and employees or administration cost, during construction.

In addition to the work above described the architects have designed an elaborate country clubhouse, to contain one hundred rooms, unique in so far as it caters to the special requirements of automobilists touring Long Island. It is to be located on Ocean avenue, at the main entrance to this Speedway Park. Ten tennis courts will be built on one side so that play may be watched from the balconies of the clubhouse. The estimated cost of this building is $300,000.

Hangars have been planned for the southerly end of the front on Ocean avenue, so arranged that the track field is accessible thereto as an aviation ground. It is intended to make this the principal demonstration plant for improvements in flying apparatus of all kinds in the East, to which it is exceptionally well adapted. The beautiful property of Henry Payne Whitney, on Garretson's Pond, adjoining the track property on the east, has been purchased, and the architects have planned golf links for a course of eighteen holes and a course of nine holes. The links will involve an expenditure of some $50,000.

The credit for the enterprise is largely due to J. C. Nichols, an automobile enthusiast, who bought an option of the property; Anderson T. Herd, a real estate operator, who, together with Horace M. Kilborn, vice-president of the National City Bank, and the architects, Koehler, Spyr & Farrington, succeeded in interesting Charles E. Danforth, of Van Emburgh & Atterbury, bankers, and Percy R. Pyne, 2nd. The latter two gave the project prestige by interesting their friends in the purchase of stock. The title passed from the Jockey Club to the Sheepshead Bay Speedway Corporation on April 15, and the contract for the entire work was awarded to the Coast & Lakes Contracting Corporation, who started a large force of men at work May 19. The work is to be completed on September 1.

The first race is scheduled for Labor Day, September 6, and the great 500-mile race on Columbus Day, October 12.

Income Tax Information.

For failure to file the Federal income tax return the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided to assess a fine of $10 in the case of corporations and $5 in the case of individuals. Should this failure be repeated a second time the fine will be one-half as great again. A notice to this effect was sent to the collectors by the Commissioner.

Building Code Hearing.

Public notice is hereby given that the committee on buildings of the Board of Aldermen will hold a public hearing in the Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, Borough of Manhattan, on Thursday, June 3, at 2 P. M., on the following matter: No. 1758. An ordinance relating to masonry construction in buildings (Minutes of May 11, 1915).

NEW RULES FOR FIREPROOF CONSTRUCTION

Preliminary Draft of an Ordinance for the Building Code—Reinforced Concrete is Rated as Fireproof—Stone Lintels Prohibited, Except for Decorative Purposes

THE preliminary draft of another article of the Building code has been prepared in the revision now being undertaken by the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen. This article, which is No. 17 of the Building Code, deals with Fireproof Construction.

In this proposed article the exterior walls of fireproof buildings must be of approved masonry or reinforced concrete.

When the interior construction of a fireproof building consists of steel frame or steel construction of any kind it must be, with certain exceptions, entirely encased in fireproofing materials.

Exterior wall columns must be encased in 8 inches of masonry on the outside and 4 inches on the inside, as is now required by law.

Interior columns must be encased with at least 2 inches of fireproofing material, securely applied. Lugs and brackets are permitted, however, to come within 1 inch of the face of the fireproofing. Where columns are liable to damage from trucking, sheet metal jackets are required around the bottom.

Beams and Girders Protected.

Beams and girders in walls must be encased in at least 2 inches of fireproofing, and beams and girders in the interior with at least 1½ inches.

Iron or steel lintels over wall openings will not be required to be fireproofed if the openings are not more than 4 feet or the lintels are supplemented by arches of approved masonry that carry the walls independent of the lintels.

Stone lintels are prohibited, except for decorative purposes, on the outside, in which case they must be supplemented by arches or steel lintels back of them.

The members of trusses must be encased with 2 inches of fireproofing except in the case of such trusses which carry roof loads only over large assembly rooms or other interior open spaces at least 20 feet high below the lower chords of the trusses.

The materials that may be used for encasing columns, beams or trusses are enumerated, and a general provision provides for any material that will pass the specified test. Some of the materials that may be used are brickwork, stone or cinder concrete, terra cotta and gypsum.

It is not permitted to embody pipes, wires or cables in the fireproofing protection.

Provision is also made for the use of masonry piers on the interior instead of steel construction where it may be desired to make such a substitution.

Stone masonry for purposes of support, however, is prohibited unless it is supplemented by approved masonry or properly protected steel construction.

Reinforced concrete is rated as fireproof construction.

Floor Arches.

For the floor arches of buildings the acceptance of the materials in general use is provided for. The usual specification for brickwork arches is included. Terra cotta arches are accepted either in flat or segmental form. The depth of arch blocks for flat arches is fixed at 1½ inches per foot of span, exclusive of the portion which projects below the underside of the beams as fireproofing. Segmental arches must be at least 6 inches in depth. When necessary on account of the span or floor loads, the depth of the blocks and the thickness of the shells and webs must be increased. The basis on which reinforced terra cotta arches are accepted is given.

Concrete floor arches may be either of stone concrete or cinders, the proportions fixed for either case being 1:2:4. Reinforcement is required only in flat slabs, and must be placed at least 1 inch above the underside of the slab. The limitations as to its use are practically that when wire is used nothing smaller than No. 7 can be used, and when rods are used the 5/16 round rod or its equivalent is the minimum.

When the concrete is used in segmental form, it must be at least 4 inches thick. The thickness of flat slabs is fixed at 1/18 of the span, and not less than 4 inches in any case.

Concrete Arches.

The strength of concrete arches is to be determined by a formula with coefficients varying in accordance as to whether loose rods are used or rods hooked over or secured to the beams or steel fabric continuous over the supports, and varying also with cinder or stone concrete. This formula has been so drawn that it provides for the arches that are now approved by the Bureau of Buildings. It is felt that this formula is a more logical arrangement than the table which was incorporated in the Building Code proposed by the Herbst Committee and which, it is understood, was generally acceptable to the fireproofing interests. An advantage in the use of this formula over the table is that for the more usual conditions of apartment house work and office buildings a greater freedom of design and a greater possibility of economy is secured over the limitations fixed by the table referred to.

Provision is also made for the figuring of the strength of concrete construction in forms other than flat slabs, the stresses to be used in these cases being given.

Other forms of floor filling than those enumerated can be used, provided they meet the prescribed fire test, which is the same as provided in the present law.

Loading Tests.

Provision is also made for a method of making load tests. There is nothing in the present law requiring load tests, and up to within a year these tests have been conducted in a very slipshod manner.

In the case of mansards, dormers, roofs of bulkheads and roofs having a pitch of more than 30 degrees book tile construction is provided for.

All arches of segmental form must have a rise of 1 inch to the foot of span. Tie rods may be omitted in buildings of skeleton construction, provided reinforcement in the floor construction is continuous over the supports or securely fastened to the beams. Floor arches are limited to spans of 8 feet, except in the case of arches designed as reinforced concrete arches or in the case of reinforced terra cotta arches.

The space between the top of the arch and the underside of the flooring is required to be filled with a lean concrete mixture or other incombustible materials approved by the Superintendent of Buildings.

To meet criticisms from the Fire Department, provision is made for waterproofing the floor arches.

The present requirement forbidding the cutting of floors to a greater extent than 2 square feet without framing is continued.

Partitions.

Interior partitions, not including those around elevator shafts, hallways or fire walls, are specified to be of incombustible materials. Any material or construction meeting the fire test of 1 hour may be used for partitions. The materials enumerated as acceptable without further test are those now in general use, as follows: brick; concrete, either stone or cinder; terra cotta; concrete blocks; gypsum blocks; metal lath and plaster.

Unless partitions are built as approved masonry walls, they must be carried independently at each floor, and must be constructed of sufficient lateral strength. The fire test in use at present is made the criterion of their acceptance in the future.

Ordinary wood is permitted for floor sleepers, door bucks and grounds when they are covered on all sides, but the use of wood for ceiling construction or ornamental plaster work is prohibited.

When the height of the building does not exceed 150 feet, doors, windows, flooring and interior trim when solidly backed with fireproofing material may be of wood. When the building exceeds 150 feet in height, the floor surface must be of incombustible material or of fireproofed wood, except that in the public halls and stairways only incombustible materials may be used. The inside window frames, doors, trim and other interior finish is required to be of metal or wood covered with metal or of fireproofed wood or any incombustible material or composition that will show a fire resistance equal to that required for fireproofed wood.

Fireproofed Wood.

For the acceptance of fireproofed wood the superintendents must prescribe rules providing not only for the test of the material but the inspection and marking of the material so that assurance may be had that the proper material eventually gets into the building.

In buildings over 150 feet in height the outside windows and the frame and sash shall be of metal or wood covered with metal.

Any approvals heretofore issued by the superintendents of buildings are continued in effect, except that the constructions must comply with any specific provisions of the article. New materials and constructions may be accepted under the test or rules prescribed by the superintendent of buildings. Authority is also given to the superintendent to accept duly authenticated tests when it is clear that the intent of the law is secured.

The provisions of the article are not applicable to work that is in progress of construction, but this does not include relief from a failure to comply with provisions heretofore existing.

New Subway Route.

A new route for a connection between the Bronx Park branch of the existing subway at Simpson street and the proposed Pelham Bay Park branch of the Lexington avenue subway in the Bronx has been adopted by the Public Service Commission, and sent to the Board of Estimate. The commission advised the Board that "the necessary money for the construction of the connection should not be deducted from the existing funds appropriated to carry out the construction provisions" of the Dual System contract, and that if the connection is built it will be necessary for the Board of Estimate to appropriate additional money. Residents of the eastern part of the Bronx have been urging the construction of this connection for some time. The new route provides for an elevated railroad running through Westchester avenue so as to join the two lines.

LEGAL VICTORY FOR TENEMENT OWNERS

Held Not to be Responsible for Negligence of Tenants —New Regulations for Commissioners of Deeds

THE Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, through its Board of Counsel, Hon. Morgan J. O'Brien, chairman, calls to the attention of property owners the determination of two important legal matters, the first by the Court of Appeals, in the case of the Tenement House Commissioner vs. Lucy A. McDevitt.

In the past there has been considerable complaint on the part of property owners who have been held directly responsible for conditions upon the premises which they own when, as a matter of fact, these conditions are directly attributable to the negligence and the carelessness of the tenants. It has been claimed that the Tenement House Law in this respect has been very severe upon property owners, for it holds them directly liable, in many cases, for the actions of their tenants.

This condition of affairs has doubtless arisen due to the fact that it is much easier to hold the property owners liable than the tenants, who may move out upon immediate notice. This same tendency to impose all the responsibility upon the property owner was also evident in the case of the Fire Commissioner vs. the Greenwood Cemetery Corporation, where the Fire Commissioner endeavors to place the cost of extinguishing the fire, probably caused by the tenants' negligence, upon the property owner.

An Unconstitutional Law.

However, in the recent case cited above, the Court of Appeals decided that the amendment to the Tenement House Law making the owners of property responsible for the character of their tenants was unconstitutional.

The amendment provides $50 fine for convictions of the maintenance of disorderly tenements, and $1,000 fine for subsequent convictions. By the enforcement of this amendment the Corporation Counsel believed that disorderly persons would be kept out of tenement houses. The facts adduced show that the property owner had no knowledge of the character of the people occupying his tenement and the question involved was whether such a property owner could be made to pay a fine for a legal violation of which he had no knowledge and could neither prevent nor control. The Court of Appeals decided that he could not be held liable, under the facts stated.

Naturally, if any property owner were cognizant of the conditions prevailing upon his premises such as stated in this particular case, real estate interests would heartily approve of the enforcement of the most drastic laws to prevent the repetition of such conditions; but when the property owner can not reasonably know of such conditions, as in this case, it would seem rather exacting to hold him responsible for the same.

Although, in the opinion of the Corporation Counsel, it may seem that the amendment to the law is the only method that can be devised to keep irreputable persons from reputable persons in tenements, nevertheless the very harshness of the law has apparently worked its undoing. There is every reason to believe that the real estate interests would heartily co-operate with the Corporation Counsel in seeking a remedy for the problem confronting the city authorities, without making the solution entirely too drastic.

Powers of Commissioners of Deeds.

The other legal matter which is of particular interest to property owners relates to the powers of Commissioners of Deeds of the City of New York to take acknowledgment and proofs of instruments for record and to administer oaths. The law in this respect has been changed in important particulars by Chapter 607 or the Laws of 1915. It repeals the present requirement that before a Commissioner of Deeds can act he must file his certificate of appointment and autograph signature in the office of the Clerk or Register of the county in which he resides and in which the acknowledgment is taken. This act empowers a commissioner to take acknowledgments and to administer oaths as soon as he has been appointed and has qualified by taking the constitutional oath of office and filing his autograph signature in the office of the City Clerk. He may then take acknowledgments or administer oaths in any part of the City of New York.

A Commissioner of Deeds is authorized to file his certificate of appointment and autograph signature in the office of any or all of the Clerks and of the Registers of the several counties wholly included in the City of New York, upon payment of fees as at present. A certificate authenticating his certificate of acknowledgment may be obtained from any County Clerk with whom the Commissioner has filed his certificate of appointment without regard to the county in said city in which the acknowledgment was taken. A Commissioner of Deeds must add to his signature the date when his term expires and all of his official numbers given to him by the County Clerks and the Registers with whom his certificate of appointment has been filed.

The public records are safeguarded by the provision that no instrument acknowledged or proved before a Commissioner of Deeds can be recorded unless there is on file in the office of the recording officer the autograph signature of the Commissioner of Deeds and a certificate of his appointment, or unless his certificate of acknowledgment is authenticated by a County Clerk's certificate. It is, therefore, necessary for a Commissioner of Deeds to file his certificate of appointment and signature in at least one County Clerk's office in the city, and he should also file his certificate and his signature in each Register's office in the city.

A NEW GROUPING OF APPROPRIATIONS

Shows the Per Capita Cost and the Relative Proportion Which Each Group Bears to the Whole—City Financial Statistics

THERE are no direct State taxes included in the Budget of 1915. The notable decreases in the Budget of 1915, as compared with 1914, include a reduction of $813,018.62 in the total for Protection of Life and Property; $1,070,812.04 for Care and Maintenance of Streets, Highways and Bridges, and $730,082.39 in Docks and Municipal Ferries.

The Health Department estimate of 1914 gave the city's population as 5,583,871, and its estimate of the population at the mid-period of 1915 is 5,806,532. The total appropriations in 1914 for Interest on and Redemption of the City Debt; for Education, Health and Sanitation; Protection of Life and Property and for Charitable Purposes were $152,875,021.22, or 80.25 per cent. of the total Budget appropriations for said year. For 1915 the appropriations for these purposes aggregate $161,087,332.04, or 83.52 per cent. of the total Budget.

In other words, of every $1,000 provided in the Budget of 1915, $835.20 is for these five functions or purposes.

The most notable increases in the Budget of 1915 over that of 1914 are for Debt Service, $7,220,863.39; for Education, $1,576,115.38; for Charitable Purposes, $321,223.80, and Judicial, $372,725.73.

Out in Missouri, statues framed with the object of limiting personal liberty are called in popular parlance, "Lizzie laws." They are not unknown in New York.

"The health, safety and welfare of three million people is of far greater importance than the convenience of the building interests."—Mayor Mitchel.

Which is far from being the issue. But as a play to the galleries it seems to serve its purpose.

The Bureau of Municipal Research has called attention to the fact that the city has spent $186,000 during the last few years for standardization purposes, but without result. Really, the taxpayers ought to get something for their money.

Very much in the way of thorough business legislation is not to be expected from a Constitutional Convention not dominated by business men. In this country we have always had a government by lawyers, and no doubt will continue to have in a very large degree; and preferably so. But more and more other professions and callings will take a part in government, to its greater efficiency and economy.

The Western and Northwestern country people, having had bumper crops with big prices for two years or more, now have more money to do with collectively than they ever had before, and it is their money mostly that has lifted the stock market out of despondency by assimilating the securities which Europe is selling. The crops have actually been the main dependence of the whole country during the last two years, and now with war orders reviving Eastern manufacturing in so many lines, the combined impulse is being felt everywhere.

Hostility to Business Interests.

The world is passing through the furnace of affliction. The European powers with their colonies in other continents are engaged in a frightful war. America has been worried by long years of financial depression and is at the moment anxious about her international relations. The times are such as the world has not seen before. They find New York City filled with the spirit of unrest. After enduring a long siege of unfriendly legislation, her business interests are being called upon to withstand not only the deprivations which war brings even to neutral countries, but also to meet unexpected domestic exactions.

They feel, these business men do, that the substantial affairs of the city and State have not been rightly attended to, that the municipal resources have not been conserved, that more thought has been given to spreading the gospel of uplift than to ensuring efficiency and economy in government, and that prejudices strongly socialistic in their origin and especially hostile to real estate have been purposely engendered in order to make an atmosphere to sustain social activities which provide thousands of men and women with either their livelihood or their position in society.

Society is groping for the unattainable; the politicians are helping her to grope, and the taxpayers are footing the bill. It is important that this state of affairs should be recognized by every business man with a stake in the city. The extent to which imported ideas of paternalistic government have been written into the textbooks of some of our universities and into the laws of some of our free States, to lead the feet of our people out of the paths of old-fashioned American democracy, will surprise the investigator. If New York City taxpayers could afford to play the part of Lady Bountiful moderately, or had to stand for the load of taxes that the people of some countries are compelled to pay, the case would be different; but they are not obliged to, and New York needs all its resources to finance such prosaic things as subways, water-supply, sewers and docks.

The week now closing has seen a mountain of obligations put upon the City of New York, including the principal part of a tax levy of $19,500,000, the project for a marginal railroad to cost $20,000,000 and the authority for building a Court House by stories, which, under the city's extravagant way of doing things, may cost as much as $30,000,000 before it is fully completed and furnished sometime in the dim future. The city needs both the marginal railroad and the Court House, but what business men object to in this connection is the excessive cost and the extent to which costs invariably exceed official estimates. The selection of a site for the Court House on lands which were found to be so unfit that they had to be abandoned after purchase is an example of official oversight which a really efficient government would not have been chargeable with. The city needs more subways, port facilities, water supply and sewers, besides parks, playgrounds and school buildings, but unnecessary costs should be avoided. One great defect in the present form of government is that it is not a good buyer and manager.

But more particularly, regarding the hostility being engendered against the business community by those who exploit it,—what should realty and related activities do to fight and counteract it? They certainly ought to act in concord, set up good standards and demand that officialdom adhere to them. An old aspersion particularly against real estate interests was that they couldn't get together. In the last year or two they have been doing better in this respect. Once they were mere bushwackers in a militant sense; now indeed they are regimented, but they have not yet formulated one general strategic plan. Real estate investors, builders and managers, bankers, insurance men, manufacturers and merchants must come together and face the fact that there are elements in society and politics hostile to them and that they must give both moral and material support to those who are going to the front on their account.

Tax-Exempt Property.

In these times when loose municipal management in the past finds the City of New York unwilling, if not unprepared, to meet the financial storm now beating upon it, more or less is heard about the large amount of property exempt from taxation. The total value of the real estate which pays no taxes is, as everybody knows, very large, amounting to $1,423,000,000 for premises owned by the city, and to $381,000,000 for property exempted under Section 4 of the Tax Law. The largest beneficiaries after the city itself are the churches, together with their parish houses, mission buildings, schools, seminaries and cemeteries, the total value of their property being about $189,000,000, as can be learned from the last annual report of the Department of Taxes and Assessments. As there are about 1,800 churches of all denominations in the greater city, the average of all the exemptions is $105,000, which is not large when the size and cost of many of the edifices are considered; and the more one considers the case of the churches as non-taxpayers, the more he will be convinced that they make more than a full return for their exemption. While sometimes they make an apparent profit by selling their premises and rebuilding on a cheaper site, in many more cases it will be found that the value of their property has been impaired and the congregation scattered because the municipal government has not protected the environments against contamination.

The case of Trinity Church as the holder through its corporation of a large amount of property is often indefinitely referred to because of its wealth and prominence. Yet Trinity parish ended the year with a financial deficit—like most other churches, only in Trinity's case it was a large deficit. A very timely reference to the discussion of tax exemption that has been going on is made by the rector in his annual statement, from which it appears that Trinity parish pays taxes on every piece of property from which it derives a revenue and which is not used for religious and charitable work, and that the total amount of taxes paid last year was $188,337, which sum took a very large share of the total available from its endowments of every sort, including its appropriations for work outside the parish, amounting altogether to $425,952. By far the greater part of the value of the untaxed property of the parish is in the two ancient churchyards from which no revenue is derived but which are of incalculable value to the community as places of historic interest and civic beauty.

The tax expert with the pruning knife will have to pass over church property and look for deadwood among the other branches of the municipal vine. There are next the asylums and homes and hospitals and dispensaries exempted in the sum of $68,000,000, and there are small exemptions for parsonages, pensioners and libraries which nobody would think of molesting. But when the pruner comes to a formidable array of profit paying cemeteries valued at $28,000,000, and then to a long list of social, moral, mental and benevolent associations with nurseries, lodging houses, and what not, valued at $36,000,000, he must stop and ponder. After all the greatest waste will be found in the list owned by the municipality itself, a list which totals up to nearly a billion and a half of dollars, and among which are numerous idle premises that should have been disposed of years ago. If the city and State are going to heap more and more taxes upon property that cannot well bear the increase in these dull times, then it is very proper that the real estate boards should demand, as the Brooklyn Board has done, that the city's own exempt property list shall first be carefully scrutinized and revised.

Reclamation of Broadway.

Investors will discover presently that the section of Broadway south of 14th street has once again come into its own. At the present time there is a great amount of property which can be purchased for sums far less than what the assessment rolls called for several years ago. There has been a quiet absorption of several prominent corners during the past six months, and it is noteworthy that in the majority of cases the buyers are investors of large means. The trend of the prices is upward. That these interests firmly believe in the future of the section is fully demonstrated by the fact that they are investing capital in the district; and there are several other influences at work to bring this section of Broadway back to where it was several years ago as a real estate proposition.

The fact that Broadway was more or less inaccessible was one of the reasons why many large firms moved farther uptown, but this adverse condition will be righted when the new subway is in operation. The unwillingness of owners to improve and modernize their properties was another reason for moving into the newer buildings in other sections. That some of the firms which moved now repent of doing so and wish they were back in "old Broadway" is unquestionably true. But at that time there seemed little else for them to do. It is a fact, nevertheless, that, given a reasonable opportunity, they will return to the neighborhood of their old stands, which will, of course, mean the reclaiming of that section of the thoroughfare.

Another reason for the tenants wishing to get back to the old neighborhood is that their identity is now clouded by their presence in a large loft building, whereas formerly they occupied an entire structure and derived thereby a certain distinction in their trade. There are many reasons, and some good ones, for the segregation of concerns in the same line of business, and in this way tall loft buildings fulfill an important function.

It is a well-known fact that rentals today on Broadway south of Union Square are lower than four years ago, and owners have received such small returns from their investments that they are willing to modernize their structures to meet the demand, a thing they were loath to do in the old days, for they felt that the tenants were compelled to remain in the section. This change of heart is sure to rebound in favor of Broadway.

When all is said that can be said against Broadway, its name is one to conjure with, especially for clients who do business with other cities. Some may contend that the day has passed when this is true; but the fact remains that Broadway is known the world over, and that a certain standing in the public mind is given to a concern located on that artery. Some of the largest fortunes from real estate are directly traceable to investments made along the line of Broadway, and the day is approaching when other investments there will be proportionately rewarded.

The section west of City Hall is in the same condition that lower Broadway was in a few years ago. There are hundreds of antiquated buildings, tenanted at the present time, but with no assurance as to how long this condition will last. Even now there is an uneasy feeling in some quarters. Tenants wish the replacement of the old hand-hoists with modern elevators and other up-to-date improvements, so that business can be conducted on modern lines. Unless these improvements are made, there will be wholesale removals from the district, and then the same complaints from owners will be heard as in the case of Broadway. At the present time the buildings are tenanted, and owners and agents should not resent a note of warning.

—Builders say that 25 per cent. more copper is used in the construction of skyscrapers than ten years ago. It is now in great demand.

TAX RATES IN NEW YORK STATE.

And the Ratio of Percentage at Which Property Is Assessed in Various Cities.

The Record and Guide has received from Secretary Horace G. Tennant, of the State Department of Taxes, the following table of tax rates in the various cities of the State and the ratio of percentage at which the property is assessed in those cities. The statistics are of timely importance in view of the proposed levying of a direct tax upon the State 1.7 mills in order to raise $19,560,000, upon an assessed valuation of which 77 per cent. represents New York City's share:

In the table it will be noted that some of the counties are assessed only 60 to 70 per cent. of full value. Some experts assert that actually they are assessed at not more than half value. New York County is recorded as paying on 91 per cent. of full value, where, as our Tax Department asserts, we are assessed 100 per cent., and owners often express the opinion that their property is rated for taxation purposes at more than it is worth.

Business Efficiency in Public Affairs.

Elihu Cunyngham Church, C. E., A. M., will begin in the June Bulletin of the Real Estate Board of New York a series of articles on the general topic of "Business Efficiency and Its Application to Public Affairs." Mr. Church was formerly secretary of the New York Water Supply Department. The Record and Guide is indebted to Secretary Chittick for advance proofs. In his Introduction Mr. Church says:

"Public affairs should be administered like a private business, for most of such activities are of an engineering or a business nature, and very few are political. They call for high, technical skill, sound business sense and executive ability. The public interests now at stake represent so huge an investment that their very vastness should no longer permit of even the possibility of ignorance, waste, or inefficiency in their management.

"Where taxes due to poor public administration have been small in amount, proportionately speaking, business men in the past have chosen to ignore the matter rather than incur the expense, suffer the bother, and give the time necessary to right the difficulty. When, however, as is now the case, increases in the tax rate resulting from the improper conduct of public affairs threaten to—nay, rather actually do impose a burden on the private enterprises of the citizens of the community that deprives their labor of its reward and turns their prospective and rightful profits into actual loss—then the time has come for no uncertain action.

"The competition of present day business is so keen that the margin between success and failure is daily becoming less and less, with a resulting decrease in the amount that can be spared for taxes to cover even the necessary public expenses. Add to this the growing tendency to spend public funds for much that may be considered philanthropically helpful—but actually unnecessary, the knowledge that a great deal even of the necessary work is carried on with far less economy than might be, and the further fact that in many cases there is grave reason to believe that much needful maintenance work is being slighted to make a 'showing' of so-called economy, and a situation arises of actual menace to continued business prosperity.

"The high cost of governmental operation, and the all too frequent waste and extravagance of carrying on the public activities day by day have so absorbed public attention that the equally important though less noticeable subject of the gradual depreciation of the value and effectiveness of much of the public property itself has passed all unnoticed. The railroad directorate that would let its ties rot and its rails wear out, and its locomotives and cars run down and get out of repair would surely be censured and held to account; but how about the city whose water mains are old and not capable of withstanding the high pressure of modern requirements, whose pavements do not receive repairs equal to their wear and tear, and whose sewage system has become antiquated to the point where millions will be required some day—quite unexpectedly and all at once—to make it continue longer to serve its purpose?

"The most stupid and wasteful officials can and often do try to claim that their administrations are or were economical merely because they refused to spend money really needed for maintenance, with the result that the value of the plant entrusted to them may have deteriorated by millions of dollars in consequence of their petty savings. One of the temptations to this sort of thing, and one of its greatest dangers, is the fact that the conditions just mentioned may not be apparent to a superficial examination, and may only be revealed when the fell moment arrives to suddenly make good the fault. Then the taxpayer is called on—but the damage has been done.

"The purpose of these articles is to consider some of the business, the engineering, and the executive aspects of public work; and to indicate to the men out of whose pockets the money to run them comes, what they get for it, and what steps are being taken, or should be taken to give them one hundred cents worth of value for every dollar spent."

The Utica Avenue Subway.

The Public Service Commission has directed its Chief Engineer to begin work immediately in preparing plans for the Utica avenue subway in Brooklyn.

The Utica avenue subway is proposed as a branch of the Eastern Parkway subway, which is an extension of the existing subway, and will be operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. The Utica avenue route was not included in the Dual System contracts and the city has not appropriated money for its construction. Property owners in the vicinity, however, have petitioned the commission to have it built upon the assessment plan, the cost to be assessed against the property benefited. This method is permitted by the Rapid Transit Act. The route adopted by the Commission extends from Eastern parkway down Utica avenue to Flatbush avenue.

HAVEMEYER HOME SOLD.

Speculators Buy Madison Avenue Corner for Improvement With Tall Loft Structure.

As another evidence of returning confidence in the real estate situation, a prominent Madison avenue corner, just inside the Murray Hill restriction, has been acquired by a prominent building concern.

W. Butler Duncan, as executor of the estate of Emily Havemeyer, sold, through Clark T. Chambers, the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 38th street, having a frontage of 98.9 feet on the avenue and measuring 95 feet in the street. The present house is four stories in height and occupies the greater portion of the plot, though it is set back on the south side, to provide for a driveway. The property has been vacant for the last three years. Clarence Mackay was the tenant prior to that time and it was reported that he paid an annual rental of $30,000 for the house, furnished. The property has been on the market for a long time, and created some notice when a sign was placed on the facade stating that title policies would be issued to permit the erection of an apartment house. The property was held, until recently, at $750,000, but this price was said to have been reduced to $650,000, and it is understood that approximately this figure was obtained.

It is understood that the new owners will erect a sixteen-story mercantile building. Title will be taken in the name of the No. 244 Madison Avenue Company, but the personnel of the new concern could not be learned. It is known that Arnstein & Levy and George Backer were negotiating for the property, but no verification could be obtained that they were the actual buyers.

Outside of the Morgan property, in the east side of Madison avenue, between 36th and 37th streets, the Havemeyer house is probably the best known property in the Murray Hill section. The sale of the property is in itself one of great interest, but aside from this fact the contemplated improvement adds importance to the deal. If the projected building becomes a reality, there is but little doubt but that a legal battle will result.

The opposite southeast corner of Madison avenue and 38th street, for years occupied by the Old South Church, has recently been the subject of a law suit, and the last decision is that an apartment house can be erected on the site without infringing on the Murray Hill restriction.

When it comes to the matter of a business structure, the recent decision does not apply, nor does the one affecting the Cameron building, at 34th street, which was only partially upon restricted property, as was the new Professional Building, at the northwest corner of Madison avenue and 38th street. This latter corner was formerly the site of the old Alston apartment, and shortly after the decision in the Cameron case, the property was sold and a commercial building projected. The steel work was up several stories when George F. Baker bought the property, giving the builders their price.

Mr. Baker, tiring of the vacant lot next to his residence, at 256 Madison avenue, decided to erect the Professional building, four stories in height, which would conform with the other buildings in the neighborhood. No signs, however, are allowed on the outside of the structure. Mr. Baker has made subsequent purchases to protect his property.

According to one who is well informed it is said that the deal just closed was made on the assumption that the Havemeyer property is really not restricted. It seems that six years prior to the placing of the restrictive clause upon the Murray farm, the plot upon which the Havemeyer house stands was sold by one of the members of the Murray family. The supporters of the restriction concede that such a transfer was made, but they contend that it was of a dummy nature and further was not recorded until a considerable period had elapsed, and is consequently a part of the Murray farm.

REAL ESTATE GOLFERS.

Spring Tournament of the Real Estate Board at the Englewood Golf Club.

The fourth golf tournament of the Real Estate Board of New York was held at the Englewood Golf Club on May 25, and was a most successful affair. The list of entries numbered 80, with about 60 actual players. The eight prizes awarded to the winners will be kept before the eyes of those who failed to get them, as an incentive to polish up their clubs, and practice during the summer, so that they may be in better condition to try again in the coming fall tournament.

The weather clerk had made the proper arrangements, and sunshine and perfect playing conditions awaited the arrival of the players. Any omissions on his part were well supplied by the Engelwood Golf Club in charge of the management of the links.

CHAIRMAN ALBERT B. ASHFORTH.

Every courtesy was extended to the guests. A luncheon was furnished all of the visiting board members, and a most enjoyable dinner was served to the faithful eighteen who remained after the tournament was over. This latter feature should be made more important in future events, as it serves to unite the members in friendly relation as nothing else can do.

The successful players received prizes as follows:

Albert B. Ashforth, chairman of the committee, was unavoidably called away and could not attend the dinner. Mr. DeSelding, secretary of the committee, took Mr. Ashforth's place at the head of the long table and presented the prizes. President McGuire acted as toastmaster. One of the pleasant features of the after-dinner speeches was the invitation by Mr. Sniffin of the Golf Committee to dine with him at the Hotel Biltmore in the month of June.

R. E. Owners Take an Appeal.

J. Bleecker Miller, as attorney for the United Real Estate Owners' Association, is taking an appeal from the opinion of Justice Cochrane in the Supreme Court, Special Term, at Hudson, to the Appellate Division, Second Department, in the case against the State Comptroller for an injunction to restrain him from issuing certificates for six million dollars.

The brief on behalf of the plaintiff-appellant says the act threatened to be done by the Comptroller is plainly in violation of Article 7 of the State Constitution, which limits to one million dollars the borrowings by the Comptroller to meet unforeseen expenses; that the question of policy cannot be considered at this time; that the very question at issue in this case was decided in Newell vs. People (7 N. Y., page 1), where it was held that such a proceeding would be unconstitutional and void. Further, the fact that the debt for which the tax is laid is authorized by the Legislature is no defence; neither is it any defence that the debt to be paid by the tax is unnecessary.

President Browne to the Constitutional Convention.

Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, pays an annual realty tax of $53,000. He has attended every meeting of the Board of Estimate for eight months, and has made a more or less thorough examination of a number of the municipal departments. In a letter which he has sent to the Constitutional Convention he expresses the belief that if New York City is to be efficiently and economically managed the Legislature should have no power to pass mandatory legislation; the city government should be centralized under the Mayor and not decentralized by counties and boroughs; the five present counties should be merged into one; the Borough Presidents should have no seat or vote in the Board of Estimate, which should have power to combine or abolish all departments and bureaus and fix and determine salaries and wages.

The Aldermen, he also states, should be reduced in number to ten and elected by cumulative voting, not as at present; all county offices, except the judges and District Attorney, should be appointed by the Mayor.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

DESPITE the fact that uneasiness prevails relative to the war situation, confidence is expressed by investors and business concerns through the number of sales and leases closed during the week. While the volume of transactions was not much more than last week, still the character of the deals speaks well for the future of high-priced parcels. Business concerns have committed themselves to large space for a long term of years and speculative builders are buying corners for improvement with apartment houses and office buildings which will command high rentals.

One of the interesting sales of the week involved the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 43d street, 63x123, owned by the Melissa C. Wilson estate. The immediate corner, 25.5x108, is vacant, and has been used as a playground for some dogs for several years. This corner, together with the Wendel plot, just north of 39th street, on the avenue, are the only two Fifth avenue plottages which have been devoted to similar purposes since property values increased to their present prices. The remainder of the plot just sold is improved with an old four-story building, but this will be razed and on the combined site a new sixteen-story mercantile structure will be erected.

This improvement disposed of the entire block front, as adjoining to the south is the Walton Building, the Columbia Bank Building, an eighteen-story structure erected some years ago by Henry Corn, and on the 42d street corner an old building, which was remodeled a few years ago into a business building. The value of the plot has been estimated at $2,000,000, exclusive of the cost of the structure, which has been placed at an additional $1,000,000.

Another deal of interest is the assembling of a plot, 110x100, on West End avenue, southeast corner of 99th street. A prominent building concern acquired the property, now improved with seven dwellings, from various interests, and will erect on the site a twelve-story apartment house. The deal involves about $1,000,000.

The sale of the Havemeyer mansion, at the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 38th street, is most important, as it forcasts the improvement of the site with a modern mercantile building. The property has been on the market for some years, and the willingness of builders to take over the site and erect a building, involving a total outlay reaching seven figures, is another sign of returning confidence.

A large tract of water front, in Brooklyn, was purchased by the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Company, for improvement with a plant of the most improved type. The concern about a year ago sold part of its holdings on Park avenue, between 50th and 51st streets, to St. Bartholomew's church.

The leasing branch of the market also was a feature of the week's budget, several important transactions having been closed. The acquisition of the four-story buildings, on plot 100x400, at the northeast corner of Eighth avenue and 49th street, forming the south half of the block, for twenty-one years, disposes of a property which has been occupied for garage purposes. The lessees will utilize the site as a public market, and will install about 200 stands.

Union Square also came in for its share of the week's transactions, when the top floor of the old Tiffany Building, at the southwest corner of Union Square West and 15th street, was leased to a prominent wholesale concern. The lease completes the renting of the entire structure, which was vacated by Tiffany & Company some years ago when they moved to Murray Hill.

The total number of sales reported and not recorded in Manhattan this week was 27, as against 19 last week and 39 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 12 as compared with 7 last week and 11 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 15, as compared with 12 last week and 28 a year ago.

The total number of conveyances in Manhattan was 137, as against 139 last week, 21 having stated considerations totaling $741,526. Mortgages recorded this week numbered 82, involving $1,771,392, as against 82 last week, totaling $1,895,680.

From the Bronx 7 sales at private contract were recorded, as against 15 last week and 9 a year ago.

The amount involved in Manhattan and Bronx auction sales this week was $1,391,838, compared with $744,440 last week, making a total for the year of $34,647,083. The figures for the corresponding week last year were $529,959, and the total from Jan. 1, 1914, to May 30, 1914, was $18,872,019.

Wilson Corner Sold.

Harry Fishel, as head of a syndicate, has purchased from the Wilson estate, the property at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 43d street with a frontage of 63 feet on the avenue and 123 feet in the street, assessed at $1,090,000. The property consists of two parcels, the immediate corner being vacant and the adjoining plot occupied by a four-story old style dwelling for many years the home of the late Richard T. Wilson. The site is to be improved with a sixteen-story office and loft building to cost about $1,000,000. It is reported that the Guaranty Trust Company, now at Fifth avenue and 43d street, will take the basement, ground floor and first floor, under a long term lease. Mr. Fishel is president of the Times Square Improvement Company, and owner of the Hobart Building, at the northeast corner of Broadway and 37th street, which was completely leased soon after its completion. The brokers in the present transaction were the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company and H. D. Baker. The Wilson property has figured in a number of reported transactions within recent years. It is in the center of the high class Fifth avenue retail district and is highly desirable for improvement along the lines contemplated by the present purchasers. The corner has always attracted considerable attention because it had remained for so many years in a practically unimproved condition in spite of the unusual activity around it, and the great demand for Fifth avenue locations by leading firms.

Macmillan Company Buys.

The Macmillan Company, publishers, at 64-66 Fifth avenue, have purchased the northerly half of the Thomas F. Ryan property at Fifth avenue and 12th street. The sale involves 62 Fifth avenue, a three-story dwelling, on plot 51.6x125, and a four-story rear dwelling at 11 West 12th street, on lot 25x103.3. With this purchase the Macmillan Company now controls a frontage of 103 feet on Fifth avenue, with a 25-foot "L" in 12th street. E. H. Ludlow & Co. were the brokers in the transaction. The publishing company is at present adding two stories to its six-story home, and eventually the new site will be reimproved with an addition to this main building.

Jamaica-Hillcrest Deals.

The Jamaica-Hillcrest Company sold the entire block bounded by Hillside, Highland, Akroyd and Home Lawn avenues to the Degnon Contracting Co., M. J. Degnon president. The property is known as block 12, comprises thirty-six lots and has been purchased to straighten the line of and open a street on their property, which immediately adjoins Jamaica Hillcrest on the east. Jamaica Hillcrest Company also sold to the Fairchild Realty Company, Darwin R. James, president, ninety-three lots along the westerly boundary of the company's property on Grand avenue, opposite Doncastle road. The properties sold are near the remaining improved lots at Jamaica Hillcrest to be sold at auction by William P. Rae Company, auctioneers, today.

$1,000,000 West Side Operation.

The McMorrow Engineering & Construction Company bought from the Wilson estate, W. H. Fransioli, S. M. Hickey and Eleanor Knowles, through Slawson & Hobbs and Marston & Company, the seven dwellings forming a plot 110x100, at the southwest corner of West End avenue and 99th street, which is to be improved with a twelve-story apartment house. The dwellings are known as 789-797 West End avenue, and 300-302 West 99th street. The operation will involve more than $1,000,000. The buyer recently sold to Harry B. Davis a twelve-story apartment house at 35 West 81st street.

Schaefer Brewery in Brooklyn.

F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Company has purchased from the West Street Improvement Company the block bounded by 9th and 10th streets, Kent avenue and East River, Brooklyn, with a 200-foot frontage along the waterfront. On this site an up-to-date brewery plant is to be erected. The main business office of the firm will be located in the Grand Central Terminal district. Part of the present brewery property on Park avenue, between 50th and 52d streets, was sold some time ago to St. Bartholomew's Church as a site for a new edifice.

$600,000 Trade.

The Lenox Hill Realty Company, Samuel A. Herzog, president, sold 25 and 27 West 32d street, a six-story store and loft building, on plot 48x100, to John S. Melcher, who gave in exchange the nine-story office building at 37 and 39 East 28th street, on a plot 41.8x98.9, adjoining the northwest corner of Fourth avenue. John H. Berry negotiated the transaction, which involved about $600,000.

Big Heights Plot for Builder.

Samuel Blumenthal has purchased from Robert S. Clark, for apartment house improvement, eleven and a half lots in the south side of West 171st street, 286x95, the entire block front, between Fort Washington avenue and Broadway, excepting the two corners. The broker was the F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company.

Bleecker Street—Suburban Trade.

H. Rosenbaum sold, through the Nehring Company, 150-152 Bleecker street, two seven-story mercantile buildings, on plot 50x125. Large suburban tracts on the Palisades and in Flushing were given in part payment.

Division Street Deal.

Meyer Vesell sold 41-43 Division street, two seven-story loft buildings, on plot 50x68, to Winkler & Schultz, cloaks and suits, of 54 Division street, who will use the buildings for a distributing center. The brokers were Jacob Finkelstein & Son, and Jacob Levitt.

There is now only one floor left in this seventeen-story building. The fact that the agents have leased over 300,000 square feet of space to representative printers, binders, electrotypers and engravers emphasizes the fact that modern buildings erected in this downtown district are quickly filled with desirable tenants.

Golf Star Forms Firm.

L. Pierre Valligny leased, through Albert B. Ashforth, Inc., the ground floor store in 14 East 44th street to the Low & Hughes Golf Shop. This is a new firm composed of George Low and Harry J. Hughes. Mr. Low is the professional at Baltusrol Golf Club. He was the Metropolitan Open Golf Champion in 1906 and 1907. Mr. Hughes started in the golf business with F. L. Slazinger many years ago when golf was new in America and for the last nine years has been manager of the golfing department of Von Lengerke & Detmold.

Land for Temporary Church.

The Chapin Home for the Aged and Infirm leased through Pease & Elliman, the plot 150x100 in the south side of 67th street, 170 feet east of Lexington avenue, comprising six lots, to the St. Vincent Ferrer's Church, now located at the southeast corner of 66th street and Lexington avenue, which will build a temporary building for church purposes, during the time of construction of the new church to be built on its present site.

Firm Again Goes North.

Dr. Peter Kahler & Sons, shoes, have leased through Nelson, Lee & Green, Inc., the store in the new building at 15-17 West 44th street, at an aggregate rental of about $120,000. The firm was established about fifty years ago, on lower Broadway, and the uptown movement has found them successively at Nos. 813, 928 and 1160, their present location.

Lease Near New Post Office.

Brett & Goode Company leased the fourteenth floor containing approximately 20,000 square feet in the fifteen-story building at 406-426 West 31st street, for the 406 West 31st Street Company, to Stahl & Jaeger, lithographers and printers, located for the last thirty years at Mulberry and Grand streets. The lease is at an aggregate rental of about $100,000.

Old Tiffany Building Rented.

Nelson, Lee & Green have completed the renting of the one-time Tiffany Building, at Union Square West, and 15th street, by leasing the top floor, to the Standard Depository of New York, publishers, agents and forwarders. This entire section is being taken over by wholesale lines of business, moving from further downtown.

REAL ESTATE APPRAISALS.

The following values were placed on real estate properties this week by the State appraisers in transfer tax proceedings, affecting Manhattan holdings. The amount specified does not in every case indicate the equity or interest of the decedent. It merely quotes the estimated market value of the realty, regardless of mortgages or other liens. The information comprises the name of decedent, location of property, block and lot on city map, description of building, size of lot and estimated value on the date given. Where decedent owned property in other boroughs, details of Manhattan holdings only are given.

Lewis; secretary, Fisher P. Weaver. The directors elected included the officers and William B. Falconer and Joseph D. Cronan. The corporation's profits were divided among all the employees, as during the last five years. The agency force was increased during the year by the addition of N. M. Kerr, as assistant plant engineer. Edwin C. Benedict, a mortgage loan specialist, also joined the organization, to head the mortgage department. The company reported that the gross business for the year ending May 1, 1915, was the largest in the 16 years of its existence.

AUCTION SALES OF WEEK.

Except where otherwise stated, the properties offered were in foreclosure. Adjournments of legal sales to next week are noted under Advertised Legal Sales.

* Indicates that the property described was bid in for the plaintiff's account.

The Auction Market.

Outside buyers figured prominently in the auction room this week and acquired several of the high class properties which were offered by the auctioneers. Among them were William Lustgarten, who paid $57,750 for a vacant Harlem block front; Francis A. Campbell who bought the vacant south corner of Riverside drive and 153d street for $31,050; and Samuel Borchardt, who acquired flats in West 98th street, which were offered several years ago to negroes. Mr. Borchardt is the owner of the twelve-story apartment house at the southeast corner of Broadway and 98th street, in the same block. Another buyer this week was the City of New York, which was forced to take over, as plaintiff, a Broadway commercial building at No. 454, on a bid of $60,000, which was more than $18,000 less than existing encumbrances.

Decoration Day sales will include the offering of Canarsie lots by the Jere Johnson, Jr., Company; and 400 lots at Jamaica Hillcrest by the William P. Rae Company. The latter sale begins this afternoon at 2:30 in a tent on the property and will be continued on Monday until all the lots are sold.

DEPARTMENTAL RULINGS.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

The following appeals and decisions have been handed down by the Board of Building Examiners:

APPEAL 166 OF 1915 (new), New Building 2139 of 1915, 2245 Pitkin avenue, Brooklyn. William C. Winters, appellant.

That building does not comply with Section 109 of the Building Code.

As building is only to be used as a motion picture house and not a theatre and it is not intended to operate both floors at the same time, therefore not having more than six hundred people at any performance. Building is also constructed of fireproof materials throughout.

Why a motion picture house should be compared with the theatre laws. We have complied with all laws and rules regarding a motion picture building for both floors, providing proper means of exit width of stairs, doors, etc.

We consider that as building is constructed entirely of fireproof material and proper means of exit have been provided eliminate every means of danger from fire, etc. Also we consider a roof garden far better than an open air motion picture house that is constructed on the street level, inasmuch as there is less danger for the people taking cold from dampness, and the air being much purer.

Appearances: William C. Winters and Dr. Majer.

On motion, DISAPPROVED.

APPEAL 167 OF 1915, New Building 2468 of 1915, south side Dean street, 256' 6" west Rochester avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code for brick partition walls fore and aft spans exceed 26' between bearing walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. And it being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of said Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

That the distance between the main bearing walls is not over 26' and therefore no fore and aft brick partition walls are necessary.

Walls forming structure conforms with Section 31 of the Building Code, in that the main bearing walls are not over 26' apart, and 8" brick cross fire wall separating front part of building from rear part of building is provided. See Appeal 169.

APPEAL 168 OF 1915, New Building 2470 of 1915, 75-87 Woodruff avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

APPEAL 169 OF 1915, New Building 2505 of 1915, south side Glenmore avenue, 50' west Alabama avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

Wording same as in Appeal 168 of 1915.

Appearance: Abraham Reiner.

On motion, Appeals 167, 168 and 169, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 170 OF 1915, New Building 2544 of 1915, southwest corner East New York avenue and Tapscott street, Brooklyn. Edward M. Adelsohn, appellant.

Violation of Section 31 of Code as to brick fore and aft partition walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. And it being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

Whether it is necessary to have fore and aft brick walls when the distance between the main bearing walls is not over 26'.

The walls forming the structure conforms to the Building Code in that the bearing walls are not over 26' apart. Also a brick wall at the stair hall separates the front part of the building from the rear part, into small areas. Similar construction to that shown on the plans have been approved by the Superintendent of Buildings for the Borough of Brooklyn, numerous times, and that said construction does comply with the Building Code. All floor and roof girders and beams will be fireproofed with wire lath and 2" concrete.

Appearance: Edward M. Adelsohn.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 171 OF 1915, New Building 683 of 1912, Broadway, Nassau, Pine and Cedar streets, Manhattan. E. R. Graham, appellant.

35. All trim should be incombustible in accordance with Section 105 of the Building Code.

The Superintendent has disapproved the material which it is proposed using.

The use of non-fireproof wood be allowed in the space to be occupied by the Bankers' Club of America as shown by plans submitted. The finish of these rooms must be the finest, which is impossible to obtain by the use of fireproofed wood.

The amount of wood involved in the proposed installation is less than one per cent. of the floor area of the building. Automatic closing shutters are being provided as shown on the plans to divide the area in which this wood is located. All the proposed wood will be hard wood and solidly backed up with fireproof material, leaving no open spaces.

Appearances: L. J. Horowitz, A. F. Gilbert and George Simpson.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that automatic self-closing fireproof doors be provided at each of the points marked "A" on the 36th floor plan.

APPEAL 172 OF 1915, New Building 2340 of 1915, 245-249 Midwood street, Brooklyn. P. Tillion & Son, appellants.

1. Comply with Section 31 of Code for brick partition walls fore and aft where spans exceed 26' between main bearing walls.

1. The Superintendent of Buildings has refused to approve the manner of construction and materials proposed to be used in this building.

1. Comply with Section 31 of the Code for brick partition walls fore and aft where spans exceed 26' between main bearing walls.

We believe Section 31 of the Code provides for using iron columns and girders in place of brick partition walls. We have provided an 8" brick wall across the centre of the building as a fire protection.

Appearance: Philip G. Tillion.

On motion, APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That a self-closing fireproof door be provided in the cellar at point marked "A" on the cellar plan.

2. That all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 173 OF 1915, New Building 2240 of 1915, 2529 Lenox road, Brooklyn. Slee & Bryson, appellants.

Denied under Section 32 of Code—area of non-fireproof building.

Application No. 2240 for New Building for the year 1915 has been denied as to Section 32 of Code—area of non-fireproof building.

That the proposed construction of building be granted, as shown on plans, i. e., brick walls, steel and concrete floors, fireproof partitions, steel girders and columns, 3" x 9" spruce roof beams, entire ceiling be covered with 26 gauge metal on ½" plaster board as per Fire Department regulations, and fireproof windows on all lot lines.

The building is only one story in height; at least 75 feet away from any other building on the block; is outside of the fire limits; is to be used as an automobile storage where no gasoline is stored or kept on the premises. Further the Building Code provides for the Commissioner's option in such and similar cases as herein described, "Under Section 32."

Appearance: John B. Slee.

On motion, APPROVED, in view of the fact that the building is outside of the fire limits.

APPEAL 174 OF 1915, New Building 2389 of 1915, 3101 Surf avenue, Brooklyn. George H. Suess, appellant.

Denied under Section 31 of the Code.

To approve the mode and manner of construction in regards to using steel columns and steel girders to support upper floors instead of brick wall bearing partition.

It is desired that iron columns and steel I-beam girders as marked on the plans and elevations be used as a means of support of upper floors instead of brick bearing wall. Brick cross wall tiering bearing walls marked on the plans. Entire first floor is used for stores.

That this mode of construction in this case is equally good. Also, in case of the first floor, as entire first floor is used for store purposes, a brick wall would spoil all the stores as it would run right through the centre of the stores.

Appearance: George H. Suesse.

On motion, APPROVED on the following CONDITIONS:

1st. That an unpierced brick wall not less than eight inches thick be built at the point marked "A" on the cellar and first floor plans, to extend from the cellar floor to the underside of the roof-boards.

2d. That the vestibules at the ends of the staircase halls be built of six-inch terra cotta blocks in steel framing, fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

3d. That all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 175 OF 1915, New Building 103 of 1915, 1103-1109 Broadway and 1-5 West 24th street, Manhattan. H. Craig Severance & Wm. Van Alen, appellants.

1. Walls are of unlawful thickness.

1. An equally good form of construction can be employed.

1. To allow the walls to be 12" thick above the first story as shown on the plans.

1. Skeleton frame construction being used, the walls are carried at every floor and are only 12' 10" high.

Appearance: H. Craig Severance.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that the walls of the first story be made not less than sixteen inches in thickness.

APPEAL 176 OF 1915, New Building 49 of 1915, 588 Fifth avenue, Manhattan. Alfred Freeman, appellant.

7. Proposed walls in first story and in basement are of unlawful thickness. Section 36.

That an equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

To construct side and rear walls, which shall be of skeleton type 12" in the first story and 16" in the basement and same to be carried on steel framing.

1. A 12" wall being considered as sufficient for the upper 75 feet or more on the exposed part of the building, the same should apply to the lower or less exposed part of the building.

2. The height of the first story is less than 15 feet and since the walls are supported at each story by steel beams the weight of the first story wall or the load on the lower layer of bricks is considerably less than that which would develop in the use of a 12" bearing wall carried to its lawful height.

3. This wall carries no load other than its own weight.

4. The main use of this wall is as a fire protection or protection from the elements.

5. The use of a 16" wall in the basement would be in conformity with the Code requiring that the basement will be made 4" thicker than the wall above.

6. Since this is only an 8-story building no special features or difficulties present themselves.

Appearance: Sidney Diamant, engineer.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that the basement walls be made not less than sixteen inches in thickness.

APPEAL 177 OF 1915, New Building 2631 of 1915, 330 East 4th st, Brooklyn. S. Millman & Son, appellants.

Construction does not comply with Section 31 of Building Code.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

To allow the floor beams to rest on cross girders with span not over 25' 6" and to omit the construction of brick partition walls.

1. Section 31 of Code does not prevent the use of steel girders for the support of floor beams.

2. An unpierced brick wall 8" thick provided midway of the building from cellar to roof.

3. S. C. F. F. D. provided in the cellar at the same time.

4. That all columns and girders supporting floor and roof beams will be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

Appearance: James J. Millman.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 178 of 1915, Alteration 1626 of 1915, 4 Ridgewood street, Brooklyn. Edward M. Adelsohn, appellant.

Proposition as to extension contrary to suburban limit ordinance.

The rules and regulations of the President of the Borough, or the provisions of law or said ordinances do not apply.

Whether it is permitted to widen the building on the street side.

The proposed alteration will not diminish the light or ventilation of adjoining buildings as this building is on a corner lot. Neither does it increase the fire hazard to adjoining building, as extension is proposed on street side, and existing building is now frame. It will improve the light and ventilation of this building by increasing the areas of rooms and the number of windows. The owner was induced to buy this strip of land 4' wide, from the City of New York previous to the enactment of the New Fire Limit Law, and for the sole purpose of improving her house.

Appearance: Edward M. Adelsohn.

On motion, APPROVED.

APPEAL 179 of 1915, Alteration 769 of 1915, 403 First avenue, Manhattan. Otto Reissmann, appellant.

2. Walls are of unlawful thickness where checked. Sections 31 and 35.

The rules and regulations of the President of the said Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply in this case.

To continue up the same wall thickness of 8" for the proposed second story of rear building extension, except rear wall which will be 12" thick.

This rear building extension is 18' between walls, 47' long and 23' high, and is but slightly in excess of the requirements of Sec. 35. The tenant at present time occupies the above-mentioned rear extension as a bakery on the first floor, it would therefore be practically impossible to do the alterations required, such as lining walls without changing the existing conditions of the bakery on the said first floor, which could not be done, as there exists bake ovens which have to be altered. The proposed walls in question will not support any floor beams, only the roof beams will be supported, otherwise these walls act as curtain walls.

Appearance: Richard Shutkind.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that the Bureau of Buildings finds the existing walls and foundations in good condition and adequate to carry the load to be imposed; and that the foundations for the columns meet the requirements of the Bureau of Buildings.

APPEAL 180 of 1915, New Building 2655 of 1915, southside Eastern parkway, 244' 5" west Utica avenue, Brooklyn. Benjamin Cohn, appellant.

Comply with Section 31 of Code for brick partition walls fore and aft spans exceed 26' between bearing walls.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed. And it being claimed that the rules and regulations of the President of the said Borough, or the provisions of law, or ordinances do not apply.

That the distance between the main bearing walls is not over 26' and therefore no fore and aft brick partition walls are necessary.

Walls forming structure conforms with Section 31 of the Building Code in that the main bearing walls are not over 26' apart, and 8" brick fire wall separating front part of building from rear part of building is provided. All columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproofed in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

Appearance: Abraham H. Reiner.

On motion, APPROVED.

APPEAL 181 of 1915, New Building 196 of 1915, northwest corner Vyse and Tremont avenues, The Bronx. Chas. Schaefer, Jr., appellant.

4. Six-inch cast iron columns have excessive length.

The 6" cast iron columns objected to are rectangular cast iron columns 6"x12"x1" metal, and that same are of sufficient strength to safely support the imposed loads and that the Superintendent of Buildings has refused to approve same.

Section 112 of the Building Code is as follows:

No cast iron columns shall have an unsupported length of more than 20 times their least lateral dimensions or diameter, except as modified by Section 138 of the Building Code.

Section 138 of the Building Code specifies the working stresses per square inch of materials and in accordance with same, the 6"x12"x1" cast iron columns the maximum length of which do not exceed 12' in the total unsupported length of same and having a radius of gyration 2.25 and computed in accordance with same gives a total safe load of column 150 tons, and the load on columns in question is 55 tons or 32½ of the safe load of column.

Appearance: Charles Schaefer, Jr.

On motion, DISAPPROVED.

APPEAL 182 of 1915, New Building 2743 of 1915, northwest corner Robinson street and Nostrand avenue, Brooklyn. Arthur G. Carlson, appellant.

1. Omission of rear court.

1. That an equally good arrangement of exits is provided.

1. Omission of rear court.

1. That an equally good arrangement of exits is provided.

Appearances: Eugene De Rosa and Michael Glynn.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that an additional exit at least five feet wide be provided at each point marked "A" on the plan of the auditorium.

APPEAL 183 of 1915, New Building 1271 of 1915, west side North Villa avenue, 92 feet south of Jamaica avenue, Richmond Hill, Queens. George Muller, appellant.

This building being a frame building and extending into the fire limits about 8-0 on the northerly side is hereby disapproved.

That the law was not intended to prohibit the erection of a frame building erected on a side street outside of the Fire Limits, the language in laying out said fire limits, 100-00 south of Jamaica avenue was intended to cover the lot facing on said Jamaica avenue and in view of the fact that the lots on this particular block are but 92 feet deep we hold that the law does not apply and we should be entitled to erect this building of frame even though technically it extends 8-0 into the prescribed fire limit, namely 100-0 south of Jamaica avenue. The proposed building is 20-0 in width and three-fifths, or 12-0 will be outside of the fire limits and two-fifths or 8-0 inside the fire limits.

Whether this building may be erected of frame, in compliance with the plans submitted herewith.

As stated in appeal from Superintendent of Building's decision.

Appearance: James J. Maguire.

On motion, APPROVED.

APPEAL 184 of 1915, New Building 2694 of 1915, 155-7 Cooper street, Brooklyn. S. Millman & Son, appellants.

Construction does not comply with Section 31 Building Code.

An equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed.

To allow the floor beams to rest on cross girders with span not over 25' 6" and to omit the construction of brick partition walls.

1. Section 31 of the Code does not prevent the use of steel girders for the support of floor beams.

2. An unpierced brick wall 8" thick is provided midway of building from cellar to roof.

3. S. C. F. P. D. provided in cellar at same place.

4. That all girders and columns supporting floor and roof beams will be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

Appearance: James J. Millman.

On motion, APPROVED on CONDITION that all columns and girders supporting floors, roofs or walls be fireproof in accordance with the regulations of the Bureau of Buildings.

BUILDING MANAGEMENT

EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL MANAGEMENT

By ANTHONY MERLO

Conducted by Raymond P. Roberts, Building Manager for The American Real Estate Co.

APARTMENT house management in New York City has become a business in itself, and one who desires to make a success of it, must devote his entire time and attention to the properties he has in charge; whether he be an owner or an agent, for there are many things which are the result of either good or bad management.

The fact that one is able to obtain tenants does not mean that his work ends there, as that really is only the beginning of his efforts to produce results. It is necessary to work just as hard in retaining them as in obtaining them. Extraordinary good judgment and tact must be used in handling tenants, as it must be borne in mind, that while they all have the same thing in common, mainly, the comfort of their home, each has a different disposition to which the manager must adapt himself and therefore it requires a great deal of patience. One without this requisite is very likely to prove a failure.

Good Judgment and Patience.

Of course the manager will come in contact with a certain percentage of unreasonable tenants who neither respect personal feelings, the comforts of other tenants, nor the interests of the owner, and that is where the good judgment, tact, and patience comes in. One who does not possess these qualities very often will avoid seeing these tenants and procrastinate until it is too late. There is an old saying, "Anyone can swim with the tide, but it takes a good man to swim against it," and a successful manager of apartments is one who is able to handle these tenants in a manner that they can be retained to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned; for after all they are the ones who are paying the taxes and the income to the owner on his investment by reason of paying him rent.

There are many things in connection with the management of apartment houses that the manager must have a thorough knowledge of, aside from the handling of tenants, which are all contributing factors in maintaining the building in good physical condition.

"Jack of All Trades."

The successful manager has to be more or less a "Jack of all trades," and must possess a superficial knowledge of all branches of the building business, so that the mechanics dealt with, such as plumbers, decorators, masons, carpenters, etc., will not be able to take advantage of any lack of knowledge as to the exact nature and cost of the job. It will also be an aid to know the value of the superintendent employed in the building, as there are many small jobs that he can take care of that he otherwise would not, if he thought his superior was not conversant with the mechanical end of the management, and therefore it would entail a great expense, as one of the things that the present day owners find fault with is, the unnecessary expense in keeping up a building.

I was called upon, at a recent meeting, to discuss the most essential duties of an agent; and while I thought all the duties of an agent were essential, I selected five which, in my opinion, covered the situation thoroughly.

No. 1: The first duty of an agent is to bear in mind that he is managing the building for the owner.

No. 2: To see that the tenants receive prompt and courteous attention at all times.

No. 3: To make daily visits to the property,

No. 4: Supervising all work done in the building,

No. 5: Periodically inspecting the entire building from roof to cellar.

When I say that an agent's first duty is to bear in mind that he is managing the building for the owner, I mean that it is his duty to comply with his wishes and instructions, and his policy in general, so far as the spending of money is concerned, providing that same is consistent with good management and without injuring the dignity or the reputation of the agent in charge.

Duties of Manager.

In every instance it is an agent's duty to advise the owner of any large expenditure of money, such as the necessity of installing new machinery, redecorating main halls, repainting fire-escapes, etc. It is his bounden duty to suggest or recommend any concessions or decorations to be made for tenants, if it is to the owner's interests in retaining the tenant in question, or for the upkeep of the apartment. In so doing an agent should practice economy. I would say in a judicious manner and not in the "Penny wise and pound foolish" scale, either for the sake of making a showing to the owner at the expense of the building, or rather at his ultimate expense in neglecting to make any necessary repairs which at some future time will have to be made at double the initial cost.

"Penny Wise, Pound Foolish."

By that I mean for instance: if there is a leak in a radiator which may not be of a nature that can be repaired by the superintendent on the premises, and in order to avoid any possible criticism on the part of the owner for employing a mechanic to take care of such a job, the agent will ask the superintendent to take care of it in the best way that he can, as he wishes to keep expenses down. The leak will probably become worse, causing water to penetrate through the floor, spoiling the ceiling in the apartment below, and finally the radiator will have to be fixed plus the expense of the floor and the ceiling.

Agent Must Be Courteous.

It is the agent's duty at all times to give prompt and courteous attention to the tenants and to see that all the minor complaints are attended to; and in cases where the tenant reports uncivility or inattention on the part of an employee, it is his first duty to inform the tenant that the matter will receive his careful and prompt attention, after which he will investigate the complaint and impress upon the employe in question, to change his attitude, and in turn, report to the tenant and explain what action he has taken, such as the case may warrant. That makes the tenants feel that they have not been neglected and when they come they will feel that they are receiving every consideration. By so doing theier co-operation (by reason of gaining their confidence) is indirectly invited, in overcoming little matters that may become troublesome and would never have come to attention if the tenant did not complain. This also inspires confidence which makes it easier for an agent to handle the tenants. News of this kind spreads very rapidly.

It is an agent's duty to make daily visits to the property which he manages, and if perchance he may not be in a position to visit that property by reason of an engagement or some other matter of importance, it is his duty to get in touch with the building by telephone. There are things which come up from day to day that must be disposed of without delay. In making these daily visits there are many things which come to an agent's notice and that would otherwise accumulate, such as messages left with the superintendent and with the hall boys by tenants in the building who wish to see him. In so doing, an agent will keep in constant touch with the building and also demonstrates to the tenants that he is managing the building and not the janitor, and that he keeps his eyes open and makes it his business to see that they receive good service and the same attention that he personally gives them.

Essential Duties.

The supervising of all work in the building is a very important duty of an agent, as it embraces many things.

First: To see that the tenants have their work done promptly and as desired by them.

Second: To protect the owner's interests.

Third: Seeing that the mechanics do the work as they contract to do it and not overcharge or charge for any work not done by them.

In making a thorough periodical inspection of a building, the most important duty of an agent should be done in the following manner:

First: Make an examination of the amount of coal on hand, motor room and motor, roof, all vacant apartments, dumbwaiters, cellars and areaways.

Second: Make an examination of the steam heat and hot water system and personally see that there is sufficient amount of water in the boilers and ascertain if they are fed automatically or have to be fed by hand. This last, of course, is only necessary to find out once, after which the agent will never forget.

Important Details.

Third: Examine the sidewalks and entrances, and direct the elevator boys and telephone operator to announce all visitors calling upon tenants, as it may not be the tenant's desire to see every one that calls. This, of course, will have to be done regularly, due to the change of employes, and as a constant reminder to those who may neglect to follow these instructions.

Fourth: Instruct the superintendent to see that the boys do not permit soliciting of any kind throughout the building and not to allow the playing of mud gutter bands, singing, amusements of any kind in or about the premises for the purpose of soliciting money from tenants. This inspection of course is beneficial to all parties concerned; the tenant, owner and agent.

If the above were followed out by all who manage their own buildings or agents managing buildings for the owners, there would be fewer complaints and more satisfied owners.

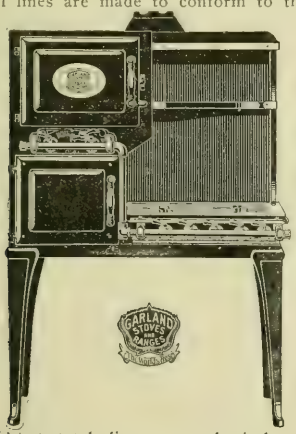
No Overproduction.

Many believe that there has been an overproduction on the East Side, but the evidence is overwhelmingly to the contrary, and with the present attitude of the lending institutions against new operations there is absolutely no fear of it for some time to come.—Douglas L. Elliman.

A Prediction.

I frankly believe that the assessed valuation of all property along the new subway lines (in Brooklyn) will at least double in value within the next decade; in fact I think that this is far too conservative an estimate.—William C. Demorest.

USEFUL APPLIANCES



Novelties, New Applications of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described Without Regard to Advertising Consideration

More Progress in Gas Stoves.

GAS stove manufacturers for more than a year have been preparing for the complete evolution of the gas stove business commemorated by a country-wide introductory movement which has been called Gas Stove Week. The Record and Guide for the last two weeks has shown serially the new various types. This week's installment shows several more. There have been shown styles and builds that have indicated to architects, building managers and prospective builders that the presence of an old style cabinet gas range in an otherwise modern apartment or residential building stamps it at once as being out of date. The types shown in this week's issue are made by standard manufacturers and have been officially approved.

A Colonial Style Range.

STYLES in kitchen equipment have come to be just as important as styles in clothing, the parlor, den or dining room. Here, then, is the first attempt to carry period architecture and decoration into the kitchen. It is called the Colonial gas range because its general lines are made to conform to the rigid but stately lines so popular in home building in the suburbs. The manufacturer argues that if there is to be a colonial house with colonial furnishings in the hall, parlor, bedroom and dining room, the same idea should be carried into the kitchen by having the gas stove as equally distinctive as the parlor piano or the four poster in the master room.

This range is all black enamel save for nickel trimming. It measures thirty-nine inches over all, has four top burners and a simmerer. In suburban homes it should be tremendously popular.

Novel Ideas in This Stove.

DIETICIANS have reduced the art of cooking down to an exact science. It is no longer unusual in the modern cook books to give instructions for preparing foods in degrees of heat for different lengths of time. For instance, to cook a roast, one cook book says: "To conserve the meat juices and to bring out the great wealth of proteins in meat, the degree of heat applied to a roast should be graduated. Set the thermometer or thermostat at 155 degrees for the first fifteen minutes. This sears the outside of the roast and seals the juices within. Then lower the degree of heat for the next twenty minutes from four, then eight and then in jumps of ten until the roast is of a rich brown color on the outside. By following these instructions the full richness and maximum food value will be retained."

Here is shown the value of the stove herewith illustrated because its oven is equipped with a thermometer that gauges the degree of heat applied to cooking of all kinds. The stove is so built that the tired housewife can sit down to the cooking plate when there is much stirring to be done, and yet the oven and warmers are placed at a convenient height for that sort of cooking. The roller door plate warmer is out of the way and plenty of shelf room is provided.

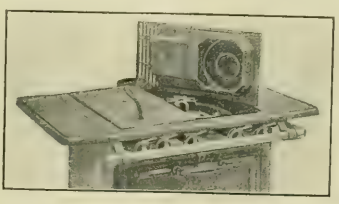
Two Size Oven Stove.



THE chief novelty in the stove illustrated in this sketch is that there are two sizes of oven. This in some cases, especially around Thanksgiving time when a large turkey has to be roasted, is a decided advantage and commends itself strongly to the prospective tenant who is accustomed to have considerably company. This stove is equipped with glass oven door and thermometer and has a one coat enameled splasher side.

Multiplies Heat, But Saves Gas.

AMONG the newest gas equipments to be introduced this year is a special gas stove top that is said to multiply heat and yet save gas. The principle involved is that of making use of every bit of heat that is generated by the gas burners. The illustration shows the top of a stove with one of the panels lifted up to display the principle of the heat distribution. The manufacturers say that this device saves labor and prevents fires as the flame is entirely protected from coming in contact with lifting cloths. They have the additional value of keeping kitchens cool in warm weather. These covers fit all modern gas ranges.

The manufacturers say that these plates will keep a whole meal warm without drying it, as is the case with the ordinary gas stove not thus equipped.

The heat is distributed by means of a box flue which is shown in the upraised section. There is nothing about this equipment that can get out of order and the first cost is moderate.

Full Enamel Stove.

HERE is a gas stove designed for a "Newlywed's cote," to borrow the words of the manufacturer's press agent. This stove is especially designed for that type of apartment house that has been finding great popularity among newly married couples in the upper part of Manhattan in the Washington Heights section and in some of the Kings Bridge apartments of recent design.

The appearance of an all tile and white trimmed kitchen with even the gas range enameled presents an appearance so attractive as to be practically the deciding argument for immediate rental. This stove is brand new. It has all the capacity and features of a full size range yet is only thirty-eight inches wide. It has all burner valves in front and has patent rotary-flame star burners. The door panels are of white porcelain enamel of double heavy coat with oven racks and linings aluminized with a dust slide of galvanized iron. The legs, warmer shelves and side apron are all done in heavy white enamel.

Three Oven Stove.

HERE is a stove calculated to give large baking capacity, and is designed more for residences, although for large apartments where there is considerable cooking to be done this type of gas range has decided advantages over the coal range. It has three roasting or baking cabinets, one of which can also be used as a broiler. The stove is equipped with a warming shelf and a side apron, four burners and a simmerer. Its enameled doors give it place in a tiled kitchen. It has the advantage of wasting very little space.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

Work Progressing on College of the Immaculate Conception, in Brooklyn—Unique Treatment For Interior of Store

OPERATIONS are now well under way for the first of a group of buildings to be erected on Atlantic avenue, northeast corner of Washington avenue, Brooklyn, which will be used as a preparatory school for boys. According to present plans, the group will consist of five buildings, and, when finally completed, will be one of the most imposing of the borough's many fine educational institutions. The school will be under the supervision of the Roman Catholic Diocesian authorities and will be known as the College of the Immaculate Conception. The Right Rev. George W. Mundelein, Auxiliary Bishop of Brooklyn, will be directly in authority. The primary object of the institution is to prepare boys, who will later enter the priesthood, for college, and it will have accommodations for about 500 students.

The site selected for this institution in is a neighborhood which for many years has been one devoted to high-class residences, and which has peculiar adaptabilities for an institution of this character. It is accessible from all points of Brooklyn and Long Island and gives promise of unusual growth and improvement in the near future.

Miller-Reid Co., General Contractor. Gustave E. Steinback, Architect.

CATHEDRAL COLLEGE OF THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

Gustave E. Steinback, architect, 15 East 40 street, Manhattan, has prepared the plans and specifications for this group of buildings. In design they follow somewhat that of the Cathedral Chapel of the Queen of All-Saints recently completed at the corner of Greene and Vanderbilt avenues, which was also designed by Mr. Steinback. The architecture is modified French Gothic, which is a style well suited to an educational group of this character.

The facades of the structure will be of granite and limestone, ornamented and enriched with carvings in relief. The buildings will be absolutely fireproof and will represent the last word in building construction. They will average in height about four stories.

The property has a frontage of 191 feet on Atlantic avenue, 131 feet on Washington avenue and has an extreme depth of 260 feet. The buildings will occupy this entire plot, with the exception of the space reserved as an interior court to be used for light and ventilation. One of the principal features of the design of this group is the central tower, which will rise to a height of approximately 300 feet, and which will be visible from all points of Brooklyn. The tower will be, architecturally, the key or central motif of the entire group. Through it there will be an entrance or driveway to the court. It will contain the executive offices of the seminary, reception rooms and library. The other buildings, which will complete the group, consist of a chapel and lecture hall, refectory and two buildings devoted to class and recitation rooms and dormitories.

At the present time the work under contract calls for the construction of one school wing with frontage on Washington avenue, and refectory. This work is in charge of the Miller-Reid Company, 103 Park avenue, Manhattan, under a general contract. The completed group is estimated to cost over $500,000, exclusive of the cost of the land.

Unique Interior Treatment.

DISTINCTIVE and easy to locate are the Truly Warner hat shops, by reason of the novel and ornamental treatment given to their entrances and show windows, with their quaint gables executed in flat and Spanish tile in imitation of the front of an old English shop. In one of his new stores which has been fitted up at 262 Broadway, Mr. Warner has amplified this idea and has carried the treatment out within the store. The result is unique.

As reconstructed, the interior of the shop represents an old English village street with its one and two story houses and shops, with their dormers and gables of tile. There is no illusion, however, as the work has been completed in the materials as shown in the photograph of the model herewith illustrated. Each group of show cases represents a separate cottage or shop. The gables and dormers are roofed with small sized mission tile of terra cotta, some flat and others of Spanish shapes. These tiles are of various colors which blend harmoniously with the scheme in general. The half timbering and uprights on the show cases and gable ends are rough faced to imitate adzing. The brickwork for the bases is built up of pony sized brick laid in random style. The columns in the store have been covered with brick to represent chimneys.

In the treatment of the floor of this store an unusual method has been employed for work of this kind. Strict regularity was not to be thought of, as it would conflict with the general idea. The floor, as laid, is composed of varicolored and irregular pieces of concrete stone laid with wide joints in brown mortar. This has proved to be good, as it carries out to the best advantage the idea of a village street.

The woodwork throughout the store for showcases, trim, etc., is chestnut stained to represent weathering. Hanging lanterns fitted with tungsten lights supply the necessary artificial light and have been designed in the antique style, as found on old English inns. They are hand-hammered. wrought iron, with a rusty finish.

Back of the show-cases and against the wall a landscape has been painted which represents surrounding country.

GEO. A. FULLER COMPANY.

Thirty-five Large Contracts Last Year Facts from the Annual Report.

Among the thirty-five large contracts taken on by the Geo. A. Fuller Company during the fiscal year just ended, were the Lumber Exchange building, Chicago, Ill.; the Canadian Pacific Railway station alterations, Montreal; the Martha Cook Dormitory for the University of Michigan; the City Hall, Waterbury, Conn.; the People's State Bank, Detroit, Mich.; the Wm. Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa.; the Garden Theatre, Baltimore, Md.; the interior of the City Hall, Cleveland, Ohio; the Central Dormitory for Wellesley College; the Bowery Y. M. C. A. building, New York City; the Memorial Amphitheatre and Chapel for the United States of America at the Arlington National Cemetery, and the Riverside Power station, Albany, New York. Through its engineering and construction department the company has also contracted with the City of New York for a section of the subway extending from 26th to 28th street in Broadway. Work is progressing rapidly on all three sections of the subway which this department has under contract, with a total of business on its books of $6,774,022, and work executed during the year of $2,709,324, unfinished business at this date is $4,064,698. This gives a total of unfinished business on the books of the company at this date of $15,262,710.

The annual report of the United States Realty & Improvement Company for the year ended April 30, 1915, shows a balance available for dividends of $808,136, equal to 4.99 per cent. earned on the $16,162,800 capital stock, as compared with 8.18 per cent. in the preceding twelve months. Gross earnings amounted to $2,904,509, against $3,419,609.

The regular income from the real estate and other investments continues to be more than sufficient to pay all expenses and the interest upon the company's bonds. The balance of the income from these investments, the profits from the George A. Fuller Co., the real estate operating department and the general construction work will be applicable to dividends."

Fifth Avenue Office Building Project.

Interesting among the building announcements of the week is the projected sixteen-story office building to be erected at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 43d street, on a plot with an avenue frontage of 64 feet and 123 feet in the street. The site has been bought by a syndicate, headed by Harry Fischel, president of the Times Square Realty Co., and it is the owner's intention to improve it as soon as the details can be arranged with a modern office building. It is said that the Guaranty Trust Company, of New York, is about to close a long term lease for the ground floor, first floor and basement as a home for its Fifth avenue branch. Definite details of construction and the name of the architect who will prepare the plans are not obtainable at present. A complete report of the transfer of this property appears in another column of this issue.

Contractor for New Brooklyn Theatre.

George Thomas, builder, 32 East 42d street, Manhattan, has been awarded a general contract for the construction of a theatre on the west side of Fifth avenue from 43d street to 44th street, Brooklyn. The structure will occupy the entire block front and will cover a plot 200x100 feet. The owner is the One Hundred Nintieth Street Holding Co., Hyman Horowitz, president. Thomas W. Lamb, 644 Eighth avenue, Manhattan, prepared the plans and specifications. The building will be two stories in height, fireproof, with facade of brick and limestone. The theatre will have a seating capacity of more than 2,000 people and will cost about $100,000.

Another West End Avenue Apartment.

McMorrow Engineering & Construction Co., 271 West 125th street, has purchased the southwest corner of West End avenue and 99th street and intend to improve the site by the erection of a high class apartment house. The plot measures 110 feet on the avenue and 100 feet in the street. The structure to be built will be planned by Neville & Bagge, architects, 105 West 40th street. It will be twelve stories in height and have suites arranged in five, six and seven rooms each. The operation will involve the expenditure of more than $1,000,000.

Hospital Plans Completed.

Plans have been completed by Edward M. Adelsohn, architect, 1776 Pitkin avenue, Brooklyn, for the Brownsville and East New York Hospital, soon to be erected at Rockaway Parkway and Avenue A, on a plot 100 by 100 feet. Estimates will be called for in a few days. The building will be five stories high and entirely of fireproof construction. The outer walls will be of brick with limestone trimming. It will be modern in every respect. The estimated cost of the structure is $100,000.

Where Demand is Greatest Use Edison Service

Few institutions demand more from a lighting source than theatres, yet Edison Service has supplied the needs of the New York Theatre Building, including the Vitagraph Theatre, for the past six years. A private plant was installed originally, but proved incapable of meeting the requirements

Central Station Supply fits every condition. Whether your building houses a theatre, a factory, a commercial establishment or a home, the light and power load will be accommodated with the same reliability. And it is always ready when the demand is greatest to life and property depend on your choice

Not until some such test as the Salem, or Edison fire, is the essential difference between concrete and other types of construction shown.

After the fire, the slight difference in cost or time, seems very trivial as compared with the value of property and life risked.

The best class of concrete construction, and the best cement, are within reach and are the logical choice of all.

AN INTERESTING LECTURE, illustrating the construction of the Panama Canal, was given last Thursday evening, at the offices of Julius Franke, architect, 25 Madison Square North, by William B. Van Ingen, who recently completed some large mural paintings for the United States Government. The lecture was given to the students of Miss Schoonmaker's school and their friends, and was followed by a dance, which was held in the large drafting room on top of the building. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides showing the various stages in the construction of the canal locks and cuts, from the commencement to the completion of the gigantic project.

OBITUARY

LEOPOLD E. GEORGI, a retired plumbing and heating contractor, died at his home, 1349 Fulton av, the Bronx, Friday, May 21. He was born in Germany seventy-one years ago, and came to America as a young man.

MARTIN MURRAY, a general contractor, prominent for many years in Central New York, died at his home in Troy, Thursday, May 20, aged sixty-nine years. During the last twenty-five years he carried out a number of large contracts for New York State and the United States Government.

SAMUEL H. MILLIKEN, president of the Pioneer Iron Works, 140 Pioneer st, Brooklyn, for the last fifteen years, died at his home, 117 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn, Thursday, May 20. Mr. Milliken was born in Manhattan seventy-three years ago and had lived in Brooklyn practically all his life. He had been connected with the Pioneer Iron Works for forty-five years. He was a veteran of the Civil War, a member of the Society of Old Brooklynites and the Twelfth Assembly District Republican Club.

JACOB GRAFF, who twenty-five years ago was quite prominent among the architects and builders of New York City, and who assisted in drawing the plans for the old Grand Central Terminal, which stood until a few years ago, died at his home at 240 South 5th st, Brooklyn, Tuesday, May 25. Mr. Graff was born in Alsace eighty-three years ago, and came to America when eighteen years of age. When the Grand Central Railroad built its old Manhattan Terminal, which was a few years ago, replaced by the present building, Jacob Graff was selected to have a part in the preparation of the plans for the edifice, which at that time was considered an imposing structure. He also made the plans for many other buildings for the New York Central Railroad and other interests, many of which are still in existence. During the last few years of his active business career and until the time of his retirement, twenty-five years ago, Mr. Graff engaged in iron and steel structural work. Mr. Graff was well known in Masonic circles, and was a member of Copernicus Lodge No. 545, F. and A. M. He did not belong to any other organizations. He is survived by one son and two grandchildren.

ENGINEERING FOUNDATION held its first regular meeting Tuesday, May 25, at which Rules of Administration were adopted and the following officers elected: Gano Dunn, chairman; Edward D. Adams, vice-chairman; F. R. Hutton, secretary; Joseph Struthers, treasurer. This is a professional engineering trust organized along the lines of the Cleveland, Carnegie, Rockefeller and Sage Foundations, by the United Engineering Society representing jointly the national organizations of Electrical, Mining and Mechanical Engineers, with the co-operation of the national organization of Civil Engineers, combining about 30,000 members. The Engineering Foundation was made possible through the generosity of a distinguished engineer, Ambrose Swasey, of Cleveland, who made the initial gift of a quarter of a million dollars, to be devoted to the benefit of mankind through fostering engineering researches. The distinguished board administering this trust consists of Mr. Edward D. Adams, banker; Mr. Gano Dunn, President The J. G. White Engineering Corporation; Mr. Howard Elliott, President New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad; Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys, President Stevens Institute of Technology; Dr. Charles Warren Hunt, Secretary American Society of Civil Engineers; Dr. A. R. Ledoux, Past-President American Institute of Mining Engineers; Dr. M. I. Pupin, Professor Electromechanics, Columbia University; Mr. Charles E. Scribner, Chief Engineer Western Electric Company; Mr. J. Waldo Smith, Chief Engineer, Board of Water Supply, Gas & Electricity, City of New York; Mr. Jesse M. Smith, Past-President, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and Mr. Benjamin B. Thayer, President Anaconda Copper Company. The Board telegraphed Mr. Swasey greetings and appreciation of his generosity and pledged itself to carrying out his cherished aims. Applications for the use of the funds were received in large numbers and a committee was appointed to consider them, consisting of Dr. A. R. Ledoux, Chairman; Mr. J. Waldo Smith, Dr. M. I. Pupin and Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys. Most of the applications were in such form that they could not be considered and the committee is preparing a schedule of requirements with which applications will have to comply. The Engineering Foundation is the first of its kind devoted to engineering interests.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

MANUFACTURERS WARN CEMENT DEALERS OF DANGER OF DELAYING SHIPPING ORDERS—BRICK WILL FOLLOW JUMP

Copper and Brass Sheets, Linseed Oil Up—Plate Glass May Follow

MAY closes with all basic building materials higher in wholesale price than they were on the first of the month. Many advances occurred since the 15th, when it became evident that the complexity of the European war would become more acute. Further advances may be expected to be reported in June. By August 1, an actual shortage of material in some lines now seems assured. Manufacturers are more independent in the matter of filling dealers' orders, not only here in the metropolitan district, but throughout the west, with the single exception of Chicago environs. Even in the south there is a stiffening reported in building materials. Reports from reliable agencies for May indicate complete return to normal building conditions for ninety-eight districts. In April national building construction was wthn 6.3 per cent. of normal.

The real strength of the bulding situation has been shown in lack of retraction in building loan negotiations, increase in interest rates or boosting of accommodation premiums since the national crisis developed. So far as current building reports are concerned, construction seems to be unabated. Real estate movements have, in fact, not only held their own, but actually show improvement in some sections, notably the suburbs and some congested commercial districts.

The leading active building materials this week were common brick, Portland cement, copper, brass, spelter, linseed oil and some grades of lumber, including spruce, North Carolina pine and lath.

Hudson common brick fell from $6.50 per thousand this week to $6. Then went to $6.25 where it held weak and then toward the close rebounded firmly to $6.50. Raritan brick ruled at $6.25, but no quotations were made on district deliveries later than July 1, indicating that manufacturers are preparing for a further stiffening of the market as soon as the price situation in Portland cement improves.

While there was nothing definite given out by the manufacturers of Portland cement this week regarding a change in prices on the first of the month, dealers in several instances were secretly informed that they would have to get all the cement they wanted at the current seventy cents mill level into their hands before July 1. In view of the fact that thirty day delivery terms usually prevail, it was assumed that various companies would independently advance their prices five cents a barrel on June first. This will make the local wholesale price level $1.32 to $1.37. Present low level is $1.23 a barrel.

It is said that manufacturers have been forced to act regardless of the actions of the two belligerent companies responsible for the cut. The shipments for the month of May are sure to show at least a 5 per cent. gain over those of last month and possibly the same increase per cent. over the shipments for May of last year. with 182 kilns in operation in both districts, the Lehigh and the Hudson, not a single company has been able to pile up a reserve of either finished cement or clinker, a significant fact for the prospective user of cement to remember, as it is natural to suppose that if supply is below demand, prices will operate accordingly. At least one company will raise its price for this reason on Tuesday.

Sheet copper advanced one cent immediately upon announcement that Italy had gone to war. Prices of sheet brass promptly followed suit with a two cent advance. Spelter, opening the week nervous, moved up another cent and so did linseed oil which is now rapidly reaching a seventy cent basis at sixty-seven and sixty-eight cents a gallon at the week-end. Lath has dropped from its former stiff level at $4.25 to $4, but this is only because of the arrival of an unexpected quantity within the last ten days. Spruce is hard to get and is stiffening. North Carolina pine is said to be in greater demand than the cutters are willing to exceed in view of the low prices now prevailing and an upward change in list is expected on Tuesday. There is a chance that the discount on plate and window glass will be changed downward, making the actual purchase price higher, between now and the first of July. Iron and steel are without change.

Plan filings in the five boroughs for the week follow. In the same week last year there were 362 new building plans filed with an estimated value of $7,-264,995.

GYPSUM.

Report for 1914 Shows Big Gain in U. S. Company's Earnings.

CONSPICUOUS among building materials was gypsum last year, when, despite disturbing conditions in the last half, there was apparently more of this material used than any time before. The annual report of the U. S. Gypsum Company, just issued, shows net earnings of $900,593, as against $778,812 for the previous year. During last year $111,210 was written off the property account through depreciation, while $195,652 was expended on plant extension.

CRUSHED STONE OUTPUT.

Country Developed Value in Product of $31,000,000.

CRUSHED stone is the largest factor of the stone industry in the United States. Figures showing the value of crushed stone were first published by the United States Geological Survey in 1898 and amounted to $4,031,445. By 1913 the output was valued at over $31,000,000. Of late years stone crushed for concrete making has largely taken the place of building and foundation stone.

BUILDING STONE.

Great Increase Last Year in National Production.

STONE production in the United States in 1913 reached a total of $83,732,995, according to E. F. Burchard, of the United States Geological Survey. This is an increase of $5,539,775 or 7 per cent. over the former record-breaking figures for 1912.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

General Belief That Prices Will Be Higher After June 1.

MANUFACTURERS of Portland cement intimated this week that after the first of June prices for this commodity would be higher in this district, but none of them would admit just how much of an advance there would be. At least one company stated definitely that it would quote a higher price after the first of the month and other companies asserted that some manufacturers had advised their dealers to get all the cement they would require into their hands within the next thirty days. This was interpreted to mean that orders placed this week at current quotations of $1.23 or $1.32 would still have the thirty day delivery privilege, but that after that time the lowest price for which Portland cement will be sold by any company would be $1.32.

A glimpse at conditions at the Lehigh and Hudson valley mills shows that general consumption is taking care of all the 182 cement kilns can produce, that there is no appreciable reserve stock and that pending road contracts would more than make up for the deficiency in cement being used in metropolitan building construction.

Most of the Newark, Hoboken, Elizabeth and Perth Amboy dealers have had their stocks considerably depleted by reason of an increase in general construction work, and it was said that when they came into the Building Material Exchange this week they found less aggressiveness on the part of the manufacturers to quote at the low prices previously quoted.

LUMBER.

Suburban Dealers Find Lists Firmer on General Grades.

GENERAL lines of building lumber are expected to be stiffer on list after the first of the month. Suburban dealers, operating under reduced stock this season, have found that with the improvement in general building construction, they have not been able to buy additional supplies with quite as much ease in the shaded quotations as formerly. Jobbers and wholesalers here have not been inclined to be as free with concessions as formerly owing to the disposition of the cutters to restrict mill operations until prices reach more profitable levels.

The tremendous amount of shoring and street surfacing lumber required in the subway work has resulted in a restricted amount of cutting in building sizes and has forced the cutting timber farther from the saw camps, so that there is more expense required in marketing ordinary building grades. One cutter said that he would not be enthusiastic about taking on this extra over-head until more sizable orders developed either from this country or from abroad. Another factor is that shipyards have been taking an almost unprecedented amount of lumber in the construction of sailing ships to carry goods to the South American and later to the European markets.

LINSEED OIL.

Advance of Cent a Gallon Brings Price Near 70 Cents.

THERE are reasons for believing that there will be a lowering in the discount on plate glass within the next few days owing to the increased demand at home and the complications arising through the entrance of still another nation in the European war crisis. American manufacturers are now supplying the world in this commodity. Heretofore domestic demand has been low owing to the moderate amount of building construction work in progress, but the South American trade has been shifted from Italy to this country and the capacity of the domestic mills is likely to be considerably taxed during the remainder of the year at least. Window glass, being in larger stock, has not yet been affected.

COMMON BRICK.

Prices Stiffen as Report of Cement Advance Spreads.

SIMULTANEOUSLY with the receipt on the Building Material Exchange this week of reports to the effect that Portland cement prices were going to be advanced after the first of the month, the speculative element in the brick market ceased to buy brick in the belief that they could thereby bear prices. Instead of a general slump occurring, however, Hudson prices held firm at $6.25 and $6.50.

The manufacturers heard of the expected change in cement prices and shut off some of their shipments so that the market at the week end was normal as regards held-over brick, and there were no signs of a general sacrificing movement.

Hudson River brick manufacturers intimate that as soon as the price of Portland cement moves up, they, too, will put their prices where there is some chance of taking a profit. One man said that with cement as low in price as it has been for some time, it would have been bad business policy to have put prices up to the point where demand normally would warrant, because it might have diverted brick business into the cement market, by encouraging substitution of cement for brick. The sharp reduction of over-supply up the river is now such as to give manufacturers a little more independence, partly because the unsettled condition of the weather this week interfered with open yard drying and delayed the preparation of 1915 brick now in process of manufacture.

Official transactions for Hudson River brick covering the week ending Thursday, May 27, in the wholesale market, with comparison for the corresponding period last year, follow:

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.

NEW YORK, JUNE 5, 1915

REGISTRATION OF ARCHITECTS NOW THE LAW

Does not Interfere With Builders Who May Wish to Make Their Own Drawings Without the Assistance of Architects

A NEW State law requires the registration of architects, the appointment of a Board of Examiners and the examination of candidates for the privilege of practicing architecture. It will not prevent anyone who wishes to build from drawing his own plans, but he may not plan for others without a certificate. Opposed by the Building Trades Employers' Association until within a short time of its passage, as similar bills had been for a number of years past, the bill reposed in the Assembly Committee of the Judiciary from the date of its introduction by Assemblyman Bacher, of Brooklyn, on January 20, until a general agreement was effected, between the building interests and the organized architectural bodies of the State, including the various chapters of the American Institute of Architects and the New York Society of Architects.

Object of the Bill.

As explained by the framers of the bill, "it is an educational measure designed to gradually raise the standard of qualifications for practicing architecture without interfering with the rights of those who are now practising architecture, and without interfering with contractors or others who may wish to make their own drawings without the assistance of an architect."

University Will Appoint Examiners.

The Board of Examiners will be appointed by the Regents of the State University. Dr. J. H. Finley, formerly head of the College of the City of New York, is president of the board. In a letter which D. Everett Waid, as chairman of the architects' joint committee, addressed to President Finley under date of May 19, thanking him for his interest and co-operation, it is said:

"Since our examinations for admittance to practice under the title of 'architect' will be conducted by the State University, the profession may have every confidence that the purpose of the law will be carried out to increase the efficiency of the profession, and thereby benefit the public as well as architecture itself.

"Incidentally, I feel sure that the law cannot be used for ulterior purposes. Some of the builders felt that the architects were trying to legislate business into their own hands. I believe that the building laws should be sufficiently stringent to place the responsibility of safe design and safe construction where it belongs, namely, upon him who undertakes to design and construct, whether he be a contractor, engineer, or architect. This law certainly is not intended to force anyone to patronize an architect."

Builders Were at First Opposed.

Chairman Waid, in a report which he has made to President Richard M. Hunt, of New York Chapter, says the committee in its efforts to secure the passage of this bill encountered a strong sentiment of opposition on the part of the Legislators, not to anything specific in this bill, but on account of their prejudice against license bills in general, and it was somewhat difficult to convince them that this is an educational measure and not a license bill to be likened to such bills as have been introduced in behalf of the plumbing and heating trades.

"Unexpected opposition also appeared when the attorney representing the Building Trades Employers' Association made active efforts to secure the defeat of the measure. This opposition was a painful surprise, inasmuch as the bill had been submitted by the undersigned personally to the President of that association and also to the chairman of their Legislative Committee a year ago, and we had no reason to suspect from their cordial attitude that there would be anything but co-operation with us. When we discovered that their attorney was instructed to secure the defeat of our bill, we arranged conferences with the attorney and entire Legislative Committee of the Building Trades Employers' Association, and, after protracted interviews during which their leading members supported our point of view, they were voted down by a narrow margin and their attorney instructed to continue to oppose the bill. We then found that an amendment to the bill, which would be in effect a declaration of purpose and which would in no sense change its meaning or effect, would secure the withdrawal of their opposition. This amendment reads as follows:

Paragraph Omitted.

"'Nothing in this article shall be construed as depriving any person of any rights which he now has with respect to the filing of plans for new buildings or for alterations to existing buildings; nor shall any department or bureau, or superintendent of any department or bureau, with which plans are required to be filed according to law, refuse by reason of this article to receive the same from any one on the ground that the plans are not prepared by a person styled or known as architect.'

"Our joint committee, representing all five organizations of architects, joined in requesting the legislators in charge of the bill in Albany to secure the passage of this amendment. For some reason, those in charge of the bill disregarded our request and the bill was passed without the amendment.

An Embarrassing Outcome.

"This was a very embarrassing outcome, as it placed us seemingly in the position of securing the passage of the bill by a trick. The association was immediately aroused to make the greatest possible effort to secure the veto of the bill by the Governor. Conferences again resulted and opposition to the signing of the bill was withdrawn on our promise to use every sincere effort to secure the passage of this amendment to the bill at the next session.

"In view of the unfortunate experience in Illinois, where, after a law had been in force twenty years, the Board of Examiners has become a football of politics and the laws in existence jeopardized by opposition on the part of the engineers and others, your committee believes that it will be wise to have this amendment passed, as it will make clear beyond a doubt our purpose to raise the standard of qualifications of architects and not to secure business by force of legislation. The penalty to be incurred under this law is for the use of the title 'architect' by any one not duly qualified. We believe that building laws should be made stringent enough to locate responsibility for unsafe design and bad construction. If owners then choose to employ contractors or others to design their buildings, they will do so knowingly and without being deceived by unscrupulous persons who assume the title 'architect' unworthily and thereby discredit the profession."

The bill is entitled "An act to amend the general business law in relation to the practice of architecture," and reads as follows:

Eligibility.

§77. Any person residing in or having a place of business in the State, who, before this article takes effect, shall not have been engaged in the practice of architecture in New York State, under the title of architect, shall, before being styled or known as an architect, secure a certificate of his qualification to practice under the title of architect, as provided by this article. Any person who shall have been engaged in the practice of architecture under the title of architect, before this article takes effect, may secure such certificate, in the manner provided by this article. Any person having a certificate pursuant to this article may be styled or known as a registered architect. No other person shall assume such title or use the abbreviation R. A., or any other words, letters or figures to indicate that the person using the same is a registered architect.

Board of Examiners.

§78. The Regents of the University shall, within ninety days after this article takes effect, appoint a board of five examiners who shall make rules for the examination and registration of candidates for such certificates, subject to the approval of the board of regents. Such board of examiners shall be composed of architects, who have been in active practice in the State of New York for not less than ten years, previous to their appointment, selected by the regents. Such examiners shall be entitled to such compensation for their services under this article as the board of regents shall determine, not exceeding in the aggregate the amount of fees collected from applicants for certificates.

Qualifications.

§79. Any citizen of the United States, or any person who has duly declared his intention of becoming such citizen, being at least twenty-one years of age and of good moral character, may apply for examination or certificate of registration under this article, but before securing such certificate shall submit satisfactory evidence of having satisfactorily completed the course in an approved high school or the equivalent thereof and subsequent thereto of having satisfactorily completed such courses in mathematics, history and one modern language, as are included in the first two years in an approved institution conferring the degree of bachelor of arts. Such candidate shall in addition submit satisfactory evidence of at least five years' practical experience in the office or offices of a reputable architect or architects, commencing after the completion of the high school course. The board of examiners may accept satisfactory diplomas or certificates from approved institutions covering the course required for examination. Upon complying with the above requirements, the applicant shall satisfactorily pass an examination in such technical and professional courses as are established by the board of examiners. The board of examiners in lieu of all examinations may accept satisfactory evidence of any one of the qualifications set forth under subdivisions one and two of this section.

Evidence of Qualifications.

1. A diploma of graduation or satisfactory certificate from a recognized architectural college or school, together with at least three years' practical experience in the office or offices of a reputable architect or architects; but the three years' experience shall be counted only as beginning at the completion of the course leading to the diploma or certificate;

2. Registration or certification as an architect in another State or country, where the standard of qualifications for the same are not lower than those required by the board of examiners under this article;

3. The board of examiners in lieu of all examinations shall accept satisfactory evidence as to the applicant's character, competency and qualifications, and that he has been continuously and exclusively engaged in the practice of architecture for more than two years next prior to the date when this article shall take effect; or satisfactory evidence that the applicant has been actually and exclusively engaged in the practice of architecture on his own account or as a member of a reputable firm or association for more than one year prior to the date when this article shall take effect; providing the application for such certification shall be made within one year of such date.

Every person applying for examination or certificate of registration under this article shall pay a fee of twenty-five dollars to the board of regents.

§ 79-a. Certificates. The result of every examination or other evidence of qualification, as provided by this article, shall be reported to the board of regents by the board of examiners, and a record of the same shall be kept by the board of regents, and such board shall issue a certificate of registration to every person certified by the board of examiners as having passed such examination or as being otherwise qualified to be entitled to receive the same. Every person securing such certificates shall file the same with the county clerk of the county in which he resides or maintains a place of business. The board of regents may revoke any certificate, if such action be recommended by the board of examiners, after thirty days' written notice to the holder thereof and after a hearing before the board of examiners, upon proof that such certificate has been obtained by fraud or misrepresentation, or upon proof that the holder of such certificate has been guilty of felony in connection with the practice of architecture.

§ 79-b. Violation of article. Any violation of this article shall be a misdemeanor, punishable for the first offense by a fine of not less than fifty and not more than one hundred dollars, and for a subsequent offense by a fine of not less than two hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

Epoch Making.

"The enactment of the Architect's Registration bill into law is a piece of work that will stand out as a shining landmark in the history of Building in New York," said Oscar Lowinson, of the New York Society of Architects.

"It is the beginning of the establishment of a standard in the architectural profession. Hitherto there has been no restriction on the practice of architecture, with the result that the standards in the profession had dropped and were still dropping lower and lower; so low in fact that in one large class of the community it looked as though the reputable practitioner had to apologize for expecting to get work.

"A class of so-called architects, or rather 'artchitects' has sprung uu, composed of men who never went to school or whose moral sense had long left them, and it has always been difficult for the man who was about to build to decide whom to select, because he didn't have the means at his disposal, nor did he know how to pick a reputable architect. The so-called business methods of getting work were such so that the glib talker would frequently convince a would-be client that the man of merit was not the man he was looking for.

"Now this registration act does not prevent any one now practicing from continuing. What it does do is to establish a standard so that an owner may know whether the man he is employing has attained that standard or not. In other words, hereafter there will be Registered Architects and Architects.

"The word 'Registered' hereafter when placed before the word 'Architect' will carry a distinct, definite and unquestioned meaning; viz., that the man is by training and character fit to undertake work, and this has been determined by the University of the State of New York.

"If a man hereafter is not known as Registered Architect it will be presumptive evidence of the fact that the man is not fit to practice. The only case that I know of is when an alien may be practicing, as this act restricts the practice to citizens."

Excess Condemnation Assured—Factory Law Modifications—Notes from the Constitutional Convention

ALL the legislation necessary to put into effect the principle of excess condemnation of land for public use was obtained from the recent Legislature. Hereafter judges of the Supreme Court will hear testimony in condemnation cases. Senator Mills' bill amending the Greater New York Charter in relation to authorizing the City of New York to acquire more land and property than is actually needed in laying out, widening, extending public thoroughfares and parks has become chapter 593 of the Laws of 1915.

Edward D. Sayers, formerly chief clerk in the District Attorney's office, has been appointed chief clerk to the new Industrial Commission, at $6,000. Cyrus W. Phillips of Monroe County, Thomas J. Brennan of Kings and William E. Richards have been appointed Deputy Commissioners of Labor.

Concessions in the Factory Laws.

The amended Labor Law grants concessions in connection with automatic sprinkler installations. At present no part of any floor may be more than 100 feet distant from a required means of exit. In the case of buildings containing automatic sprinkler systems throughout, this distance is increased to 150 feet, which lessens the number of required exits.

Hitherto the number of employees allowed upon any floor would, by the terms of the law, be increased by fifty per cent. where automatic sprinklers existed. An amendment which has been made to the law permits an increase of 100 per cent. where sprinklers are installed.

A bill was passed by the Legislature granting to the Fire Commissioner reasonable discretion to modify the requirements as to fire alarm systems in factory and mercantile buildings, but it did not get the Governor's signature. It will therefore be necessary for the owners of factory buildings over two stories in height, in which more than twenty-five persons are employed above the ground floor, to equip their buildings throughout with fire alarm signal systems as ordered by the Fire Commissioner, although appeal may be made to the Industrial Commission for these orders.

Constitutional Convention Notes.

Several bills calling for ballot curtailment are now before the convention. One provides that only the Governor and Lieutenant Governor be elected and that the Governor appoint all other State officers, while another would make the offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Comptroller and Attorney General elective.

A batch of amendments embodying the views of the American Federation of Labor was introduced by Mr. Curran, of Rochester. These provide for the prohibition of the use of private armed forces in labor disputes, the prohibition of a State constabulary, an eight-hour day on all public works, old age pensions and insurance of workers against accident, sickness and unemployment, permitting the State or any subdivision of it to undertake public work or engage in other industry to give employment in hard times.

Opposes Compulsory Arbitration.

James M. Lynch, Industrial Commissioner, appeared before a committee against the amendment of Joseph Rosch, of Sullivan County, providing for compulsory arbitration in strikes.

"The State should not have such power," said Commissioner Lynch. "Bloodshed and resistance to any such settlement of strikes would follow. Such a measure could not be enforced, even with the aid of the State militia. The Canadian compulsory arbitration act is not acceptable to the wage earners here, and involuntary servitude would be resisted by American labor."

Professor Jeremiah W. Jenks, of New York, urged favor of Seth Low's proposal for proportional representation. He said it would minimize election frauds.

NEW ROCKAWAY TURNPIKE.

A Continuation of Queens Boulevard from Jamaica to Rockaway Peninsula.

The new Rockaway turnpike, according to F. G. Webb, of Cedarhurst Park, will prove of immense value to property interests in the Rockaways. As all physical improvements along transit avenues ultimately affect the growth of a community, it is prophesied that the new turnpike ought to have a large influence upon this highly developed and rapidly growing community known as the Rockaway Peninsula.

State Engineer Stone completed his survey last week. The new surface is to be macadamized and to have a right of way 100 feet wide. The Cedarhurst Park Realty Co. ceded to the city free and clear a strip 35x1500 feet along the western edge of the residential park.

In order to expedite the completion of the road a commission has been appointed that will shortly make application to the court to vest the title in the city before the condemnation proceedings. This will apply to both the new Rockaway turnpike and the widening of Queens Boulevard, which now is the automobile thoroughfare from Queensborough Plaza to Jamaica. The new turnpike is a continuation of this highway through Jamaica over the meadows and through the highly developed section of Rockaway Peninsula.

IMPROVING THE TIFFANY AND VYSE ESTATES

Building Concerns Active in the Construction of Multi-Family Structures to House New Comers Into the Section

THERE is a section of the Bronx which in a quiet, unobtrusive way has been and still is experiencing considerable building activity, overshadowed, perhaps, by more momentous developments in some other parts of the city, but, nevertheless, deserving attention. Perhaps the inability to lay out definite boundaries for this section, or the difficulty of classifying it by name among the one-time villages and hamlets of the old Bronx, has been responsible for its failure to attract recognition. Many parts of the borough, although units of the Greater City, still retain the old names and associations of the days before they became part of the annexed district. This particular area may be called a part of the old Tiffany and Vyse estates. There are some who may say that its building progress is merely an off-shoot or echo of the now historic Hunts Point building boom, but an analysis of its development will show that the growth has not been spectacular or sporadic, but steady and uninterrupted.

DEVELOPMENT ON WEST FARMS ROAD, NEAR 167TH STREET.

Roughly the boundaries may be described as the Bronx river, Southern Boulevard, 165th street and 174th street. In this tract there has been for the last six years unusual apartment house construction and many of the most desirable corners have been improved with high class multi-family structures. It has been a conservative growth, retarded and influenced, many believe, by general conditions throughout the city, but one, nevertheless, which assumes a new importance when we consider that it took place during a period when there was unquestionably a cessation of building activity. It may be regarded with additional interest when it is known that no one builder was responsible for the movement, but a host of them contributed. Among those interested in this movement were Eberhard & Podgur, Michael Tulley, William and Peter Sinnott, the Ensign Improvement Co., Turek Construction Company, the Mack Construction Company, Charles W. Richardson, Thomas Reilley, Philip Herchowski and Schwarzler & Semke; also some comparatively small concerns which were tied up in but perhaps a single operation and devoted most of their attention and effort to but one undertaking at a time; men who took no unnecessary risks and built only when they felt that they could justify their confidence in a neighborhood by building within its boundaries. The result has been that many blocks heretofore vacant or occupied by small dwellings, typical of New York's outlying sections, have been taken over to provide sites for moderate price "walk-ups." New houses are constantly being added to the rapidly growing number of buildings of this type.

"We are building," said William Sinnott, who, with his brother Peter Sinnott, was among the pioneer apartment house builders in the district, "in anticipation of a still greater influx of population as a result of the additional subway lines now in course of construction, but we have been erecting and disposing of apartment houses even without this incentive. There has always been a consistent demand for small moderate priced flats and we have never had any difficulty in filling our buildings with desirable tenants. Even before the Whitlock avenue route was chosen, this section had been selected by builders for apartment house construction and the actual operation of these new transit systems will serve to make the territory more desirable than ever for improvement along the same lines."

"The demand, as we find it," said A. G. Bechmann, who manages several houses in the neighborhood, "is chiefly for three and four-room suites, averaging about $7 a room, and we have very few such apartments vacant at this time. It is easy to understand why the houses have met with popular approval, combining, as they do, all the comforts and conveniences of modern construction, with a location within easy riding distance of the business centers of the city."

A number of building operations are now under way. At the southeast corner of Vyse avenue and Home street, Peter Sinnott is building two five-story flats; on Vyse avenue adjoining, William Sinnott has begun the erection of two similar structures. On the same block, at the southwest corner of Bryant avenue and Home street, these builders erected last year two five-story apartment houses on land acquired from the heirs of the Tucker estate, who had owned the block bounded by West Farms road, Home street, Vyse and Bryant avenues for more than half a century. The same builders recently bought the plot 50 by 100 on the east side of Vyse avenue, 107 feet south of Freeman street, on which they also contemplate apartment house improvement. They recently disposed of two new houses erected on a plot 100 by 100 on the west side of Longfellow avenue, 207 feet north of Westchester avenue. On the east side of Longfellow avenue, 139 feet north of Westchester avenue, the Absar Realty Company is erecting two five-story houses on land bought last January from Lyman Perry.

The triangular plot bounded by West Farms road, Hoe avenue and 167th street was recently improved with two five-story houses by this company. At the northeast corner of Longfellow avenue and 174th street the Trask Building Company has erected two five-story buildings. On the east side of Hoe avenue, just north of Jennings street, the Galveston Building Company is erecting apartment houses similar to those which it built last year on the block south of Freeman street. The Mack Construction Company recently acquired a large frontage on the west side of Bryant avenue, south of 165th street. Plans have been filed for the construction of similar structures on this plottage.

William Sinnott has undertaken a similar operation on the plot 100x100 on the west side of Bryant avenue, 100 feet south of Home street, of a five-story apartment house.

All of the avenues within these boundaries, as already defined, have felt this building trend, among them Longfellow, Hoe, Bryant avenues and the Southern Boulevard. No better indication of the growth in population on these avenues and in the adjoining streets can be offered than the fact that within the last three years two new public schools have been found necessary to provide additional educational facilities for the coming generation. The school on Vyse avenue, between 173d and 172d streets, was opened last September and another building is now under construction at Intervale avenue and Freeman and Chisholm streets. The church of St. John Chrysostom, Rev. Father B. F. Brady, pastor, has just completed a four-story parochial school on a plot 100 by 100 on the east side of Hoe avenue, 100 feet north of 167th street.

The new telephone building, to house another exchange, has been completed at West Farms road and Fox Square and the need for such a structure to provide more adequate telephone service furnishes additional proof of the recent growth of the section.

CIVIC ARCHITECTURE IN NEW YORK CITY

By GEORGE B. FORD

Consultant to the Commission on Building, Districts and Restrictions

FROM the standpoint of the general appearance of the city and the impression that it makes on the visitor, the character and quality of its architecture is of the greatest importance. No one likes an ugly or sordid city, and unless it appeals to the eye it is very difficult for the visitor or even the citizen to be really enthusiastic about the city. It is well known that under our laws it is impossible for the city to control the appearance of privately-owned structures; but it does have full control over public buildings and structures, and by demanding that such buildings be designed with taste it can not only set a worthy example to private builders, but by the very number of the public structures can have a marked influence upon the effect of the city as a whole.

Good Designs of the Past.

From the first, the average quality of city architecture in New York has been good. In the oldest prints and views of Manhattan we find public buildings that were quite worth while architecturally. There were, too, an interesting grouping of buildings, such as "Bridewell," the "Workhouse" and the "Gaol," as they stood on the site just north of the present City Hall. The Governor's house was beautifully set where the Custom House now stands, as was the old City Hall, at the intersection of Wall and Broad streets. The present City Hall was designed by Mangin and McComb in 1803-1811, and with its open setting is one of the architectural gems of the country.

Later we have interesting groups, such as the Metropolitan Art Museum, the Museum of Natural History, the Brooklyn Institute, City College, New York University, Columbia University, Bellevue Hospital, and the Bronx Zoo Buildings, etc.

We have latterly the striking architectural treatment of most of our bridges and the plans which are being carried out for their approaches, including the great private bridge of the New York Connecting Railways. The proposed plans for the future layout of Blackwell's Island, for the Park Circle Plaza and the Brooklyn Public Library, which is already being built, are interesting suggestions in civic grouping.

Planning Civic Centers.

Probably, however, the most important work which the city is doing in civic design is in the planning of the civic centers for each of the five boroughs. The Brooklyn City Plan Committee and the Bridge Department have prepared most elaborate and interesting plans for the Brooklyn Civic Center and bridge approach. Richmond already has a promising civic center well under way about its charming new Borough Hall.

Queens has a nucleus for a civic center about its Court House, and the Bronx is just at the present moment trying to decide on the site for its County Center to supplement the present civic center at Crotona Park. The greatest work, however, in civic design that the city is now undertaking is the building of a great civic center about the circular Court House in Manhattan, where the city is acquiring about $10,000,000 worth of land in order to give the magnificent circular Court Building proper approaches and setting on all sides.

In addition to the above-mentioned forms of civic architecture, the Public Service Commission is doing much to enhance the appearance of the city in improving the quality of the design of its rapid transit structures and stations, particularly in the parts about to be built in Queens and the Bronx. Similar interesting work has been done for the city in the control of the design of street fixtures such as lighting standards, telegraph and telephone poles, watering troughs, subway kiosks, public comfort stations and other street accessories, for the architectural quality of these has vastly improved within the past few years.

Noteworthy Monuments and Statues.

The city has also been fortunate recently in the quality of the monuments and statues erected in the streets and parks, such as the Pulitzer fountain, the Firemen's monument, the Carl Schurz and the Straus memorials, etc., as well as in the case of older monuments, such as the Washington and Brooklyn arches, and the Hunt memorial, the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument (the column in Brooklyn), and the Sherman and Farragut statues.

After all, perhaps some of the greatest contributions to civic architecture have been made by private corporations, as, for example, the great educational group around Columbia University. The New York Central has also set a remarkable object lesson in the design and placing of the Grand Central Station with approaches north and south, and particularly in the way it has preserved a uniform cornice line on the west side of Vanderbilt avenue, of the same height and character as that of the station itself across the street. As an example of the possibilities in improving the appearance of the city, particularly in the outlying sections, the work which has been done by the Sage Foundation Homes Company at Forest Hills Gardens, Long Island, in the design and arrangement and harmonious grouping of the station and all of its surroundings, is particularly interesting.

An Incomparable Vista.

For sheer beauty New York City can boast of views or vistas which compare with those of any city in the world. Not only is the effectiveness of Columbia University Library, with its great formal terracing and approaches, hardly surpassed in Europe, but almost nowhere can we find a view that compares in charm and inspiration with that obtained by standing in front of the northwest door of the Municipal Building, looking up through its beautifully designed arch, over that gem of architecture, the City Hall, to the wonderful Woolworth Building rising beyond. It is a remarkable standard for the city to live up to in its future civic art.

The Art Commission's Work.

The city has been in the habit of having all of its buildings of any importance designed by private architects. The city has had at several periods for a short time a consulting architect. The Board of Education has its own architectural department. In general, from all of these sources the results have been comparatively good. However, the great advance in the control of the quality of civic architecture came with the creation of the Art Commission of the City of New York on January 1, 1898. Boston had an art commission with very limited powers in 1890, and Baltimore in 1895. John M. Carrere, acting through the Society of Beaux-Arts Architects and through the Fine Arts Federation, proposed in 1896 that such a commission should be appointed in New York City.

An act creating it and giving it very broad powers was incorporated in the Charter of the Greater City. During the first four years of its existence it had jurisdiction only over works of art and it passed upon the designs of public structures only when requested to do so by the Mayor or the Board of Aldermen. Since 1902, however, the law requires it not only to pass upon all works of art but upon all public structures of any sort, and upon all private structures built wholly or in part upon public land; also upon the lines, grades and plotting of all public grounds. The only exception under such jurisdiction is that when a structure is to be erected costing $250,000 or less the commission shall not act if requested not to do so by the Mayor or the Board of Aldermen.

Commission Acts As Jury.

The Art Commission acts as a jury and considers not only the artistic quality of plans, drawings or models submitted to it but considers the appropriateness of their site and the fitness of the design to its use. The approval of the Art Commissioners is essential on all matters over which they have jurisdiction, and final payment cannot be made until they have approved of the design, but if they fail to pass upon a design within sixty days of the time when it was submitted to them the work can be carried on without waiting further for their approval. They have no initiative and make no concrete suggestions for improving designs submitted to them.

Many hundred matters are submitted to them in the course of a year, but as it works out, many matters which should by law be submitted to them are not, in fact, as the commission lacks the funds necessary to follow up all building on city land. That they have had a marked influence in raising the standard of taste and beauty of public structures is obvious to anyone who compares the designs as first submitted to them with the designs as they finally approve them.

Under Mayor McClellan for the two years following July 1, 1907, Walter Cook served as consulting architect to the Board of Estimate. His duties were to supervise the preparation of plans, designs and specifications connected with the construction of all public buildings authorized by the Board of Estimate. His work was creative and he had the initiative which the Art Commission lacked. In this capacity he had a marked effect on the quality of city architecture during the two years that he was in office.

There remains much constructive work to be done in carrying out the future building of the city, not only in creative design, but in choosing sites and in the study of the relative location of buildings as erected by different departments, so as to gain such effectiveness as can be secured by grouping. The city needs some one body that can keep a clear perspective of the whole field of development, and who will see that individual building projects as they come up conform to the comprehensive plan.

ANNUAL REPORT OF BORO. PRESIDENT MARKS

Deals With Accomplishments of the Department During 1914, Showing Improvements Instituted in Existing Systems

MARCUS M. MARKS, Borough President of Manhattan, has issued this week his first annual report, which will be printed later as a general introduction to the regular annual borough reports for 1914, which have been submitted to him by his department heads. The Borough President's report contains many items of interest to real estate owners and builders, and reviews the work accomplished during the last year. The principal accomplishments through the Bureau of Public Buildings and Offices during the past year are briefly stated as follows:

Comfort Stations.—The Abingdon Square comfort station, the comfort station at 129th street and Third avenue, and the comfort station on the Manhattan approach to the Queensboro Bridge were completed and turned over to the public use.

Swimming Pools.—Swimming pools were installed in the Rivington street bath, and two nearly completed in the East 54th street bath. The West 28th street bath was completed, and is today the most advanced example of institutions of this kind existing anywhere in the world. It combines the shower bath, the plunge bath, the gymnasium, the roof playground, and space for a public laundry. In the pool baths there has been installed a refiltration system which provides a constant circulation of clean, filtered water.

Children's Court.—The new Children's Court in East 22d street was practically finished during the year, and now needs only its furniture to make it the finest children's court in the world. It will be a model institution in beauty of architecture, interior arrangement, and provisions for administering cases of juvenile delinquency.

Washington Market.—The unsatisfactory interior of Washington Market has just been reconstructed, and equipped with a refrigerating plant. As a result, it will rank with the best markets of the world.

City Hall Improvements.—The east wing and part of the west wing of the City Hall have been restored and renovated, and the building itself has been strengthened. The Mayor has been provided with a new reception room. New offices have been provided for the President of the Board of Aldermen and for the chairman of its Finance Committee.

Municipal Building.—The largest building under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Public Buildings and Offices is the Municipal Building. It contains about 1,000 offices, with over 4,200 employees of the various departments of the city government, and has about 10,000 visitors daily. The Municipal Building is the world's largest building of its kind. The expense of its maintenance and administration compares favorably with that of any large private office building, notwithstanding the fact that all of the cleaning, repairing and operating forces are protected by the eight-hour labor law, and other restrictions. During the year, thirty-seven city departments or bureaus and other offices, including the Municipal Reference Library, have moved in, and there is available space remaining. There are 830,000 square feet of floor area to be cared for; the estimated annual cost for daily cleaning, watching and attendance during 1915 is 11.9 cents a square foot; the estimated annual cost of operation and maintenance for 1915 is 29¾ cents a square foot of floor area, and 49 cents a square foot of office area.

HON. MARCUS M. MARKS.

Bureau of Highways.

One of the most important improvements effected during the year 1914 by the bureau was the establishment of the new borough asphalt plant, which is one of the few municipally-owned asphalt plants in the country. Before the close of the year it was possible to cancel all the remaining contracts for the maintenance of asphalt pavement within Manhattan, and today it is doing all the repair work required on the 3,150,000 square yards of asphalt pavement out of guarantee which has been laid in this borough. The work has been done with a high degree of efficiency and at a very low comparative cost, the saving being about 40 cents per square yard under the price paid formerly when this work was done by contract. The Bureau of Highways has charge of four corporation yards, six storage stations and one supply house.

There has been put into operation a new plan under which the borough has been divided into twenty-one districts, each having assigned to it an inspector, who is responsible for the proper backfill of street openings made by the public service corporations.

Repavement of Railroad Areas.—A better and more definite policy in regard to repaving railroad areas has been adopted. Formerly, a contractor did not know how much was expected of him, and consequently he included in his bid the expense for the entire restoration. We have established a policy of instituting 12-foot radius curbs, which permit traffic to swing around the corners in the proper manner.

Sidewalk Encroachments.—The Division of Sidewalks is an important branch of the Bureau of Highways. In connection with the removal of encroachments, it is most gratifying to note that a great number were removed, on account of street widening, during the year. Streets in which these encroachments were removed were Rector, New, 24th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32d and 33d streets.

The matter of these street stand obstructions has been particularly vexatious, but through the co-operation of the Publishers' Association of New York City, representing all the newspapers, a satisfactory arrangement has been developed. The policy has been, with the minimum of disturbance, quietly to remove newsstands from the curbs and place them against the buildings.

New Street Signs.—A new type of enameled street sign has been adopted which represents a radical departure from those previously in use. These signs have been placed along Madison avenue from 23d to 136th street; Second avenue from 24th to 129th street; Sixth avenue from Carmine to 59th street; Ninth and Tenth avenues from Little West 12th to 59th street; the west side of Central Park West; Avenue A, Houston to 24th street; Avenue B, Houston to 21st street, and Avenue C, Houston to 18th street; Broad, West, State, Whitehall, South, Delancey and Kenmare streets, West Broadway, Herald and Greeley Squares, and Columbus Circle. Street signs of this new type will soon be installed on other streets and avenues, and, so far as practicable, the old signs will be improved so as to present the appearance and advantage of the new type.

"Closed Season."—We have continued the policy of issuing during the "closed season," or period covering the winter months between December 1 and April 1, no permits for street openings, except in cases of real emergency.

Building Materials.—By means of inspection and violation notices, steps have been taken to keep the streets and sidewalks free from building material for which no permit has been issued, and to keep the building material within the legal limits in cases where a permit has been issued. The placing of boilers on streets has been prohibited, wherever possible, in downtown districts. During the year there has been established a policy requiring a deposit for the opening of any street. This makes it certain that the contractor will remove all surplus material at the completion of his work. In order that newly-paved streets may be left undisturbed for the longest possible time, we have adopted the policy of giving to property owners, builders, public service corporations, and others, who for any purpose may desire to open the streets, the amplest possible notice of our intention to lay a new pavement, and for a year following to refuse permission to make cuts therein, except in emergency cases.

Street Pavements.

A comprehensive and rational plan has been adopted for the repaving of the streets of this borough. Whenever it becomes apparent from the cost data that the repairs on a particular street amount to more than a certain percentage of the first cost, depending on the particular type of pavement and the traffic and other conditions, that street is listed for repaving. In Manhattan last year the number of cuts in the pavement reached 28,000.

Types of Pavement.—Under heavy traffic conditions, where noise is not a serious objection, the improved granite block pavement, such as has been laid on Lafayette street, is the most satisfactory form the standpoint of durability and ultimate economy; and is entirely satisfactory for both motor and horse vehicles. In districts occupied by office buildings, residences, schools, hotels and retail shops it is necessary to have a less noisy pavement, and the choice then lies between asphalt and wood. It will depend on the amount of the traffic and the prevailing market prices of these pavements as to which is to be preferred in a particular case.

The garment manufacturing trades, which utilize thousands of lofts in New York, report that they are busy.

The pronounced upward movement of stocks this week is an indication of the underlying strength of the market, reflects favorably on real estate and brings encouragement to everyone. Investors in all kinds of securities, realizing that fundamentally conditions are sound, are justified in not sacrificing their holdings.

The United States District Court of Appeals' decision that the U. S. Steel Corporation is not a combination in restraint of trade, as the Government had charged, was received by the business world with satisfaction and joy and as an assurance that business interests are to have better treatment in the future. Sunshine is breaking through the clouds at various places. Incidentally, the steel plants of the country will soon be running full, if sufficient labor can be obtained. The Steel Corporation is utilizing 82 per cent. of its ingot capacity.

Money is plentiful in London, as it is here; and a good deal of it which would ordinarily be used for speculation in stocks is going into real estate, the demand for small property being better than for a considerable time. A similar course of action would no doubt be taken in America should the country become involved in war. The safety of real estate as an investment would be apparent to every monied person under such circumstances, and even if no war comes to us the constant fear of complications and the frequent semi-panics which this will give rise to will make stock speculation even more hazardous than usual, and real estate investment by comparison immeasurably more secure.

The Problem of City Government.

As a form of government responsive to the real needs of the community and the distinctly expressed will of the people, it must be admitted that the government of the City of New York has not proved satisfactory. The city has not had real local self-government in accordance with the fundamental principles of democracy, but has been a subject community. It has been subject to overruling misgovernment from Albany on the one hand, and on the other hand to an indifference at City Hall to the basic principles which alone can insure a successful city government. We have actually less municipal democracy here in New York City than has any city in the British Isles or any city of Western Europe. In those countries there is no curtailment of powers once granted to a city, as in the case of the Building Department of New York City, for example. Our problem is how to obtain real local self-government and then how to make that government truly American, democratic and responsive to the intelligent public will.

It is of course understood by everybody that the powers of the city corporation are wholly derived from the State Legislature, that the high seat of authority is not at City Hall, but at the State Capitol, and that the Legislature can both give and take away. In consequence of this we have been governed most from without the city. Agencies for good and agencies for evil have both been going to Albany and securing without much trouble, until recently, such legislation as they desired. No city in a monarchial country could be so imposed upon. New York has in consequence a famous specimen of the cumbrous and wasteful form of government. The American spirit of independence, dulled by the long exercise of local functions by the State, needs to be aroused. We have learned the lesson that if cities are to be well governed they must be self-governed, but we have not applied it.

Some still say it is not safe to give the great city autonomy, because of the dangerous elements in the electorate, elements which cannot comprehend civic righteousness and have not in their hearts subscribed to the American doctrine of the square deal. This has ever been the excuse for the interference of the State in local government when any excuse has been possible, but as an objection to granting local self-government it has lost its effectiveness since there has come to the people a clearer appreciation of the wisdom of keeping politics and administration apart, and of the absolute need of having a local government responsive to the people of the city. With a new feeling about "local politics"—a feeling that "local politics" is no politics at all in a true sense—there is a general desire to try the new plan. And where is the danger, when the Legislature has power to check us if need be?

So evident is the public wish for real self-government that resolutions have been introduced in the State Constitutional Convention to engraft into the fundamental law of the State provisions which will restrain the Legislature from going to the lengths that it has in the past. The Convention with the best intentions may, however, do more harm than good in putting checks on the Legislature. Many of our States have tried by constitutional provisions to prevent the undue meddling of their legislatures with local affairs, but have found the restrictions less efficacious than they had hoped for. If the Legislature of this State will simply reform itself and then resolve to let New York City alone, after giving it full authority to frame its own charter, that will be sufficient, according to the experience of other cities that have come to grips with the same problem. Home-made charters have proved to be better than those made at State capitals, and they seem to be the only way of getting a government capable of managing the business of a city wisely and at the same time being responsible to the people. Sometime this fall there will come before the public the tentative draft of a charter prepared by a committee of the Board of Estimate of which President McAneny is chairman. It is hoped that our real estate boards and business men's associations will prepare to receive it and scrutinize it with the knowledge of what is required of such a piece of legislation in this age. They should also in anticipation of the coming hearings on the new charter, both at the State Capitol and at City Hall, engage eminent counsel and advisers, men imbued with the purest principles of American democracy, and determined to secure for New York City a government which will not need to be apologized for.

Our Common Interests.

It ought not to be necessary to explain to anyone the dependence of the community upon its property interests. It ought not to be necessary to defend the young man who by industry and saving has acquired a stake in the city, or the widow and children whose heritage and support consists in the possession of real estate, or the corporate interests which have loaned money to those who have built up the city and made it what it is in a material sense. Least of all should it be necessary to direct that defense at the municipal administration.

While it is true that every succeeding generation must be taught it, alphabet, one does not expect to be called upon to teach elementary economic principles to governmental authorities, or to take part in any argument based on the sophistry that the interests of the whole community or the body politic are not identical with the interests of its property and business. Capital and labor may at times represent two sides of an economic problem; the landlord and the tenant and the buyer and the seller may and do stand in opposite business positions, but the interests of the community cover the interests of all of them.

The "health, safety and welfare of three million people" and "the convenience of the building interests" are not therefore opposing propositions. That they appear to be to the Mayor of the city and some others in authority is evidence either of the erroneous impression which the socialistic propaganda is alleged to have made at City Hill, or it is evidence of the desire of aspiring statesmen to pose in heroic roles.

Under such circumstances it would indeed seem to be necessary to tell how important in the community is the average property holder, the young man of family, who has through proficiency in his business, persistent saving and the exercise of all the qualities of good citizenship, acquired the title to a two-family dwelling in Flatbush, or a small apartment house in Harlem, or a loft building downtown. This is the type of seventy-five per cent. of all the "landlords" in Greater New York, as everywhere else. Depend upon it, he is a man of sterling character, a good father and husband and a loyal American citizen. The other twenty-five per cent. of owners are estates and corporations, whose investments are principally in business buildings and large apartment houses, hotels and theatres. It is the average owner, however, that is here referred to, and there is no doubt at all that he has good grounds for thinking that his interests, as well as the welfare of the business community generally, are considered in some quarters as separate from and of less importance than the "health, safety and welfare" of beneficiaries of the city's bounty simply because of the larger number of votes the latter can deliver.

The margin by which the individual owner holds title is often very small. The mortgage is held by the savings bank, and the bank is the depositary of the savings of a multitude of men, women and children, to whom is paid interest at the rate of four per cent. in return for the use of money for which the bank receives five per cent. Or, perhaps the mortgage is owned by the life insurance company, which is only another semi-public trustee of the savings of thrifty people. The real owners of New York property are therefore its saving men and women of all classes of society, rent payers as well as taxpayers, all of whom suffer when the economic welfare of the community is sacrificed to political ambitions.

They are carrying a public debt of $1,430,000,000, which is greater than the debt of the U. S. Government, and meeting an annual obligation now amounting to $211,000,000. Every one of them feels the burden, though all may not realize who and what put it upon them. People expect to pay an extra price for the privilege of living and doing business in New York, but when the city's affairs are so managed that they are deprived of the greater advantages for which the extra price is paid, they have just cause of complaint.

The Building Situation.

The building situation in Manhattan and the Bronx is in a healthy condition, and unless some unforeseen conditions arise the year 1915 should exceed 1914 not only in the number of plans filed, but also in the amount involved. In Manhattan, from January 1 to June 1, 210 new buildings were projected, as against 221 during the corresponding period last year, but the estimated cost for the current year is placed at $35,325,890, as against $22,450,090 in 1914. This ratio has been somewhat increased since the end of the first quarter of the year. In the matter of alterations, the figures this year are only a trifle in excess of those for 1914.

In the Bronx there has been a considerable building movement, involving both apartment houses and industrial plants. The cost of construction during 1915 has been placed at $13,563,525, as against $7,250,092 for 1914, though in the matter of alterations there is indicated a loss.

It must be borne in mind that while the plans filed for Manhattan show a big increase during the present year, still that does not represent all of the gain, for many large operations which had plan filings last year were not started until recently, and most of the new construction will start in the immediate future. This same condition holds good in the Bronx and is clearly indicated by the current building material prices.

There has been a general hardening along the line, though it is almost too soon to have substantial effect upon prices. In almost all lines there was a considerable surplus of materials on hand when the current year started, and this overproduction, if it can be so called, had to be consumed. Dealers report that the absorption of this surplus has been satisfactory, and in several lines a price increase should result.

Building loans, an important factor in the building industry, are easier to obtain than for many months. Banks and loaning institutions were eager a few months ago to curtail their commitments, but at the present time they are willing to make loans on favorable operations, where builders are responsible.

Technically the real estate market, as a whole, is in a strong position, and if let alone should become active. The outlook today is more favorable than for a long time.

Land Value Maps for 1916.

The Department of Taxes and Assessments has again made arrangements with the Record and Guide for the publication of the annual Land Value Maps. Without expense to the city, the Land Value Maps for 1916 will be printed as a supplement to the Record and Guide next October. Every subscriber to the Record and Guide will receive a copy without charge. To the general public they will be sold at the price of two dollars for maps covering the entire city.

The Land Value Maps are prepared by the Department of Taxes and Assessments to show the value per front foot of inside lots one hundred feet deep on each side of every block in every borough, and the value per acre of unplotted land. The purpose of the maps is first to aid in the assessment by presenting to the view of the assessor all of his territory, with comparable figures on every street; second, to aid the commissioners in passing upon applications for reductions of assessed values; and, third, to enable the public to aid the department by suggestions and criticisms.

To the professional appraiser of property, to the investor or to anyone who wishes to know the assessed valuation of any piece of land in the whole city, the maps are quite as indispensable. No method has yet been devised that is equal to this publication of land value units for the purpose of comparing assessments, as well as preserving equality of assessments between parcels similarly situated.

Why Realty Is Ill-Treated.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Your very interesting article on "Governmental Attitude Toward Realty," in last week's Record and Guide, has come to my attention. As president of the Real Estate Association of the State of New York, it was my privilege and duty to take a very active interest in the work of the last Legislature. I therefore had an opportunity to judge of some of these matters under discussion at first hand.

Most people probably do not realize that the organized charities and philanthropies maintain an active lobby at Albany. This lobby or legislative bureau is thoroughly organized, efficient and effective. For some unknown reason, this lobby has taken great exception to the fact that the real estate interests have at last become organized throughout the State, and through the Real Estate Association of the State of New York are beginning to make their influence felt at Albany. Their attitude, as much as anything else, leads me to believe that these interests have actively opposed the interests of property owners.

Of course, there is actually no antagonism between the sincere social or charity worker and the real estate owners and operators of the present day. Their interests are identical. If the Legislative representatives of the social and charity workers have obtained an erroneous idea that these interests conflict, this error must be corrected, and the quicker it is corrected the better for all concerned.

As to the attitude of the official force towards real property interests, the statement of Hon. Cyrus C. Miller, in your issue of last week, bears out what I have found. The members of the Legislature, while being responsive to some extent to their constituents, are even more responsive to their leader on the floor. His word is law to most of them. He, in turn, reflects the best organized forces of the community, and it will only be possible for the real estate interests to exert a proper influence on him through effective organization. There is no question but that the real estate interests received better treatment at the last session of the Legislature than ever before. At all times we were accorded a cordial welcome, and the legislators quickly realized that even if we were in the minority from a political standpoint, we were entitled to special consideration because we represented that portion of the community which paid for the running of the government.

It would be foolish to generalize regarding the attitude of officials, since each official acts according to his individual experience and influences. I cannot say that I have found any disposition on the part of officials to mistreat the real estate interests, but I have found a woeful ignorance of actual conditions and of the effect of bad measures and regulations on real estate. This can only be overcome through a campaign of education, and such a campaign requires time and money.

Perhaps the most important result of the winter's campaign has been the clear demonstration that results can be obtained from organized effort on the part of the real estate interests. One of our most experienced and oldest real estate operators and investors recently said to me, that he had come to the conclusion that the real estate interests must eventually establish a bureau at Albany to watch every law proposed in the Legislature and every governmental ruling, so as to check mistakes and needless interference right at the start. He said that it was his experience that most of the trouble was due to lack of intelligence rather than any desire on the part of the Legislature or the officials to interfere with property rights. In this I heartily concur.

Tenement House Law Decision.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

The United Real Estate Owners' Association, represented by Harold M. Phillips as counsel, carried the case of the Tenement House Commissioner vs. L. A. McDevitt to the Court of Appeals, which decided that the owners of property were not responsible for the acts of their tenants or sub-tenants, of which they had no knowledge and over whom they had no control. Any other decision would have been a monstrous injustice. This is a far-reaching decision and makes for the security of all owners of apartment houses and tenement house property.

The United is the only real estate protective organization in the City of New York that has the courage to fight for its convictions in court.

STEWART BROWNE,
President U. R. E. Association.

High Finance.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Not much seems to have been made of the sale this week of 454 Broadway, and yet it furnishes what may be called a concrete instance of realty conditions in Manhattan and of the relation of city government to them. A previous chamberlain had loaned $75,000 of moneys, of which he was custodian, on this property, the assessed valuation of which, I understand, was $68,000. No one but "the city" would have made such a loan. It was defaulted on this year and went to foreclosure, selling at auction for $60,000, which marks: first, a loss to the city of $15,000 on its principal investment only; second, the inaccuracy of the city's own valuation, and third, the diminishing marketable value of property in one of the most prominent and long-developed portions of Manhattan.

Try Again.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you state in your next issue the proper place or person or court to which complaint may or should be made against the building and tenement house departments, for wilful violation of the laws they are entrusted with to enforce; also the proper courts in which to bring a civil action against them, and you will greatly oblige a regular reader of the Record and Guide?

Answer.—The Supreme Court has jurisdiction of proceedings brought to review action of the department in violation of law. Have you fully stated your cause of complaint to the department heads? If, after a fair, full discussion of the matters with them, you feel that you still have reason to doubt the fairness and legality of the rulings, you would better consult some good attorney at law.—Ed.

The City Debt.

New York City has authorized the issuance of $776,071,945 in long term bonds during the last eight years, according to a report submitted to Acting Mayor McAneny by City Chamberlain Bruere.

The debt service appropriation this year was $52,832,318. This means that the share of every man, woman and child in the city in the interest of New York's enormous debt is $10.

NEW SUBWAY LINES.

The Fourth Avenue and Steinway Tunnel to Be Opened About June 15.

The Public Service Commission expects to open for operation two important links of the Dual System of rapid transit about June 15. These are the Fourth avenue subway in Brooklyn and the Steinway tunnel, connecting Manhattan and Queens. The Fourth avenue subway runs from the new Municipal Building in Manhattan, over the Manhattan Bridge to 86th street, Brooklyn, near Fort Hamilton, with branches to Coney Island. It will be operated by the New York Municipal Railway Corporation, and temporary operation will consist in the use of two tracks between Manhattan and Coney Island. The Steinway tunnel runs from 42d street, Manhattan, near the Grand Central Station, under the East River to Jackson and Van Alst avenues, Long Island City. It will be operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, with free transfers to and from the existing subway. Both companies have fixed upon June 15 for the beginning of operation, and the commission is prepared to award that date to which ever company gets its road in shape for operation first. Operation of each line, however, will begin on or about the date mentioned. The Steinway tunnel cost between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. The Fourth avenue subway and its connections will cost the City of New York about $25,000,000.

Elevated Railroad Contract.

The Public Service Commission has awarded the contract for the construction of Section No. 2 of Route No. 49 to the Oscar Daniels Company, the lowest bidder, for $863,775. This section is a part of the Culver rapid transit railroad in Brooklyn, which will connect with the Fourth avenue subway. The route runs through Gravesend avenue and Shell road to Coney Island. The part just placed under contract extends from Bay Parkway (22d avenue) through Gravesend avenue and Shell road to Avenue X. The road will be an elevated railroad, and the contractor must complete it within 18 months. The new road will be operated by the New York Municipal Railway Corporation in connection with the Fourth avenue subway.

Nostrand Avenue Subway.

Bids will be opened by the Public Service Commission on June 15 for the construction of Section No. 1 of Route No. 29, a part of the Nostrand avenue subway in Brooklyn. The Nostrand avenue line is a branch of the Eastern Parkway subway which is an extension of the existing subway, and will be operated in connection therewith by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. Section No. 1 covers that part of the line between Eastern Parkway and Church avenue. Plans call for a two-track underground railroad, and the work is to be completed within 21 months.

Bids for Station Finish Invited.

Bids for the completion of construction and station finish in the Fourth avenue subway, Brooklyn, from Flatbush avenue Extension to 43d street have been received by the Public Service Commission for the First District. The work is mainly reconstruction, due to the temporary occupancy of one track in the subway by a sewer extending from Hanson place to Butler street. This work will not delay the beginning of operation of the subway, and it will be completed within three months.

The Public Service Commission has adopted the form of contract for the purchase of track materials for the New Utrecht avenue elevated railroad in Brooklyn and authorized the chairman and secretary to advertise for bids, to be opened June 11 at 12.15 p. m. Under this contract the city will buy more than 5,000,000 pounds of steel rails and a sufficient quantity of splice bars, spikes, anti-creepers, etc., to equip the new Utrecht avenue line.

INSURANCE INVESTMENTS.

Aggregate Nearly Four and a Half Billions of Dollars.

An idea of the gigantic amount of wealth represented by insurance is obtained from the report of Deputy Superintendent Hoey, of the State Insurance Department, to Superintendent Hasbrouck. The report shows the values of real estate and mortgage loans, as well as the value of bonds and stocks, owned by all the insurance companies that report to the New York State Department. It does not include the stocks and bonds held as collateral securities for loans. The total value of the real estate and mortgage loans is $1,761,336,857.01, while the value of bonds and stocks amounts to $2,725,020,949.83; a grand total of $4,486,357,806.84.

The total investments of life insurance companies amount to $3,584,846,112.84, of which $1,983,765,788.47 represents bonds and stocks, $1,453,838,576.59 mortgage loans and $147,243,747.88 real estate. The fire and marine companies represent an invested wealth of $597,233,106.87, of which $514,530,810.05 represents bonds and stocks, $52,834,285.51 mortgages and $29,868,011.31 real estate. Assessment, fraternal and co-operative companies represent an invested wealth of $115,830,477.41, of which $94,172,893.14 is stock and bond investments, $5,158,526.83 real estate and $16,499,057.44 mortgage loans. Fidelity, casualty and credit companies represent an invested wealth of $188,446,109.62, of which $132,551,458.17 is in bonds and stocks, $18,720,380.57 real estate and $37,174,270.88 mortgages.

Want Express Station.

The business men and residents of Westchester are rapidly getting behind the movement started by the Throggs Neck Taxpayers' Association to have the Westchester Square station on the Pelham Bay subway extension designated as a stop for express trains.

Last Tuesday William J. Hyland and Otto W. Holmgren, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the association, called upon Public Service Commissioner Robert C. Wood and presented a petition which briefly set forth the claims of Westchester for adequate station facilities, and requested an early hearing on the proposition.

A date for a hearing will be decided upon at the next session of the Public Service Commission, and an opportunity will be given for all the property owners, business men and residents of the Westchester district to go before the commission and aid in the protest.
